PART 468—MOHAIR

SUBPART—1956 PAYMENT PROGRAM FOR MOHAIR

§ 468.51 Payment program for mohair—(a) Level of price support. The Commodity Stabilization Service and Commodity Credit Corporation hereby announce the 1956 payment program for mohair. The program will be carried out under the general supervision and direction of the Executive Vice President of Commodity Credit Corporation through the Commodity Stabilization Service. Prices of mohair will be supported at a level which will yield an average return to growers of 70 cents a pound for all mohair sold in the 1956 marketing year (April 1, 1956, through March 31, 1957). The price of mohair will be supported by payments to producers if the national average return to producers for all mohair sold in the marketing year is less than the support level of 70 cents a pound. Mohair prices are now above that level.

(b) Provisions of regulations. If market conditions become such that it appears that payments to producers will be necessary, regulations containing the detailed program requirements will be issued. Such regulations will be generally similar to the regulations under the 1956 Incentive Payment Program for Shorn Wool, issued by the Acting Secretary of Agriculture on March 23, 1956 (21 F. R. 1877), except that there will be no deductions from payments under the mohair program based on any purchases of goats. Applicants for payments under a mohair program will submit sales documents meeting the requirements as to sales documents for shorn wool (§§ 472.710 and 472.709 (b) (c) (d) of this subchapter), and producers of mohair are cautioned to obtain and keep such documents for use under a mohair program if one is instituted.

PART 76—HOG CHOLERA, SWINE PLAGUE, AND OTHER COMMUNICABLE SWINE DISEASES

SUBPART B—VESICULAR EXANTHEMA

CHANGES IN AREAS QUARANTINED

Pursuant to the provisions of sections 1 and 3 of the act of March 3, 1905, as amended (21 U. S. C. 123, 125), sections 1 and 2 of the act of February 2, 1903, as amended (21 U. S. C. 111–113, 120), and section 7 of the act of May 29, 1884, as amended (21 U. S. C. 117), § 76.27, as amended, Subpart B, Part 76, Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations (21 F. R. 3, 417, 786, 1165, 1461, 1743, 2230), which contains a notice with respect to the States in which swine are affected with vesicular exanthema, a contagious, infectious, and communicable disease, and which quarantines certain areas in such States because of said disease, is hereby further amended in the following respects:

[1] Compliance with the requirements of these standards shall not excuse failure to comply with the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

1. Subparagraph (1) of paragraph (a), relating to Los Angeles County in California, is deleted.

2. Subparagraph (5) of paragraph (a), relating to Santa Clara County in California, is deleted.

3. Subparagraph (7) of paragraph (d), relating to Hunterdon County in New Jersey, is amended to read:

(7) Lebanon Township in Hunterdon County.

4. A new subdivision (xx) is added to subparagraph (9) of paragraph (d), relating to Monmouth County in New Jersey, to read:

(xx) That part of Freehold Township lying west of State Highway No. 79, north of East Freehold Road, and east of Robertsville Road.

Effective date. The foregoing amendment shall become effective upon issuance.

The amendment excludes certain areas in California and New Jersey from the areas heretofore quarantined because of vesicular exanthema. Hereafter, the restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine, and carcasses, parts and offal of swine, from or through quarantined areas, contained in 9 CFR, 1954 Supp., Part 76, Subpart B, as amended, will not apply to such areas. However, the restrictions pertaining to such movement from non-quarantined areas, contained in said Subpart B, as amended, will apply thereto.

The amendment relieves certain restrictions presently imposed, and must be made effective immediately to be of maximum benefit to persons subject to the restrictions which are relieved. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and the amendment may be made effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 7, 23 Stat. 32, as amended, secs. 1, 2, 32 Stat. 791–792, as amended, secs. 1, 3, 33 Stat. 1264, as amended, 1265, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 111–113, 117, 120, 123, 125)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 18th day of April 1956.

[Docket No. R–154; Order No. 186]

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

The Commission has under consideration in this proceeding the amendment of § 1.36 Public information, and of § 1.1 (f) Definitions, of Part 1 of its rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.36, 1.1 (f)). The purpose of these amendments is to enlarge and clarify the scope of the files and records of the Commission which are available for public reference without special Commission order, and to clarify the Commission's practice with respect to notice of its proceedings and publication of its decisions.

It appears that the adoption of such amendments is a matter of procedure which does not require notice or hearing under section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act.

The Commission finds: The amendments hereinafter adopted are necessary and appropriate to carry out the provisions of the Federal Power Act and the Natural Gas Act and to aid in the discharge of the Commission's duties under other statutory provisions and executive orders conferring powers or duties upon the Commission.

The Commission orders: (A) Section 1.36 Public information, of Part 1, rules of practice and procedure, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Notice of rates charged and changes therein is provided for by the filing requirements of Parts 35 and 154 of this chapter. Any other notice required by statute, rule, regulation, or order, or deemed desirable, may be given by filing and publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER as provided in § 1.19 (a) or by service as provided in § 1.17 (a).

(b) Notice and publication of decisions. Service of intermediate and final decisions upon parties to the proceedings is provided in § 1.30 (a), (b), and (i).

Rules or amendments of rules adopted will be filed and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Commission opinions together with accompanying orders, Commission orders, and intermediate decisions will be released to the press and made available to the public promptly. Copies of Commission opinions, orders in the nature of opinions, and intermediate decisions which have become final may be procured from the Superintendent of Documents, United States Government Printing Office, Washington (25), D. C., upon payment of prescribed charges and will be published in the Commission's Reports (— F. P. C. —).

(c) Public files and records. Except as provided in paragraph (d), of this section, the public files and records of the Commission which are available for public reference, insofar as consistent with the proper discharge of the Commission's duties, at its principal office during the prescribed hours of that office, are comprised of the following: [1]

(8) Commission correspondence with respect to the furnishing of data, information, comments, or recommendations to or by another branch, department, or agency of the government, but where the furnishing of such data, etc., to the other branch, etc., is the subject, such correspondence shall not become public files or records unless or until made public by that branch, etc., except where furnished to satisfy a specific requirement of a statute.

(9) Staff reports on statements of claimed cost by licensees where such reports have been served on the licensee.

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

PART 120—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

TOLERANCES FOR RESIDUES OF 3-(p-CHLOROPHENYL)-1-1-DIMETHYLUREA AND 3-(3,4,-DICHLOROPHENYL)-1-1-DIMETHYLUREA

Petitions were filed with the Food and Drug Administration requesting the establishment of a tolerance of 1 part per million for residues of 3-(p-chlorophenyl)-1,1-dimethylurea in or on grapes and a tolerance of 1 part per million for residues of 3-(3,4-dichlorophenyl) 1,1-dimethylurea in or on potatoes.

The Secretary of Agriculture has certified that these pesticide chemicals are useful for the purposes for which tolerances are being established.

After consideration of the data submitted in the petitions and other relevant material which show that the tolerances established in this order will protect the public health, and by virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408 (d) (2), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U. S. C. 346a (d) (2)) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (21 CFR 120.7 (g)), the regulations for tolerances for pesticide chemicals in or on raw agricultural commodities (21 CFR Part 120) are amended as follows:

1. Section 120.106 Tolerance for residues of 3-(3,4-dichlorophenyl) 1,1-dimethylurea is amended by inserting the word "potatoes," after the word "pineapple" in the list of raw agricultural commodities.

2. Section 120.108 Tolerance for residues of 3-(p-chlorophenyl)-1,1-dimethylurea is amended by inserting the word "grapes", after the word "cottonseed" in the list of raw agricultural commodities.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may, at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the effective date thereof, file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C., written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by this order, specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and reasonable grounds for the objections, and request a public hearing upon the objections. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in quintuplicate.

Effective date. This order shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PART 141b—STREPTOMYCIN (OR DIHYDROSTREPTOMYCIN) AND STREPTOMYCIN- (OR DIHYDROSTREPTOMYCIN-) CONTAINING DRUGS; TESTS AND METHODS OF ASSAY

PART 146b—CERTIFICATION OF STREPTOMYCIN (OR DIHYDROSTREPTOMYCIN) AND STREPTOMYCIN- (OR DIHYDROSTREPTOMYCIN-) CONTAINING DRUGS

STREPTOMYCIN-NEOMYCIN POWDER; DIHYDROSTREPTOMYCIN-NEOMYCIN POWDER

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, 61 Stat. 11; 21 U. S. C. 357 and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (20 F. R. 1996), the regulations for tests and methods of assay and certification of streptomycin (or dihydrostreptomycin) and streptomycin- (or dihydrostreptomycin-) containing drugs (21 CFR Parts 141b, 146b) are amended by adding the following new sections:

§ 141b.131 Streptomycin - neomycin powder; dihydrostreptomycin-neomycin powder—(a) Potency—(1) Streptomycin content. Proceed as directed in § 141b.101 (a) through (i). Its content of streptomycin is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of milligrams per gram that it is represented to contain.

(2) Dihydrostreptomycin content. Proceed as directed in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, using the dihydrostreptomycin working standard as the standard of comparison. Its content of dihydrostreptomycin is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of milligrams per gram that it is represented to contain.

(3) Neomycin content. Proceed as directed in § 141e.410 (b) (1) of this chapter, except use as the test organism the Food and Drug Administration dihydrostreptomycin- and streptomycin-resistant strain of M. pyogenes var. aureus (P. C. I. 1209 R. D.), which is grown and maintained on media containing 1,000 μg. of dihydrostreptomycin per milliliter of agar. Its content of neomycin is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of milligrams per gram that it is represented to contain.

(b) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141a.8 (b) of this chapter.

§ 146b.126 Streptomycin-neomycin powder; dihydrostreptomycin-neomycin powder—(a) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Streptomycin-neomycin powder and dihydrostreptomycin-neomycin powder are streptomycin and neomycin or dihydrostreptomycin and neomycin, with or without suitable and harmless absorbent ingredients, buffer substances, preservatives, diluents, colorings, and flavorings. It contains not less than 15 milligrams of streptomycin or dihydrostreptomycin and not less than 5.25 milligrams of neomycin per gram of powder. Its moisture content is not more than 7.5 percent. The streptomycin used conforms to the standards prescribed therefor by § 146b.101 (a), except § 146b.101 (a) (2) and (4). The dihydrostreptomycin used conforms to the standards prescribed therefor by § 146b.103, except the standards for sterility and pyrogens. The neomycin used conforms to the standards prescribed therefor by § 146e.410 (a) (2) of this chapter. Each other substance used, if its name is recognized in the U. S. P. or N. F., conforms to the standards prescribed therefor by such official compendium.

(b) Packaging. In all cases the immediate container shall be a tight container as defined by the U. S. P. The composition of the immediate container shall be such as will not cause any change in the strength, quality, or purity of the contents beyond any limit therefor in applicable standards, except that minor changes so caused that are normal and unavoidable in good packaging, storage, and distribution practice shall be disregarded.

(c) Labeling. Each package shall bear on its label or labeling, as hereinafter indicated, the following:

(1) On the outside wrapper or container and the immediate container:

(i) The batch mark.

(ii) The number of milligrams of streptomycin or dihydrostreptomycin and the number of milligrams of neomycin in each gram of the batch.

(iii) The statement "Expiration date ------," the blank being filled in with the date that is 12 months after the month during which the batch was certified: Provided, however, That such expiration date may be omitted from the immediate container if such immediate container is packaged in an individual wrapper or container.

(iv) The name and quantity of each absorbent ingredient and preservative used, and the name of each buffer substance used.

(2) On the outside wrapper or container:

(i) The statement "Caution: Federal law prohibits dispensing without prescription," unless it is packaged for dispensing and it is intended solely for veterinary use and is conspicuously so labeled.

(ii) If it is packaged for dispensing and it is intended for use by man, a reference specifically identifying a readily available medical publication containing information (including contradications and possible sensitization) adequate for the use of such drug by practitioners licensed by law to administer it; or a reference to a brochure or other printed matter containing such information, and a statement that such brochure or other printed matter will be sent on request: Provided, however, That this reference may be omitted from the immediate container if the information is contained in a circular or other labeling within or attached to the package.

(3) On the circular or other labeling within or attached to the package, if it is packaged for dispensing and it is intended solely for veterinary use and is conspicuously so labeled, adequate directions and warnings for the veterinary use of such drug by the laity. Such circular or other labeling may also bear a statement that a brochure or other printed matter containing information for other veterinary uses of such drug by a veterinarian licensed by law to administer it will be sent to such veterinarian on request.

(d) Request for certification; samples. (1) In addition to complying with the requirements of § 146.2 of this chapter, a person who requests certification of a batch shall submit with his request a statement showing the batch mark, the number of packages of each size in such batch, the batch mark and (unless they were previously submitted) the dates on which the latest assays of the streptomycin or dihydrostreptomycin and neomycin used in making the batch were completed, the number of milligrams of streptomycin or dihydrostreptomycin and the number of milligrams of neomycin in each gram of the batch, the quantity of each ingredient used in making the batch, the date on which the latest assay of the drug comprising such batch was completed, and a statement that each ingredient used in making the batch conforms to the requirements prescribed therefor, if any, by this section.

(i) Except as otherwise provided in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, such person shall submit in connection with his request, results of tests and assays listed after each of the following, made by him on an accurately representative sample of:

(i) The batch: The number of milligrams of streptomycin or dihydrostreptomycin and the number of milligrams of neomycin per gram, and moisture content.

(ii) The streptomycin or dihydrostreptomycin used in making the batch: Potency, toxicity, histamine content, pH, streptomycin content if it is dihydrostreptomycin, and crystallinity if it is crystalline dihydrostreptomycin.

(iii) The neomycin used in making the batch: Potency, toxicity, moisture, and pH.

(3) Except as otherwise provided by subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, such person shall submit in connection with his request, in the quantities hereinafter indicated, accurately representative samples of the following:

(i) The batch: 1 immediate container for each 5,000 immediate containers in the batch, but in no case less than 5 immediate containers or more than 12 immediate containers, collected by taking single immediate containers at such intervals throughout the entire time of packaging the batch that the quantities packaged during the intervals are approximately equal.

(ii) The streptomycin or dihydrostreptomycin used in making the batch: 5 packages containing approximately equal portions of not less than 0.5 gram each, packaged in accordance with the requirements of § 146b.101 (b).

(iii) The neomycin used in making the batch: 5 packages containing approximately equal portions of not less than 0.5 gram each.

(iv) In case of an initial request for certification, each other ingredient used in making the batch: 1 package of each containing approximately 5 grams.

(4) No result referred to in subparagraph (2) (ii) and (iii) of this paragraph, and no sample referred to in subparagraph (3) (ii) and (iii) of this paragraph, is required if such result or sample has been previously submitted.

(e) Fees. The fee for the services rendered with respect to each batch under the regulations in this part shall be:

(1) $4.00 for each package in the samples submitted in accordance with paragraph (d) (3) (i), (iii), and (iv) of this section; $10.00 for each package in the sample submitted in accordance with paragraph (d) (3) (ii) of this section.

(2) If the Commissioner considers that investigations other than examinations of such packages are necessary to determine whether or not such batch complies with the requirements of § 146.3 of this chapter for the issuance of a certificate, the cost of such investigations.

The fee prescribed by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall accompany the request for certification unless such fee is covered by an advance deposit maintained in accordance with § 146.8 (d) of this chapter.

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with interested members of the affected industries and since it would be against public interest to delay providing for the amendments set forth above.

This order shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, since both the public and the affected industry will benefit by the earliest effective date, and I so find.

When the proposed settlement amounts of such claims exceed the applicable deductions, General Agents shall obtain the Underwriter's approval of the proposed settlements and, immediately after payment in full, or, of any portion thereof over the applicable deductions, make formal claim for reimbursement from the Underwriter. All claims which do not exceed the deductions in the policy are chargeable to vessel expense and shall be accounted for in accordance with current accounting and/or auditing instructions. When settling any claim, the General Agent shall advise the claimant that such settlement is not to be construed as an admission of liability by or on behalf of the Owner, or its General Agents and Berth Agents or their Sub-Agents, but that the settlement is a compromise of a disputed claim. General Agents shall be expected to apply sound judgment and follow standard practices of steamship operators in the settlement or other disposition of P & I claims and shall avail themselves of the advice and assistance of the Underwriter, and may also consult with the appropriate District Counsel of the Maritime Administration, and the Chief, Division of Insurance, Office of Comptroller, Maritime Administration, Washington 25, D. (b) On risks assumed by the owner. General Agents are hereby authorized to settle claims of a P & I insurance nature, arising under conditions where the risk is assumed by the Maritime Administration (as set forth in section 5 of this order), without prior approval, provided the proposed settlement amount of each claim does not exceed $1,000.00. If the proposed settlement amount of any such claim exceeds $1,000.00 the General Agent shall, prior to payment, obtain the approval of the proposed settlement from the Chief, Division of Insurance, Office of Comptroller, Maritime Administration, Washington 25, D. C. The amounts and costs of these settlements are chargeable to vessel operating expense and shall be accounted for in accordance with current accounting and/or auditing instructions. When settling any claim hereunder, General Agents shall be governed by the procedure and instructions set forth in paragraph (a) of this section insofar as applicable.

(c) Claims declined by Underwriters. Any claim of a P & I insurance nature, whether arising prior or subsequent to March 31, 1956, which has been declined by this Underwriter, or by any other Underwriters under prior insuring agreements, shall be forwarded to the Chief, Division of Insurance, Office of Comptroller, Maritime Administration, Washington 25, D. C., for review and further instruction.

SEC. 10. Litigation and employment of counsel. (a) As to any suit arising out of the activities of a General Agent in the course of his official duties, wherein the General Agent is named a party or one of the parties respondent or defendant, and whether or not the risk is covered by P & I insurance, such General Agent shall immediately, by air mail, forward copies of the pleadings and all other related legal documents to the General Counsel, Maritime Administration, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C., and to the Attorney General, Admiralty and Shipping Section, Department of Justice, Washington 25, D. C. No General Agent, Berth Agent, or Sub-Agent, shall incur any legal expenses in connection with any claim covered by P & I insurance unless approved in advance by the Underwriter, or in connection with any other claim unless approved in advance by the General Counsel, Maritime Administration, except in an emergency where time will not permit such approval to be obtained.

(b) In addition to the foregoing, in the case of any attachment or seizure of a vessel, whether or not the risk is covered by P & I insurance, the General Agent shall immediately, by telegram, radio, or cable, notify the nearest Maritime Administration representative or the General Counsel, Maritime Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

SEC. 11. Report of claims. (a) All General Agents shall submit to the Chief, Division of Insurance, Office of Comptroller, Maritime Administration, Washington 25, D. C., semi-annual reports of all claims, listed separately as per the attached form.

(b) The first of such reports shall cover the semi-annual period ending June 30, 1956, and shall be submitted as soon as possible after said date. Subsequent reports shall be made promptly after the conclusion of each semi-annual period thereafter. A claim previously reported as closed shall not be reported on subsequent statements unless it is reopened. The reporting requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

SEC. 12. Application and interpretation of this order. General Agents shall communicate directly with the Chief, Division of Insurance, Office of Comptroller, Maritime Administration, Washington 25, D. C., regarding all questions of application, intrepretation, or intent of this order.

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this revised order. PART 8—REGULATIONS, UNITED STATES COAST GUARD RESERVE

TRANSFERS TO AND PLACEMENT IN RESERVE CATEGORIES

By virtue of the authority contained in the act of July 9, 1952 (66 Stat. 481), Title 14, U. S. Code, and Executive Order 10651, the following amendments are hereby prescribed and shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

1. A new § 8.4407 is hereby added as follows:

§ 8.4407 Screening of the Ready Reserve—(a) Policy. As prescribed by the President, the Commandant shall provide for the continuous screening of the Ready Reserve. Such screening shall insure that the Ready Reserve is composed of members who:

(1) Meet age requirements and service standards of mental, moral, professional, and physical fitness.

(2) Possess the required military qualifications in the various ranks, grades, ratings, and specialties.

(3) Are immediately available for active military service during a national emergency without seriously impairing production and research vital to the national military effort or activities necessary to maintenance of the national health, safety or interest, or without creating extreme personal or community hardship.

(b) Disposition of members. (1) Members of the Ready Reserve who do not meet age requirements or standards of mental, moral, professional, and physical fitness shall be transferred to the Standby Reserve, upon application placed in the Retired Reserve, if qualified, or discharged, as appropriate.

(2) Other members of the Ready Reserve who are determined to come within the regulations prescribed by the President and within this section of these regulations shall be transferred to the Standby Reserve under instructions issued by the Commandant.

(c) Preference for transfer. As between members of the Ready Reserve who are otherwise equally eligible, preference for transfer to the Standby Reserve shall be accorded in the following order:

(1) Those who have participated in combat.

(2) Those who have the least amount of remaining obligated service in the Ready Reserve.

(d) Criteria for transfer to the Standby Reserve in certain instances—(1) Fulfillment of Ready Reserve obligation. Upon a finding that a member of the Ready Reserve has fulfilled his Ready Reserve obligation and that he has failed to execute a written agreement to remain in the Ready Reserve for a minimum period of one year, such member shall be transferred to the Standby Reserve.

(2) Elective and appointive officials. Upon a finding that a member of the Ready Reserve has failed to execute a written agreement to remain in the Ready Reserve and that he comes within one of the below listed categories, such member shall be transferred to the Standby Reserve:

(i) Vice President of the United States.

(ii) Member of the Cabinet.

(iii) Presidential appointee requiring Senate confirmation.

(iv) Governor of a State, Territory or possession.

(v) Member of the legislative body of the United States, or of a State, Territory or possession.

(vi) Judge of a court of record of the United States or of a State, Territory or possession, or of the District of Columbia.

(3) Extreme personal hardship. A member of the Ready Reserve desiring transfer to the Standby Reserve must establish by documentary evidence that his dependents would, by his call to active duty, suffer extreme hardship greater than that which dependents of other Reservists can be expected to experience from the Reservist's order to active duty. In order to insure a uniform standard, the specific criteria established by the Commandant shall conform generally with current Selective Service regulations on extreme hardship deferment. In cases where the Reservist is registered with Selective Service, documentary evidence may include a recommendation by the State Director of Selective Service of the State in which the registrant's Local Board is located. Requests for consideration under this paragraph must be initiated by the Reservist or by his dependents.

(4) Extreme community hardship. A member of the Ready Reserve desiring transfer to the Standby Reserve must establish by documentary evidence that his withdrawal from the community in a national emergency would have a substantial adverse effect on the health, safety, or welfare of the community. In cases where the Reservist is registered with Selective Service, documentary evidence may include a recommendation by the State Director of Selective Service of the State in which the registrant's Local Board is located. Requests for consideration under this paragraph must be initiated by the Reservist.

(5) Critical civilian occupations. Members of the Ready Reserve who are engaged or employed in critical civilian occupations as established by the Secretary of Labor, shall be transferred to the Standby Reserve, in such numbers as are in excess of the requirements of the Ready Reserve except that no person shall be transferred hereunder who possesses a critical military skill as established for the Coast Guard or who volunteers to remain in the Ready Reserve and executes a written agreement to remain in such Reserve for a minimum period of one year.

(6) Utilization of volunteers with critical civilian occupations. Members of the Ready Reserve in excess of requirements with critical civilian occupations who have been selected for transfer to the Standby Reserve and who then volunteer and execute a written agreement to remain in the Ready Reserve for a minimum period of one year shall, if requirements exist, be given a military assignment utilizing their critical civilian occupations. If no military requirements exist for their critical civilian occupations and they possess other critical military skills, they shall be utilized in such skills. If no requirements exist for them in a critical occupation or in a critical military skill, they shall be utilized, insofar as possible, in related military assignments.

(7) Critical military skills. Members of the Ready Reserve who possess a critical military skill, as established for the Coast Guard, shall be transferred to the Standby Reserve in such numbers as are in excess of requirements of the Ready Reserve.

(8) Apprentices and students. Members of the Ready Reserve who are apprentices or students shall be transferred to the Standby Reserve in accordance with the following subdivisions of this subparagraph except that no person shall be transferred hereunder who has not had active training and service, possesses a critical military skill or volunteers and executes a written agreement to remain in the Ready Reserve for a minimum period of one year.

(i) Apprentices. Members of the Ready Reserve who are undergoing apprenticeship training in critical civilian occupations and who meet the standards and requirements established by the Department of Defense shall be transferred to the Standby Reserve in such numbers as are in excess of the requirements for the Ready Reserve for such occupations.

(ii) Students. Members of the Ready Reserve who are students in colleges or universities pursuing studies that will qualify them for critical civilian occupations and who meet the standards and requirements established by the Department of Defense shall be transferred to the Standby Reserve. Excluded from consideration are those students enrolled or enlisted in programs leading to appointment to commissioned rank. At such time as the Reservist ceases to qualify for consideration as a student, he shall be considered for transfer to the Ready Reserve.

(9) Ministerial students. Members of the Ready Reserve who are preparing for the ministry in a recognized theological or divinity school shall be transferred to the Standby Reserve unless they execute a written agreement to remain in the Ready Reserve for a minimum period of one year.

(10) Ready Reservists not otherwise provided for. (i) Members of the Ready Reserve not immediately available for active duty as determined by the Commandant for reasons not otherwise specified in this section shall be transferred to the Standby Reserve.

(ii) Members of the Reserve who possess military skills in excess of requirements of the Ready Reserve shall be transferred to the Standby Reserve in such numbers as are in excess of requirements in order to maintain a proper balance of such skills within the grade, rank and rate structure of the Ready Reserve.

(11) Exceptions. Members of the Ready Reserve who are serving pursuant to the provisions of sections 263 (a) and 263 (b) of the Armed Forces Reserve Act of 1952, as amended, shall not be eligible for transfer to the Standby Reserve under subparagraphs (5), (7), (8), and (10) of this paragraph.

2. A new § 8.4408 is hereby added as follows:

§ 8.4408 Members who become liable for induction if screened into the Standby Reserve. Members of the Ready Reserve provided for in section 6 (b) (2) and section 6 (c) (1) of the Universal Military Training and Service Act, as amended, are exempt from induction so long as they serve satisfactorily as members of an organized unit of the Reserve. Therefore, such members within the ages of Selective Service liability may, if screened into the Standby Reserve, lose such exempt classification. Such members who meet the criteria for transfer into the Standby Reserve shall be given ample opportunity to volunteer to remain in the Ready Reserve if they are qualified.

3. A new § 8.4409 is hereby added as follows:

§ 8.4409 Transfer of Standby Reservists with Ready Reserve obligation. (a) Members of the Standby Reserve who have not completed their obligated period of military service in the Ready Reserve shall be transferred to the Ready Reserve, if qualified and a requirement exists, whenever the reason for their transfer to the Standby Reserve no longer exists.

(b) With respect to those persons with critical skills who served on active duty for training for six months and were subsequently transferred to the Standby Reserve prior to completion of their Ready Reserve obligation, the Commandant shall transfer such persons to the Ready Reserve, if they are qualified and requirements exist, whenever such persons cease to be employed in critical defense supporting industries or research activities affecting national defense.

4. A new § 8.4410 is hereby added as follows:

§ 8.4410 Reports. The Commandant shall make such periodic reports to the Secretary of the Treasury concerning the screening of the Ready Reserve of the Coast Guard as may be required.

(Sec. 4, 62 Stat. 605, as amended, 63 Stat. 545, sec. 251, 66 Stat. 495; 50 U. S. C. App. 454, 14 U. S. C. 633, 50 U. S. C. 1002. E. O. 10651, 21 F. R. 169)

In any of the foregoing cases, the Underwriting Agent shall render to the Administrator such reasonable cooperation and assistance as the Administrator may require.

9. Effective date, amendment, termination. This Agreement shall become effective as of the date of its execution by the Administrator and shall continue in force until terminated. This Agreement may be terminated, modified or amended at any time by mutual written consent. Once this Agreement becomes effective, it shall continue in force until terminated by mutual written consent or by either party, giving at least thirty (30) days' written notice by registered mail to the other party, stating the effective date and time on which this Agreement shall terminate. Such termination shall not affect the obligations of the parties hereto with respect to any binders or policies of insurance issued or expenditures incurred prior to the effective date of such termination.

10. No commission or contingent fee. The Underwriting Agent warrants that no person or selling agency has been employed or retained to solicit or secure this contract upon an agreement or understanding for a commission, percentage, brokerage, or contingent fee, excepting bona fide employees or bona fide established commercial or selling agencies maintained by the Underwriting Agent for the purpose of securing business. 12. No member or delegate. No Member of or Delegate to Congress, or Resident Commissioner, shall be admitted to any share or part of this contract, or to any benefit that may arise therefrom; but this provision shall not be construed to extend to this contract if made with a corporation for its general benefit.

13. Renegotiation. This contract shall be subject to any act of the Congress, whether heretofore or hereafter enacted and to the extent indicated therein, providing for the renegotiation of said contract and shall be deemed to contain all of the provisions required by any such act without subsequent amendment of this contract specifically incorporating such provisions.

The contractor (which term as used in this sentence means the party contracting to perform the work or furnish the materials required by this contract) shall insert the provisions of this article in each subcontract and purchase order made or issued in carrying out the contract.

Nothing contained in this clause shall impose any renegotiation obligation with respect to this contract or any subcontract hereunder which is not imposed by an act of the Congress, heretofore or hereafter enacted.

14. Participating Members—(a) Indebted to United States. The Participating Members of the association constituting the Underwriting Agent, severally but not jointly and limited each to its participation therein, shall be indebted to the United States for such amounts as the Secretary is entitled to recover from the Underwriting Agent in accordance with the foregoing provisions and, in the event of failure to pay on demand, the Secretary may bring an action or actions in any court in the United States to recover such amount or amounts from the Participating Members, severally but not jointly, on behalf of the United States.

(b) Change of shares. Without cancelling this Agreement, the Participating Members of the association constituting the Underwriting Agent may, upon not less than ten (10) days' prior written notice to the Administrator, change their share of participation by agreement among themselves, including the termination of the interests of one Participating Member and the assumption of its share by one or more of the other Participating Members or by the admission of other eligible domestic insurance companies to membership in the association. Any such change of apportionment or termination of participation shall not relieve any Participating Member of its obligations in respect to matters which occurred prior to any change or termination of its interest. Unless the Underwriting Agent is notified in writing by the Administrator, within ten (10) days after receipt of notice from the Underwriting Agent, that the proposed change in participation or termination or assumption is disapproved, such change shall be understood to be acceptable to the Administrator.

In witness whereof, the parties hereto have duly executed this Agreement in quadruplicate as of the day and year first above written.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

MARITIME ADMINISTRATION

CLEARING AGENCY AGREEMENT FOR CARGO

This Agreement, made and entered into this ------ day of 195---, by and between the United States of America (herein called the "United States"), acting by the Secretary of Commerce (herein called the "Secretary"), represented by the Maritime Administrator (herein called the "Administrator"), and ---, (herein called the "Clearing Agent"), having an office for the transaction of business at ---, ---, an association of domestic insurance companies (herein called the "Participating Members"), each of which is authorized to do a marine insurance business in a State of the United States.

WITNESSETH

Whereas, pursuant to title XII of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, Public Law 763—81st Congress (herein called the "Act"), the Secretary is authorized under certain circumstances to provide marine insurance and reinsurance against loss or damage by the risks of war, and to employ domestic companies or groups of domestic companies authorized to do a marine insurance business in any State of the United States to act as his underwriting agent; and

Whereas, the Secretary has delegated authority to the Administrator to perform the functions vested in the Secretary by title XII of the act, except the authority "to find that insurance adequate to the needs of the water-borne commerce of the United States cannot be obtained on reasonable terms and conditions in companies authorized to do an insurance business in a State of the United States" which was reserved to the Secretary. Section 6.01, subsection 2, paragraph (3) of Department Order No. 117 (amended), published as section 5 (a) (2) (iii) in the FEDERAL REGISTER September 15, 1953, 18 F. R. 5518, 5519); and

Whereas, the Administrator is prepared, under the authority of section 1209 (d) of the act, to enter into Underwriting Agency Agreements with each of the Participating Members and with other Domestic Companies authorized to do an insurance business in any State of the United States and having facilities similar to the Participating Members (hereinafter collectively called the "Underwriting Agents"), for the purpose of performing certain functions on behalf of the Administrator, including the receipt of applications and countersignature of policies, in connection with the issuance of insurance pursuant to section 1203 (b) of the act; and

Whereas, the Administrator has determined to utilize the services and facilities of ---, to act as clearing agent to coordinate the issuance of cargo war risk insurance and facilitate the administration of the cargo war risk program by the Maritime Administrator;

Now, therefore, in consideration of the premises and of the mutual covenants and agreements, and upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth, the parties hereto agree as follows:

1. Appointment of Agent. The Administrator hereby authorizes the Clearing Agent, as an agent acting on behalf of the Administrator and not as an independent contractor, to utilize its offices and facilities in cooperation with the Underwriting Agents for the purpose of coordinating and facilitating the issuance of cargo war risk insurance pursuant to section 1203 (b) of the act and to perform the functions hereinafter provided for, upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth and in accordance with the rules, regulations and instructions which will be issued from time to time by the Administrator to the Clearing Agent. The Clearing Agent hereby agrees to utilize its offices and facilities and to perform the functions hereinafter provided for to the best of its ability on behalf of the Administrator. The Clearing Agent may act through and use the facilities of the --- and such other agents as may be approved by the Administrator, to the extent it deems necessary in the performance of its duties hereunder.

2. Duties of Agent. The duties of the Clearing Agent shall be as follows:

(a) The Clearing Agent, when and as instructed by the Administrator, shall promptly transmit to the Underwriting Agents all applicable rules, regulations, instructions and information which it receives from the Administrator in connection with the program of insurance authorized by section 1203 (b) of the act. The Clearing Agent shall promptly transmit to the Administrator any notice, demand, request or report submitted to it by the Underwriting Agents for transmission to the Administrator, in accordance with this Agreement and the Underwriting Agency Agreements.

(b) The Clearing Agent, when and as required by the Administrator, shall receive reports from the Underwriting Agents, setting forth in summary form, all applications received, policies issued, invalidated, cancelled, reduced or extended, premiums collected and returned and such other information as the Administrator may from time to time request. The Clearing Agent shall prepare and submit to the Administrator, at such regular intervals as the Administrator may direct, a report on a form approved by the Administrator, combining and summarizing the information which shall have been reported to it by the Underwriting Agents as aforesaid and including such other information as may be reasonably required by the Administrator. The Clearing Agent shall from time to time prepare and submit to the Administrator such other reports and information relating to its activities hereunder as the Administrator may from time to time reasonably request.

(c) The Clearing Agent shall receive from the Underwriting Agents reports and claims of losses submitted to said Agents together with the pertinent documents and recommendations relating thereto which the Underwriting Agents shall have prepared and assembled. The Clearing Agent shall promptly transmit all such reports, documents and recommendations to the Administrator, together with any additional information relating to such claims which the Administrator may reasonably require in determining their eligibility for settlement and payment.

(d) The Clearing Agent shall receive from the Underwriting Agents claims submitted to said Agents for return of all or part of premiums previously collected under policies, if any, providing for return premiums, together with the required certifications of said Agents in connection with such claims. The Clearing Agent shall promptly transmit said claims and certifications to the Administrator, together with any further information which the Administrator may reasonably require in connection therewith.

(e) The Clearing Agent shall maintain a complete, separate system of books of records and accounts covering its operations and activities under this Agreement, including a record of all statements, vouchers and other information received by it from the Underwriting Agents. These books of records and accounts shall be the property of the Administrator. They shall be kept available by the Clearing Agent at all times for audit and inspection by duly authorized representatives of the Administrator and by the Comptroller General of the United States or their duly authorized representatives during the period of this Agreement and up to thirty-six (36) months after its termination and thereafter until final settlement of any outstanding claims against the Administrator by holders of policies issued by the Underwriting Agents.

(f) The Clearing Agent shall receive such periodic statements and vouchers of compensation and other payments claimed by the Underwriting Agents as the Underwriting Agents may be required to submit pursuant to the Underwriting Agency Agreements. The Clearing Agent shall consolidate such statements and vouchers into a single monthly statement of compensation claimed by the Underwriting Agents as of the last day of the month covered by such consolidated statement and shall certify thereon that the amounts set forth therein truly and correctly reflect the statements and vouchers received from the Underwriting Agents. The Clearing Agent shall then submit such consolidated statement to the Administrator, who upon his approval thereof, shall promptly forward to the Clearing Agent his check payable to the order of the Clearing Agent in the total amount of such statement as approved by the Administrator. The Clearing Agent shall thereupon make payments to the order of the individual Underwriting Agents in the respective amounts set forth in the statement as approved by the Administrator.

3. Compensation—(a) Fair and reasonable. The Clearing Agent shall receive for its services such amount as the Administrator and the Clearing Agent may, from time to time, agree to be fair and reasonable compensation. In addition to such fair and reasonable compensation, the Clearing Agent shall receive reimbursement for out-of-pocket expenditures reasonably incurred, meaning payments to persons not regularly employed by the Clearing Agent but excluding payments to attorneys unless such employment has been authorized by the Administrator, provided, however, that all such expenditures shall be subject to the review of the Administrator, and further provided that, except as authorized by section 1209 (d) of the act, such expenditures shall not include any fee or other consideration paid to an insurance broker or any person acting in a similar intermediary capacity for services by virtue of his participation in arranging any of such insurance nor include any payment on account of solicitation for or stimulation of such insurance.

(b) Paid monthly. A statement of the compensation due to the Clearing Agent (including reimbursement for out-of-pocket expenses as herein provided) shall be submitted by the Clearing Agent to the Administrator monthly or at such other intervals as the Administrator may direct, with an appropriate voucher, and the amount of such compensation, if approved, shall be promptly paid to the Clearing Agent.

4. Standard of performance. In the discharge of its duties and obligations pursuant to this Agreement, the Clearing Agent shall conform to a standard of performance and accuracy reasonably to be expected of an insurance company in the administration of its own business and consistent with the highest degree of good faith. It is agreed, however, that the Clearing Agent shall not be responsible for errors or omissions of agents or employees in whose selection and supervision it has exercised reasonable care, provided, however, that the Clearing Agent, in any such case, shall have conformed to the standards of performance required hereunder, and provided further, that the Clearing Agent assumes full and complete responsibility for the disposition of any funds received by it or its agents or employees under and pursuant to this Agreement. The exercise of reasonable care in the selection of agents and employees by the Clearing Agent shall be deemed to include a determination by the Clearing Agent that the agents or employees so selected are experienced in the transaction of such phases of the marine insurance business as may be delegated to such agents or employees by the Clearing Agent.

5. Writing insurance for own account. It is understood that the Participating Members of the Association constituting the Clearing Agent are or may be engaged in writing for their own account war risk insurance, as well as other types of insurance, for the benefit of holders of policies issued by the Clearing Agent hereunder and of other parties; and it is agreed that such insurance may be written notwithstanding the activities of the Clearing Agent hereunder on behalf of the Administrator, pursuant to this Agreement.

6. Books and records—(a) Maintained subject to audit. The Clearing Agent shall keep books, records and accounts covering the operations and activities under this Agreement which shall be the property of the United States represented by the Administrator and shall be kept separate from those relating to other business of the Clearing Agent or of the Participating Members thereof, in accordance with regulations made from time to time by the Administrator, and shall at all times be subject to audit and inspection by the Administrator.

(b) Comptroller General may examine. The Comptroller General of the United States or any of his duly authorized representatives shall have access to and the right to examine any pertinent books, documents, papers and records of the Clearing Agent or of the Participating Members thereof in the performance of and involving transactions related to this Agreement.

7. Act only as agent. The Clearing Agent shall act only in the capacity of agent for the Administrator as principal, in the performance of the functions provided for hereunder. The Clearing Agent shall have no authority other than as provided in this Agreement and in the rules, regulations and instructions issued to it by the Administrator under and pursuant to this Agreement.

8. Special circumstances—(a) Reimbursement of taxes and fees. In the event that the Clearing Agent or any Participating Member or Members thereof, after giving notice to the Administrator, shall be compelled to pay to the United States, it territories or possessions, or to any State of the United States or political subdivision thereof, or to any foreign country or political subdivision thereof, any tax (excepting income taxes of every nature) or fee or intcrest or penalty relating thereto claimed to be due by reason of the business transacted pursuant to this Agreement and which would not have been payable except for the activities of the Clearing Agent hereunder, the Administrator shall reimburse the Clearing Agent and any Participating Member or Members therefor and for any special expenses necessarily incurred in connection therewith.

(b) Indemnification. If any legal suit or proceeding (whether or not based on negligence) is brought against the Clearing Agent or any Participating Member or Members thereof on account of anything done or not done, by the Clearing Agent or any Participating Member of Members thereof or the Administrator, in connection with the issuance or non-issuance or cancellation of insurance on behalf of the Administrator or the payment or non-payment of claims for loss or return premiums arising thereunder (including, without in any way limiting the foregoing, anything done or not done pursuant to any rules, regulations, or instructions of the Administrator or anything done or not done in conflict with or because of any limitation on the powers of the Administrator), the Administrator shall, upon due notice and at the expense of the United States, defend any such proceeding. If, in or as a result of any such legal suit or proceeding, the Clearing Agent or any Participating Member or Members thereof be compelled or required to make any payment or incur any expense, the Administrator shall reimburse the Clearing Agent or any Participating Member or Members thereof for the amount thereof; provided always that the Administrator shall not be obligated to make any such reimbursement unless, in connection with the action complained of, the Clearing Agent shall have complied with the standard of performance required thereunder. In any of the foregoing cases, the Clearing Agent shall render to the Administrator such reasonable cooperation and assistance as the Administrator may require.

9. Effective date, amendment, termination. This Agreement shall become effective as of the date of its execution by the Administrator and shall continue in force until terminated. This Agreement may be terminated, modified or amended at any time by mutual written consent. Once this Agreement becomes effective, it shall continue in force until terminated by mutual written consent or by either party, giving at least thirty (30) days' written notice by registered mail to the other party, stating the effective date and time on which this Agreement shall terminate. Such termination shall not affect the obligations of the parties hereto with respect to any binders or policies of insurance issued or expenditures incurred prior to the effective date of such termination.

10. No commission or contingent fee. The Clearing Agent warrants that no person or selling agency has been employed or retained to solicit or secure this contract upon an agreement or understanding for a commission, percentage, brokerage, or contingent fee, excepting bona fide employees or bona fide established commercial or selling agencies maintained by the Clearing Agent for the purpose of securing business. For breach or violation of this warranty the Administrator shall have the right to annul this contract without liability or in his discretion to deduct from the contract price or consideration the full amount of such commission, percentage, brokerage, or contingent fee.

11. No discrimination. In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the Clearing Agent agrees not to discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, creed, or national origin; and further agrees to insert the foregoing provision in all subcontracts hereunder except subcontracts for standard commercial supplies or for raw materials.

12. No member or delegate. No Member of or Delegate to Congress, or Resident Commissioner, shall be admitted to any share or part of this contract, or to any benefit that may arise therefrom; but this provision shall not be construed to extend to this contract if made with a corporation for its general benefit.

13. Renegotiation. This contract shall be subject to any act of the Congress, whether heretofore or hereafter enacted and to the extent indicated therein, providing for the renegotiation of said contract and shall be deemed to contain all of the provisions required by any such act without subsequent amendment of this contract specifically incorporating such provisions.

The contractor (which term as used in this sentence means the party contracting to perform the work or furnish the materials required by this contract) shall insert the provisions of this article in each subcontract and purchase order made or issued in carrying out the contract.

Nothing contained in this clause shall impose any renegotiation obligation with respect to this contract or any subcontract hereunder which is not imposed by an act of the Congress, heretofore or hereafter enacted.

14. Participating Members—(a) Indebted to United States. The Participating Members of the association constituting the Clearing Agent, severally but not jointly and limited each to its participation therein, shall be indebted to the United States for such amounts as the Secretary is entitled to recover from the Clearing Agent in accordance with the foregoing provisions and, in the event of failure to pay on demand, the Secretary may bring an action or actions in any court in the United States to recover such amount or amounts from the Participating Members, severally but not jointly, on behalf of the United States.

(b) Change of shares. Without cancelling this Agreement, the Participating Members of the association constituting the Clearing Agent may, upon not less than ten (10) days' prior written notice to the Administrator, change their share of participation by agreement among themselves, including the termination of the interests of one Participating Member and the assumption of its share by one or more of the other Participating Members or by the admission of other eligible domestic insurance companies to membership in the association. Any such change of apportionment or termination of participation shall not relieve any Participating Member of its obligations in respect to matters which occurred prior to any change or termination of its interest. Unless the Clearing Agent is notified in writing by the Administrator, within ten (10) days after receipt of notice from the Clearing Agent, that the proposed change in participation or termination or assumption is disapproved, such change shall be understood to be acceptable to the Administrator.

In witness whereof, the parties hereto have duly executed this Agreement in quadruplicate as of the day and year first above written.

52.1930 Method of analysis.
52.1931 Tolerances for certification of officially drawn samples.
52.1932 Score sheet for frozen spinach.

AUTHORITY: §§ 52.1921 through 52.1932 issued under sec. 205, 60 Stat. 1090, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 1624.

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION, STYLES, AND GRADES

§ 52.1921 Product description. Frozen spinach is prepared from the whole or cut, clean, sound, succulent leaves and stems of fresh spinach (Spinacea oleracea) by sorting, trimming, washing, and proper blanching and draining of such leaves and stems. The product is then frozen in accordance with good commercial practices and maintained at temperatures necessary for the preservation of the product.

§ 52.1922 Styles of frozen spinach. (a) "Whole Leaf" spinach is the style of frozen spinach that consists substantially of the leaf and adjoining portion of the stem.

(b) "Cut" or "Chopped" spinach is the style of frozen spinach that consists of the leaf and adjoining portion of the stem which has been cut or chopped into small pieces.

§ 52.1923 Grades of frozen spinach. (a) "U. S. Grade A" or "U. S. Fancy" is the quality of frozen spinach that possesses a good flavor; that possesses a good color; that possesses a good character; that is practically free from defects; and that scores not less than 85 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart.

(b) "U. S. Grade B" or "U. S. Extra Standard" is the quality of frozen spinach that possesses a reasonably good flavor; that possesses a reasonably good color; that possesses a reasonably good character; that is reasonably free from defects; and that scores not less than 70 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart.

(c) "Substandard" is the quality of frozen spinach that fails to meet the requirements of U. S. Grade B or U. S. Extra Standard.

FACTORS OF QUALITY

§ 52.1924 Ascertaining the grade. (a) In addition to considering other requirements outlined in the standards the following quality factors are evaluated:

(1) Factor not rated by score points.
(i) Flavor.

(2) Factors rated by score points. The relative importance of each factor which is rated is expressed numerically on the scale of 100. The maximum number of points that may be given such factors are:

| Factors: | Points |
| Color | 20 |
| Defects | 60 |
| Character | 20 |
| Total score | 100 |

(b) The score for the factors of color and defects is determined immediately after thawing to the extent that the product is substantially free from ice crystals and can be handled as individual units. The evaluation of the factors of character and flavor of frozen spinach is made after thawing and after the product is cooked.

(c) "Good flavor" means that the product has a good characteristic, normal flavor and odor and is free from objectionable flavors and objectionable odors of any kind.

(d) "Reasonably good flavor" means that the product may be lacking in good flavor and odor but is free from objectionable flavors and objectionable odors of any kind.

§ 52.1925 Ascertaining the score for the factors which are rated. The essential variations within each factor which is rated are so described that the value may be ascertained for each factor and expressed numerically. The numerical range within each factor which is rated is inclusive (for example, "17 to 20 points" means 17, 18, 19, or 20 points).

§ 52.1926 Color—(a) (A) classification. Frozen spinach that possesses a good color may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Good color" means that the frozen spinach possesses a bright, characteristic green color; that yellow heart leaves, or portions thereof, may be present that do not materially affect the appearance of the product; and that discolored leaves and stems, or portions thereof, do not more than slightly affect the appearance of the product.

(b) (B) classification. If the frozen spinach possesses a reasonably good color, a score of 14 to 16 points may be given. Frozen spinach that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Extra Standard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably good color" means that the frozen spinach possesses a characteristic green color that may be slightly dull; that yellow heart leaves, or portions thereof, may be present that do not seriously affect the appearance of the product; and that discolored leaves and stems, or portions thereof, do not materially affect the appearance of the product.

(c) (SStd.) classification. Frozen spinach that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.1927 Defects—(a) General. The factor of defects refers to the degree of freedom from grit, sand, or silt, harmless extraneous vegetable material, seed heads, root stubs, crowns, and damage.

(1) "Grit, sand, or silt" means any particle of earthy material.

(2) "Harmless extraneous vegetable material" means:

(i) Green, fine, string-like blades of grass and weeds;

(ii) Green, coarse grass and weeds; and

(iii) Grass and weeds other than green.

(3) "Seed head" means the seed bearing portion of a spinach plant that is longer than one inch or that is objectionable in appearance.

(4) "Root stub" means any portion of the root whether or not leaves are attached.

(5) "Crown" means the solid area of a spinach plant between the root and attached leaf or cluster of leaves.

(6) "Damage" means any discoloration or other injury on a leaf or stem, or portion thereof, that affects the appearance or eating quality of the unit. Minute, insignificant discoloration or other injury shall not be considered damage.

(b) (A) classification. Frozen spinach that is practically free from defects may be given a score of 51 to 60 points. "Practically free from defects" has the following meanings with respect to the following styles of frozen spinach:

(1) Whole Leaf style. (i) No grit, sand, or silt may be present that affects the appearance or eating quality of the product;

(ii) That for approximately each 48 ounces, net weight, there may be present not more than 1 root stub;

(iii) That for each 10 ounces, net weight, there may be present not more than:

(a) An aggregate of 8 inches in length of green, fine, string-like blades of grass and weeds; and green, coarse grass and weeds, of which not more than 2 inches in length may be green, coarse grass and weeds (no grass and weeds other than green);

(b) 1 seed head;

(c) 1 crown;

(d) Damage affecting not more than 5 leaves and stems, or portions thereof: Provided, That on the units so affected the damage does not exceed an aggregate area of more than 3 square inches; and that

(iv) The presence of grit, sand, or silt; harmless extraneous vegetable material; root stubs; seed heads; crowns; and damaged leaves and stems, or portions thereof, individually and collectively, does not materially affect the appearance and eating quality of the product.

(2) Cut or Chopped style. (i) No grit, sand, or silt may be present that affects the appearance and eating quality of the product;

(ii) That for each 10 ounces, net weight, there may be present not more than an aggregate area of 3 square inches of damaged portions of leaves and stems; and that portions of root stubs, seed heads, crowns; and damaged portions of leaves and stems, individually and collectively, does not materially affect the appearance and eating quality of the product.

(iii) The presence of grit, sand, or silt; harmless extraneous vegetable material;

(c) (B) classification. Frozen spinach that is reasonably free from defects may be given a score of 42 to 50 points. Frozen spinach that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Extra Standard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably free from defects" has the following meanings with respect to the following styles of frozen spinach:

(1) Whole Leaf style. (i) A trace of grit, sand, or silt may be present that does not materially affect the appearance and eating quality of the product;

(ii) That for approximately each 48 ounces, net weight, there may be present not more than 3 root stubs;

(iii) That for each 10 ounces, net weight, there may be present not more than:

(a) An aggregate of 12 inches in length of green, fine, string-like blades of grass and weeds; and green, coarse grass and weeds, of which not more than 3 inches in length may be green, coarse grass and weeds, and grass and weeds other than green;

(b) 3 seed heads;

(c) 3 crowns;

(d) Damage affecting not more than 10 leaves and stems, or portions thereof: Provided, That on the units so affected the damage does not exceed an aggregate area of more than 6 square inches, and that

(iv) The presence of grit, sand, or silt; harmless extraneous vegetable material; root stubs; seed heads; crowns; and damaged leaves and stems, or portions thereof, individually and collectively, does not seriously affect the appearance and eating quality of the product.

(2) Cut or Chopped style. (i) A trace of grit, sand, or silt may be present that does not materially affect the appearance and eating quality of the product;

(ii) That for each 10 ounces, net weight, there may be present not more than an aggregate area of 6 square inches of damaged portions of leaves and stems; and that

(iii) The presence of grit, sand, or silt; harmless extraneous vegetable material; portions of root stubs; seed heads; crowns; and damaged portions of leaves and stems, individually and collectively, does not seriously affect the appearance and eating quality of the product.

(d) (SStd.) classification. Frozen spinach that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 41 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.1928 Characacter—(a) General. The factor of character refers to the tenderness and condition of the leaves and stems, or portions thereof, the relation of stem to leaf material, and the degree of freedom from pieces of leaves and ragged or shredded portions of leaves and stems.

(1) "Stem material" means that portion of the spinach material below the point of attachment to the leaf.

(2) "Pieces of leaf" means any piece of a leaf (other than stem material) having an area less than 2 square inches in Whole Leaf style.

(b) (A) classification. Frozen spinach that possesses a good character may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Good character" has the following meanings with respect to the following styles:

(1) Whole Leaf style. (i) That the spinach is tender and practically free from coarse and tough leaves and stems, or portions thereof;

(ii) That there may be present not more than 20 percent, by weight, of stem material; and

(iii) That there may be present not more than 15 percent, by weight, of pieces of leaves.

(2) Cut or Chopped style. (i) That the spinach is tender and practically free from coarse and tough portions of leaves and stems; and

(ii) That the presence of stem material and ragged or shredded portions of leaves and stems does not materially affect the eating quality of the product or present a pureed appearance.

(c) (B) classification. Frozen spinach that possesses a reasonably good character may be given a score of 14 to 16 points. Frozen spinach that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Extra Standard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably good character" has the following meanings with respect to the following styles:

(1) Whole Leaf style. (i) That the spinach is reasonably tender and reasonably free from coarse and tough leaves and stems, or portions thereof;

(ii) That there may be present not more than 30 percent, by weight, of stem material; and

(iii) That there may be present not more than 30 percent, by weight, of pieces of leaves.

(2) Cut or Chopped style. (i) That the spinach is reasonably tender and reasonably free from coarse and tough portions of leaves and stems; and

(ii) That the presence of stem material and ragged or shredded portions of leaves and stems does not seriously affect the appearance and eating quality of the product.

(d) (SStd.) classification. Frozen spinach that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

DEFINITIONS AND METHOD OF ANALYSIS

§ 52.1929 Definition of terms—(a) Aggregate area. "Aggregate area" means the aggregate surface covered by the material stated when such material, or portions thereof, is placed in a contiguous position with practically no intervening spaces.

§ 52.1930 Method of analysis. (a) "By weight of stem material" and "by weight of pieces of leaves" are determined by the following method:

(1) Equipment.

8 inch, 8 mesh screen.
Flat surface suitable as cutting board.
Small knife.
Suitable scales.

(2) Procedure. (i) If the sample is 10 ounces or less use the entire sample, but if the sample is of a size exceeding 10 ounces, use a representative portion which will yield at least 10 ounces of drained spinach.

(ii) After thawing the sample and grading for all other factors, spread on an 8 inch, 8 mesh screen and drain for 6 minutes. Separate the stem material from the leaf material, cutting the stem from the leaf at the point of attachment, and at the same time separate the pieces of leaves. Weigh the stem material, the pieces of leaves, and the remaining leaf material. The sum of these weights divided into the weight of stem material, multiplied by 100 will give the percentage "by weight of stem material," and the sum of these weights divided into the weight of pieces of leaves, multiplied by 100 will give the percentage "by weight of pieces of leaves." The spinach may be floated in water to facilitate separation but if this is done the stem material, pieces of leaves, and remaining leaf material should all be drained an additional 6 minutes prior to weighing.

LOT CERTIFICATION TOLERANCES

§ 52.1931 Tolerances for certification of officially drawn samples. (a) When certifying samples that have been officially drawn and which represent a specific lot of frozen spinach, the grade for such lot will be determined by averaging the total scores of the containers comprising the sample, if (1) such containers meet all of the applicable grade requirements of the factors of quality that are not rated by score points, (2) all containers comprising the sample meet all applicable standards of quality promulgated under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and in effect at the time of the aforesaid certification, and (3) with respect to those factors which are rated by score points:

(i) Not more than one-sixth of the containers fails to meet the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(ii) None of the containers falls more than 4 points below the minimum score for the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(iii) None of the containers falls more than one grade below the grade indicated by the average of such total scores; and

(iv) The average score of all containers for any factor subject to a limiting rule is within the score range of that factor for the grade indicated by the average of the total scores of the containers comprising the sample.

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION, TYPES, STYLES, AND GRADES

§ 52.2861 Product description. Comb honey is the clean, sound product of honey bees contained in the cells of honey comb. The comb may be cut and the cut comb wrapped or packed in extracted honey under sanitary conditions, in accordance with good commercial practice.

§ 52.2862 Types of comb honey. (a) "Section comb honey" means comb honey produced in individual sections.

(b) "Shallow frame comb honey" means comb honey produced in shallow frames giving a comb of approximately one inch in thickness.

§ 52.2863 Styles of comb honey. (a) "Style I—Section Comb Honey" means comb honey in the original section.

(b) "Style II—Cut Comb Honey—Wrapped" means comb honey cut into practically uniform pieces and packed in individual transparent, leakproof cartons.

(c) "Style III—Cut Comb Honey—in Extracted Honey;" "Chunk Comb Honey" means comb honey cut into practically uniform pieces and packed in extracted honey.

§ 52.2864 Grades of comb honey. (a) "U. S. Grade A" or "U. S. Fancy" is the quality of comb honey containing honey having not less than 81.4 percent soluble solids; [2] that possesses a good flavor for the predominant floral source; that is practically uniform in color; that is practically free from defects; that possesses a good character; and that scores not less than 90 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart. The minimum net weight of section comb honey of this grade shall be not less than 12 ounces avoirdupois unless otherwise specified.

(b) "U. S. Grade B" or "U. S. No. 1" is the quality of comb honey containing honey having not less than 81.4 percent soluble solids; [2] that possesses a reasonably good flavor for the predominant floral source; that is reasonably uniform in color; that is reasonably free from defects; that possesses a reasonably good character; and that for those factors which are scored in accordance with the scoring system, outlined in this subpart the total score is not less than 80 points: Provided, That the comb honey may be fairly uniform in color if the total score is not less than 80 points. The minimum net weight of section comb honey of this grade shall be not less than 11 ounces avoirdupois unless otherwise specified.

(c) "U. S. Grade C" or "U. S. No. 2" is the quality of comb honey containing honey having not less than 81.4 percent soluble solids; [2] that possesses a fairly good flavor for the predominant floral source; that is fairly uniform in color; that is fairly free from defects; that possesses a fairly good character; and that scores not less than 70 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart. The minimum net weight of section comb honey of this grade shall be not less than 10 ounces avoirdupois unless otherwise specified.

(d) "Substandard" is the quality of comb honey that fails to meet the requirements of U. S. Grade C or U. S. No. 2.

§ 52.2865 Recommended fill of container for Style III—Cut Comb Honey—in Extracted Honey; Chunk Comb Honey. The recommended fill of container is not incorporated in the grades of the product since fill of container, as such, is not a factor of quality for the purpose of these grades. It is recommended that each container of Style III Comb Honey be filled with honey as full as practicable and that the extracted honey and comb shall fill the container to not less than 95 percent of its total capacity.

§ 52.2866 Minimum drained weight for Style III—Cut Comb Honey—in Extracted Honey; Chunk Comb Honey. The drained weight for Style III Comb Honey, as specified in Table No. 2 of this section, is determined by emptying the contents of the container upon a United States Standard No. 8 sieve of proper diameter, inclining the sieve to facilitate drainage and allowing to drain for 5 minutes. After draining, the comb is emptied from the sieve into a dry scale pan and weighed. The contents of the container is heated to bring the liquid honey to approximately 54.4° C. (130° F.) before determining the drained weight. A sieve 8 inches in diameter is used for containers of 3 pounds and less and a sieve 12 inches in diameter is used for containers larger than 3 pounds net content.

TABLE NO. 2—MINIMUM DRAINED WEIGHT OF COMB HONEY IN CHUNK COMB HONEY

| Container size: | Comb honey percent of net weight |
|---|---|
| 1 pound net weight and under | 25 |
| Over 1 pound net weight | 35 |

§ 52.2867 Compliance with minimum drained weight for Style III—Cut Comb Honey—in Extracted Honey; Chunk Comb Honey. Compliance with the minimum drained weight for Style III Comb Honey is determined by averaging the drained weights of all containers which are representative of a specific lot. Such lot is considered as meeting the requirements if:

(a) At least three-fourths of the containers meets the minimum drained weight;

(b) The drained weights of the containers which do not meet the minimum drained weight are within the range of variability of good commercial practice; and

(c) The average drained weight of all of the containers which are representative of the lot does not fall below the minimum drained weight.

FACTORS OF QUALITY

§ 52.2868 Ascertaining the grade—(a) General. In addition to considering other requirements outlined in the standards, the following quality factors are evaluated:

(1) Factor not rated by score points. (i) Percent soluble solids.

(2) Factors rated by score points. The relative importance of each factor which is rated is expressed numerically on a scale of 100. The maximum number of points that may be given each such factor is:

| Factors: | Points |
| Flavor | 40 |
| Color | 20 |
| Defects | 30 |
| Total score | 100 |

§ 52.2869 Ascertaining the score for the factors which are rated. The essential variations within each factor which is rated are so described that the value may be ascertained for each such factor and expressed numerically. The numerical range within each factor which is rated is inclusive (for example, "8 to 10 points" means 8, 9, or 10 points).

§ 52.2870 Flavor—(a) General. The factor of flavor refers to the prominence of the honey flavor and aroma of the predominant floral source.

(b) (A) classification. Comb honey that possesses a good flavor for the predominant floral source may be given a score of 37 to 40 points. "Good flavor for the predominant floral source" means that the product has a good, normal flavor and aroma for the predominant floral source and that the honey is free from objectionable flavor caused by fermentation, smoke, chemicals, or other causes, with the exception of the predominant floral source.

(c) (B) classification. If the comb honey possesses a reasonably good flavor for the predominant floral source, a score of 34 to 36 points may be given. Honey that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. No. 1, regardless of the total score for the products (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably good flavor for the predominant floral source" means that the product has a reasonably good, normal flavor and aroma and that the honey is free from objectionable flavor caused by fermentation, smoke, chemicals, or other causes, with the exception of the predominant floral source.

(d) (C) classification. Comb honey that possesses a fairly good flavor for the predominant floral source may be given a score of 31 to 33 points. Honey that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade C or U. S. No. 2, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Fairly good flavor for the predominant floral source" means that the product has a fairly good, normal flavor and aroma for the predominant floral source and that the honey is free from objectionable flavor caused by fermentation, smoke, chemicals, or other causes, with the exception of the predominant floral source.

(e) (SStd.) classification. Comb honey that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (d) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 30 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

(1) U. S. D. A. permanent glass color standards means the color standards described in the Department publication AIC–307, "Permanent Glass Color Standards for Extracted Honey."

(2) Information regarding these color standards may be obtained by writing to the Processed Products Standardization and Inspection Branch, Fruit and Vegetable Division, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

(b) (A) classification. Comb honey that possesses a good color and is uniform throughout the comb may be given a score of 18 to 20 points. "Good color" means that the comb honey is free from any noticeable variation in the color of the surface of the comb or in the honey in the cells throughout the comb; and that when packed in extracted honey the color of the honey in the comb may be darker than the extracted honey but not darker than the next darker color classification as determined by the U. S. D. A. permanent glass color standards for extracted honey.

(c) (B) classification. If the comb honey possesses a reasonably good color, a score of 16 or 17 points may be given. "Reasonably good color" means that the appearance or eating quality of the product is not materially affected by a variation in the color of the surface of the comb or in the honey in the cells throughout the comb; and that when packed in extracted honey the color of the honey in the comb may be darker than the next darker color classification for the extracted honey but not darker than the second darker color classification as determined by the U. S. D. A. permanent glass color standards for extracted honey.

(d) (C) classification. Comb honey that possesses a fairly good color may be given a score of 14 or 15 points. Comb honey that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade C or U. S. No. 2, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Fairly good color" means that the appearance or eating quality of the product is not seriously affected by a variation in the color of the surface of the comb or in the honey in the cells throughout the comb; and that when packed in extracted honey the color of the honey in the comb may be darker in color than the extracted honey but not darker than the second darker color classification as determined by the U. S. D. A. permanent glass color standards for extracted honey.

(e) (SStd.) classification. Comb honey that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (d) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2872 Defects—(a) General. "Defects" refers to the uniformity of the surface of the comb; the uniformity of the capping and the degree of freedom from uncapped cells, dry cells, and through holes; from cells of pollen, leaky cells, honeydew and granulation; and from damage caused by bruising and by any other means which may affect the appearance or edibility of the product.

(b) (A) classification. Comb honey that is practically free from defects may be given a score of 27 to 30 points. "Practically free from defects" means that the comb shall contain no dry cells; shall be free from cells of pollen; and that the surface of the comb shall be practically uniform in appearance. The cappings shall present a practically uniform, even appearance and shall be free from damage caused by bruising or by other means. The honey shall be free from granulation and honeydew. The product shall meet the following additional requirements with respect to the various styles of comb honey:

(1) Style I—Section Comb Honey. The section shall be practically free from propolis, staining, or other discoloration. The comb shall have no uncapped cells except in the row attached to the section; shall be attached to not less than 75 percent of the attachment area of the section if the outside row of cells is empty or attached to not less than 60 percent of the attachment area if the outside row is filled with honey; shall have not more than a total of 2½ linear inches of through holes; and shall not project beyond the edge of the section. The cappings shall be dry and free from leaking.

(2) Style II—Cut Comb Honey—Wrapped. The comb shall have no uncapped cells except at the cut edges, and the cappings shall be free from leaking.

(3) Style III—Cut Comb Honey—in Extracted Honey; Chunk Comb Honey. The comb may contain watery cappings but not more than one uncapped cell per square inch of comb surface; and shall be packed in U. S. Grade A extracted honey.

(c) (B) classification. If the comb honey is reasonably free from defects, a score of 24 to 26 points may be given. Comb honey that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. No. 1, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably free from defects" means that the comb shall contain no dry cells; shall be free from cells of pollen; and that the surface of the comb shall be reasonably uniform in appearance. The cappings shall present a reasonably uniform, even appearance, and shall be free from damage caused by bruising or by other means. The honey shall be reasonably free from granulation and honeydew. The product shall meet the following additional requirements with respect to the various styles of comb honey:

(1) Style I—Section Comb Honey. The section shall be reasonably free from propolis, staining, or other discoloration. The comb shall have no uncapped cells except in the row attached to the section and in the row adjoining the outside row, in the corners, and along the lower edge: Provided, That the number of uncapped cells does not exceed 15 in a section. The comb shall be attached to not less than 60 percent of the attachment area of the section; shall have not more than a total of 4 linear inches of through holes; and shall not project beyond the edge of the section. The cappings shall be dry and free from leaking.

(2) Style II—Cut Comb Honey—Wrapped. The comb shall have no uncapped cells except at the cut edges and not to exceed 15 uncapped cells in the row adjoining the cut edges. The cappings shall be free from leaking.

(3) Style III—Cut Comb Honey—in Extracted Honey; Chunk Comb Honey. The comb may contain watery cappings and not more than 2 uncapped cells per square inch of comb surface; and shall be packed in U. S. Grade A extracted honey.

(d) (C) classification. Comb honey that is fairly free from defects may be given a score of 21 to 23 points. Comb honey that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade C or U. S. No. 2, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Fairly free from defects" means that the comb shall be fairly free from cells of pollen; and that the surface of the comb shall be fairly uniform in appearance. The cappings shall be fairly free from damage caused by bruising or by other means. The honey shall be fairly free from granulation and honeydew. The product shall meet the following additional requirements with respect to the various styles of comb honey:

(1) Style I—Section Comb Honey. The section shall be fairly free from propolis, staining, or other discoloration. The comb shall have no uncapped cells except in the row attached to the section and in the row adjoining the outside row, in the corners, and along the lower edge: Provided, That the number of uncapped cells does not exceed 30 in a section; shall have not more than 5 uncapped cells throughout the body of the comb; and of the total uncapped cells not more than 20, exclusive of those in the outside row, may be empty. The comb shall be attached to not less than 60 percent of the attachment area of the section; shall have not more than a total of 6 linear inches of through holes; shall not project beyond the edge of the section; and shall have no dry holes larger than ⅜ inch across, if more than 1⅜ inches from the section.

(2) Style II—Cut Comb Honey—Wrapped. The comb shall have no dry holes and no uncapped cells except at the cut edges and not to exceed 30 uncapped cells in the row adjoining the cut edges. The cappings shall be free from leaking.

(3) Style III—Cut Comb Honey—in Extracted Honey; Chunk Comb Honey. The comb may contain watery cappings and not more than 4 uncapped cells per square inch of comb surface; and may be packed U. S. Grade B extracted honey.

(e) (SStd.) classification. Comb honey that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (d) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 20 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2873 Character—(a) General. The factor of character has reference to the tenderness, texture, and condition of the comb in comb honey.

(b) (A) classification. Comb honey that possesses a good character may be given a score of 8 to 10 points. "Good character" means that the honey comb is tender and is practically free from firm or tough comb that may affect the appearance or eating quality of the honey.

(c) (B) classification. If the comb honey possesses a reasonably good character, a score of 6 or 7 points may be given. "Reasonably good character" means that the honey comb is reasonably tender and that the presence of firm or tough comb does not materially affect the appearance or eating quality of the honey.

(d) (C) classification. Comb honey that possesses a fairly good character may be given a score of 4 or 5 points. "Fairly good character" means that the honey comb may be lacking in tenderness but that the presence of firm or tough comb does not seriously affect the appearance or eating quality of the honey.

(e) (SStd.) classification. Comb honey that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (d) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 3 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

DEFINITIONS AND METHODS OF ANALYSES

§ 52.2874 Soluble solids; Brix. The soluble solids content of honey throughout the comb and of extracted honey may be determined by means of the refractometer corrected to 20° C. (68° F.). The refractive indices and corresponding percent soluble solids, percent moisture, and other equivalents may be ascertained from Table No. 4 of this subpart. The soluble solids content of comb and extracted honey may also be determined by the double dilution method by means of a Brix hydrometer corrected to 20° C. (68° F.).

§ 52.2375 Color of honey in comb honey. The color of honey throughout the comb is not a factor of quality for the purpose of these grades.

(a) The color classification of honey throughout the comb is determined by means of the U. S. D. A. permanent glass color standards for extracted honey.

(b) In classifying the color of honey throughout the comb, a sample of the liquid honey shall be drained from a cut or broken comb. The extracted honey in which Style III is packed may be separated from the comb by emptying contents of container on a U. S. Standard No. 8 screen and allowing to drain into a suitable container. Crystallized honey and partially crystallized honey is liquefied by heating to approximately 54.4° C. (130° F.) and cooling to approximately 20° C. (68° F.) before ascertaining the color by means of the U. S. D. A. permanent glass color standards for extracted honey.

(c) The respective color designation and applicable range of each color for comb honey and liquid honey are shown in Table No. 3 of this subpart.

TABLE NO. 3—COLOR DESIGNATION OF HONEY IN COMB HONEY AND EXTRACTED HONEY AND RANGE FOR EACH COLOR

§ 52.2876 Application of U. S. D. A. permanent glass color standards for extracted honey in classifying the color of honey in comb honey—(a) Sample containers. The sample containers for use in making the visual color determination, as set forth herein, are square bottles of colorless transparent glass, having an internal width at the center of 3.15 centimeters (1.24 inches), with outside base dimensions of approximately 1 7/16 inches by 1 7/16 inches, and having a capacity of approximately 2 ounces.

(b) Comparator; viewing box. Two comparators or viewing boxes are required for the entire color range in the visual comparison test. Each comparator is divided into five compartments approximately 1½ inches square, with each compartment provided with openings approximately 1 3/16 inches square in the two parallel sides. The U. S. D. A. permanent glass color standards are mounted in a fixed position in the front openings of compartments 1, 3, and 5 of the two comparators, compartments 2 and 4 being adapted to receive the sample containers.

(c) Clear blanks. Six clear blanks of distilled water in capped sample containers are required. The clear blanks are placed in the compartments provided behind each permanent glass color standard.

(d) Cloudy suspensions. Three cloudy suspensions in distilled water, each in a capped sample container, are required. These are referred to as "Cloudy No. 1," "Cloudy No. 2," and "Cloudy No. 3," corresponding to varying degrees of cloudiness within the range of the different grades of honey. The cloudy suspensions replace the clear blanks when cloudy honey is to be classified for color.

(e) Visual comparison test. The color of a sample of honey is compared with the U. S. D. A. permanent glass color standards in the following manner to determine its color classification:

(1) Place the sample of honey in a clean, dry sample container.

(2) Place the clear blanks behind each permanent glass color standard.

(3) Place the container filled with the sample of honey successively in compartments 2 and 4 of the comparator and visually compare the color of the sample with that of each of the glass color standards by looking through them at a diffuse source of natural or artificial daylight. The color is classified in accordance with the color range as given in Table No. 3 of this subpart.

(4) If the sample is appreciably cloudy in appearance, the clear blanks are replaced by the cloudy suspensions, "Cloudy No. 1," "Cloudy No. 2," or "Cloudy No. 3," respectively, to facilitate color classification.

§ 52.2877 Tolerance for certification of color of officially drawn samples. When certifying the color of samples that have been officially drawn and which represent a specific lot of comb honey, the lot shall be considered as of one color if not more than one-sixth of the containers comprising the sample contains comb honey of a different color classification: Provided, That the honey in none of the containers falls below the next darker color designation.

§ 52.2878 Uniform in color. Uniform in color means that no pronounced variation in color is apparent in the honey on looking through the comb toward the light.

§ 52.2879 Uncapped cells. Uncapped cells means cells of honey comb which may be either empty or filled with honey which are not sealed or capped over by the bees.

§ 52.2880 Attachment area. Attachment area means the inner area of the wood section to which the honey comb is attached.

§ 52.2881 Project beyond edge of section. This means the projection of the comb beyond the widest part of the wood section.

§ 52.2882 Dry cells. Dry cells are holes in the honeycomb larger than a cell, not next to the section, which may extend partly or entirely through the comb.

§ 52.2883 Through holes. Through holes are holes or passages through the comb from one side of the comb to the other, between the edges of the comb and the wood section.

§ 52.2884 Leaking. Leaking or weeping is the seepage of honey through the cappings, forming small drops of honey which finally run down the surface of the comb.

§ 52.2885 Bruising. Bruising is any injury by accident or pressure causing sufficient indentation of the surface of the comb to result in leaking.

§ 52.2886 Uniformity of surface of comb. Uniformity of the surface of the comb refers to the degree of uniformity of the surface of the comb and the freedom from irregularities other than those incident to the work of the bees in completing the comb.

§ 52.2887 Methods of analysis. The analyses indicated in this subpart shall be made in accordance with methods of analyses given in Official Methods of Analysis of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists or by any other means which give equivalent results.

LOT CERTIFICATION TOLERANCES

§ 52.2888 Tolerances for certification of officially drawn samples. (a) When certifying samples that have been officially drawn and which represent a specific lot of comb honey the grade for such lot will be determined by averaging the total scores of the containers comprising the sample, if (1) such containers meet all of the applicable grade requirements of the factors of quality that are not rated by score points, (2) all containers comprising the sample meet all applicable standards of quality promulgated under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and in effect at the time of the aforesaid certification, and (3) with respect to those factors which are rated by score points:

(i) Not more than one-sixth of the containers fails to meet the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(ii) None of the containers falls more than 4 points below the minimum score for the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(iii) None of the containers falls more than one grade below the grade indicated by the average of such total scores; and

(iv) The average score of all containers for any factor subject to a limiting rule is within the score range of that factor for the grade indicated by the average of the total scores of the containers comprising the sample.

EXPENSES AND ASSESSMENTS

§ 1011.40 Expenses. The committee is authorized to incur such expenses as the Secretary may find are reasonable and likely to be incurred by it during each fiscal period for the maintenance and functioning of such committee and for such purposes as the Secretary, pursuant to this subpart, determines to be appropriate. Handlers shall share expenses on the basis of each fiscal period. Each handler's share of such expense shall be proportionate to the ratio between the total quantity of potatoes handled during a fiscal period by him as the first handler thereof and the total quantity of potatoes handled during such fiscal period by all handlers as first handlers thereof.

§ 1011.41 Budget. At the begining of each fiscal period and as may be necessary thereafter, the committee shall prepart an estimated budget of income and expenditures necessary for the administration of this part. The committee may recommend to the Secretary a rate or rates of assessment calculated to provide adequate funds to defray its proposed expenditures. The committee shall present such budget to the Secretary with an accompanying report showing the basis for its calculations.

§ 1011.42 Assessments. (a) The funds to cover such expenses shall be acquired by the levying of assessments upon handlers as provided in this subpart. Each handler who first handles potatoes shall pay assessments to the committee upon demand, which assessments shall be in payment of such handler's pro rata share of the committee's expenses.

(b) Assessments shall be levied upon handlers at rates established by the Secretary. Such rates may be established upon the basis of the committee's recommendations and other available information. Such rates may be applied equitably to each pack or unit.

(c) At any time during or subsequent to a given fiscal period the committee may recommend the approval of an amended budget and an increase in the rate of assessment. Upon the basis of such recommendations, or other available information, the Secretary may approve an amended budget and increase the rate of assessment. Such increase shall be applicable to all potatoes which were regulated under this part and which were handled by the first handler thereof during such fiscal period.

§ 1011.43 Accounting. (a) All funds received by the committee pursuant to the provisions of this subpart shall be used solely for the purposes specified in this part.

(b) The Secretary may at any time require the committee, its members and alternates, employees, agents, and all other persons to account for all receipts and disbursements, funds, property, or records for which they are responsible. Whenever any person ceases to be a member or alternate of the committee he shall account for all receipts, disbursements, funds, and property (including but not being limited to books and other records) pertaining to such committee's activities for which he is responsible and deliver all such property and funds in his hands to such successor, agency, or person as may be designated by the Secretary, and shall execute such assignments and other instruments as may be necessary or appropriate to vest in the designated successor, agency, or person the right to all such property and funds and all claims vested in such member or alternate.

(c) The committee may make recommendations to the Secretary for one or more of the members thereof, or any other person, to act as a trustee for holding records, funds, or any other committee property during periods when regulations are not in effect and, if the Secretary determines such action appropriate, he may direct that such person or persons shall act as trustee or trustees for the committee.

§ 1011.44 Refunds. At the end of each fiscal period monies arising from the excess of assessments over expenses shall be accounted for as follows:

(a) Each handler entitled to a proportionate refund of the excess assessments at the end of a fiscal period shall be credited with such refund against the operation of the following fiscal period unless he demands payment thereof, in which event such proportionate refund shall be paid to him; or

(b) The Secretary, upon recommendation of the committee, may determine that it is appropriate for the maintenance and functioning of such committee that some of the funds remaining at the end of a fiscal period which are in excess of the expenses necessary for operation during such period may be carried over into following periods as a reserve for possible liquidation. Upon approval by the Secretary, such reserve may be used upon termination of this part to liquidate the affairs of the committee: Provided, That upon termination of this part any monies in the reserve for liquidation which are not required to defray the necessary expenses of liquidation shall to the extent practical be returned upon a pro rata basis to all persons from whom such funds were collected.

§ 1011.47 Research and development. The committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may provide for the establishment of marketing research and development projects designed to assist, improve, or promote the marketing, distribution, and consumption of potatoes.

REGULATION

§ 1011.50 Marketing policy—(a) Preparation. Prior to each marketing season the committee shall consider and prepare a proposed policy for the marketing of potatoes. In developing its marketing policy the committee shall investigate relevant supply and demand conditions for potatoes. In such investigations the committee shall give appropriate consideration to the following:

(1) Market prices for potatoes, including prices by grade, size, and quality in different packs, or in different containers, or any other shipping unit;

(2) Supply of potatoes by grade, size, quality, and maturity in the production area and in other production areas;

(3) The trend and level of consumer income;

(4) Establishing and maintaining orderly marketing conditions for potatoes;

(5) Orderly marketing of potatoes as will be in the public interest; and

(6) Other relevant factors.

(b) Reports. (1) The committee shall submit a report to the Secretary setting forth the aforesaid marketing policy and it shall notify producers and handlers of the contents of such report.

(2) In the event it becomes advisable to shift from such marketing policy because of changed supply and demand conditions, the committee shall prepare a new marketing policy in accordance with the manner previously outlined. The committee shall submit a report thereon to the Secretary and notify producers and handlers of the contents of such report on the revised or amended marketing policy.

§ 1011.51 Recommendations for regulations. The committee shall recommend to the Secretary, grade, size, quality, and maturity regulations, or amendments thereto, or modifications thereof, whenever it finds that such regulations as provided in § 1011.52 will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. The committee also may recommend modification, suspension, or termination of any regulation, or amendments thereto, in order to facilitate the handling of potatoes for the purpose authorized in § 1011.54. The committee may also recommend amendment, termination, or suspension of any regulation issued under this part.

§ 1011.52 Issuance of grade, size, quality, and maturity regulations. (a) The Secretary shall limit the shipment of potatoes whenever he finds from the recommendations and information submitted by the committee, or from other available information, that such regulation would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. Such limitation may:

(1) Regulate in any or all portions of the production area, the handling of particular grades, sizes, qualities, or maturities of any or all varieties of table stock or of seed potatoes, or both, during any period; or

(2) Regulate the handling of particular grades, sizes, or qualities of potatoes differently, for different varieties, for table stock, for seed, for different portions of the production area, for different packs, for different sizes and types of containers, or for any combination of the foregoing, during any period;

(3) Provide a method through rules and regulations issued pursuant to this part for fixing the size, capacity, weight, dimensions, or pack of the container, or containers, which may be used in the packaging or handling of potatoes, or both; or

(4) Regulate the handling of potatoes by establishing, in terms of grades, sizes, or both, minimum standards of quality and maturity.

(b) The Secretary may amend any regulations issued under this subpart whenever he finds that such regulation would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. The Secretary may also terminate or suspend any regulation whenever he finds that such regulation obstructs or no longer tends to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(c) The Secretary shall notify the committee of any such regulation issued pursuant to this section and the committee shall give reasonable notice thereof to handlers.

§ 1011.53 Minimum quantities. The committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may establish, for any or all portions of the production area, minimum quantities below which shipments will be free from regulations issued pursuant to §§ 1011.40 to 1011.60 inclusive.

§ 1011.54 Handling for specified purposes. (a) The Secretary upon the basis of recommendations of the committee, or upon the basis of other available information, may modify, suspend, or terminate regulations issued pursuant to §§ 1011.40 to 1011.60, inclusive, in order to facilitate the handling of potatoes for the purposes specified below, whenever he finds that such actions tends to effectuate the declared policy of the act. Adequate safeguards may be established pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section to prevent such shpiments from entering channels of trade for other than the specified purposes:

(1) Shipments of potatoes for the purpose of having such potatoes graded or stored within the production area generally or within any specified portions thereof;

(2) Shipments of potatoes for export;

(3) Shipments of potatoes for distribution by relief agencies, or for consumption by charitable institutions;

(4) Shipments of potatoes for the purpose of having such potatoes manufactured or converted into specified products or by-products;

(5) Shipments of potatoes for livestock feed within the production area generally or any specified portions thereof; and

(6) For other specified purposes.

(b) Whenever the handling of seed potatoes is not subject to the same regulations as is the handling of table stock potatoes, issued pursuant to §§ 1011.40 to 1011.60, inclusive, the committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may prescribe adequate safeguards, pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section, to prevent diversion of such shipments from seed potato channels.

(c) The committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may prescribe adequate safeguards, authorized by paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, which safeguards may include requirements that:

(1) Handlers shall file applications with the committee to handle potatoes pursuant to this section;

(2) Handlers shall obtain Federal-State inspection provided by § 1011.60 and pay the pro rata share of expenses provided by § 1011.41 in connection with potatoes handled under the provisions of this section: Provided, That such inspection and payment of expenses may be required at different times than otherwise specified by the aforesaid sections; and

(3) (i) Handlers shall obtain Certificates of Privilege from the committee for potatoes to be handled under the provisions of this section. The committee, with the approval of the Secretary, shall prescribe rules governing the issuance and the contents of such Certificates of Privilege.

(ii) The committee shall make monthly reports to the Secretary showing the number of applications for such certificates, the quantity of potatoes covered by such applications, the number of such applications denied and certificates granted, the quantity of potatoes handled under duly issued certificates, and such other information as may be requested by the Secretary. The committee may rescind or deny Certificates of Privilege to any handler if evidence is obtained that potatoes handled by him for the purposes stated in this section have been diverted from such purposes contrary to the provisions of this subpart.

(d) (1) The Secretary shall give prompt notice to the committee of any modification, suspension or termination of regulations pursuant to this section, or of any approval issued by him under the provisions of this section.

(2) The Secretary shall have the right to modify, change, alter, or rescind any safeguards prescribed and any certificates issued by the committee pursuant to the provisions of this section.

INSPECTION AND CERTIFICATION

§ 1011.60 Inspection and certification. (a) During any period in which the handling of potatoes is regulated pursuant to §§ 1011.42, 1011.52, or 1011.54, or any combination thereof, no handler shall handle potatoes unless such potatoes are inspected by an authorized representative of the Federal-State Inspection Service, or such other inspection service as the Secretary shall designate, and are covered by a valid inspection certificate, except when relieved from such requirements pursuant to § 1011.53 or § 1011.54 or both.

(b) Regrading, resorting, or repacking any lot of potatoes shall invalidate any prior inspection certificates insofar as the requirements of this section are concerned. No handler shall handle potatoes after they have been regraded, resorted, repacked, or in any way further prepared for market, unless such potatoes are inspected by an authorized representative of the Federal-State Inspection Service, or such other inspection service as the Secretary shall designate: Provided, That such inspection requirements on regraded, resorted, or repacked potatoes may be modified, suspended, or terminated under rules and regulations recommended by the committee, and approved by the Secretary.

(c) Upon recommendation of the committee, and approval of the Secretary, all lots so inspected and certified shall be identified by appropriate seals, stamps, or tags to be affixed to the containers by the handler under the direction and supervision of the Federal-State or Federal inspector or the Committee. Master containers may bear the identification instead of the individual containers within said master container.

(d) Insofar as the requirements of this section are concerned, the length of time for which an inspection certificate is valid may be established by the committee with the approval of the Secretary.

(e) When potatoes are inspected in accordance with the requirements of this section, a copy of each inspection certificate issued shall be made available to the committee by the inspection service.

EXEMPTIONS

§ 1011.65 Procedure. The committee may adopt, subject to approval of the Secretary, the procedures pursuant to which certificates of exemption will be issued to producers or handlers.

§ 1011.66 Granting exemptions. (a) The committee may issue certificates of exemption to any producer who applies for such exemption and furnishes adequate evidence to the committee: (1) That by reason of a regulation issued pursuant to § 1011.52 he will be prevented from handling as large a proportion of his production as the average proportion of production handled by all producers in said applicant's immediate production area; and (2) that the grade, size, or quality of the applicant's potatoes have been adversely affected by acts beyond the applicant's control and by acts beyond reasonable expectation. Each certificate shall permit the producer to handle the amount of potatoes specified thereon. Such certificates shall be transferred with such potatoes at time of shipment.

(b) The committee may issue certificates of exemption to any handler who applies for such exemption and furnishes adequate evidence to the committee: (1) That by reason of a regulation issued pursuant to § 1011.52 he will be prevented from handling as large a proportion of his storage holdings of ungraded potatoes, acquired during or immediately following the digging season, as the average proportion of ungraded storage holdings handled by all handlers in said applicant's immediate shipping area; and (2) that the grade, size, or quality of the applicant's potatoes have been adversely affected by acts beyond the applicant's control and by acts beyond reasonable expectation. Each certificate shall permit the handler to handle the amount of potatoes specified thereon. Such certificate shall be transferred with such potatoes at time of shipment.

(c) The committee shall be permitted at any time to make a thorough investigation of any producer's or handler's claim pertaining to exemptions.

§ 1011.67 Appeal. If any applicant for exemption certificates is dissatisfied with the determination by the committee with respect to this application, said applicant may file an appeal with the committee. Such an appeal must be taken promptly after the determination by the committee from which the appeal is taken. Any applicant filing an appeal shall furnish evidence satisfactory to the committee for a determination on the appeal. The committee shall thereupon reconsider the application, examine all available evidence, and make a final determination concerning the application. The committee shall notify the appellant of the final determination and shall furnish the Secretary with a copy of the appeal and a statement of considerations involved in making the final determination.

§ 1011.68 Review, records, and reports of exemptions. (a) The Secretary shall have the right to modify, change, alter, or rescind any procedure and any exemptions granted pursuant to § 1011.65, § 1011.66, § 1011.67, or any combination thereof.

(b) The committee shall maintain a record of all applications submitted for exemption certificates, a record of all exemption certificates issued and denied and the quantity of potatoes covered by such exemption certificates, a record of the amount of potatoes handled under exemption certificates, a record of appeals for reconsideration of applications, and such information as may be requested by the Secretary. Periodic reports on such records shall be compiled and issued by the committee upon request of the Secretary.

EFFECTIVE TIME AND TERMINATION

§ 1011.70 Effective time. The provisions of this subpart shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare above his signature attached to this subpart, and shall continue in force until terminated in one of the ways specified in this subpart.

§ 1011.71 Termination. (a) The Secretary may at any time terminate the provisions of this subpart by giving at least one day's notice by means of a press release or in any other manner which he may determine.

(b) The Secretary may terminate or suspend the operation of any or all of the provisions of this subpart whenever he finds that such provisions do not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(c) The Secretary shall terminate the provisions of this subpart at the end of any fiscal period whenever he finds that such termination is favored by a majority of producers who, during the preceding fiscal period, have been engaged in the production for market of potatoes: Provided, That such majority has, during such period, produced for market more than fifty percent of the volume of such potatoes produced for market; but such termination shall be effective only if announced on or before April 30 of the then current fiscal period.

(d) The provisions of this subpart shall in any event terminate whenever the provisions of the act authorizing them cease to be in effect.

§ 1011.72 Proceedings after termination. (a) Upon the termination of the provisions of this subpart, the then functioning members of the committee shall continue as trustees, for the purpose of liquidating the affairs of the committee, of all the funds and property then in the possession of or under control of the committee, including claims for any funds unpaid or property not delivered at the time of such termination. Action by said trusteeship shall require the concurrence of a majority of the said trustees.

(b) The said trustees shall continue in such capacity until discharged by the Secretary; shall, from time to time, account for all receipts and disbursements and deliver all property on hand, together with all books and records of the committee and of the trustees, to such person as the Secretary may direct; and shall, upon request of the Secretary, execute such assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to vest in such person full title and right to all of the funds, property, and claims vested in the committee or the trustees pursuant to this subpart.

(c) Any person to whom funds, property, or claims have been transferred or delivered by the committee or its members, pursuant to this section, shall be subject to the same obligations imposed upon the members of the committee and upon the said trustees.

§ 1011.73 Effect of termination or amendment. Unless otherwise expressly provided by the Secretary, the termination of this subpart or of any regulation issued pursuant to this subpart, or the issuance of any amendments to either thereof, shall not: (a) affect or waive any right, duty, obligation, or liability which shall have arisen or which may thereafter arise in connection with any provision of this subpart or of any regulation issued under this subpart; (b) release or extinguish any violation of this subpart or of any regulation issued under this subpart; or (c) affect or impair any rights or remedies of the Secretary or of any other person with respect to any such violation.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[ 17 CFR Part 240 ]

SOLICITATION OF PROXIES

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

On May 5, 1955 the Securities and Exchange Commission published a proposal to adopt § 240.14b–1 (Rule X-14B–1) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, particularly sections 14 and 23 (a) thereof, to set out the conditions under which certain members, brokers or dealers could give proxies, consents or authorizations in respect of a security registered on a national securities exchange and carried for the account of a customer. This proposal was also the subject of a public hearing held by the Commission on November 17, 1955, when certain proposed revisions of the proxy rules (Regulation X–14) were also considered.

Many valuable comments and suggestions have been received with respect to proposed § 240.14b–1 (Rule X-14B–1); and after further study the Commission has revised its proposal and now invites further comments and suggestions on the revised proposal not later than May 15, 1956. The revisions made to the original proposal, the text of which was set out in Securities Exchange Act Release No. 5166, include the following:

1. The definition of the term "proxy material" has been clarified and made more specific. The "annual report" is no longer considered to be "proxy material" by definition. The circumstances under which an annual report is required to be transmitted are set out in paragraph (g) of the rule.

2. The definition of the term "owner" has been clarified to mean the beneficial owner at the record date for the determination of security holders entitled to vote with respect to the subject matter or meeting; and it specifically provides that unless a broker knows or has reason to know that the person for whose account he carries a security is not the owner he may deem such person to be the owner.

3. The term "voting instructions" is not defined to mean written or oral instructions with respect to the giving of a proxy for a particular matter or meeting.

4. When a broker gives a proxy pursuant to oral voting instructions he must make a written memorandum summarizing the substance of such oral instructions and promptly send a copy to the owner.

5. Matters as to which voting instructions are required are spelled out in detail in the rule.

6. Requirements with respect to the transmission of proxy material are clarified (paragraphs (c) and (e)) and a broker or dealer who requests voting instructions from the owner of any security carried by him for the account of a customer would be required to transmit proxy material to the owners of all securities carried by him for the account of customers and entitled to vote with respect to such subject matter or meeting, all subject to specified exceptions.

As was pointed out in Securities Exchange Act Release No. 5166, the rule would not relieve any member of a national securities exchange from compliance with exchange rules requiring the forwarding of proxy soliciting material, or imposing other conditions to the giving of proxies.

The text of proposed § 240.14b–1 as revised is as follows:

§ 240.14b–1 Giving of proxies by members, brokers or dealers—(a) General provisions. (1) This section shall apply to every member of a national securities exchange and every broker or dealer who transacts a business in securities through the medium of any such member.

(2) It shall be unlawful for any member, broker or dealer subject to this section to give a proxy in respect to any security registered on a national securities exchange and carried for the account of a customer, unless such proxy is given in compliance with this section.

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this section, the following terms shall have the meanings indicated unless the context clearly indicates otherwise:

(1) A security shall be deemed to be "carried for the account of a customer" if it is registered in the name of a member, broker or dealer subject to this section, or his nominee, who is not the "owner" of the security, as hereinafter defined.

(2) The term "proxy" includes every proxy, consent, authorization, or revocation, or a request not to give any of the foregoing.

(3) The term "give a proxy" shall be deemed to include giving instructions to a nominee, causing a nominee to give a proxy, and voting in person at a meeting.

(4) The term "proxy material", when used with reference to material distributed by any person who is soliciting proxies relating to any subject matter or meeting, means (i) the proxy statement furnished by such person pursuant to § 240.14a–3 (Rule X-14A–3), and (ii) all other written material relating to such subject matter or meeting which is distributed by any such person concurrently with or subsequent to such proxy statement to all security holders of record entitled to vote on such matter or at such meeting or to a particular class or classes of such security holders.

(5) The term "owner" of a security means the beneficial owner at the record date for the determination of security holders entitled to vote or give consent with respect to the subject matter or meeting, or an executor, administrator, guardian, trustee or similar representative or fiduciary holding the security on such date in such capacity, with authority to vote. Unless the member, broker or dealer knows, or has reason to know, that the person for whose account he carries a security is not the owner, he may deem such person to be the owner.

(6) The term "voting instructions" means instructions with respect to the giving of a proxy for a particular matter or meeting, given in writing or orally.

(c) Proxies. A member, broker or dealer subject to this section may give a proxy with respect to a security carried for the account of a customer:

(1) To the owner; or

(2) Pursuant to voting instructions from the owner or any custodian (other than the member, broker or dealer, or his nominee) having possession of the security and authority from the owner to request a proxy: Provided, That the member, broker or dealer has not requested or solicited such instructions; or

(3) Pursuant to voting instructions given by the owner in response to a request therefor made by the member, broker or dealer, if such request conforms to the following conditions:

(i) The member, broker, or dealer furnished promptly to the owner a copy of all proxy material with respect to the same subject matter or meeting theretofore received by him from any person who furnished copies thereof for such purpose and who, if requested, defrays the reasonable expense to be incurred in forwarding such material: Provided, however, That proxy material need not be furnished to any person who has in writing requested that such material not be sent to him or who, to the knowledge of the member, broker or dealer is also the owner of record of securities entitled to vote at such meeting or with respect to such subject matter and as such will receive proxy material directly from persons soliciting proxies; and

(ii) Such request for instructions is made in an impartial manner: Provided, however, That a member, broker or dealer, at the request of the owner, may give his recommendations with respect to the voting of the security; and

(iii) Such request includes a statement that the member, broker or dealer will, on request of the owner, give the proxy to the owner or any person designated by the owner; and

(iv) Such member, broker or dealer promptly makes and preserves a written memorandum summarizing the substance of any oral voting instructions received from any owner and promptly sends a copy thereof by first-class mail to such owner.

(4) Without voting instructions from the owner if:

(i) The member, broker or dealer has promptly requested voting instructions in conformity with the conditions provided for in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, accompanied by a statement that if such instructions are not received by the 5th day prior to the meeting (or the 10th day prior to the meeting, if the request for instructions is transmitted 20 days or more before the meeting), then the owner of record may give a proxy with respect to the security; and

(ii) The proxy given does not include, to the knowledge of the member, broker or dealer, authorization to vote upon any matter with respect to which voting instructions are required by paragraph (d) of this section.

(d) Matters requiring voting instructions. A member, broker or dealer subject to this section shall not give a proxy with respect to any matter without voting instructions (except to the owner) if, to the knowledge of the member, broker or dealer:

(1) Any person or group of persons is soliciting proxies with respect to such matter, in opposition to the solicitation of any other person or group of persons, and both such solicitations are subject to Regulation X-14, or

(2) A proposal with respect to such matter is included in the management's proxy statement pursuant to § 240.14a–8 but is not supported by the management, or

(3) Such matter falls within any one or more of the following categories:

(i) It involves authorization of or relates to: a merger or consolidation; a mortgage of corporate property; the creation of indebtedness; an increase in the authorized amount of indebtedness; the creation of preferred stock or an increase in the authorized amount of preferred stock; the waiver or modification of preemptive rights; or any alteration of the rights of any class of stock or the terms or provisions of any outstanding indebtedness; or

(ii) It involves a change in the quorum requirements for meetings of stockholders, or the authorized number of directors or their terms of office; or

(iii) It involves authorization of the issuance of stock, or options to purchase stock, to directors, officers or employees in the amount of 5 percent or more of the outstanding shares of the class involved; or

(iv) It involves authorization of the acquisition of property, securities or assets of another person if (a) any officer, director, or holder of 10 percent or more of the voting stock of the issuer has a material interest, direct or indirect, in the property, securities or assets to be acquired, or (b) the property to be acquired equals 20 percent or more of the total assets of the issuer, or (c) the average earnings after taxes, of the person whose property, securities or assets are to be acquired, for the last three fiscal years equals or exceeds 20 percent of the average earnings of the issuer during such period, or (d) stock of the issuer in an amount equal to or exceeding 20 percent of the outstanding stock of the class involved is to be issued in consideration of property, securities or assets; or

(v) It involves authorization of a profit sharing, pension or retirement plan, the estimated annual cost of which amounts to more than 10 percent of the average annual income of the issuer before taxes for the preceding five years, or authorization of an amendment to such a plan which increases its cost above such amount, unless the plan is based upon an agreement or negotiation with a labor union or is a related plan for the benefit of non-union employees having terms substantially equivalent to the terms of a union-negotiated plan and which is submitted for action of stockholders concurrently with such union-negotiated plan; or

(vi) It involves authorization of a change in the purposes or powers of the issuer which would permit it to engage in a materially different line of business; or

(vii) It involves a reduction in earned surplus by 50 percent or more, or to an amount less than the aggregate of three years common stock dividends computed at the current rate.

(e) Transmittal of proxy material. A member, broker or dealer subject to this section who has requested voting instructions with respect to any subject matter or meeting shall promptly send by first class mail or otherwise deliver to the owners of all securities carried by him for the account of customers, the holders of which are entitled to vote at such meeting or with respect to such subject matter, a copy of all proxy material received by him (whether before or after the giving of any proxy) from any person who shall furnish copies thereof for such purpose and who shall if requested defray the reasonable expenses to be incurred in forwarding such material: Provided, however, That if a person furnishing proxy material does not, upon request, furnish and defray the reasonable expenses of forwarding sufficient copies, the member, broker or dealer need only transmit the number so furnished to him to owners selected in any reasonable manner: And provided, further, That the member, broker or dealer need not transmit proxy material to any owner if (1) such owner has requested in writing that proxy material not be transmitted to him, or (2) such owner, is to the knowledge of the member, broker or dealer, a holder of record of such securities and as such may be expected to receive proxy material directly, or (3) the member, broker or dealer does not know the identity, or does not know the address, of such owner.

(f) Whenever a member, broker or dealer who has given a proxy pursuant to this section receives additional voting instructions from the owner of the security, he shall take any reasonable action necessary to comply with such additional instructions, including the revocation of such proxy in whole or in part or the giving of a new proxy if required.

(g) A member, broker or dealer subject to this rule who has requested voting instructions from the owner of a security pursuant to this section, or intends to request such instructions with respect to any subject matter or meeting within a period of 6 months, shall transmit to such owner the annual report referred to in § 240.14a–3 (except under the circumstances referred to in the proviso clause of paragraph (e) of this section) if copies thereof are furnished to him for such purpose and if the issuer or any other person, or request, defrays the reasonable expense to be incurred in forwarding such report.

(h) Special provision. (1) In case any member, broker or dealer subject to this section has relinquished possession or control of a security carried for the account of a customer he may comply with the voting instructions of any other member, broker or dealer who furnished a written statement that such voting instructions were obtained or are given by such other member, broker or dealer after compliance with the preceding paragraphs of this section which would be applicable to such other member, broker or dealer if such other member, broker or dealer were to give a proxy for such securities.

(2) It shall be unlawful for such other member, broker or dealer to furnish such voting instructions and such statement to a member, broker or dealer to cause such member, broker or dealer to give a proxy unless such other member, broker or dealer has obtained or given such voting instructions in the manner required by this section.

(i) Validity of proxies. Failure to comply with this rule shall not invalidate any proxy: Provided, however, That this paragraph shall not be construed to prevent the granting of injunctions in any proper proceeding or to exempt any person from any proceeding, penalty or prohibition provided by the act in respect of violations of the act or any rules or regulations thereunder.

Rights under such applications and selections filed after that hour will be governed by the time of filing.

b. The lands will be open to location under the United States mining laws, beginning 10:00 a. m. on August 21, 1956.

Persons claiming veteran's preference rights under paragraph a (2) above, must enclose with their applications proper evidence of military or naval service, preferably a complete photostatic copy of the certificate of honorable discharge. Persons claiming preference rights based upon valid settlement, statutory preference, or equitable claims must enclose properly corroborated statements in support of their applications, setting forth all facts relevant to their claims. ## FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. G-228]

BORDER PIPE LINE CO. AND AMERICAN SMELTING AND REFINING CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO FURTHER AMEND ORDER AUTHORIZING THE EXPORTATION OF NATURAL GAS

APRIL 18, 1956.

Take notice that Border Pipe Line Company (Border), of Houston, Texas, and American Smelting and Refining Company (American), of New York, New York, hereinafter collectively referred to as "Applicants," filed a joint application on March 30, 1956, requesting amendment of orders heretofore adopted by the Commission, authorizing Applicants, pursuant to section 3 of the Natural Gas Act, to export natural gas produced from the San Salvador Field in Hidalgo County, and the Rincon Field in Starr County, Texas, to the Republic of Mexico, as hereinafter described, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, all as more fully represented in the application, which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicants propose that the Commission's order adopted October 10, 1942, as amended November 4, 1942, and July 11, 1950, in the above-entitled matter be further amended to authorize a change in the source of the natural gas utilized for the purpose of export under the existing order from fields in Hidalgo and Starr Counties, Texas, to fields in Webb County, Texas, which gas will be purchased from Skelly Oil Company.

Applicants state that the proposed change will be of considerable advantage to all concerned as it will (a) free gas reserves for the domestic market which are otherwise committed to the export market, (b) substitute for above reserves, reserves for which there is no present foreseeable adequate domestic market, (c) make available a source of supply of gas for American, which, subject to Commission approval, may extend many years in the future, whereas gas from the Rincon Field area and the San Salvador Field will not be available for this purpose after March 27, 1960, and (d) the present arrangement of carrying gas approximately 143 miles, including as it does recompression by Border, has proven uneconomical, whereas it is believed that the substitution of the nearby Webb County Field reserves will place the operation upon a sound and economical basis.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before May 7, 1956.

[Docket No. G-10050]

EL PASO NATURAL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND DATE OF HEARING

APRIL 17, 1956.

Take notice that El Paso Natural Gas Company (Applicant), a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business located at El Paso, Texas, filed an application on March 5, 1956, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing it to construct and operate certain gas facilities as hereinafter described, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, all as more fully represented in its application, which is on file with the Commission and open for public inspection.

Applicant states that it proposes to construct and operate two main line taps and appurtenant measuring facilities on its 30-inch Permian-San Juan line to sell gas to Southern Union Gas Company (Southern) for resale in Lea County, New Mexico, and to initiate a direct industrial interruptible service in McKinley County, New Mexico, to El Paso Natural Gas Products Company, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Applicant.

Applicant also states that Southern is an existing customer of Applicant, distributing gas in communities in New Mexico.

Under Proposal (1), Applicant further states that it plans to sell and deliver firm gas to Southern through the proposed G. B. Spears tap in Lea County, New Mexico, for resale to approximately ten families for domestic use, and, in addition, sales for non-residential use as fuel for irrigation pumps. Butane is presently being used in the area both for domestic use and as fuel for the irrigation pumps. The use of natural gas, according to Applicant, will be of economic advantage to the consumers over the use of the competitive fuel.

Applicant alleges that Southern will construct and operate, at an initial cost of about $28,600, approximately 7.7 miles of pipe line in connection with the proposed service to the area. These facilities will be owned and operated by Southern. The latter has received a franchise from the County Commissioners of Lea County, New Mexico, to engage in the proposed service.

Applicant also alleges that the estimated deliveries to Southern to be made through the Spears tap are given by Applicant as follows:

[Mcf at 14.73 p. s. i. a.]

| Annual | First year | Second year | Third year |
|---|---|---|---|
| Residential | 500 | 1,500 | 2,000 |
| Nonresidential (irrigation) | 17,500 | 26,000 | 26,000 |
| Total | 18,000 | 27,500 | 28,000 |
| Peak day | 152.5 | 216.2 | 217.6 |

These deliveries are to be made under the existing service agreement between Southern and El Paso dated October 31, 1953, as amended on February 10, 1956.

Under proposal (2), Applicant states that it plans to sell and deliver through the proposed main-line tap in McKinley County, New Mexico, approximately 320,400 Mcf per year and up to 1,300 Mcf per day (at 14.73 p. s. i. a.) to El Paso Gas Products Company for fuel in operation of the latter's Prewitt Refinery. The service will be direct and interruptible. Present fuels in use at the refinery are bottled gas and fuel oil. Applicant has estimated the annual saving of fuel costs by the conversion to natural gas at approximately $42,000, and that additional facilities required to initiate the service will consist of approximately one mile of 2-inch line to be constructed by Gas Products at a cost of about $4,400.

Applicant also states that the capital cost of installing its proposed facilities are estimated at approximately $6,032, which includes $275 for the construction of the G. B. Spears tap and $5,757 for the construction of the Gas Products tap, which will be financed out of Applicant's current working funds.

Applicant further states that the proposed service to Southern at the Spears tap will be made under Applicant's FPC Rate Schedules A-2 and D-3 presently on file with the Commission. These rate schedules provide a price of 28.92 cents per Mcf for residential service and 23.97 cents per Mcf for irrigation service. The rate to be charged Gas Products is 19.77 cents per Mcf, which is set forth under a sales agreement between Applicant and Gas Products dated February 15, 1956. This rate is subject to adjustment depending on the cost of gas to Applicant. The contract is for a one-year term and month to month thereafter. The 19.77 cents rate is higher than the commodity charge in El Paso's G Rate Schedule on file with the Commission.

Applicant has submitted an approximation of the annual operating expenses attributable to the proposed facilities. They are $119 for the service to Southern and $1,116 for the service to Gas Products, exclusive of the cost of gas, and gross annual revenues from the proposed service to Southern is estimated at $4,340 for the first year and $6,666 for each of the second and third years of proposed operation. Gross annual revenues from the service to Gas Products is given at $63,343 for each of the first three years of proposed operation.

Applicant states that the new interruptible load should tend to increase the load factor at which the Permian-San Juan line is operated and thus reduce the system cost of service.

Applicant submits that the amount of gas involved in the proposed services is of such small amount as to have no appreciable effect upon Applicant's overall system gas reserves.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on May 22, 1956, at 9:30 a. m., e. d. s. t., in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30 (c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before May 7, 1956. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made.

Notice of change, dated March 19, 1956; Phillips Petroleum Company; Supplement No. 3 to Applicant's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1; May 1, 1956.

The increased rates and charges proposed in the aforesaid filing have not been shown to be justified, and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the said proposed changes, and that the above-designated supplement be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's general rules and regulations (18 CFR Chapter I), a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary, concerning the lawfulness of said proposed changes in rates and charges; and, pending such hearing and decision thereon, the above-designated supplement be and the same hereby is suspended and the use thereof deferred until October 1, 1956, and until such further time as it is made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(B) Neither the supplement hereby suspended, nor the rate schedule sought to be altered thereby, shall be changed until this proceeding has been disposed of or until the period of suspension has expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

[1] The stated effective date is the first day after expiration of the required thirty days notice, or the effective date proposed by Applicant if later.

[2] Commissioner Digby dissenting.

PANHANDLE EASTERN PIPE LINE CO. ET AL.

ORDER DEFERRING ACTION ON APPLICATION FOR TEMPORARY CERTIFICATE OF PUBLIC CONVENIENCE AND NECESSITY AND FIXING DATE FOR ORAL ARGUMENT

In the matters of Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company, Docket Nos. G-1705, G-1937, G-2433, G-2475, G-8665; Missouri Public Service Company, Docket No. G-2057; City of Montgomery, Missouri, Docket No. G-2932; Town Gas Company of Illinois, Docket No. G-3159; Missouri Central Natural Gas Company, Docket No. G-4611; Village of Westville, Illinois, Docket No. G-4666; Village of Pleasant Hill, Illinois, Docket No. G-4940; City of Waverly, Illinois, Docket No. G-5139; Village of Rossville, Illinois, Docket No. G-5979; Central Illinois Electric and Gas Company, Docket No. G-8428; City of Winchester, Illinois, Docket No. G-8431; Village of Franklin, Illinois, Docket No. G-8471; City of Hickman, Kentucky, Docket No. G-8526; Trunkline Gas Company, Docket No. G-8664; City of McLeansboro, Illinois, Docket No. G-8676; City of Vienna, Illinois, Docket No. G-8677; City of Clinton, Kentucky, Docket No. G-8771; City of LaCenter, Kentucky, Docket No. G-8888; City of Bardwell, Kentucky, Docket No. G-8939; City of Wickliffe, Kentucky, Docket No. G-8962; Lake County Utility District, Docket No. G-8963.

On March 16, 1956, Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company (Panhandle), filed an application for a temporary certificate of public convenience and necessity for the construction and operation of 16,000 horsepower of compressor capacity pending final decision herein. A prior application for temporary authorization for such facilities was denied by our order issued October 5, 1955, without prejudice to further consideration of the matter upon further showing by Panhandle of the necessity for the immediate construction of a part of the additional capacity.

The decision of the Presiding Examiner in these consolidated proceedings issued March 6, 1956 granted authorization for the construction and operation of the additional compressor facilities; however, exception was taken to the granting of such authorization by Staff Counsel.

This exception was one of a number filed to the decision by Staff Counsel and other parties to the proceedings. Additionally there have been several motions for oral argument herein.

The Commission finds: Good cause exists and it is appropriate in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the motions for oral argument be granted and that decision be reserved on the granting of temporary authorization for the construction and operation of the 16,000 horsepower of additional horsepower capacity applied for on March 16, 1956 pending such argument.

The Commission orders:

(A) Oral argument be had before the Commission on May 4, 1956, at 10:00 a. m., e. d. s. t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning all matters involved and issues presented in the exceptions to the Presiding Examiner's decision issued March 6, 1956.

(B) Parties who desire to participate in the oral argument shall notify the Secretary on or before April 25, 1956, of their intention to participate together with their request for allotment of time.

(C) Decision on the application for a temporary certificate of public convenience and necessity for the construction and operation of 16,000 horsepower of additional compressor capacity is hereby deferred pending the argument ordered herein.

Issued: April 17, 1956.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 70-3465]

UNION ELECTRIC COMPANY OF MISSOURI AND HEVI-DUTY ELECTRIC COMPANY

NOTICE OF FILING REGARDING ISSUANCE AND DELIVERY BY SUBSIDIARY OF ADDITIONAL SHARES OF COMMON STOCK TO PARENT, DISTRIBUTION OF SUBSIDIARY'S COMMON STOCK TO COMMON STOCKHOLDERS OF PARENT, AND AMENDMENT OF ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF SUBSIDIARY

APRIL 17, 1956.

Notice is hereby given that Union Electric Company of Missouri ("Union Electric"), a registered holding company, and Hevi-Duty Electric Company ("Hevi-Duty"), a wholly owned non-utility subsidiary company of Union Electric, have filed an application and declarations with this Commission pursuant to the provisions of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder. Applicants have designated sections 6, 7, 9, 10, and 12 (c) of the act and Rules U-42, U-43, U-44, and U-46 as applicable to the proposed transactions.

The transactions hereinafter described are proposed to effect the disposition by Union Electric of its interest in Hevi-Duty in compliance with paragraph 2 of the order of this Commission dated October 31, 1952 (Holding Company Act Release No. 11530), as modified by order of this Commission dated August 10, 1955 (Holding Company Act Release No. 12963), extending the time for such compliance with respect to Hevi-Duty to August 10, 1956.

All interested persons are referred to the application-declarations on file in the offices of the Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Union Electric now owns all of the authorized and outstanding common stock of Hevi-Duty, a Wisconsin corporation, consisting of 2,500 shares without par value, which were acquired by Union Electric in February 1955 from The North American Company ("North American") upon the liquidation and dissolution of North American pursuant to the plan approved by this Commission by the above-mentioned order of October 31, 1952. Hevi-Duty also has authorized and outstanding 2,500 shares of 6 percent cumulative preferred stock, of the par value of $100 per share, which have no voting rights except under special circumstances as set forth in its Articles of Incorporation, as amended. Such preferred stock is held by six stockholders and Union Electric does not own, directly or indirectly, any of such preferred stock.

It is proposed that the Articles of Incorporation of Hevi-Duty be amended to reclassify the 2,500 shares of its presently authorized and outstanding common stock without par value into 345,230 shares of common stock, of the par value of $5 per share; to increase the number of authorized shares of common stock as so reclassified to 1,000,000; and to provide for limited preemptive rights for the new common stock and for cumulative voting rights in the election of directors. Union Electric proposes to vote its holdings of 100 percent of the present common stock of Hevi-Duty in favor of such proposals. In connection with such reclassification, Hevi-Duty proposes to increase its common stock capital account from $50,000 to $1,726,150 (the aggregate par value of the 345,230 shares of its new common stock to be outstanding as a result of such reclassification) by the transfer to common stock capital account of $1,000,000 from capital surplus and $676,150 from earned surplus. Hevi-Duty, although it has no present plans for the issue of additional shares of its common stock, deems it advisable, at the time of such reclassification, to increase the authorized number of shares of its new common stock to provide for capital requirements in the future.

Union Electric proposes to acquire, in connection with such reclassification of Hevi-Duty common stock, the 345,230 shares of new Hevi-Duty common stock in exchange for and upon surrender of certificates representing the 2,500 shares of Hevi-Duty common stock presently owned by Union Electric, and to record such new common stock of Hevi-Duty at Union Electric's carrying value for the 2,500 surrendered shares of old common stock.

Union Electric proposes to distribute thereafter, on June 29, 1956, to its stockholders of record at the close of business on May 31, 1956, the shares of new common stock of Hevi-Duty at the rate of 1 share of common stock of Hevi-Duty for each 30 shares of Union Electric common stock held of record at that time.

No fractional share certificates or scrip will be issued in connection with such distribution. Each Union Electric stockholder of record who is entitled to a fractional interest in a share of new common stock of Hevi-Duty will receive a non-transferable Order Card, showing the amount of his fractional-share interest arising from the distribution, for use in electing either (a) to purchase the additional fractional-share interest required to make up one full share or (b) to sell his fractional-share interest. Prior to the distribution date, common stock of Hevi-Duty to cover the total amount of fractional-share interests will be transferred and deposited by Union Electric with J. P. Morgan & Co. Incorporated, which as agent for the stockholders and for their individual accounts, will execute such purchase and sale orders, including the offsetting of such orders to the extent practicable. Such order cards will become void after August 10, 1956, and any shares held to cover fractional-share interests with respect to which such agent does not receive completed Order Cards from Union Electric stockholders before the close of business on August 10, 1956, will be sold by the agent for the account of such stockholders, and the proceeds distributed pro rata to them. Union Electric will bear all expenses of such services of J. P. Morgan & Co. Incorporated, as such agent.

On the basis of an analysis of the stock records of Union Electric as of February 29, 1956, it is estimated that approximately 329,100 shares of Hevi-Duty common stock will be distributed directly to Union Electric stockholders and that approximately 16,130 shares will be deposited with J. P. Morgan & Co. Incorporated, as agent, to cover fractional-share interests.

In connection with the proposed distribution, Union Electric proposes to charge to Capital Surplus an amount aggregating the total carrying value of its investment in Hevi-Duty (approximately $2,437,000), and to charge the expenses of such distribution to earned surplus.

It is proposed that promptly after the distribution, the members of the Board of Directors of Hevi-Duty who are also directors of Union Electric will resign and the Board of Hevi-Duty will elect new directors to serve for the unexpired terms of the resigning directors. The Commission will be advised as to the identity of such new directors prior to their election.

The filing requests that the order or orders issued by the Commission in connection with these transactions contain appropriate recitals conforming to the requirements of sections 1081 (f) and 4382 (b) (2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.

The application-declarations state that no State commission or Federal commission other than this Commission has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, on or before May 3, 1956, request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on this matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reason or reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by such application-declarations which he proposes to controvert, or he may request that he be notified if this Commission orders a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, the application-declarations as filed or as they may hereafter be amended, may be granted or permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may grant exemption from its rules as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 or take such other action as it may deem appropriate.

By the Commission.

2. In connection with the offer or sale of its securities, the issuer has made and is making untrue statements of material facts and is inducing and attempting to induce salesmen employed by it to make untrue statements of material facts relating to (a) the nature and source of "dividends" to be paid on the policy of insurance written by said mutual benefit company; (b) the amount of such "dividends" which would be payable under said policy; (c) the amount of earnings and dividends to be anticipated from an investment in a life insurance policy and the securities of the issuer; (d) the increase in value of the securities of the issuer to be anticipated; (e) the safety of an investment in such securities; (f) the investigation, regulation and supervision of the issuer and the mutual benefit insurance company by this Commission and State and Federal agencies.

Findings. 1. Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 14, as amended (7 CFR Part 914; 19 F. R. 2941), regulating the handling of navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective September 22, 1953, under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. C. 601 et seq.), hereinafter referred to as the "act", and of the order, as amended (7 CFR Part 927), regulating the handling of milk in the New York metropolitan milk marketing area, hereinafter referred to as the "order", it is hereby found and determined, that:

(a) The following provisions of the order do not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act:

(1) For the period May 1-4, 1956, all provisions of subparagraph (11) of § 927.40 (a) except the provision "(11) Multiply the result determined pursuant to subparagraph (10) of this paragraph by" and the provision "0.88."

(2) For the period May 5-31, 1956, all provisions of subparagraph (11) of § 927.40 (a) except the provisions "(11) Multiply the result determined pursuant to subparagraph (10) of this paragraph by" and the provision "0.94."

(b) Notice of proposed rule making, public procedure thereon, and 30 days notice of the effective date hereof, are found to be impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest in that:

(1) The information upon which this action is based did not become available in time sufficient for such compliance;

PART 1001—LIMES GROWN IN FLORIDA

QUALITY AND SIZE REGULATION

Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement and Order No. 101 (7 CFR Part 1001; 20 F. R. 4179) regulating the handling of limes grown in Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 68 Stat. 906, 1047), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Florida Lime Administrative Committee, established under the aforesaid marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of limes, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. Shipments of designated varieties of Florida limes are currently subject to quality regulation pursuant to Lime Order 1, as amended (§ 1001.301; 20 F. R. 4711; 4897; 6676; 21 F. R. 1819), and, unless sooner modified or terminated, will continue to be so regulated until May 1, 1956; determinations as to the need for, and extent of, continued regulation of Florida lime shipments must await the development of the crop and the availability of information on the demand for such fruit; the recommendation and supporting information for continued regulation of lime shipments subsequent to May 1, 1956, and in the manner herein provided, was promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Florida Lime Administrative Committee on April 10; such meeting was held to consider recommendations for regulation, after giving due notice of such meeting and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this amendment, including the effective time hereof, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of Florida limes; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this amendment effective during the period hereinafter set forth; and compliance with this amendment will not require any special preparation on the part of the persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof.

It is therefore ordered, That the provisions of subparagraph (1) of paragraph (b) of § 1001.301 (Lime Order 1, as amended; 20 F. R. 4711; 4897; 6676; 21 F. R. 1819) are hereby further amended so as to extend the effective time of the provisions of said paragraph (b) from May 1, 1956, to May 1, 1957, such action to be effected by changing that part of the provisions of said subparagraph (1) immediately preceding subdivision (i) thereof to read as follows:

(b) Order. (1) During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., September 12, 1955, and ending at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., May 1, 1957, no handler shall handle:

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

Internal Revenue Service

[ 26 CFR (1954) Part 1 ]

INCOME TAX; TAXABLE YEARS BEGINNING AFTER DECEMBER 31, 1953

ITEMS SPECIFICALLY INCLUDED IN GROSS INCOME; ALIMONY AND SEPARATE MAINTENANCE PAYMENTS

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, that the regulations set forth in tentative form below are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing, in duplicate, to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Attention: T:P, Washington 25, D. C., within the period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority contained in section 7805 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 917; 26 U. S. C. 7805).

[SEAL] RUSSELL C. HARRINGTON,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The following regulations are prescribed under section 71 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, relating to alimony and separate maintenance payments. Except as otherwise stated in the regulations, the rules are applicable to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1953, and ending after August 16, 1954.

ITEMS SPECIFICALLY INCLUDED IN GROSS INCOME

§ 1.71 Statutory provisions; alimony and separate maintenance payments.

SEC. 71. Alimony and separate maintenance payments—(a) General rule—(1) Decree of divorce or separate maintenance. If a wife is divorced or legally separated from her husband under a decree of divorce or of separate maintenance, the wife's gross income includes periodic payments (whether or not made at regular intervals) received after such decree in discharge of (or attributable to property transferred, in trust or otherwise, in discharge of) a legal obligation which, because of the marital or family relationship, is imposed on or incurred by the husband under the decree or under a written instrument incident to such divorce or separation.

(2) Written separation agreement. If a wife is separated from her husband and there is a written separation agreement executed after the date of the enactment of this title, the wife's gross income includes periodic payments (whether or not made at regular intervals) received after such agreement is executed which are made under such agreement and because of the marital or family relationship (or which are attributable to property transferred, in trust or otherwise, under such agreement and because of such relationship). This paragraph shall not apply if the husband and wife make a single return jointly.

(3) Decree for support. If a wife is separated from her husband, the wife's gross income includes periodic payments (whether or not made at regular intervals) received by her after the date of the enactment of this title from her husband under a decree entered after March 1, 1954, requiring the husband to make the payments for her support or maintenance. This paragraph shall not apply if the husband and wife make a single return jointly.

(b) Payments to support minor children. Subsection (a) shall not apply to that part of any payment which the terms of the decree, instrument, or agreement fix, in terms of an amount of money or a part of the payment, as a sum which is payable for the support of minor children of the husband. For purposes of the preceding sentence, if any payment is less than the amount specified in the decree, instrument, or agreement, then so much of such payment as does not exceed the sum payable for support shall be considered a payment for such support.

(c) Principal sum paid in installments—(1) General rule. For purposes of subsection (a), installment payments discharging a part of an obligation the principal sum of which is, either in terms of money or property, specified in the decree, instrument, or agreement shall not be treated as periodic payments.

(2) Where period for payment is more than 10 years. If, by the terms of the decree, instrument, or agreement, the principal sum referred to in paragraph (1) is to be paid or may be paid over a period ending more than 10 years from the date of such decree, instrument, or agreement, then (notwithstanding paragraph (1)) the installment payments shall be treated as periodic payments for purposes of subsection (a), but (in the case of any one taxable year of the wife) only to the extent of 10 percent of the principal sum. For purposes of the preceding sentence, the part of any principal sum which is allocable to a period after the taxable year of the wife in which it is received shall be treated as an installment payment for the taxable year in which it is received.

(d) Rule for husband in case of transferred property. The husband's gross income does not include amounts received which, under subsection (a), are (1) includible in the gross income of the wife, and (2) attributable to transferred property.

(e) Cross references. (1) For definitions of "husband" and "wife", see section 7701 (a) (17).

(2) For deduction by husband of periodic payments not attributable to transferred property, see section 215.

(3) For taxable status of income of an estate or trust in case of divorce, etc., see section 682.

§ 1.71–1 Alimony and separate maintenance payments; income to wife or former wife—(a) In general. Section 71 provides rules for treatment in certain cases of payments in the nature of or in lieu of alimony or an allowance for support as between spouses who are divorced or separated. For convenience, the payee spouse will hereafter in this section be referred to as the "wife" and the spouse from whom she is divorced or separated as the "husband." See section 7701 (a) (17). For rules relative to the deduction by the husband of periodic payments not attributable to transferred property, see section 215 and the regulations thereunder. For rules relative to the taxable status of income of an estate or trust in case of divorce, etc., see section 682 and the regulations thereunder.

(b) Alimony or separate maintenance payments received from the husband—(1) Decree of divorce or separate maintenance. (i) In the case of divorce or legal separation, paragraph (1) of section 71 (a) requires the inclusion in the gross income of the wife of periodic payments (whether or not made at regular intervals) received by her after a decree of divorce or of separate maintenance. Such periodic payments must be made in discharge of a legal obligation imposed upon or incurred by the husband because of the marital or family relationship under a court order or decree divorcing or legally separating the husband and wife or a written instrument incident to such divorce status or legal separation status.

(ii) For treatment of payments attributable to property transferred (in trust or otherwise), see paragraph (c) of this section.

(2) Written separation agreement. (i) Where the husband and wife are separated and living apart and do not file a joint income tax return for the taxable year, paragraph (2) of section 71 (a) requires the inclusion in the gross income of the wife of periodic payments (whether or not made at regular intervals) received by her pursuant to a written separation agreement executed after August 16, 1954. The periodic payments must be made under the terms of the written separation agreement after its execution and because of the marital or family relationship. Such payments are includible in the wife's gross income whether or not the agreement is a legally enforceable instrument. Moreover, if the wife is divorced or legally separated subsequent to the written separation agreement payments made under such agreement continue to fall within the provisions of section 71 (a) (2).

(ii) For purposes of section 71 (a) (2), any written separation agreement executed on or before August 16, 1954, which is altered or modified in writing by the parties in any material respect after that date will be treated as an agreement executed after August 16, 1954, with respect to payments made after the date of alteration or modification.

(iii) For treatment of payments attributable to property transferred (in trust or otherwise), see paragraph (c) of this section.

(3) Decree for support. (i) Where the husband and wife are separated and living apart and do not file a joint income tax return for the taxable year, paragraph (3) of section 71 (a) requires the inclusion in the gross income of the wife of periodic payments (whether or not made at regular intervals) received by her after August 16, 1954, from her husband under any type of court order or decree (including an interlocutory decree of divorce or a decree of alimony pendente lite) entered after March 1, 1954, requiring the husband to make the payments for her support or maintenance. It is not necessary for the wife to be legally separated or divorced from her husband under a court order or decree; nor is it necessary for the order or decree for support to be for the purpose of enforcing a written separation agreement.

(ii) For purposes of section 71 (a) (3), any decree which is altered or modified by a court order entered after March 1, 1954, will be treated as a decree entered after such date.

(4) Scope of section 71 (a). Section 71 (a) applies only to payments made because of the family or marital relationship in recognition of the general obligation to support which is made specific by the decree, instrument, or agreement. Thus, section 71 (a) does not apply to that part of any periodic payment which is attributable to the repayment by the husband of, for example, a bona fide loan previously made to him by the wife, the satisfaction of which is specified in the decree, instrument, or agreement as a part of the general settlement between the husband and wife.

(5) Year of inclusion. Periodic payments are includible in the wife's income under section 71 (a) only for the taxable year in which received by her. As to such amounts, the wife is to be treated as if she makes her income tax returns on the cash receipts and disbursements method, regardless of whether she normally makes such returns on the accrual method. However, if the periodic payments described in section 71 (a) are to be made by an estate or trust, such periodic payments are to be included in the wife's taxable year in which they are includible according to the rules as to income of estates and trusts provided in sections 652, 662, and 682, whether or not such payments are made out of the income of such estates or trusts.

(6) Examples. The foregoing rules are illustrated by the following examples in which it is assumed that the husband and wife file separate income tax returns on the calendar year basis:

Example (1). W files suit for divorce from H in 1953. In consideration of W's promise to relinquish all marital rights and not to make public H's financial affairs, H agrees in writing to pay $200 a month to W during her lifetime if a final decree of divorce is granted without any provision for alimony. Accordingly, W does not request alimony and no provision for alimony is made under a final decree of divorce entered December 31, 1953. During 1954, H pays W $200 a month, pursuant to the promise. The $2,400 thus received by W is includible in her gross income under the provisions of section 71 (a) (1). Under section 215, H is entitled to a deduction of $2,400 from his gross income.

Example (2). During 1945, H and W enter into an antenuptial agreement, under which, in consideration of W's relinquishment of all marital rights (including dower) in H's property, and, in order to provide for W's support and household expenses, H promises to pay W $200 a month during her lifetime. Ten years after their marriage, W sues H for divorce but does not ask for or obtain alimony because of the provision already made for her support in the antenuptial agreement. Likewise, the divorce decree is silent as to such agreement and H's obligation to support W. Section 71 (a) does not apply to such a case. If, however, the decree were modified so as to refer to the antenuptial agreement, or if reference had been made to the antenuptial agreement in the court's decree or in a written instrument incident to the divorce status, section 71 (a) (1) would require the inclusion in W's gross income of the payments received by her after the decree. Similarly, if a written separation agreement were executed after August 16, 1954, and incorporated the payment provisions of the antenuptial agreement, section 71 (a) (2) would require the inclusion in W's income of payments received by W after W begins living apart from H, whether or not the divorce decree was subsequently entered and whether or not W was living apart from H when the separation agreement was executed, provided that such payments were made after such agreement was executed and pursuant to its terms. As to including such payments in W's income, if made by a trust created under the antenuptial agreement, regardless of whether referred to in the decree or a later instrument, or created pursuant to the written separation agreement, see section 682 and the regulations thereunder.

Example (3). H and W are separated and living apart during 1954. W sues H for support and on February 1, 1954, the court enters a decree requiring H to pay $200 a month to W for her support and maintenance. No part of the $200 a month support payments is includible in W's income under section 71 (a) (3) or deductible by H under section 215. If, however, the decree had been entered after March 1, 1954, or had been altered or modified by a court order entered after March 1, 1954, the payments received by W after August 16, 1954, under the decree as altered or modified would be includible in her income under section 71 (a) (3) and deductible by H under section 215.

Example (4). W sues H for divorce in 1954. On January 15, 1954, the court awards W temporary alimony of $25 a week pending the final decree. On September 1, 1954, the court grants W a divorce and awards her $200 a month permanent alimony. No part of the $25 a week temporary alimony received prior to the decree is includible in W's income under section 71 (a), but the $200 a month received during the remainder of 1954 by W is includible in her income for 1954. Under section 215, H is entitled to deduct such $200 payments from his income. If, however, the decree awarding W temporary alimony had been entered after March 1, 1954, or had been altered or modified by a court order entered after March 1, 1954, temporary alimony received by her after August 16, 1954, would be includible in her income under section 71 (a) (3) and deductible by H under section 215.

(c) Alimony and separate maintenance payments attributable to property. (1) (i) In the case of divorce or legal separation, paragraph (1) of section 71 (a) requires the inclusion in the gross income of the wife of periodic payments (whether or not made at regular intervals) attributable to property transferred, in trust or otherwise, and received by her after a decree of divorce or of separate maintenance. Such property must have been transferred in discharge of a legal obligation imposed upon or incurred by the husband because of the marital or family relationship under a decree of divorce or separate maintenance or under a written instrument incident to such divorce status or legal separation status.

(ii) Where the husband and wife are separated and living apart and do not file a joint income tax return for the taxable year, paragraph (2) of section 71 (a) requires the inclusion in the gross income of the wife of periodic payments (whether or not made at regular intervals) received by her which are attributable to property transferred, in trust or otherwise, under a written separation agreement executed after August 16, 1954. The property must be transferred because of the marital or family relationship. The periodic payments attributable to the property must be received by the wife after the written separation agreement is executed.

(iii) The periodic payments received by the wife attributable to property transferred under subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph and includible in her gross income are not to be included in the gross income of the husband.

(2) The full amount of periodic payments received under the circumstances described in section 71 (a) (1), (2), and (3) is required to be included in the gross income of the wife regardless of the source of such payments. Thus, it matters not that such payments are attributable to property in trust, to life insurance, endowment, or annuity contracts, or to any other interest in property, or are paid directly or indirectly by the husband from his income or capital. For example, if in order to meet an alimony or separate maintenance obligation of $500 a month the husband purchases or assigns for the benefit of his wife a commercial annuity contract paying such amount, the full $500 a month received by the wife is includible in her income, and no part of such amount is includible in the husband's income or deductible by him. See section 72 (k) and the regulations thereunder. Likewise, if property is transferred by the husband, subject to an annual charge of $5,000, payable to his wife in discharge of his alimony or separate maintenance obligation under the divorce or separation decree or written instrument incident to the divorce status or legal separation status or if such property is transferred pursuant to a written separation agreement and subject to a similar annual charge, the $5,000 received annually is, under section 71 (a) (1) or (2), includible in the wife's income, regardless of whether such amount is paid out of income or principal of the property.

(3) The same rule applies to periodic payments attributable to property in trust. The full amount of periodic payments to which section 71 (a) (1) and (2) applies is includible in the wife's income regardless of whether such payments are made out of trust income. Such periodic payments are to be included in the wife's income under section 71 (a) (1) or (2) and are to be excluded from the husband's income even though the income of the trust would otherwise be includible in his income under subpart E, part I, subchapter J, Internal Revenue Code of 1954, relating to trust income attributable to grantors and others as substantial owners. As to periodic payments received by a wife attributable to property in trust in cases to which section 71 (a) (1) or (2) does not apply because the husband's obligation is not specified in the decree or an instrument incident to the divorce status or legal separation status or the property was not transferred under a written separation agreement, see section 682 and the regulations thereunder.

(4) Section 71 (a) (1) or (2) does not apply to that part of any periodic payment attributable to that portion of any interest in property transferred in discharge of the husband's obligation under the decree or instrument incident to the divorce status or legal separation status, or transferred pursuant to the written separation agreement, which interest originally belonged to the wife. It will apply, however, if she received such interest from her husband in contemplation of or as an incident to the divorce or separation without adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth, other than the release of the husband or his property from marital obligations. An example of the first rule is a case where the husband and wife transfer securities, which were owned by them jointly, in trust to pay an annuity to the wife. In this case, the full amount of that part of the annuity received by the wife attributable to the husband's interest in the securities transferred in discharge of his obligation under the decree, or instrument incident to the divorce status or legal separation status, or transferred under the written separation agreement, is taxable to her under section 71 (a) (1) or (2), while that portion of the annuity attributable to the wife's interest in the securities so transferred is taxable to her only to the extent it is out of trust income as provided in part I of subchapter J. If, however, the husband's transfer to his wife is made before such property is transferred in discharge of his obligation under the decree or written instrument, or pursuant to the separation agreement in an attempt to avoid the application of section 71 (a) (1) or (2) to part of such payments received by his wife, such transfers will be considered as a part of the same transfer by the husband of his property in discharge of his obligation or pursuant to such agreement. In such a case, section 71 (a) (1) or (2) will be applied to the full amount received by the wife. As to periodic payments received under a joint purchase of a commercial annuity contract, see section 72 and the regulations thereunder.

(d) Periodic and installment payments. (1) In general, installment payments discharging a part of an obligation the principal sum of which is, in terms of money or property, specified in the decree, instrument, or agreement are not considered "periodic payments" and therefore are not to be included under section 71 (a) in the wife's income.

(2) An exception to the general rule stated in subparagraph (1) is provided, however, in cases where such principal sum, by the terms of the decree, instrument, or agreement, may be or is to be paid over a period ending more than 10 years from the date of such decree, instrument, or agreement. In such cases, the installment payment is considered a periodic payment for the purposes of section 71 (a) but only to the extent that the installment payment, or sum of the installment payments, received during the wife's taxable year does not exceed 10 percent of the principal sum. This 10-percent limitation applies to installment payments made in advance but does not apply to delinquent installment payments for a prior taxable year of the wife made during her taxable year.

(3) (i) Where payments under a decree, instrument, or agreement are to be paid over a period ending 10 years or less from the date of such decree, instrument, or agreement, such payments are not installment payments discharging a part of an obligation the principal sum of which is, in terms of money or property, specified in the decree, instrument, or agreement (and are considered periodic payments for the purposes of section 71 (a)) only if such payments meet the following two conditions:

(a) Such payments are subject to any one or more of the contingencies of death of either spouse, remarriage of the wife, or change in the economic status of either spouse, and

(b) Such payments are in the nature of alimony or an allowance for support.

(ii) Payments meeting the requirements of subdivision (i) are considered periodic payments for the purposes of section 71 (a) regardless of whether—

(a) The contingencies described in subdivision (i) (a) are set forth in the terms of the decree, instrument, or agreement, or are imposed by local law, or

(b) The aggregate amount of the payments to be made in the absence of the occurrence of the contingencies described in subdivision (i) (a) of this subparagraph is explicitly stated in the decree, instrument, or agreement or may be calculated by multiplying the dollar amounts of the individual payments by the maximum number of payments, or

(c) The total amount which will be paid may be calculated actuarially.

(4) The rules as to periodic and installment payments are illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). Under the terms of a written instrument, H is required to make payments to W which are in the nature of alimony, in the amount of $100 a month for nine years. The instrument provides that if H or W dies the payments are to cease. The payments are periodic.

Example (2). The facts are the same as in example (1) except that the written instrument explicitly provides that H is to pay W the sum of $10,800 in monthly payments of $100 over a period of nine years. The payments are periodic.

Example (3). Under the terms of a written instrument, H is to pay W $100 a month over a period of nine years. The monthly payments are not subject to any of the contingencies of death of H or W, remarriage of W, or change in the economic status of H of W under the terms of the written instrument or by reason of local law. The payments are not periodic.

Example (4). A divorce decree in 1954 provides that H is to pay W $20,000 each year for the next five years, beginning with the date of the decree, and then $5,000 each year for the next ten years. Assuming the wife makes her returns on the calendar year basis, each payment received in the years 1954 to 1958, inclusive, is treated as a periodic payment under section 71 (a) (1), but only to the extent of 10 percent of the principal sum of $150,000. Thus, for such taxable years, only $15,000 of the $20,000 received is includible under section 71 (a) (1) in the wife's income and is deductible by the husband under section 215. For the years 1959 to 1968, inclusive, the full $5,000 received each year by the wife is includible in her income and is deductible from the husband's income.

Example (5). Under the terms of a separation agreement incident to the status of a divorce granted in December 1953, H agrees to pay W $500 on the first day of each month, beginning with the month after the decree, for 12 years. W makes her income tax returns on the calendar year basis while H makes his returns on the basis of the fiscal year ending June 30. H makes the promised payments in 1954 and, in addition, on December 31, 1954, pays W $1,500 as an advance payment of installments for the next three months. In the calendar year 1955, H makes no payments at all because of financial straits. On January 1, 1956, H inherits $15,000, which he immediately pays to W in satisfaction of not only his back alimony installments for the last nine months of 1955 but also his alimony installments for the next 21 months. The results as to H and W are as follows:

As to W: In the calendar year 1954, W received $7,500. Since 10 percent of $72,000 (the principal sum) is $7,200, only $7,200 of the $7,500 so received is includible in her income for 1954. For 1955 nothing is includible in her income under section 71 (a) (1). In 1956, W received $15,000. Of this amount $4,500 is in payment of back installments and therefore is includible without limitation in her income for 1956. Of the balance of $10,500, only $7,200 is includible in her income for 1956.

As to H: For the taxable year ended June 30, 1954, H paid $3,000, all of which is deductible by H. In the taxable year ended June 30, 1955, H paid W $4,500, which, not being in excess of 10 percent of the principal sum, is deductible for such year. In his taxable year ended June 30, 1956, H paid $15,000, of which $11,700 (the sum of $4,500 and $7,200) is deductible.

(e) Payments for support of minor children. Section 71 (a) does not apply to that part of any periodic payment which, by the terms of the decree, instrument, or agreement under section 71 (a), is specifically designated as a sum payable for the support of minor children of the husband. The statute prescribes the treatment in cases where an amount or portion is so fixed but the amount of any periodic payment is less than the amount of the periodic payment specified to be made. In such cases, to the extent of the amount which would be payable for the support of such children out of the originally specified periodic payment, such periodic payment is considered a payment for such support. For example, if the husband is by terms of the decree, instrument, or agreement required to pay $200 a month to his divorced wife, $100 of which is designated by the decree, instrument, or agreement to be for the support of their minor children, and the husband pays only $150 to his wife, $100 is nevertheless considered to be a payment by the husband for the support of the children. If, however, the periodic payments are received by the wife for the support and maintenance of herself and of minor children of the husband without such specific designation of the portion for the support of such children, then the whole of such amounts is includible in the income of the wife as provided in section 71 (a). Except in cases of a designated amount or portion for the support of the husband's minor children, periodic payments described in section 71 (a) received by the wife for herself and any other person or persons are includible in whole in the wife's income, whether or not the amount or portion for such other person or persons is designated.

[ 7 CFR Part 53 ]

OFFICIAL UNITED STATES STANDARDS FOR GRADES OF SLAUGHTER CATTLE

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given in accordance with Section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) that the Department of Agriculture, under the provisions of Sections 203 and 205 of the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (7 U. S. C. 1622 and 1624) as amended and the general language in the item for the Agricultural Marketing Service contained in the Department of Agriculture and Farm Credit Administration Appropriation Act, 1956 (69 Stat. 56-57), is considering amending §§ 53.203 and 53.204 of the official United States standards for grades of slaughter cattle (7 CFR 53.203, 53.204) as follows, to divide the Commercial grade for steers, heifers, and cows into two new grades designated as Standard and Commercial grades in order to conform with the revised carcass beef standards which are to become effective June 1, 1956.

1. In § 53.203, paragraph (b) (2) would be amended to read as follows:

(2) Since evidences of maturity in the beef carcass vary among animals of the same approximate age, only general age limitations can be used for descriptive standards for slaughter cattle. Approximate maximum age limitations for the specified grades of steers, heifers and cows are as follows: Prime—36 months; Choice—42 months; Good—48 months; and Standard—48 months. The Commercial grade for steers, heifers, and cows applies only to cattle over approximately 48 months. There are no age limitations for the Utility, Cutter and Canner grades of steers, heifers, and cows.

2. In § 53.204, paragraphs (d), (e), (f), and (g) would be redesignated (e), (f), (g), and (h), respectively.

3. A new paragraph (d) would be inserted in § 53.204, and redesignated paragraph (e) of § 53.204 would be amended, to read, respectively, as follows:

(d) Standard. Cattle possessing the minimum qualifications for the Standard grade may differ somewhat in appearance because of the numerous possible combinations of age, conformation, finish, and quality. The maximum maturity for steers, heifers, and cows of the Standard grade is approximately 48 months. In conformation, Standard grade cattle tend to be slightly rangy, thin fleshed, slightly narrow through the crops, back, and loin, somewhat prominent at the hips, and shallow in the twist and quarter. The loin, rump, and rounds appear flat with no evidence of fullness. Cattle ranging from 30 to 48 months of age carry a slightly thin fat covering which is primarily in evidence over the back, loin, and ribs. The brisket, rear flanks, and cod or udder show only slight fullness. Cattle under 30 months of age carry only a thin covering of fat which is largely restricted to the back, loin, and upper rib. Standard grade cattle frequently have the heavy bone and prominent hips and shoulders associated with coarseness or the small bone, tight hide, and angularity denoting overrefinement.

(e) Commercial. The Commercial grade for steers, heifers, and cows is limited to cattle over approximately 48 months of age and, therefore, too advanced in maturity for the Good or Standard grades. Cattle possessing the minimum qualifications for Commercial grade may vary slightly in appearance because of different possible combinations of the grade factors. In conformation, Commercial grade cattle tend to be slightly rangy and slightly thin fleshed. They appear deep through the fore-rib and moderately wide over the back and loin. The hips and shoulders are prominent, and the quarters are thin and shallow with no apparent bulge or fullness. Cattle near the minimum maturity for the grade carry a slightly thick fat covering over the back, ribs, loin, and rump. Fully mature cattle usually carry at least a moderately thick fat covering and considerable patchiness is evident about the tailhead. The brisket, flanks, and cod or udder appear slightly to moderately full. Commercial grade cattle tend to be rather coarse and rough with prominent shoulders and hips, slightly coarse bone, and moderately thick, heavy hide.

Any person who wishes to submit written data, views, or arguments concerning the proposed amendment may do so by filing them with the Director of the Livestock Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., within 15 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 20th day of April 1956.

Deputy Administrator.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[ 14 CFR Part 60 ]

[Draft Release No. 56-10]

AIR TRAFFIC RULES

ESTABLISHMENT OF AIR NAVIGATION FACILITIES AND SAFETY STANDARDS FOR INSTRUMENT OPERATIONS AT AIRPORTS LOCATED OUTSIDE CONTROLLED AIRSPACE

Pursuant to authority delegated by the Civil Aeronautics Board to the Bureau of Safety Regulation, notice is hereby given that the Bureau will propose to the Board amendments to Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations governing operation of air navigation facilities for public use by agencies other than the Civil Aeronautics Administration. These regulations may also apply to locations having Federally-owned facilities but no airport control zone.

Recently the Board published a notice of proposed rule-making (21 F. R. 1748) which proposed amendments to §§ 60.30 and 60.31 of Part 60 to establish VFR minimums for flight in a control zone with an air traffic control clearance. Although the amendments proposed herein would also amend §§ 60.30 and 60.31, these proposals are being published as a separate notice of proposed rule-making in the belief that such a procedure will be more informative.

Interested persons may participate in the making of the proposed rules by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in duplicate to the Civil Aeronautics Board, attention Bureau of Safety Regulations, Washington 25, D. C. In order to insure their consideration by the Board before taking further action on the proposed rules, communications must be received by June 20, 1956. Copies of such communications will be available after June 22, 1956, for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section of the Board, Room 5412, Department of Commerce Building, Washington, D. C.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration is responsible for the operation of the civil airways system. However, the Civil Aeronautics Administration is unable to install air navigation facilities at all airports in the country, and thus it has necessarily established its facilities at those airports where their use is of greatest importance. Since navigational aids substantially improve the reliability and regularity of operations at airports, particularly under reduced ceiling or visibility conditions, certain State aeronautics authorities have indicated a desire to install and operate navigational aids at airports provided that instrument approach procedures would be published by the Administrator for public use at such airports. Such action would increase the availability and usefulness of the airport served and also provide a facility available for all types of users.

These proposed rules are intended for use at airports located outside of controlled airspace and at which non-Federal air navigation facilities are contemplated. Public use of instrument approach procedures at such airports would create a collision hazard unless additional safeguards were applied. Examples of four possible collision hazards which exist in any area in which instrument approaches are being conducted without traffic control are as follows:

1. Collision between two aircraft making instrument approaches.

2. Collision of aircraft making instrument approach with local VFR traffic flying in the approach area close to the clouds.

3. Collision of aircraft making instrument approach with departing VFR or IFR traffic.

4. Collision of aircraft making instrument approach with en route aircraft flying close to or within the overcast.

The purpose of the proposed regulation is to offer as much protection as possible against all of these hazards. It is recognized, however, that only partial protection can be afforded against the hazard created by a non-radio equipped itinerant VFR flight, since it is possible that such a flight may proceed to the airport before ascertaining that operation within the zone is restricted by the provisions of this regulation.

To encourage the establishment of non-Federal navigational aids at airports by agencies desiring to make such aids available for public use, it is proposed herein to promulgate particular rules for the safety of air traffic. In general, these rules would permit the Administrator to designate certain areas of defined dimensions as noncontrolled instrument approach zones. The proposed zone will extend upward from the surface to an altitude of 3,000 feet, and will encompass only that horizontal area which the Administrator determines is required for the instrument approach procedure for the particular airport. The proposed rules will affect the operation of aircraft in these zones only when the visibility is less than three miles or the ceiling is less than 1,000 feet, and only during the published hours of operation of the navigation facility associated therewith. The regulations to be applicable in non-controlled instrument approach zones under IFR conditions are similar to those presently existing for IFR operations in control zones or control areas.

When the ceiling or visibility falls below the above minimums and a light signal is being displayed to signify that an aircraft is making an instrument approach, all aircraft operating out of or around the airport will be required to remain clear of the non-controlled instrument approach zone until the aircraft making the instrument approach has landed. The light signal to be used will consist of a lighted rotating beacon during daylight hours and flashing outline lights on the traffic direction indicator (tetrahedron, wind tee, or other traffic device) during the hours of darkness. Aircraft with airborne communication equipment will maintain a listening watch on the appropriate published frequency for information from ground personnel. This proposal envisions that the communication facility will be provided by the agency that operates the navigational aid. When aircraft making IFR approaches have landed, the light signals will be turned off and normal VFR operations will be resumed. This procedure will not impose an unreasonable burden on VFR operations, since aircraft may be operated from any airport within the non-controlled instrument approach zone except while the light signal is being displayed to indicate that an aircraft is making an instrument approach. Furthermore, the percentage of time that reduced ceiling or visibility conditions exist is comparatively small and the IFR approaches made during such time are relatively few.

In view of the foregoing, notice is hereby given that it is proposed to recommend to the Board that Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations be amended:

1. By amending § 60.30 by redesignating present paragraph (b) as (c), and by adding a new paragraph (b) and a note to read as follows:

§ 60.30 Ceiling and distance from clouds. • • •

(b) Within non-controlled instrument approach zones. During such time as a light signal is displayed which signifies that an instrument approach is in progress in the zone, aircraft shall not be flown either:

(1) Beneath the ceiling when it is less than 1,000 feet; or

(2) Less than 500 feet vertically under, 1,000 feet vertically over, and 2,000 feet horizontally from any cloud formation.

NOTE: It is the responsibility of each person intending to conduct VFR flight within a noncontrolled instrument approach zone to determine, prior to such flight, whether instrument operations are in progress. This determination may be made by radio contact with the appropriate communication station or by observing a visual signal displayed at the airport associated with the navigational aid. The visual signal and its characteristics shall be prescribed by the Administrator. Signals and their meanings are published in the Flight Information Manual.

2. By amending § 60.31 by redesignating paragraphs (c) and (d) as (d) and (e), respectively, and by adding a new paragraph (c) to read as follows:

§ 60.31 Visibility. • • •

(c) Flight visibility within noncontrolled instrument approach zones. When the flight visibility is less than 3 miles and a light signal is displayed signifying that instrument operations are in progress, no person shall operate an aircraft within the noncontrolled instrument approach zone. When such instrument approach light signal is not displayed, paragraph (e) of this section applies.

3. By amending § 60.31 (e) to read as follows:

§ 60.31 Visibility. • • •

(e) Flight visibility elsewhere. When outside of control zones, noncontrolled instrument approach zones, and control areas, or within noncontrolled instrument approach zones when an instrument approach light signal is not displayed, no person shall operate an aircraft in flight when the flight visibility is less than one mile. However, helicopters may be flown at or below 700 feet above the surface when the flight visibility is less than one mile if operated at a reduced speed which will give the pilot of such helicopter adequate opportunity to see other air traffic or any obstruction in time to avoid collision.

[It is not intended to amend or delete the current note that follows § 60.31 (e). It is omitted here in the interest of brevity.]

4. By amending § 60.47 by designating the present paragraph as paragraph (a) and by adding a new paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§ 60.47 Radio communications. • • •

(b) Prior to entering or commencing flight in a non-controlled instrument approach zone, the pilot in command of the aircraft shall establish radio contact on the appropriate published frequency and shall report position, altitude, estimated time of arrival over the facility, and the type of operation intended; i. e., take-off, en route, or instrument approach. Thereafter, while within the non-controlled instrument approach zone, he shall maintain a continuous watch on the appropriate frequency. If an instrument approach is being conducted, position shall be reported when over the station, when completing procedure turn on final approach, and when the airport of intended landing is in sight.

NOTE: The foregoing rule is intended to provide a source of traffic information which, in the absence of traffic control, will enable pilots to provide aircraft separation with the assistance of an advisory service.

5. By amending § 60.60 by adding a definition to read as follows:

§ 60.60 Definitions. • • •

Noncontrolled instrument approach zone. An airspace of defined dimensions designated by the Administrator extending upward from the surface to 3,000 feet above the surface, within which instrument approaches are to be executed without benefit of air traffic control, and within which particular rules apply during the published hours of operation of the navigation facilities associated therewith.

These amendments are proposed under the authority of Title VI of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended. These proposals may be changed in the light of comments received in response to this notice of proposed rule making.

ARIZONA

SMALL TRACT CLASSIFICATION NO. 50

APRIL 17, 1956.

1. Pursuant to authority delegated by Document No. 43, Arizona, effective May 19, 1955 (20 F. R. 3514–15), the following described land totaling 160 acres and comprising 64 small tracts in Pinal County, Arizona, is hereby classified for lease and sale for residence and/or business purposes under the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938 (52 Stat. 609; 43 U. S. C. 682a), as amended:

GILA AND SALT RIVER MERIDIAN

T. 1 N., R. 8 E.,
Sec. 25: SW¼.

2. Classification of the above described land by this order segregates it from all appropriations, including location under the mining laws, except as to applications under the Small Tract and applications under the mineral leasing laws.

3. The land is located approximately 18 miles east of Mesa and 3½ miles southeast of Apache Junction. The climate is arid with an average annual precipitation of about 9 inches. The elevation is approximately 1700 feet above sea level. The temperature varies from a high of about 115° F. in summer to a low of about 25° F. in winter. The soil is sandy and supports a fair vegetative cover of paloverde, mesquite, creosote, ocotillo, various species of cacti, including saguaro and cholla, and a few annual weeds and grasses.

Culinary water is not available from any known source but can probably be developed from wells at a depth of about 300 feet. Electric power is available from transmission lines approximately one mile distant.

4. (a) The individual tracts are all approximately 2½ acres in size and shall conform to a 1/256 of a section.

(b) The purchase price of each tract is $150.

(c) The advance three year rental for a residence tract is $30.00. The advance three year rental for a business tract is $60.00. However, if the gross business exceeds $2,000.00 per annum, the rental will be calculated in accordance with the schedule incorporated in the lease.

(d) Rights-of-way 33 feet in width for streets, roads and public utilities will be reserved on all section lines and quarter, sixteenth and sixty-fourth subdivision lines.

5. Leases will be issued for a term of three years and will contain an option to purchase in accordance with 43 CFR 257.13. Lessees who comply with general terms and conditions of their leases will be permitted to purchase their tracts at the appraised price provided that during the period of their leases they either, (a) construct the improvements specified in paragraph 6, or (b) file a copy of an agreement in accordance with 43 CFR 257.13 (d) (1). Leases will not be renewable unless failure to construct the required improvement is justified under the circumstances and non-renewal would work an extreme hardship on the lesee. All mineral rights will be reserved to the United States.

6. A residence must be suitable for year-round occupancy and contain a minimum of 500 square feet fully enclosed floor space. It must be of substantial construction to withstand the elements and on a full solid foundation. The residence must be built in a workmanlike manner out of attractive materials properly finished. All sewage shall be by underground septic tank or cesspool.

7. (a) Applicants must file, in duplicate, with the Manager Land Office, Room 251 Main Post Office Building, Phoenix, Arizona, application Form 4-776 filled out in compliance with the instructions on the form and accompanied by any showings or documents required by those instructions. Copies of the application form may be secured from the above-named official.

(b) The application must be accompanied by a filing fee of $10 plus the advance rental specified in paragraph 4 (c). Failure to transmit these payments will render the application void. Advanced rental will be returned to unsuccessful applicants. All filing fees will be retained by the United States.

8. The land is now subject to application under the Small Tract Act,

(a) All valid applications filed prior to February 1, 1956 will be granted the preference right provided by 43 CFR 257.5 (a) provided such applications are made to conform to the terms of this order.

(b) All valid applications from persons entitled to veterans' preference filed after February 1, 1956 and prior to 10:00 a. m. May 23, 1956 will be considered as simultaneously filed at that time.

(c) All valid applications from persons entitled to veterans' preference filed after 10:00 a. m., May 23, 1956 will be considered in the order of filing.

(d) All valid applications from other persons filed after February 1, 1956 and prior to 10:00 a. m. August 22, 1956 will be considered as simultaneously filed at that time.

(e) All valid applications filed after 10:00 a. m. August 22, 1956 will be considered in the order of filing.

9. Inquiries concerning this land shall be addressed to the Manager, Land Office, Room 251 Main Post Office Building, Phoenix, Arizona.

IDAHO

ORDER PROVIDING FOR OPENING OF PUBLIC LANDS

APRIL 17, 1956.

1. By virtue of the authority contained in section 4 of the act of May 24, 1928 (45 Stat. 729; 49 U. S. C. 214), and in accordance with Order No. 541, section 2.5, of the Director, Bureau of Land Management, approved April 21, 1954 (19 F. R. 247), it is ordered as follows:

The order of the Assistant Secretary of the Department of the Interior, dated May 20, 1932, withdrawing certain public lands in Idaho for use by the Department of Commerce in the maintenance of air navigation facilities is hereby revoked insofar as it affects the following-described land:

BOISE MERIDIAN, IDAHO

T. 6 N., R. 1 W.,
Sec. 29, NE¼NW¼.

The area described contains 40 acres of public land.

2. The land is located approximately two and one-half miles southerly from Emmett, Idaho, and is accessible via State Highway No. 16. The land lies on the abrupt breaks between the Payette River Valley and the upper plains. The elevational range is estimated at about 350'. Soils are a sandy loam, with the vegetation composed of sagebrush, mountain mahogany, cheat and other native grasses.

3. Evidence has been presented through field investigation that on this subdivision, there is an uncommon variety of sand in large volume, a sand of value in the manufacture of glass. In view of the distinct and special value of this sand, the entire tract has been classified as mineral land, and, therefore, is not subject to classification under section 7 of the Taylor Grazing Act of June 28, 1934 (48 Stat. 1269), as amended.

4. Subject to valid existing rights and the provisions of existing withdrawals, the above-described lands shall, commencing at 10:00 a. m. on May 23, 1956, be open to location, entry and patenting under the United States mining laws.

5. Inquiries and applications concerning the above lands shall be addressed to the Manager, Land Office, Bureau of Land Management, P. O. Box 2237, Boise, Idaho.

DESIGNATION OF AREAS FOR PRODUCTION EMERGENCY LOANS

For the purpose of making Production Emergency loans pursuant to section 2 (a) of Public Law 38, 81st Congress (12 U. S. C. 1148a-2 (a)), as amended, it has been determined that in Barry and Van Buren Counties in the State of Michigan a production disaster has caused a need for agricultural credit not readily available from commercial banks, cooperative lending agencies, or other responsible sources.

The time for making new Production Emergency loans in Allegan, Benzie,

Kent, Leelanau, Manistee, Montcalm, and Ottawa Counties in the State of Michigan is hereby extended from June 30, 1956, through December 31, 1956. Allegan, Benzie, Kent, Manistee, and Ottawa Counties were previously designated in 20 F. R. 4663 for making Production Emergency loans to new applicants through June 30, 1956. Leelanau County was previously designated in 20 F. R. 1613 for making Production Emergency loans to new applicants through October 31, 1955, and the designation thereof was extended in 20 F. R. 6567 through June 30, 1956, for making such loans to farmers whose credit needs arose by reason of freeze in the spring of 1955. Montcalm County was previously designated in 21 F. R. 874 for making Production Emergency loans to new applicants through June 30, 1956.

After December 31, 1956, Production Emergency loans in the above-named counties may be made only to applicants who previously received such assistance, and who can qualify therefor under established policies and procedures.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 19th of April 1956.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

PART 988—MILK IN KNOXVILLE, TENN., MARKETING AREA

ORDER SUSPENDING CERTAIN PROVISIONS

Pursuant to the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), hereinafter referred to as the "Act", and of the order, as amended (7 CFR Part 900), regulating the handling of milk in the Knoxville, Tennessee, marketing area, hereinafter referred to as the "order", it is hereby found and determined that:

1. The following provisions of § 988.93 will not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act for the months of May, June and July 1956:

(a) For the months of March through July, subtract the Class II price, adjusted for Class II butterfat differential, from the Class I price, adjusted by the Class I butterfat differential and the Class 1 location differential.

(b) For the months of August through February * * *

2. Notice of proposed rule making, public procedure thereon, and 30 days notice of the effective date hereof, are found to be impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest in that:

(a) The information upon which this action is based did not become available in sufficient time for such compliance;

(b) This suspension order will relieve handler(s) who operate nonpool plant(s), distributing less than 15 percent of receipts of milk in the marketing area, of making payments for such milk distributed in the marketing area. Petitioner's producers are intermingled with producers supplying regulated handlers under this order. Petitioner has made payments required under § 988.93 (b) during the past several months and these payments have been sufficient during this period to maintain an orderly marketing situation. To increase such payments as required by § 988.93 (a) at this time would be disruptive of orderly marketing conditions;

(c) This suspension order is necessary to reflect current marketing conditions and to facilitate, promote, and maintain orderly marketing conditions in such marketing area; and

(d) This suspension order does not require of persons affected substantial or extensive preparation prior to its effective date.

Therefore, good cause exists for making this order effective for the period May, June and July 1956.

It is therefore ordered, That the following provisions of § 988.93 of the order be and hereby are suspended for May, June and July 1956;

(a) For the months of March through July, subtract the Class II price, adjusted for Class II butterfat differential, from the Class I price, adjusted by the Class I butterfat differential and the Class I location differential.

(b) For the months of August through February * * *

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 23d day of April 1956, to be effective on and after May 1, 1956.

(c) Storage space in Cherry Valley Reservoir shall be kept available for flood-control purposes in accordance with the Flood-Control Reservation Diagram currently in force for that reservoir except when storage of floodwater is necessary as prescribed in paragraph (e) of this section. The Flood-Control Storage Reservoir Diagram in force as of the promulgation of this section is that dated April 4, 1956, File No. TU-2-26-6, and is on file in the Office, Chief of Engineers, Corps of Engineers, Department of the Army, Washington, D. C., and in the office of the Public Utilities Commission of the City and County of San Francisco, California. Revisions of the Flood-Control Storage Reservation Diagram may be developed from time to time as necessary by the Corps of Engineers and the City. Each such revision shall be effective upon the date specified in the approval thereof by the Chief of Engineers and by the Public Utilities Commission of the City and County of San Francisco, California, and from that date until replaced shall be the Flood-Control Storage Reservation Diagram currently in force for the purpose of this section. (d) Any water temporarily stored in the flood-control space indicated by the Flood-Control Storage Reservation Diagram currently in force for Don Pedro Reservoir shall be released as rapidly as can be accomplished without causing flows in Tuolumne River below LaGrange Dam to exceed 7,000 c. f. s. during rain floods or to exceed 9,000 c. f. s. at all other times.

(e) Any water temporarily stored in the flood-control space indicated by the Flood-Control Storage Reservation Diagrams currently in force for Hetch Hetchy and Cherry Valley Reservoirs shall be released as rapidly as can be accomplished without exceeding the respective safe channel capacities, and without materially contributing to major encroachment into the flood-control space at Don Pedro Reservoir. Such releases shall be proportioned between Hetch Hetchy and Cherry Valley Reservoirs in such manner as to assure that the percentage of encroachment into the flood-control space at the two reservoirs will tend toward equality insofar as possible. Whenever the storage space in Don Pedro Reservoir is less than 90 percent of that indicated by the Flood-Control Storage Reservation Diagram currently in force for that reservoir, releases from Hetch Hetchy and Cherry Valley Reservoirs shall be restricted to those required in connection with the generation of hydroelectric power in the power system of the City and in connection with diversion into the water supply system of the City.

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION AND GRADES

§ 52.3141 Product description. Frozen fried fish sticks are clean, wholesome, rectangularly-shaped portions of breaded, pre-cooked, and frozen fish flesh. The portions of fish flesh, composed primarily of large pieces, are coated with a suitable batter and breading; are cooked by frying in suitable oil or fat; and are frozen in accordance with good commercial practice and maintained at temperatures necessary for the preservation of the product. Frozen fried fish sticks contain not less than 60 percent, by weight, of fish flesh. All sticks comprising an individual package are prepared from the flesh of only one species of fish.

§ 52.3142 Grades of frozen fried fish sticks. (a) "U. S. Grade A" is the quality of frozen fried fish sticks that possess a good flavor and odor, that possess a good appearance, that are practically free from defects, that possess a good character, and that for those factors which are rated in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart the total score is not less than 85 points: Provided, That the frozen fried fish sticks may possess a reasonably good appearance and a reasonably good character if the total score is not less than 85 points.

(b) "U. S. Grade B" is the quality of frozen fried fish sticks that possess a reasonably good flavor and odor, that possess a reasonably good appearance, that are reasonably free from defects, that possess a reasonably good character, and that for those factors which are rated in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart the total score is not less than 70 points: Provided, That the frozen fried fish sticks may fail to possess a reasonably good appearance and fail to possess a reasonably good character if the total score is not less than 70 points.

(c) "Substandard" is the quality of frozen fried fish sticks that fail to meet the requirements of U. S. Grade B.

WEIGHTS AND DIMENSIONS

§ 52.3143 Recommended weights and dimensions. The recommended weights and dimensions of frozen fried fish sticks are not incorporated in the grades of the finished product since weights and dimensions, as such, are not factors of quality for the purposes of these grades. It is recommended that the largest dimension of a fish stick be at least three times that of the next largest dimension and that the average weight of the individual sticks be not less than ¾ ounce and not greater than 1¼ ounces.

FACTORS OF QUALITY

§ 52.3144 Ascertaining the grade—(a) General. In addition to considering other requirements outlined in the standards, the following quality factors are evaluated in ascertaining the grade of the product:

(1) Factor not rated by score points. (i) Flavor and odor.

(2) Factors rated by score points. The relative importance of each factor which is rated is expressed numerically on the scale of 100. The maximum number of points that may be given such factors are:

| Factors: | Points |
|---|---|
| Appearance | 35 |
| Defects | 40 |
| Character | 25 |
| Total score | 100 |

(b) The grade of frozen fried fish sticks is ascertained by observing the product in the frozen state and after it has been heated in a suitable manner.

(c) Percent of fish flesh. "Percent of fish flesh" means the average percent, by weight, of fish flesh in an individual package.

(d) Good Flavor and odor. "Good flavor and odor" means that the product has the good flavor and odor of properly prepared breaded fish sticks. The flesh portion has the good flavor and odor of properly prepared fish of the particular species. The coating has the good flavor and odor obtained when all components have been properly prepared, used, and maintained. The product is free from rancidity, bitterness, and staleness, from bacterial spoilage flavors and odors, and from off-flavors and off-odors of any kind.

(e) Reasonably good flavor and odor. "Reasonably good flavor and odor" means that the product may be somewhat lacking in good flavor and odor, but is free from rancidity and from objectionable bacterial spoilage flavor, and from off-flavors and off-odors of any kind.

(f) Heating in a suitable manner. "Heating in a suitable manner" means heating in accordance with the recommendations accompanying the product. However, if specific instructions are lacking the product should be heated as follows:

(1) Place the product while still in the frozen state on a flat or shallow pan of sufficient size that at least 10 ounces of the product can be spread evenly on the pan with no portion of a stick closer than ¼ inch to another or to the edge of the pan.

(2) Place the pan and frozen contents in a properly ventilated oven pre-heated to 400 degrees Fahrenheit and remove when the product is thoroughly heated.

§ 52.3145 Ascertaining the score for the factors which are rated. The essential variations within each factor which is rated are so described that the value may be ascertained for each factor and expressed numerically. The numerical range within each factor which is rated is inclusive. (For example, "21 to 25 points" means 21, 22, 23, 24, or 25 points).

§ 52.3146 Appearance—(a) General. The factor of appearance refers to the uniformity of size and shape of the frozen sticks, the color of the heated sticks, and the continuity of the coating of the product after heating.

(b) (A) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks that possess a good appearance may be given a score of 30 to 35 points. "Good appearance" means that the sticks are practically uniform in size and shape; that the product after heating possesses a practically uniform light brown to golden brown color or reddish-brown color characteristic of properly prepared frozen fried fish sticks; and that the sticks, after heating, possess a continuity of the coating not more than slightly affected by cracking or slipping.

(c) (B) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks that possess a reasonably good appearance may be given a score of 25 to 29 points. "Reasonably good appearance" means that the sticks are reasonably uniform in size and shape; that the product after heating possesses a reasonably uniform light brown to golden-brown color or reddish-brown color characteristic of properly prepared frozen fried fish sticks; and that the sticks, after heating, possess a continuity of the coating not materially affected by cracking or slipping.

(d) (SStd.) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks which fail to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 24 points, and shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B regardless of the total score for the product (this is a partial limiting rule).

§ 52.3147 Defects—(a) General. The factor of defects refers to the degree of freedom from bones, broken sticks, damaged sticks, and from blemishes.

(1) Bones. "Bones" means any bones that can be separated from the product, can be identified, and are of such character as to be potentially harmful.

(2) Broken stick. "Broken stick" means a fish stick which is separated in two or more parts or is strained apart to the extent that it cannot be readily handled as one stick.

(3) Damaged stick. "Damaged stick" means a fish stick which has been crushed or otherwise mutilated to the extent that its appearance is materially affected.

(4) Blemished. "Blemished" means the presence (in or on the fish flesh) of blood spots, bruises, skin, protein curd spots, and objectionable dark layer fat, and (on or in the coating) of burned material, dark carbon specks, and other harmless extraneous material.

(5) Seriously blemished. "Seriously blemished" means blemished to the extent that the appearance is seriously affected.

(b) (A) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks that are practically free from defects may be given a score of 34 to 40 points. "Practically free from defects" means that:

(1) None of the sticks are broken;

(2) The sticks may be blemished to only a minor degree; and

(3) Not more than a total of 20 percent, by count, of the sticks may be damaged or contain bones: Provided, That bones may be present in not more than 10 percent, by count, of all the sticks.

(c) (B) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks that are reasonably free from defects may be given a score of 28 to 33 points. Frozen fried fish sticks that fall into this classification may not be graded above U. S. Grade B regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably free from defects" means that not more than a total of 30 percent, by count, of the sticks may be defective because of bones, or are damaged sticks, broken sticks, or seriously blemished sticks: Provided, That

(1) Not more than 10 percent, by count, may be broken sticks;

(2) Not more than 30 percent, by count, may be damaged sticks;

(3) Not more than 20 percent, by count, of the sticks may contain bones; and

(4) Not more than 10 percent, by count, of the sticks may be seriously blemished.

(d) (SStd.) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks that fail to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 27 points, and may not be graded above substandard regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.3148 Character—(a) General. The factor of character refers to the presence or absence of free oil in the package and its effect on the condition of the package; the ease of separating the frozen sticks without damaging the coating or breaking the sticks; the tendency of the sticks to remain whole and unbroken when they are heated, handled, and served in the normal manner; the degree of freedom of the breading from either an oiliness or crumbliness; the tenderness and moistness of the flesh; the consistency of the breading in the heated product; and the adherence of the coating of the heated product.

(b) (A) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks that possess a good character may be given a score of 21 to 25 points. "Good character" means that oil from the product does not more than slightly damage the package; that there may be present not more than a very small amount of loose breading in the package; that the sticks may be separated easily; that the sticks are not more than very slightly damaged by the normal handling incident to heating and serving; that no excess oil remains on the cooking utensil; that the breading is not more than slightly oily; that the flesh after heating has a good texture which is firm, tender and moist, characteristic of properly fried fish sticks for the species used; and that after heating the coating has a good crisp, tender texture not more than slightly affected by blistering or wrinkling.

(c) (B) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks that possess a reasonably good character may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Reasonably good character" means that oil from the product does not materially damage the package; that there may be present not more than a reasonable amount of loose breading in the package; that the sticks may be separated with only moderate damage to the coating; that the sticks are not more than moderately damaged by the normal handling incident to heating and serving; that the breading is not more than moderately oily; that the flesh after heating has a reasonably good texture which is not more than moderately tough, stringy, crumbly, mushy or spongy; and that after heating the coating has a reasonably good texture which may be not more than moderately pasty, mushy, tough, or crumbly and is not materially affected by blistering or wrinkling.

(d) (SStd.) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks that fail to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 16 points and shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B regardless of the total score for the product (this is a partial limiting rule).

LOT CERTIFICATION TOLERANCES

§ 52.3149 Tolerances for certification of officially drawn samples. (a) The grade of a specific lot from which samples have been officially drawn may be certified on the basis of such samples: Provided, That (1) all packages contain one species of fish; (2) all packages meet applicable provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act in effect at the time of the aforesaid certification: And provided further, That, with respect to those factors which are rated by score points, such grade will be determined by averaging the total scores, if:

(i) Not more than one-sixth of the packages fail to meet the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(ii) None of the packages fall more than one grade below the grade indicated by the average of such total scores; and

(iii) The average score of all packages for any factor subject to a limiting rule is within the score range of that factor for the grade indicated by the average of the total scores of the packages comprising the sample.

Minutes of each committee meeting shall be reported promptly to the Secretary;

(k) At the beginning of each fiscal period, to prepare a budget of its expenses for such fiscal period, together with a report thereon;

(l) To cause the books of the committee to be audited by a competent accountant at least once each fiscal period, and at such other time as the committee may deem necessary or as the Secretary may request. The report of such audit shall show the receipt and expenditure of funds collected pursuant to this part; a copy of each such report shall be furnished to the Secretary and a copy of each such report shall be made available at the principal office of the committee for inspection by producers and handlers; and

(m) To consult, cooperate, and exchange information with other marketing agreement committees and other individuals or agencies in connection with all proper committee activities and objectives under this part.

EXPENSES AND ASSESSMENTS

§ 1015.40 Expenses. The committee is authorized to incur such expenses as the Secretary may find are reasonable and likely to be incurred during each fiscal period for its maintenance and functioning, and for such purposes as the Secretary, pursuant to this subpart, determines to be appropriate. Handlers shall share expenses upon the basis of a fiscal period. Each handler's share of such expense shall be proportionate to the ratio between the total quantity of cucumbers handled by him as the first handler thereof during a fiscal period and the total quantity of cucumbers handled by all handlers as first handlers thereof during such fiscal period.

§ 1015.41 Budget. At the beginning of each fiscal period and as may be necessary thereafter, the committee shall prepare an estimated budget of income and expenditures necessary for the administration of this part. The committee may recommend a rate of assessment calculated to provide adequate funds to defray its proposed expenditures. The committee shall present such budget to the Secretary with an accompanying report showing the basis for its calculations.

§ 1015.42 Assessments. (a) The funds to cover the committee's expenses shall be acquired by the levying of assessments upon handlers as provided in this subpart. Each handler who first handles cucumbers shall pay assessments to the committee upon demand, which assessments shall be in payment of such handler's pro rata share of the committee's expenses.

(b) Assessments shall be levied upon handlers at rates established by the Secretary. Such rates may be established upon the basis of the committee's recommendations and other available information. Such rates may be applied to specified containers used in the production area.

(c) At any time during, or subsequent to, a given fiscal period the committee may recommend the approval of an amended budget and an increase in the rate of assessment. Upon the basis of such recommendations, or other available information, the Secretary may approve an amended budget and increase the rate of assessment. Such increase shall be applicable to all cucumbers which were regulated under this part and which were shipped by the first handler thereof during such fiscal period.

(d) The payment of assessments for the maintenance and functioning of the committee may be required under this part throughout the period it is in effect irrespective of whether particular provisions thereof are suspended or become inoperative.

§ 1015.43 Accounting. (a) All funds received by the committee pursuant to the provisions of this subpart shall be used solely for the purposes specified in this part.

(b) The Secretary may at any time require the committee, its members and alternates, employees, agents and all other persons to account for all receipts and disbursements, funds, property, or records for which they are responsible. Whenever any person ceases to be a member of the committee or alternate, he shall account to his successor, the committee, or to the person designated by the Secretary, for all receipts, disbursements, funds and property (including but not being limited to books and other records) pertaining to the committee's activities for which he is responsible, and shall execute such assignments and other instruments as may be necessary or appropriate to vest in such successor, committee, or designated person, the right to all of such property and funds and all claims vested in such person.

(c) The committee may make recommendations to the Secretary for one or more of the members thereof, or any other person, to act as a trustee for holding records, funds, or any other committee property during periods of suspension of this subpart, or during any period or periods when regulations are not in effect and, if the Secretary determines such action appropriate, he may direct that such person or persons shall act as trustee or trustees for the committee.

§ 1015.44 Refunds. At the end of each fiscal period, monies arising from the excess of assessments over expenses shall be accounted for as follows:

(a) Each handler entitled to a proportionate refund of the excess assessments at the end of a fiscal period shall be credited with such refund against the operations of the following fiscal period unless he demands payment thereof, in which event such proportionate refund shall be paid to him; or

(b) The Secretary, upon recommendation of the committee, may determine that it is appropriate for the maintenance and functioning of the committee that some of the funds remaining at the end of a fiscal period which are in excess of the expenses necessary for committee operations during such period may be carried over into following periods as a reserve for possible liquidation. Upon approval by the Secretary, such reserve may be used upon termination of this order to liquidate the affairs of the committee: Provided, That upon termination of this part any monies in the reserve for liquidation which are not required to defray the necessary expenses of committee liquidation shall be returned upon a pro rata basis to all persons from whom such funds were collected.

RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

§ 1015.48 Research and development. The committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may establish or provide for the establishment of marketing research and development projects designed to assist, improve, or promote the marketing, distribution, and consumption of cucumbers. The expenses of such projects shall be paid from funds collected pursuant to § 1015.42.

REGULATION

§ 1015.50 Marketing policy. Prior to or at the same time as initial recommendations are made pursuant to § 1015.51, the committee shall submit to the secretary a report setting forth the marketing policy it deems desirable for the industry to follow in handling cucumbers during the ensuing season. Additional reports shall be submitted from time to time if it is deemed advisable by the committee to adopt a new or modified marketing policy because of changes in the demand and supply situation with respect to cucumbers. The committee shall publicly announce the submission of each such marketing policy report and copies thereof shall be available at the committee's office for inspection by any producer or any handler. In determining each such marketing policy the committee shall give due consideration to the following:

(a) Market prices of cucumbers including prices by grades, sizes, and quality in different packs, in the production area and in competing areas;

(b) Supply of cucumbers, by grade, size, and quality in the production area, and in other production areas;

(c) Trend and level of consumer income;

(d) Marketing conditions affecting cucumber prices; and

(e) Other relevant factors.

§ 1015.51 Recomendations for regulations. The committee, upon complying with the requirements of §§ 1015.32 and 1015.50, may recommend regulations to the Secretary whenever it finds that such regulations, as are provided for in this subpart, will tend to effectuate the declared policies of the act.

§ 1015.52 Issuance of regulations. The Secretary shall limit the handling of cucumbers whenever he finds from the recommendations and information submitted by the committee, or from other available information, that such regulation would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. Such regulation may:

(a) Limit, in any or all portions of the production area, the handling of particular grades, sizes, qualities, maturities, varieties, or packs of cucumbers during any period; or

(b) Limit the handling of particular grades, sizes, qualities, maturities, or packs of cucumbers differently, for different varieties, for different portions of the production area, for different containers, for different markets, for different purposes specified in § 1015.54, or any combination of the foregoing, during any period; or

(c) Limit the handling of cucumbers by establishing, in terms of grades, sizes, or both, minimum standards of quality and maturity; or

(d) Fix the size, weight, capacity, dimensions, or pack of the container or containers which may be used in the packaging, transportation, sale, shipment, or other handling of cucumbers.

§ 1015.53 Minimum quantities. The committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may establish, for any or all portions of the production area, minimum quantities below which handling will be free from regulations issued or effective pursuant to §§ 1015.42, 1015.52, 1015.54, 1015.60, or any combination thereof.

§ 1015.54 Shipments for special purposes. Upon the basis of recommendations and information submitted by the committee, or other available information, the Secretary, whenever he finds that it will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, shall modify, suspend, or terminate regulations issued pursuant to §§ 1015.42, 1015.52, 1015.53, 1015.60, or any combination thereof, in order to facilitate handling of cucumbers for the following purposes:

(a) For export;

(b) For relief or for charity;

(c) For processing; or

(d) For other purposes which may be specified by the committee, with the approval of the Secretary.

§ 1015.55 Notification of regulation. The Secretary shall notify the committee of any regulations issued or of any modification, suspension, or termination thereof. The committee shall give reasonable notice thereof to handlers.

§ 1015.56 Safeguards. (a) The committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may prescribe adequate safeguards to prevent handling of cucumbers pursuant to § 1015.53 or § 1015.54 from entering channels of trade for other than the specific purpose authorized therefor, and rules governing the issuance and the contents of Certificates of Privilege if such certificates are prescribed as safeguards by the committee. Such safeguards may include requirements that:

(1) Handlers shall file applications with the committee to ship cucumbers pursuant to §§ 1015.53 and 1015.54; or

(2) Handlers shall obtain inspection provided by § 1015.60, or pay the assessment levied pursuant to § 1015.42, or both, in connection with shipments made under § 1015.54; or

(3) Handlers shall obtain Certificates of Privilege from the committee to handle cucumbers effected or to be effected under the provisions of §§ 1015.53 and 1015.54.

(b) The committee may rescind or deny Certificates of Privilege to any handler if proof is obtained that cucumbers handled by him for the purposes stated in §§ 1015.53 and 1015.54 were handled contrary to the provisions of this part.

(c) The Secretary shall have the right to modify, change, alter, or rescind any safeguards prescribed and any certificates issued by the committee pursuant to the provisions of this section.

(d) The committee shall make reports to the Secretary, as requested, showing the number of applications for such certificates, the quantity of cucumbers covered by such applications, the number of such applications denied and certificates granted, the quantity of cucumbers handled under duly issued certificates, and such other information as may be requested.

INSPECTION

§ 1015.60 Inspection and certification. (a) During any period in which handling of cucumbers are regulated pursuant to § 1015.52 or § 1015.54, or any combination thereof, no handler shall handle cucumbers unless each such handling is inspected by an authorized representative of the Federal-State Inspection Service, or such other inspection service as the Secretary shall designate, except when relieved from such requirements pursuant to § 1015.53 or § 1015.54, or both.

(b) Regrading, resorting, or repacking any lot of cucumbers shall invalidate any prior inspection certificates insofar as the requirements of this section are concerned. In such event, the person responsible shall be considered the first handler of the regraded, resorted, or repacked quantity and liable for the payment of assessments thereon pursuant to § 1015.42. No handler shall handle cucumbers after they have been regraded, resorted, repacked, or in any other way further prepared for market, unless each lot of such cucumbers is inspected by an authorized representative of the Federal-State Inspection Service, or such other inspection service as the Secretary shall designate: Provided, That the committee, with approval of the Secretary, may provide for waiving inspection requirements on any cucumbers in circumstances where it appears reasonably certain that, after regrading, resorting, or repacking, such cucumbers meet the applicable quality and other standards then in effect. All lots so inspected and certified shall be identified by appropriate seals, stamps, or tags to be affixed to each of the outer containers under the supervision of the committee or the inspection agency.

(c) Insofar as the requirements of this section are concerned, the length of time for which an inspection certificate is valid may be established by the committee with aproval of the Secretary.

(d) When the cucumbers are inspected in accordance with the requirements of this section a copy of each inspection certificate issued shall be made available to the committee by the inspection service.

EXEMPTIONS

§ 1015.65 Procedure. The committee may adopt, with approval of the Secretary, the procedures pursuant to which certificates of exemption will be issued to producers or handlers.

§ 1015.66 Granting exemptions. The committee shall issue certificates of exemption to any producer who applies for such exemption and furnishes adequate evidence to the committee, that by reason of a regulation issued pursuant to § 1015.52 he will be prevented from handling as large a proportion of his production as the average proportion of production handled during the entire season, or such portion thereof as may be determined by the committee, by all producers in said applicant's immediate production area and that the grade, size or quality of the applicant's cucumbers have been adversely affected by acts beyond the applicant's control and by acts beyond reasonable expectation. Each certificate shall permit the producer to handle the amount of cucumbers specified thereon. Such certificate shall be transferred with such cucumbers at time of transportation or sale.

§ 1015.67 Investigation. The committee shall be permitted at any time to make a thorough investigation of any producer's or handler's claim pertaining to exemptions.

§ 1015.68 Appeal. If any applicant for exemption certificates is dissatisfied with the determination by the committee with respect to his application, said applicant may file an appeal with the committee.

Such an appeal must be taken promptly after the determination by the committee from which the appeal is taken. Any applicant filing an appeal shall furnish evidence satisfactory to the committee for a determination on the appeal. The committee shall thereupon reconsider the application, examine all available evidence, and make a final determination concerning the application. The committee shall notify the appellant of the final determination, and shall furnish the Secretary with a copy of the appeal and a statement of considerations involved in making the final determination.

§ 1015.69 Records. (a) The committee shall maintain a record of all applications submitted for exemption certificates, a record of all exemption certificates issued or denied, the quantity of cucumbers covered by such exemption certificates, a record of the amount of cucumbers handled under exemption certificates, a record of appeals for reconsideration of applications, and such information as may be requested by the Secretary. Periodic reports on such records shall be compiled and issued by the committee upon request of the Secretary.

(b) The Secretary shall have the right to modify, change, alter, or rescind any procedure and any exemptions granted pursuant to §§ 1015.65, 1015.66, 1015.67, 1015.68, or any combination thereof.

EFFECTIVE TIME AND TERMINATION

§ 1015.70 Effective time. The provisions of this subpart, or any amendment thereto, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until terminated in one of the ways specified in this subpart.

§ 1015.71 Termination. (a) The Secretary may at any time terminate the provisions of this subpart by giving at least one day's notice by means of a press release or in any other manner which he may determine.

(b) The Secretary may terminate or suspend the operations of any or all of the provisions of this subpart whenever he finds that such provisions do not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(c) The Secretary shall terminate the provisions of this subpart at the end of any fiscal period whenever he finds that such termination is favored by a majority of producers, who during a representative period, have been engaged in the production for market of cucumbers: Provided, That such majority has, during such representative period, produced for market more than fifty percent of the volume of such cucumbers produced for market.

(d) The provisions of this subpart shall, in any event, terminate whenever the provisions of the act authorizing them cease to be in effect.

§ 1015.72 Proceedings after termination. (a) Upon the termination of the provisions of this subpart the then functioning members of the committee shall continue as joint trustees for the purpose of liquidating the affairs of the committee of all the funds and property then in the possession of or under control of the committee, including claims for any funds unpaid or property not delivered at the time of such termination. Action by said trusteeship shall require the concurrence of a majority of the said trustees.

(b) The said trustees shall continue in such capacity until discharged by the Secretary; shall, from time to time, account for all receipts and disbursements and deliver all property on hand, together with all books and records of the committee and of the trustees, to such person as the Secretary may direct; and shall, upon request of the Secretary, execute such assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to vest in such person full title and right to all of the funds, property, and claims vested in the committee or the trustees pursuant to this subpart.

(c) Any person to whom funds, property, or claims have been transferred or delivered by the committee or its members pursuant to this section, shall be subject to the same obligations imposed upon the members of the committee and upon the said trustees.

§ 1015.73 Effect of termination or amendment. Unless otherwise expressly provided by the Secretary, the termination of this subpart or of any regulation issued pursuant to this subpart, or the issuance of any amendments to either thereof, shall not (a) affect or waive any right, duty, obligation, or liability which shall have arisen or which may thereafter arise in connection with any provision of this subpart or any regulation issued under this subpart, or (b) release or extinguish any violation of this subpart or of any regulations issued under this subpart, or (c) affect or impair any rights or remedies of the Secretary or of any other person with respect to any such violations.

REPORTS

§ 1015.80 Reports. Upon request of the committee, made with approval of the Secretary, each handler shall furnish to the committee, in such manner and at such time as it may prescribe, such reports and other information as may be necessary for the committee to perform its duties under this part.

(a) Such reports may include, but are not necessarily limited to, the following: (1) The quantities of cucumbers received by a handler; (2) the quantities disposed of by him, segregated as to the respective quantities subject to regulation and not subject to regulation; (3) the date of each such disposition and the identification of the carrier transporting such cucumbers; and (4) identification of the inspection certificates and the exemption certificates, if any, pursuant to which the cucumbers were handled, together with the destination of each exempted disposition, and of all cucumbers handled pursuant to §§ 1015.53 and 1015.54.

Compilations of general reports from data submitted by handlers is authorized, subject to prohibition of disclosure of individual handlers identities or operations.

(c) Each handler shall maintain for at least two succeeding years such records of the cucumbers received and disposed of by such handler as may be necessary to verify the reports he submits to the committee pursuant to this section.

§ 1015.82 Right of the Secretary. The members of the committee (including successors and alternates), and any agent or employee appointed or employed by the committee, shall be subject to removal or suspension by the Secretary at any time. Each and every order, regulation, decision, determination or other act of the committee shall be subject to the continuing right of the Secretary to disapprove of the same at any time. Upon such disapproval, the disapproved action of the said committee shall be deemed null and void, except as to acts done in reliance thereon or in compliance therewith prior to such disapproval by the Secretary.

§ 1015.87 Separability. If any provision of this subpart is declared invalid, or the applicability thereof to any person, circumstance, or thing is held invalid, the validity of the remainder of this subpart, or the applicability thereof to any other person, circumstance, or thing, shall not be affected thereby.

§ 1015.88 Amendments. Amendments to this subpart may be proposed, from time to time, by the committee or by the Secretary.

§ 1015.89 Counterparts. This agreement may be executed in multiple counterparts and when one counterpart is signed by the Secretary all such counterparts shall constitute, when taken together, one and the same instrument as if all signatures were contained in one original.[1]

§ 1015.90 Additional parties. After the effective date hereof, any handler who has not previously executed this agreement may become a party hereto if a counterpart hereof is executed by him and delivered to the Secretary. RIFLE BARRELS WHEN IMPORTED ASSEMBLED WITH RIFLE ACTIONS

NOTICE OF PROSPECTIVE SEPARATE TARIFF CLASSIFICATION

APRIL 20, 1956.

It appears probable that a correct interpretation of paragraph 365, Tariff Act of 1930, requires that barrels although imported assembled with rifle actions be separately classified under the provision for "barrels for * * * rifles, further advanced in manufacture than rough bored only" at a rate of duty higher than that heretofore assessed under an established and uniform practice on such rifle barrels when so imported.

Pursuant to § 16.10a (d) of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 16.10a (d)), notice is hereby given that the existing uniform practice of considering barrels imported assembled with rifle actions as a single tariff entity and classifying the whole under paragraph 365, Tariff Act of 1930, as parts of rifles is under review in the Bureau of Customs.

Consideration will be given to any relevant data, views, or arguments pertaining to the correct tariff classification of barreled rifle actions which are submitted in writing to the Bureau of Customs, Washington 25, D. C. To assure consideration of such communications, they must be received in the Bureau not later than 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. No hearings will be held.

[SEAL] RALPH KELLY,
Commissioner of Customs.

BICYCLE ACCESSORIES AND LAMPS IMPORTED WITH BICYCLES

NOTICE OF PROSPECTIVE TARIFF CLASSIFICATION

APRIL 20, 1956.

It appears probable that a correct interpretation of paragraph 371, Tariff Act of 1930, as modified, requires (1) that bicycle accessories imported with complete bicycles be treated as separate tariff entities and be classified in the same manner as though imported separately, and (2) that since bicycle lamps are parts of bicycles, following the principle of C. D. 556, as distinguished from accessories, their weight should be taken into account in determining the weight of the bicycle for the purposes of paragraph 371, as modified.

Such an interpretation would result in some instances in a rate of duty higher than that heretofore assessed on bicycle accessories and bicycles under an established and uniform practice. For instance, if the weight of a bicycle lamp causes a bicycle having wheels over 25 inches in diameter, not designed for use with tires having a cross-sectional diameter of over 1⅝ inches, valued over $16.66⅔, to weigh 36 pounds or more, the rate applicable to the bicycle would be 22½ percent ad valorem rather than 11¼ percent ad valorem. The lamp which is assessed with duty at the rate applied to the bicycle with which it is an entirety would be subject to the changed rate applicable to the bicycle.

In the case of accessories, such as the luggage carriers or kick stands in common use, the rate would change from the bicycle rate applicable under the provisions of paragraph 371, as modified, which is 11¼ percent or 30 percent ad valorem in some instances, to 22½ percent ad valorem under the provisions of paragraph 397 of the tariff act, as modified. The rates of duty applicable to other accessories would vary according to the character of the accessories.

Pursuant to § 16.10a (d) of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 16.10a (d)), notice is hereby given that the Bureau of Customs has under review the existing uniform practices of (1) classifying bicycle accessories at the rates applicable under the provisions of paragraph 371, Tariff Act of 1930, as modified, to the bicycles with which they are imported, and (2), of not including the weight of bicycle lamps in the weight of the bicycles for the purposes of paragraph 371.

Consideration will be given to any relevant data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing to the Commissioner of Customs, Bureau of Customs, Washington 25, D. C., and received not later than 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. No hearings will be held.

[SEAL] RALPH KELLY,
Commissioner of Customs.

Bureau of Land Management

OREGON

ORDER PROVIDING FOR THE OPENING OF PUBLIC LAND RESTORED FROM AIR-NAVIGATION SITE WITHDRAWAL NO. 252

APRIL 17, 1956.

Pursuant to the request of the Department of Commerce, Civil Aeronautics Administration, of March 15, 1956, and in accordance with authority delegated to me by Director, Bureau of Land Management by section 2.5 of Order 541, dated April 21, 1954 (19 F. R. 2473, 2476), as amended, it is ordered as follows:

The lands hereinafter described, so far as they are withdrawn by Departmental Order of August 4, 1948, under provision of section 4, of the act of May 24, 1928 (49 U. S. C. Sec. 214) for Air-Navigation Site No. 252, are hereby opened for disposition under the public land laws as provided below.

WILLAMETTE MERIDIAN, OREGON

T. 34 S., R. 39 E.,
Sec. 13: SW¼SW¼, SW¼SE¼SW¼.
50.00 acres.

2. The topography of the land is almost level and is at an elevation of 3,500 feet. The soil is a shallow coarse sandy loam frequently intermingled with gravel and rock. The land supports a fair stand of sagebrush, cheat, bunch grass and weeds, and is in the semi-arid region of southeastern Oregon, with an annual precipitation of 10 inches. The land is suitable for the grazing of livestock. Due to the low natural precipitation, lack of irrigation water and poor shallow soil, none of the land is suitable for cultivation.

3. No application for the restored land may be allowed under the homestead, desert land, small tract or any other nonmineral public land law until so classified upon consideration of an application. Any application that is filed will be considered on its merits. The land will not be subject to occupancy or disposition until it has been classified.

4. Subject to any existing valid rights and the requirements of applicable law, the land described in paragraph 1 hereof, is hereby opened to filing of applications, selections and locations in accordance with the following:

(a) Applications and selections under the nonmineral public land laws and applications and offers under the mineral leasing laws may be presented to the Manager mentioned below beginning on the date of this order. Such applications, selections, and offers will be considered as filed on the hour and respective dates shown for the various classes enumerated in the following paragraphs.

(1) Applications by persons having prior existing settlement rights, preference rights conferred by existing laws, or equitable claims subject to allowance and confirmation will be adjudicated on the facts presented in support of each claim or right. All applications presented by persons other than those referred to in this paragraph will be subject to applications and claims mentioned in this paragraph.

(2) All valid applications under the Homestead, Desert Land and Small Tract Laws by qualified veterans of World War II or of the Korean Conflict, and by others entitled to preference rights under the act of September 27, 1944 (58 Stat. 747; 43 U. S. C. 279–284) as amended, presented prior to 10:00 a. m. on May 23, 1956, will be considered as simultaneously filed at that hour. Rights under such preference right applications filed after that hour and before 10:00 a. m. on August 22, 1956, will be governed by the time of filing.

(3) All valid applications and selections under the nonmineral public land laws, other than those coming under paragraphs (1) and (2) above, and applications and offers under the mineral leasing laws, presented prior to 10:00 a. m. on August 22, 1956, will be considered as simultaneously filed at that hour. Rights under such applications and selections filed after that hour will be governed by the time of filing.

(b) The lands will be open to location under United States mining laws beginning 10:00 a. m. on August 22, 1956.

Persons claiming veteran's preference rights under paragraph (2) above must enclose with their application, proper evidence of military or naval service, preferably a complete photostatic copy of the certificate of honorable discharge. Persons claiming preference rights based upon valid settlement, statutory preference or equitable claims must enclose properly corroborated statements in support of their application, setting forth all facts relevant to their claims. Detailed rules and regulations governing applications which may be filed pursuant to this notice can be found in Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

Inquiries concerning these applications shall be addressed to Manager, Land Office, Bureau of Land Management, 1001 Northeast Lloyd Boulevard, Post Office Box 3861, Portland 8, Oregon.

[Docket No. G–9689 etc.]

CENTRAL KENTUCKY NATURAL GAS CO. ET AL.

NOTICE OF APPLICATIONS, CONSOLIDATION OF PROCEEDINGS, AND DATE OF HEARING

In the matters of Central Kentucky Natural Gas Company, Kentucky Gas Transmission Corporation, and United Fuel Gas Company, Docket No. G–9689; The Manufacturers Light and Heat Company and Natural Gas Company of West Virginia, Docket No. G–9694; The Ohio Fuel Gas Company and Natural Gas Company of West Virginia, Docket No. G–9695.

Take notice that Central Kentucky Natural Gas Company (Central), a Kentucky corporation and a subsidiary of The Columbia Gas System, Inc., and Kentucky Gas Transmission Corporation (Transmission), a recently organized Delaware corporation, filed on November 22, 1955, a joint application for authority for the abandonment and sale by Central of certain natural gas transmission and storage facilities in Kentucky and for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, authorizing the acquisition and operation by Transmission of said facilities, described in the application as follows:

1. Approximately 111.5 miles of 10" gas transmission pipeline (Line KA–10") extending in a westerly direction from a point of interconnection with the transmission facilities of United Fuel Gas Company near Inez, Martin County, Kentucky to the City of Lexington, Fayette County, Kentucky.

2. Approximately 41.6 miles of 12" gas transmission pipeline (Line G–12") extending in a westerly direction from Central's Menifee Compressor Station situate in Menifee County, Kentucky to the City of Lexington, Fayette County, Kentucky.

3. Approximately 2.3 miles of 8" gas transmission pipeline (Line F–8") extending in a northwesterly direction from Central's Menifee Compressor Station, Menifee County, Kentucky to a point of interconnection with Central's Line E–14" at South Means, Montgomery County, Kentucky.

4. Approximately 66.5 miles of 14" gas transmission pipeline (Line E–14") extending in a northwesterly direction from a point of interconnection with the transmission facilities of Gulf Interstate Gas Company and Tennessee Gas Transmission Company at South Means, Montgomery County, Kentucky to Central's Foster Regulating Station near Foster, Bracken County, Kentucky.

5. 6. Approximately 3.9 miles of 20" gas transmission pipeline (Line EM–2) extending in a northerly direction from a point of interconnection with the transmission facilities of Gulf Interstate Gas Company at South Means, Montgomery County, Kentucky to a point of interconnection with Central's Line E–20" at North Means, Montgomery County, Kentucky.

7. Approximately 12.1 miles of 8" gas transmission pipeline (Line KH–8") extending in a northerly direction from a point of interconnection with Lines KA–10" and G–12" to the City of Paris, Kentucky.

8. Approximately 118.2 miles of 20" gas transmission pipeline (Line A–20") extending in a northwesterly direction from a point of interconnection with the transmission facilities of United Fuel Gas Company near Leach, Boyd County, Kentucky to Central's Cold Springs Measuring Station situate in Campbell County, Kentucky.

9. Approximately 24.2 miles of 24" gas transmission pipeline (Line AM–4) extending in a northwesterly direction from Central's Foster Regulating Station near Foster, Bracken County, Kentucky to a point of interconnection with the facilities of Cincinnati Gas & Electric Company at Cincinnati's California Measuring Station in the City of Cincinnati, Hamilton County, Ohio.

10. Approximately 15.1 miles of 24" gas transmission pipeline (Line AM–7) extending in a northwesterly direction from Central's Cold Springs Measuring Station situate in Campbell County, Kentucky to a point of interconnection with the facilities of Cincinnati Gas & Electric Company at Cincinnati's Anderson Ferry Measuring Station in the City of Cincinnati, Hamilton County, Ohio.

11. Lexington Compressor Station situate near the City of Lexington, Fayette County, Kentucky consisting of three 110 horsepower gas engine driven compressor units, together with all piping, auxiliary equipment, structures and properties appurtenant thereto and utilized in connection with the operation of Lexington Compressor Station.

12. Tollesboro Compressor Station situate in Lewis County, Kentucky, consisting of four 600 horsepower gas engine driven compressor units, together with all piping, auxiliary equipment, structures and properties appurtenant thereto and utilized in the operation of Tollesboro Compressor Station.

13. Means Compressor Station situate in Montgomery County, Kentucky, consisting of four 880 horsepower gas engine driven compressor units, together with all piping, auxiliary equipment, structures and properties appurtenant thereto and utilized in connection with the operation of Means Compressor Station.

14. Menifee Compressor Station situate in Menifee County, Kentucky, consisting of five 880 and two 170 horsepower gas engine driven compressor units, together with all piping, auxiliary equipment, structures and properties appurtenant thereto and utilized in connection with the operation of Menifee Compressor Station.

15. Manifee Storage Pool consisting of a storage reservoir in the corniferous lime formation underlying approximately 41,698 acres of land located in the counties of Menifee, Powell and Montgomery, Kentucky, together with all land rights, storage wells, field facilities, auxiliary equipment, structures and properties appurtenant thereto and utilized in the operation of Menifee Storage Pool.

Transmission also makes application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing it to acquire, relocate and operate two existing measuring stations at Cynthiana and Winchester, Kentucky, now owned by Central and to construct and operate three new measuring and regulating stations, more particularly described as follows:

(i) Winchester Station, located on 10" Line KA in Clark County, Kentucky, measuring and regulating volumes of gas sold to Central for resale in the City of Winchester, Kentucky.

(ii) Mt. Sterling Station, located on 10" Line KA in Montgomery County, Kentucky, measuring and regulating volumes of gas sold to Central for resale in the City of Mt. Sterling, Kentucky.

(iii) Foster Station, located on 20" Line A in Bracken County, Kentucky, measuring and regulating volumes of gas sold to Central for resale in the City of Foster, Kentucky.

United Fuel Gas Company (United), a West Virginia corporation and also a subsidiary of The Columbia Gas System, Inc. joins in the application to request the issuance to it of a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing it to sell and deliver natural gas at wholesale to Transmission in lieu of its existing service to Central.

Following final consummation of the proposed sale and acquisition, Transmission will become a wholly owned subsidiary of The Columbia Gas System, Inc. The principal place of business of all the applicants is at 1033 Quarrier Street, Charleston, West Virginia.

The cost of construction of Transmission's three proposed regulating stations, and the relocation costs of the two stations to be acquired is estimated at $22,950. Transmission will finance the construction and relocation out of funds to be obtained from the acquisition of the assets and properties of Central as set forth under the acquisition agreement.

These three applications constitute the first step in the proposed plan for realignment of Columbia Gas System properties by which it is proposed to create one interstate transmission company selling gas at wholesale and operating all properties subject to regulation by the Federal Power Commission; and to create one retail distribution company to serve in each state and subject to the jurisdiction of only one state regulatory commission.

By the application in Docket No. G-9689 it is proposed that United sell gas to Transmission, in lieu of Central, under United's FPC filed tariff. Transmission will in turn sell such gas to Central and several non-affiliates for resale under Central's presently filed FPC tariff. Central will distribute gas under rates subject to the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Applicants allege that the proposed realignment will not change in any way the service presently rendered to Central's existing customers.

It is proposed that four pipelines now classified by Central as "transmission" lines be retained by Central but be reclassified as "distribution" lines. They include the following:

(1) 5 miles of 4-inch line extending to Camargo, Kentucky.

(2) 13.8 miles of 6-inch line extending to Cynthiana, Kentucky.

(3) 9.1 miles of 6-inch line extending to Georgetown, Kentucky.

(4) 44.3 miles of 2- to 10-inch lines extending to Frankfort, Lexington, Midway and Versailles, Kentucky.

This proposed realignment means that the retail customers served exclusively by these reclassified pipe lines will bear 100 percent of the costs on such lines, rather than only about 10 to 12 percent of such costs as at present.

The Manufacturers Light and Heat Company (Manufacturers), a Pennsylvania corporation, and Natural Gas Company of West Virginia (Natural Gas Company), a West Virginia corporation, subsidiaries of The Columbia Gas System, Inc., each having its principal place of business at 800 Union Trust Building, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Applicants in Docket No. G-9694 filed on November 24, 1955, a joint application and on February 9, 1956 a Supplement thereto, whereby Manufacturers requests the Commission to issue a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing it to acquire and operate the following described facilities of Natural Gas Company:

Group 1. The McFarland Gas Production Field located in Madison and St. Clair Township, Columbiana County, Ohio, comprising 25 operating wells and the associated well lines, field gathering lines, measuring and regulating equipment and one principal transmission line, No. 6012, which is connected at the Mick Meter to Manufacturers' 6" transmission line from this field south to the Wellsville, Ohio area. The portion of Line No. 6012 included in the proposed acquisition is that from Station 717+03 to the Mick Meter, consisting of 7,103 feet of 6" and 1,208 feet of 8" line. With minor exceptions, the other lines in the Group 1 properties are production lines.

Group 2. Approximately 3.2 miles of 8" transmission pipe, Line No. 6159, from the Riverview Meter on the Ohio River in Pultney Township, Belmont County, Ohio, to the Rock Hill Measuring Station in the same Township, County and State, and approximately 2.2 miles of 8" pipe, Line No. 6157, from the said Rock Hill Measuring Station back to a point on the Ohio River in Pease Township, Belmont County, Ohio, together with the measuring station, meters and services associated therewith. At present gas is sold by Manufacturers to Natural Gas Company at the Riverview Meter, and is transported thence westward through Line No. 6159 to the Rock Hill Measuring Station, at which point most of the gas is sent southwestwardly in Natural Gas Company's system. Part of the gas, however, moves northeastwardly through Line No. 6157 to a point on the Ohio River in Pease Township, Belmont County, where the line ends. Natural Gas Company supplies retail customers directly from these transmission lines, including 56 customers of Manufacturers at Overlook Court, Pultney Township.

Natural Gas Company seeks authority to abandon the following described facilities and the service rendered thereby as soon as the connections with retail customers served directly therefrom can be connected to Manufacturers' 16-inch Brinker-Beaver Falls line presently under construction.

Group 3. Approximately 2.45 miles of 8" transmission line, Line No. 6023, from Brinker Compressor Station, Salem Township, Columbiana County, Ohio, to the commencement of Manufacturers' present 8" line on the Haag Farm, Fairfield Township, in the same County and State.

Natural Gas Company also seeks authority to abandon by removal or sale for salvage:

Group 4. That part of Line No. 6012 included in this group extending from the Cooper Farm in Wayne Township, Columbiana County, Ohio, to a point in the McFarland Field, known as Station 717+03 and consisting of 7.9 miles of 8" pipeline. Line No. 6013 extends from its junction with Line No. 6012 in Madison Township, Columbiana County, northeastwardly to a connection with Manufacturers at the Ohio-Pennsylvania border and consists of 13.22 miles of 8" pipeline. The field gathering lines known as Units A and B connect with Line No. 6012 from the south.

As consideration for the properties it will acquire from Natural Gas Company, Manufacturers will pay to Natural Gas Company the depreciated original cost of the properties it proposes to acquire as of the date of transfer. This amount ($122,812 as of December 31, 1954) can be paid by Manufacturers out of its cash on hand.

The depreciated original cost of the properties of Natural Gas Company which will be removed from service (sold for salvage value) is $12,000, which represents anticipated salvage, according to the application.

In Docket No. G-9695 The Ohio Fuel Gas Company, an Ohio Corporation (Ohio Fuel), and also a subsidiary of The Columbia Gas System, Inc., having its principal place of business at 99 North Front Street, Columbus, Ohio, and Natural Gas Company of West Virginia, filed on November 23, 1955, a joint application whereby Ohio Fuel requests a certificate of public convenience and necessity to acquire and operate all the property and facilities of Natural Gas Company, after the completion of the proposed abandonment of facilities by Natural Gas Company and after the proposed sale of facilities to Manufacturers; and Natural Gas Company seeks to abandon all its facilities and the service rendered thereby upon merger with and into Ohio Fuel.

Natural Gas Company's production, transmission, distribution, and storage system, including approximately 327.5 miles of pipelines of various sizes more particularly described in the application, which is to be transferred by merger into Ohio Fuel consists of interconnected facilities extending from Ellsworth and Canfield Townships, Mahoning County, Ohio, on the north; to Adams, Center, and Salem Townships, Monroe County, Ohio, on the south; and from Sugar Creek Township in Stark County, Ohio, in the west; to Springfield Township, Columbiana County, Ohio, and Pultney Township, Belmont County, Ohio, in the east.

Service presently being rendered by Natural Gas Company will be continued by Ohio Fuel and Manufacturers.

The application recites that the depreciated original cost of the properties to be acquired by Ohio Fuel from Natural Gas Company is $7,614,889 as of December 31, 1954, and the depreciated original cost of the properties to be acquired by Manufacturers from Natural Gas Company is $122,812 as of December 31, 1954.

The application further states that Columbia will make a cash capital contribution to Natural Gas Company in the Amount of its deficit in surplus, plus $30. Ohio Fuel will then issue to Columbia 125,494 shares of its $45 par value stock, which will aggregate $30 more in par value than the 56,472 outstanding $100 par value shares of Natural Gas Co. held by Columbia and Columbia will surrender its Natural Gas Company capital stock to Ohio Fuel for cancellation. Ohio Fuel will assume the indebtedness and other obligations as well as acquire the assets of Natural Gas Company.

The application in each of the above numbered dockets is on file with the Commission and open for public inspection.

These related matters should be heard on a consolidated record and disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on May 21, 1956 at 10:00 a. m., e. d. s. t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington D. C., concerning the matters involved and the issues presented by such applications.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before May 8, 1956.

Penelec proposes to apply the proceeds derived from the sale of these new securities as follows: (a) $10,000,000 will be applied to the prepayment of Penelec's 3¼ percent notes due December 31, 1957, issued under its credit agreement dated February 27, 1953; (b) $2,000,000 will be applied to the prepayment of the 3¼ percent bank loans of Northern Pennsylvania Power Company ("North Penn") due June 29, 1956, which are expected to be assumed by Penelec on or about April 30, 1956, as a result of the proposed merger of North Penn into Penelec; and (c) the balance will be applied to the cost of construction of property additions, to the repayment of bank loans effected by Penelec since December 31, 1955, in connection with the construction of property additions, or to the reimbursement of Penelec's treasury for expenditures therefrom in connection with the construction of property additions.

Prior to the issuance of the 1986 Series Bonds and the 90,000 shares of Preferred Stock, Penelec proposes to declare and pay a special cash dividend on its common stock in the amount of $4,000,000 out of earned surplus accumulated prior to January 1, 1956.

The filing states that Penelec's financing program for 1956 is designed to make approximately $25,500,000 available to Penelec during the year 1956 for construction purposes and in addition to reimburse Penelec's treasury to the extent of $4,000,000 for expenditures made therefrom for construction purposes prior to January 1, 1956 (which reimbursement will be used for general corporate purposes, including the payment of the special dividend on common stock referred to above). It is further stated that of this amount approximately $9,500,000 will be provided from the sale of the 1986 Series Bonds and the 90,000 shares of Preferred Stock, $6,000,000 is to be provided from the sale of additional common stock (the application for which is now pending before the Commission (File No. 70-3464)), $1,500,000 will be provided from bank loans, and the balance, it is anticipated, will be provided from operations.

The filing indicates that no State or Federal commission other than the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission has jurisdiction with respect to the proposed issuance and sale of the new securities.

Notice is further given that any interested person may not later than May 7, 1956, at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on the amended application stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law, if any, raised by said amended application which he desires to controvert or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date said amended application, as filed or as it may be further amended, may be granted as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may grant exemption from its rules as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 or take such other action as it may deem appropriate.

WESTERN UTILITIES CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR ORDER DECLARING THAT COMPANY IS NOT AN INVESTMENT COMPANY

APRIL 20, 1956.

Notice is hereby given that Western Utilities Corporation ("Western Utilities") has filed an application under section 3 (b) (2) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("act") for an order declaring it to be primarily engaged, through controlled companies, in a business or businesses other than that of investing, reinvesting, owning, holding or trading in securities.

The application contains the following facts and representations:

(1) Applicant, a Delaware corporation, has as its sole investment the common stocks of the following operating public utilities:

| | Shares | Percent of voting power |
|---|---|---|
| California Water & Telephone Co.. | 180,919 | 10.17 |
| West Coast Telephone Co..... | 160,000 | 19.28 |
| The Southwestern States Telephone Co..... | 30,173 | 5.65 |

(2) Each of the operating public utility companies are engaged in the telephone business and in addition, California Water & Telephone Company distributes and sells water.

(3) In June 1955, West Coast Utilities Corporation and Loveland and Company merged into Western Utilities. Prior to the merger Loveland owned 86 percent of the common stock of Western Utilities, 71 percent and 65 percent, respectively, of the preferred and common stocks of West Coast Utilities Corporation and 30,173 shares of common stock of the Southwestern States Telephone Company; Western Utilities owned 180,916 shares of common stock of California Water & Telephone Company, and West Coast Utilities owned 160,000 shares of West Coast Telephone Company.

(4) All of the securities of the three operating public utility companies now held by the applicant have been held by the applicant and/or the companies merged into it for more than 10 years, and during that time these securities have been their sole investment.

(5) For more than the past 20 years the active direction and management of the system companies has come from a single key group comprised of Chester H. Loveland, John L. Lilienthal and Charles de Y. Elks, who have been President, Vice President and Secretary, respectively, of each of the system companies during such period.

(6) In addition, other members of the board of directors and officers of the applicant are also directors and officers of the three operating public utility companies.

(7) During the same period the salaries and expenses of a single group of key employees have been paid from a common fund, the cost of which was shared by all of the companies.

(8) Applicant has not for the past 10 years, and does not now intend to invest in any securities other than those of corporations which are managed by and under the direction of the same management group as that of the applicant.

Section 3 (a) (3) of the act, in pertinent part, defines an investment company as any issuer which is engaged or proposes to engage in the business of investing, reinvesting, owning, holding or trading in securities, and owns or proposes to acquire investment securities having a value exceeding 40 percent of the value of such issuer's total assets (exclusive of Government securities and cash items) on an unconsolidated basis. Section 3 (b) (2) of the act, however, provides an exception from such definition for any issuer which the Commission upon application finds and by order declares to be primarily engaged in a business or businesses other than that of investing, reinvesting, owning, holding, or trading in securities either directly or (A) through majority-owned subsidiaries or (B) through controlled companies conducting similar types of businesses.

As defined in section 2 (a) (9) of the act, "Control" means the power to exercise a controlling influence over the management or policies of a company, unless such power is solely the result of an official position with such company. Section 2 (a) (9) further provides, in pertinent part, that any person who does not own beneficially more than 25 percent of the voting securities of a company shall be presumed not to control such company but such presumption may be rebutted by evidence. However, such presumption continues until a determination to the contrary is made by the Commission by order.

Within the past year each of the public utility operating companies has filed a registration statement with the Commission under the Securities Act of 1933 in connection with a public offering of its securities. In one instance the company represented that the directors of Western Utilities are also directors of such company, and in the other two cases it is stated that the directors of Western Utilities and those of the companies are identical.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than May 4, 1956, at 5:30 p. m., submit to the Commission in writing any facts bearing upon the desirability of a hearing on the matter and may request that a hearing be held, such request stating the nature of his interest, the reason for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication or request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, the application may be granted as provided in Rule N-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act.

It appearing to the Commission that it would be appropriate to extend the period of exemption from the Act accorded to Western Utilities Corporation as a result of the filing of the instant application pursuant to section 3 (b) (2) of the act until the disposition of such application.

It is ordered, That the period of exemption provided Western Utilities Corporation under section 3 (b) (2) of the act be extended until the disposition by the Commission of the application herein of Western Utilities Corporation.

By the Commission.

UNION ELECTRIC CO. OF MISSOURI

NOTICE OF FILING OF APPLICATION REGARDING ISSUANCE OF SHORT TERM NOTES

APRIL 20, 1956.

Notice is hereby given that Union Electric Company of Missouri ("Union"), a registered holding company, has filed with the Commission an application pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and has designated the first and second sentences of section 6 (b) of said act as applicable to the proposed transactions, which are summarized as follows:

As of March 31, 1956 Union had outstanding $10,300,000 of promissory notes, of a maturity of nine months or less from date of issue, all maturing on September 14, 1956, and bearing interest at the rate of 3½ percent per annum, the prime rate at the date of issue thereof. Said notes were issued pursuant to the exemptive provisions contained in the first and second sentences of section 6 (b) of the act. It is stated that the maximum amount which Union may presently issue under such exemptive provisions is $16,944,942, or 5 per centum of the aggregate of the principal amount of Union's long term debt, the par value of its common stock and the fair market value at the dates of issue of its preferred stock without par value.

It is further stated that Union contemplates permanent financing prior to September 14, 1956, through the issue and sale of from $35,000,000 to $40,000,000 principal amount of additional First Mortgage Bonds to obtain funds for the repayment of its promissory notes and for continuation of its construction program, but that economic conditions may make it advisable to consummate such financing in July or August or the early part of September, 1956, rather than during the months of May and June.

The application further states that the estimated cash requirement of Union from external sources during the months April to September, 1956, both inclusive, is $18,500,000 and that Union has made informal arrangements with the present holders of its short term notes and with another financial institution for additional borrowings, without any commitment fees, as required by Union from time to time, to be evidenced by promissory notes to be dated as of the date of each particular borrowing, to mature on September 14, 1956, to bear interest at the prime rate effective at the particular time of borrowing, and to be prepayable prior to maturity without premium.

Accordingly, Union requests the Commission to enlarge the percentage which Union may borrow, pursuant to the first and second sentences of section 6 (b) of the act from 5 percent to 8 percent, such increase to remain in effect until September 14, 1956, or such earlier date upon which Union shall have consummated its permanent financing referred to above.

It is stated that no State or other Federal commission has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than May 7, 1956, at 5:30 p. m., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on this matter stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law, if any, raised by such filing which he proposes to controvert, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date the application as filed or as it may hereafter be amended, may be granted as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may grant exemption from its rules as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 or take such other action as it may deem appropriate.

§ 922.365 Valencia Orange Regulation 65—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to Order No. 22 (7 CFR Part 922), regulating the handling of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective March 31, 1954, under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. ## TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Subchapter A—General

PART 1—REGULATIONS FOR THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE FEDERAL FOOD, DRUG, AND COSMETIC ACT

LABELING REQUIREMENTS FOR FOODS, DRUGS, AND COSMETICS

Under the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 701 (a), 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 371 (a)) and pursuant to authority delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (20 F. R. 1996), the following amendments are hereby promulgated:

1. In § 1.9 Food; labeling; prominence of required statements paragraph (c) (1) is amended by changing the period at the end thereof to a colon and adding the following clause: "Provided, however, That in the case of articles distributed solely in a Territory where the predominant language is one other than English, the predominant language may be substituted for English."

2. In § 1.103 Drugs and devices; forms of making required statements paragraph (c) (1) is amended by changing the period at the end thereof to a colon and adding the following clause: "Provided, however, That in the case of articles distributed solely in a Territory where the predominant language is one other than English, the predominant language may be substituted for English."

3. In § 1.203 Cosmetic; labeling requirements, form of stating paragraph (b) (1) is amended by changing the period at the end thereof to a colon and adding the following clause: "Provided, however, That in the case of articles distributed solely in a Territory where the predominant language is one other than English, the predominant language may be substituted for English."

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it relaxes existing requirements and since it would be against public interest to delay providing for the amendments set forth above.

Effective date. This order shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Subchapter B—Food and Food Products

TOLERANCE FOR RESIDUES OF BASIC COPPER CARBONATE

A petition was filed with the Food and Drug Administration requesting an exemption from the requirement of a tolerance for residues of basic copper carbonate that result from post-harvest treatment of pears.

The evidence in the petition shows that the proposed use of basic copper carbonate does not leave residues in excess of 3 parts per million of combined copper. In the interests of the public health it is concluded that to provide for post-harvest use of basic copper carbonate on pears there should be established a tolerance of 3 parts per million of combined copper rather than an exemption.

The Secretary of Agriculture has certified that this pesticide chemical is useful for the purpose for which a tolerance is being established.

After consideration of the data submitted in the petition and other relevant material which show that the tolerance established in this order will protect the public health, and by virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408 (d) (2), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U. S. C. 346a (d) (2)) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (21 CFR 120.7 (g)), the regulations for tolerances for pesticide chemicals in or on raw agricultural commodities (21 CFR Part 120) are amended by adding the following new section:

§ 120.136 Tolerance for residues of basic copper carbonate. The tolerance for residues of basic copper carbonate in or on pears from post-harvest use of the chemical is 3 parts per million of combined copper.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may, at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the effective date thereof, file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C., written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by this order, specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and reasonable grounds for the objections, and request a public hearing upon the objections. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in quintuplicate.

Effective date. This order shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 371. Interprets or applies sec. 408, 68 Stat. 511; 21 U. S. C. 346a)

Dated: April 20, 1956.

[SEAL] GEO. P. LARRICK,
Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

(d) The halibut license of any vessel shall be validated before departure from port for each halibut fishing operation for which statistical return is required. This validation of a license shall be by customs officers or by fishery officers of the Governments of Canada or the United States when available at places where there are no customs officers and shall not be made unless the area in which the vessel will fish is entered on the license form and unless the provisions of § 301.9 have been complied with for all landings and all fishing operations since issue of the license, provided that if the master or operator of any vessel shall fail to comply with the provisions of § 301.9, the halibut license of such vessel may be validated by customs officers or by fishery officers upon evidence either that there has been a judicial determination of the offense or that the laws prescribing penalties therefor have been complied with, or that the said master or operator is no longer responsible for, nor sharing in, the operations of said vessel.

(e) The halibut license of any vessel fishing for halibut in Area 1A as defined in § 301.1 must be validated at a port or place within Area 1A prior to each such fishing operation during the second halibut fishing season in Areas 1B and 2 as defined in paragraphs (b) and (c) of § 301.2 and when Areas 1B and 2 are closed to halibut fishing.

(f) The halibut license of any vessel fishing for halibut in Area 3B during the third halibut fishing season as defined in paragraph (e) of § 301.2 must be validated at a port or place within Area 3B prior to such fishing and again before said vessel departs from Area 3B subsequent to such fishing if said vessel has any halibut on board.

(g) A halibut license shall not be validated for departure for halibut fishing in Areas 1A or 1B or 2 more than 48 hours prior to the commencement of any halibut fishing season in said areas; nor for departure for halibut fishing in Areas 3A or 3B from any port or place inside said areas more than 48 hours prior to the commencement of any halibut fishing season in said areas; nor for departure for halibut fishing in Area 3A or 3B from any port or place outside said areas more than 5 days prior to the commencement of any halibut fishing season in said areas.

(h) A halibut license shall not be valid for halibut fishing in more than one of Areas 1A, 1B, 2 or 3A, as defined in § 301.1, during any one trip nor shall it be revalidated for halibut fishing in another of said areas while the vessel has any halibut on board.

(i) A halibut license shall not be valid for halibut fishing in any area closed to halibut fishing nor for the possession of halibut in any area closed to halibut fishing except while in actual transit to or within a port of sale and as provided in paragraph (l) of this section.

(j) Any vessel which is not required to be licensed for halibut fishing under paragraph (a) of this section shall not possess any halibut of any origin in any area closed to halibut fishing except while in actual transit to or within a port of sale.

(k) A halibut license shall not be valid for halibut fishing in any area while a permit endorsed thereon is in effect, nor shall it be validated while halibut taken under such permit is on board.

(l) A halibut license when validated for halibut fishing in Area 3A shall not be valid for the possession of any halibut in Area 2 if said vessel is in possession of baited gear more than 25 miles from Cape Spencer Light, Alaska; and a halibut license when validated for halibut fishing in Area 3B shall not be valid for the possession of any halibut in Area 3A, when Area 3A is closed to halibut fishing, if said vessel is in possession of baited gear more than 20 miles by navigable water route from the boundary between Areas 3A and 3B.

(m) No person on any vessel which is required to have a halibut license under paragraph (a) of this section shall fish for halibut or have halibut in his possession, unless said vessel has a valid license issued and in force in conformity with the provisions of this section.

§ 301.7 Retention of halibut taken under permit. (a) There may be retained for sale on any vessel which shall have a permit as provided in § 301.8 such halibut as is caught incidentally to fishing by that vessel in any area after it has been closed to halibut fishing under § 301.2 or § 301.4 with set lines (of the type commonly used in the Pacific Coast halibut fishery) for other species, not to exceed at any time one pound of halibut for each seven pounds of salable fish, actually utilized, of other species not including salmon or tuna, and such halibut may be sold as the catch of said vessel, the weight of all fish to be computed as with heads off and entrails removed, provided, that it shall not be a violation of this section for any such vessel to have in possession halibut in addition to the amount herein allowed to be sold if such additional halibut shall not exceed thirty percent of such amount and shall be forfeited and surrendered at the time of landing as provided in paragraph (e) of this section.

(b) There may be retained for sale on any vessel which shall have a permit as provided in § 301.8, such halibut as is caught incidentally to fishing for species of crab by that vessel in that part of Area 3B known as Bering Sea after 6:00 a. m. of the 12th day of May of the year 1956 with bottom trawl nets (of the type commonly used in the Bering Sea king crab fishery) whose cod ends or fish bags shall consist of webbing whose dry-stretched mesh shall measure not less than 12 inches between knots or hog rings, not to exceed at any time one pound of halibut for each five pounds drained weight of salable picked crab meat or the equivalent drained weight of crab meat in the shell or in vacuum-packed heat processed containers. The equivalent weight of meat in the shell shall be computed on the basis of 15 pounds of meat in the shell being equal to 6 pounds of drained picked crab meat and the equivalent weight of processed meat shall be computed on the basis of 6½ ounces of drained weight of processed crab being equal to 8 ounces of picked crab meat.

(c) Halibut retained under such permit shall not be filleted, fletched, steaked or butchered beyond the removal of the head and entrails while on the catching vessel.

(d) Halibut retained under such permit shall not be landed or otherwise removed or be received by any person, firm or corporation from the catching vessel until all halibut on board shall have been reported to a customs, fishery or other authorized enforcement officer of the Governments of Canada or the United States, by the captain or operator of said vessel and also by the person, firm or corporation receiving the halibut, and no halibut or other fish or crabs shall be landed or removed or be received from the catching vessel, except with the permission of said officer and under such supervision as the said officer may deem advisable.

(e) Halibut retained under such permit shall not be purchased or held in possession by any person other than the master, operator or crew of the catching vessel in excess of the proportion allowed in paragraph (a) of this section until such excess, whatever its origin, shall have been forfeited and surrendered to the customs, fishery or other authorized officers of the Governments of Canada or the United States. In forfeiting such excess, the vessel shall be permitted to surrender any part of its catch of halibut, provided that the amount retained shall not exceed the proportion herein allowed.

(f) Permits for the retention and landing of halibut caught in Areas 1A, 1B, 2, 3A or 3B, exclusive of that part known as Bering Sea, in the year 1956 shall become invalid at 6:00 a. m. of the 16th day of November of said year or at such earlier date as the Commission shall determine.

(g) Permits shall become invalid for the retention of halibut caught in that part of Area 3B known as Bering Sea after 6:00 a. m. of the 15th day of November in the year 1956 and shall become invalid for the landing of halibut caught under permit in that part of Area 3B known as Bering Sea after 6:00 a. m. of the 15th day of December of the year 1956 or at such earlier dates as the Commission shall determine.

§ 301.8 Conditions limiting validity of permits. (a) Any vessel which shall be used in fishing for other species than halibut in any area after it has been closed to halibut fishing under § 301.2 or § 301.4 must have a halibut license and a permit if it shall retain, land or sell any halibut caught incidentally to such fishing or possess any halibut of any origin during such fishing, as provided in § 301.7.

(b) The permit shall be shown by endorsement of the issuing officer on the face of the halibut license form held by said vessel and shall show the area or areas for which the permit is issued.

(c) The permit shall terminate at the time of the first landing thereafter of fish or crabs of any species and a new permit shall be secured before any subsequent fishing operation for which a permit is required.

(d) A permit shall not be issued to any vessel which shall have halibut on board taken while said vessel was licensed to fish in an open area unless such halibut shall be considered as taken under the issued permit and shall thereby be subject to forfeiture when landed if in excess of the proportion permitted in paragraph (a) or (b) of § 301.7.

(e) A permit shall not be issued to, or be valid if held by, any vessel which shall fish with other than set lines of the type commonly used in the Pacific Coast halibut fishery except in that part of Area 3B known as Bering Sea as provided in paragraph (b) of § 301.7.

(f) The permit of any vessel shall not be valid unless the permit is granted before departure from port for each fishing operation for which statistical returns are required. This granting of a permit shall be by customs officers or by fishery officers of the Governments of Canada or the United States when available at places where there are no customs officers and shall not be made unless the area or areas in which the vessel will fish is entered on the halibut license form and unless the provisions of § 301.9 have been complied with for all landings and all fishing operations since issue of the license or permit, provided that if the master or operator of any vessel shall fail to comply with the provisions of § 301.9, the permit of such vessel may be granted by customs or fishery officers upon evidence either that there has been a judicial determination of the offense or that the laws prescribing penalties therefor have been complied with, or that the said master or operator is no longer responsible for, nor sharing in, the operations of said vessel.

(g) A permit shall not be valid for the landing of halibut caught incidentally to fishing for crabs in that part of Area 3B known as Bering Sea unless the vessel shall show documentary evidence of date of departure from some port or place within said area, or from Akutan, Alaska, subsequent to such fishing. Such documentary evidence may consist of a certified written statement of a properly identified and responsible resident within that part of Area 3B known as Bering Sea or at Akutan.

(h) The permit of any vessel shall not be valid if said vessel shall have in its possession at any time halibut in excess of the amount allowed under paragraph (a) or (b) of § 301.7.

(i) No person shall retain, land or sell any halibut caught incidentally to fishing for other species in any area closed to halibut fishing under § 301.2 or § 301.4, or shall have halibut of any origin in his possession during such fishing, unless such person is a member of the crew of and is upon a vessel with a halibut license and with a valid permit issued and in force in conformity with the provisions of § 301.7 and this section.

§ 301.9 Statistical return by vessels. (a) Statistical return as to the amount of halibut taken during fishing operations must be made by the master or operator of any vessel licensed under the regulations in this part and as to the amount of halibut and other species by the master or operator of any vessel operating under permit as provided for in §§ 301.7 and 301.8, within 96 hours of landing, sale or transfer of halibut or of first entry thereafter into a port where there is an officer authorized to receive such return.

(b) The statistical return must state the port of landing and the amount of each species taken within the area or areas defined in the regulations in this part, for which the vessel's license is validated for halibut fishing or within the area or areas for which the vessel's license is endorsed as a permit.

(c) The statistical return must include all halibut landed or transferred to other vessels and all halibut held in possession on board and must be full, true and correct in all respects herein required.

(d) The master or operator or any person engaged on shares in the operation of any vessel licensed or holding a permit under the regulations in this part may be required by the Commission or by any officer of the Governments of Canada or the United States authorized to receive such return to certify to its correctness to the best of his information and belief and to support the certificate by a sworn statement. Validation of a halibut license or issuance of a permit after such sworn return is made shall be provisional and shall not render the license or permit valid in case the return shall later be shown to be false or fraudulently made.

(e) The master or operator of any vessel holding a license or permit under the regulations in this part shall keep an accurate log of all fishing operations including therein date, locality, amount of gear used, and amount of halibut taken daily in each such locality. This log record shall be open to inspection by representatives of the Commission authorized for this purpose.

(f) The master, operator or any other person engaged on shares in the operation of any vessel licensed under the regulations in this part may be required by the Commission or by any officer of the Governments of Canada or the United States to certify to the correctness of such log record to the best of his information and belief and to support the certificate by a sworn statement.

§ 301.10 Statistical return by dealers. (a) All persons, firms or corporations that shall buy halibut or receive halibut for any purpose from fishing or transporting vessels or other carrier shall keep and on request furnish to customs officers or to any enforcing officer of the Governments of Canada or the United States or to representatives of the Commission, records of each purchase or receipt of halibut, showing date, locality, name of vessel, person, firm or corporation purchased or received from and the amount in pounds according to trade categories of the halibut and other species landed with the halibut.

(b) All persons, firms or corporations receiving fish from a vessel fishing under permit as provided in § 301.7 shall within 48 hours make to an authorized enforcement officer of the Governments of Canada or the United States a signed statistical return showing the date, locality, name of vessel received from and the amount of halibut and of other species landed with the halibut and certifying that permission to receive such fish was secured in accordance with paragraph (d) of § 301.7. Such persons, firms or corporations may be required by any officer of the Governments of Canada or the United States to support the accuracy of the above signed statistical return with a sworn statement.

(c) All records of all persons, firms or corporations concerning the landing, purchase, receipt and sale of halibut and other species landed therewith shall be open at all times to inspection by any enforcement officer of the Governments of Canada or the United States or of any authorized representative of the Commission. Such persons, firms or corporations may be required to certify to the correctness of such records and to support the certificate by a sworn statement.

(d) The possession by any person, firm or corporation of halibut which such person, firm or corporation knows to have been taken by a vessel without a valid halibut license or a vessel without a permit when such license or permit is required, is prohibited.

(e) No person, firm or corporation shall unload any halibut from any vessel that has fished for halibut in Area 3B during the third halibut fishing season as defined in paragraph (e) of § 301.2 unless the license of said vessel has been validated at a port or place in Area 3B as required in paragraph (f) of § 301.6 or unless permission to unload such halibut has been secured from an enforcement officer of the Governments of Canada or the United States.

§ 301.11 Closed nursery grounds. (a) The following areas have been found to be populated by small, immature halibut and are designated as nursery grounds and closed to halibut fishing, and no person shall fish for halibut in either of such areas, or shall have halibut in his possession while fishing for other species therein, or shall have halibut of any origin in his possession therein except in the course of a continuous transit across such area, or during continuous transit through such area for landing at the Port of Masset, Q. C. I.

(b) First, that area in the waters off the coast of Alaska within the following boundary as stated in terms of the magnetic compass unless otherwise indicated: From the north extremity of Cape Ulitka, Noyes Island, approximately latitude 55°33′48″ N., longitude 133°43′35″ W., to the south extremity of Wood Island, approximately latitude 55°39′44″ N., longitude 133°42′29″ W.; thence to the east extremity of Timbered Islet, approximately latitude 55°41′47″ N., longitude 133°47′42″ W.; thence to the true west extremity of Timbered Islet, approximately latitude 55°41′46″ N., longitude 133°48′01″ W.; thence southwest three-quarters south sixteen and five-eighths miles to a point approximately latitude 55°34′46″ N., longitude 134°14′40″ W.; thence southeast by south twelve and one-half miles to a point approximately latitude 55°22′23″ N., longitude 134°12′48″ W.; thence northeast thirteen and seven-eighths miles to the southern extremity of Cape Addington, Noyes Island, latitude 55°26′11″ N., longitude 133°49′12″ W.; and to the point of origin on Cape Ulitka. C., in June 1929, and Chart 8152, as published by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey at Washington, D. C., in March 1933, and reissued March 1939, except for the point of Cape Addington which shall be determined from Chart 8158, as published by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey in December 1923, provided that the duly authorized officers of the United States of America may at any time place a plainly visible mark or marks at any point or points as nearly as practicable on the boundary line defined herein, and such mark or marks shall thereafter be considered as correctly defining said boundary.

(c) Second, that area lying in the waters off the northern coast of Graham Island, British Columbia, within the following boundary, and including the waters of Sturgess Bay, Masset Sound, Masset Inlet, and bays and inlets thereof: from the northwest extremity of Wiah Point, latitude 54°06'50" N., longitude 132°19'18" W., true north five and one-half miles to a point approximately latitude 54°12'20" N., longitude 132°19'18" W.; thence true east approximately sixteen and three-tenths miles to a point which shall lie northwest (according to magnetic compass at any time) of the highest point of Tow Hill, Graham Island, latitude 54°04'24" N., longitude 131°48'00" W.; thence southeast to the said highest point of Tow Hill. The points on the shoreline of the above mentioned island shall be determined from Chart 3754, published at the Admiralty, London, April 11, 1911, provided that the duly authorized officers of Canada may at any time place a plainly visible mark or marks at any point or points as nearly as practicable on the boundary line defined herein, and such marks shall thereafter be considered as correctly defining said boundary.

§ 301.12 Dory gear prohibited. The use of any hand gurdy or other appliance in hauling halibut gear by hand power in any dory or small boat operated from a vessel licensed under the provisions of the regulations in this part is prohibited in all convention waters.

§ 301.13 Nets prohibited. (a) It is prohibited to retain halibut taken in Areas 1A, 1B, 2, 3A and in Area 3B, exclusive of that part known as Bering Sea, with a net of any kind or to have in possession any halibut in said areas while using any net or nets other than bait nets for the capture of other species of fish, nor shall any license or permit validated for said areas under the regulations in this part be valid during the use or possession on board of any net or nets other than bait nets, provided that the character and the use of said bait nets conform to the laws and regulations of the country where they may be utilized and that said bait nets are utilized for no other purpose than the capture of bait for said vessel.

(b) It is prohibited to retain halibut taken in that part of Area 3B known as Bering Sea with any net which does not have a cod end or fish bag of webbing whose dry-stretched mesh measures 12 inches or more between knots or hog rings, nor shall any license or permit held by any vessel fishing for crabs in that part of Area 3B known as Bering Sea be valid for the possession of halibut during the use or possession on board of any net which does not have a cod end or fish bag of webbing whose dry-stretched mesh measures 12 inches or more between knots or hog rings.

§ 301.14 Retention of tagged halibut. Nothing contained in these regulations shall prohibit any vessel at any time from retaining and landing any halibut which bears a Commission tag at the time of capture, provided that such halibut with the tag still attached is reported at the time of landing to representatives of the Commission or to enforcement officers of the Governments of Canada or the United States and is made available to them for examination.

§ 301.15 Responsibility of master. Wherever in the regulations in this part any duty is laid upon any vessel, it shall be the personal responsibility of the master or operator of said vessel to see that said duty is performed and he shall personally be responsible for the performance of said duty. This provision shall not be construed to relieve any member of the crew of any responsibility with which he would otherwise be chargeable.

§ 301.16 Supervision of unloading and weighing. The unloading and weighing of the halibut of any vessel licensed under the regulations in this part and the unloading and weighing of halibut and other species of any vessel holding a permit under the regulations in this part shall be under such supervision as the customs or other authorized officer may deem advisable in order to assure the fulfillment of the provisions of the regulations in this part.

§ 301.17. Previous regulations superseded. The regulations in this part shall supersede all previous regulations adopted pursuant to the Convention between Canada and the United States of America for the preservation of the halibut fishery of the Northern Pacific Ocean and Bering Sea, signed March 2, 1953, except as to offenses occurring prior to the approval of the regulations in this part. CERTAIN PORK CARCASSES AND CERTAIN SWINE

NOTICE OF PROPOSED UNITED STATES STANDARDS FOR GRADES

Notice is hereby given in accordance with section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) that the Department of Agriculture is considering the issuance of official United States standards for grades of sow carcasses and official United States standards for grades of slaughter sows, under sections 203 and 205 of the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (7 U. S. C. 1622 and 1624), as amended by Public Law 272, 84th Congress, and under the general language in the item for the Agricultural Marketing Service in the Department of Agriculture and Farm Credit Administration Appropriation Act, 1956 (Pub. Law 40, 84th Congress; 69 Stat. 51). The document would appear in 7 CFR Part 53, Subpart B, as follows:

Sec.
53.144 Application of standards for grades of sow carcasses.
53.145 Specifications for official United States standards for grades of sow carcasses.
53.154 Application of standards for grades of slaughter sows.
53.155 Specifications for official United States standards for grades of slaughter sows.

§ 53.144 Application of standards for grades of sow carcasses. (a) The standards for grades of sow carcasses are based on (1) differences in yields of lean cuts and of fat cuts and (2) differences in quality of cuts. There are rather uniform differences in these characteristics from one grade to another. The U. S. No. 1 grade has about the minimum degree of finish required to produce cuts of acceptable palatability. The four major trimmed lean cuts—hams, loins, picnics, and butts—normally make up more than 48 percent of carcass weight. The U. S. No. 2 and U. S. No. 3 grades have successively higher degrees of finish resulting in lower yields of lean cuts and higher yields of fat cuts than U. S. No. 1 grade. Yields of lean cuts average 45 to 48 percent and under 45 percent of carcass weight, respectively, for U. S. No. 2 and U. S. No. 3 grades. In addition, the cuts from these grades have more fat remaining after trimming of external fat than do the cuts from U. S. No. 1 grade carcasses. Medium grade carcasses are underfinished and exhibit the lack of firmness and indications of little or no marbling (fat interspersed within the lean) associated with low palatability. Cull grade carcasses are decidedly underfinished and the pork is soft with very little evidence of marbling and is of low palatability.

(b) The standards for grades of sow carcasses apply only to carcasses with the firmness appropriate to their degree of finish. However, carcasses which are typically soft or oily as a result of feeds producing soft or oily fat may be graded in accordance with the standards provided they are identified as soft or oily along with the grade.

(c) There are differences in the bellies of sow carcasses which are peculiar to the class. Increasing numbers of litters farrowed and raised by a sow results in greater development of mammary tissue and increasing roughness of the belly along the teat line with accompanying seediness. In addition, when pigs were weaned only a short time before the sow was slaughtered the mammary tissue still contains milk and the bellies are commonly termed "wet". However, the smoothness or dryness of bellies has little appreciable effect on the basic grade determining factors and the standards contain no provision for altering the grade of a sow carcass due to these belly characteristics. Rather than forming a part of the basis for grade, it is the intent of the standards that smoothness and dryness of bellies should be a separate consideration used in conjunction with grade, weight, and other factors in evaluating sow carcasses.

(d) Average back fat thickness measurements provide a reliable indication of the yields of cuts and the quality of cuts which determine the grade of sow carcasses. Therefore, indication of a specific range in back fat thickness for each grade forms a part of the standards for grade. Analysis of measurement and cutting data for sow carcasses reveals that yields of cuts are approximately equal in carcasses which are equal in fat thickness but widely different in weight. Thus, to maintain comparable yields in a grade at all weights, back fat thickness requirements for a grade are the same at all weights. This is in contrast to the standards for barrows and gilts, in which the fat thickness for a grade increases for heavier or longer carcasses in order to maintain yields of cuts. With practice in the grading operation, visual estimates of fat thickness may often replace actual measurements with satisfactory accuracy. The following table of measurements provides an objective guide in determining the grade of sow carcasses.

| U. S. No. 1 | 1.5 to 1.9 inches. |
| U. S. No. 2 | 1.9 to 2.3 inches. |
| U. S. No. 3 | 2.3 or more inches. |
| Medium | 1.1 to 1.5 inches. |
| Cull | Less than 1.1 inches. |

[1] Average of three measurements, skin included, made opposite first and last ribs and the last lumbar vertebra.

(e) In addition to the measurement guides to grade, the standards also include descriptive specifications outlining the characteristics of sow carcasses typical of the minimum degree of finish for each grade. Average back fat thickness is a major factor in grading, but more accurate appraisal of yields of cuts and quality of cuts is achieved in borderline cases by consideration of thickness of muscling, conformation of the major cuts, uniformity of fleshing and finish, firmness, and indications of marbling. However, in no case may the final grade of a carcass be more than one-half the width of a grade different than that indicated by average back fat thickness.

(f) The standards describe rather typical carcasses of each grade, and no attempt is made to describe the numerous combinations of characteristics that may qualify a carcass for a particular grade.

§ 53.145 Specifications for official United States standards for grades of sow carcasses—(a) U. S. No. 1 grade. U. S. No. 1 grade sow carcasses have about the minimum degree of finish required to produce pork cuts of acceptable palatability. Meatiness and yield of lean cuts from carcass weight are slightly high. Yield of fat cuts is slightly low. The ratio of total lean and fat to bone is slightly high. Carcasses with the minimum finish required for U. S. No. 1 grade are moderately long and slightly wide in relation to weight. The back and loins are moderately full and thick with a well-rounded appearance. Hams are usually moderately thick and plump and are slightly full in the lower part toward the hock. Bellies are moderately long, slightly thick, and moderately uniform in thickness with a slightly thick belly pocket. Shoulders are slightly thick and full. Carcasses are usually moderately well-balanced and moderately uniform in fleshing and finish. There are moderate quantities of interior fat in the pelvic area, a slightly thin but moderately extensive layer of fat lining the inside surface of the ribs, and a slightly small quantity of feathering, or fat intermingled with the lean between the ribs. The lean is firm. Both exterior and interior fats are firm, white, and of excellent quality. Carcasses with back fat thickness qualifying them for the fatter one-half of the U. S. No. 1 grade but with thin muscling in the major cuts, uneven fleshing and finish, or thick and uneven bellies shall be graded U. S. No. 2. Carcasses with back fat thickness qualifying them for the thinner one-half of the U. S. No. 1 grade but with only a moderately thin and incomplete rib lining, a moderately small quantity of feathering, slightly thin bellies with moderately thin belly pockets, and moderately soft lean and fat shall be graded Medium.

(b) U. S. No. 2 grade. U. S. No. 2 grade sow carcasses have a higher degree of finish than the minimum required to produce pork cuts of acceptable palatability. Meatiness and yield of lean cuts from carcass weight are slightly low. Yield of fat cuts is slightly high. The ratio of total lean and fat to bone is moderately high. Carcasses with the minimum finish required for U. S. No. 2 grade are slightly short and moderately wide in relation to weight. The back and loins are full and thick and are especially full near the edges. Hams are usually thick and plump and are moderately full in the lower part toward the hock. Bellies are slightly short, moderately thick, and rather uniform in thickness with a moderately thick belly pocket. Shoulders are moderately thick and full. Carcasses are usually well-balanced and uniform in fleshing and finish. There are slightly large quantities of interior fat in the pelvic area, a slightly thick and rather extensive layer of fat lining the inside surface of the ribs, and moderate feathering. The lean is firm. Both exterior and interior fats are firm, white, and of excellent quality. Carcasses with back fat thickness qualifying them for the fatter one-half of the U. S. No. 2 grade but with thin muscling in the major cuts, uneven fleshing and finish, or very thick and uneven bellies shall be graded U. S. No. 3. Carcasses with back fat thickness qualifying them for the thinner one-half of the U. S. No. 2 grade but with thick muscling in the major cuts, well-balanced fleshing and uniform finish, and slightly thick bellies shall be graded U. S. No. 1.

(c) U. S. No. 3 grade. U. S. No. 3 grade sow carcasses have a decidedly higher degree of finish than the minimum required to produce pork cuts of acceptable palatability. Meatiness and yield of lean cuts from carcass weight are low. Yield of fat cuts is high. The ratio of total lean and fat to bone is high. Carcasses with the minimum finish required for U. S. No. 3 grade are short and wide in relation to weight. The back and loins are very full and thick and are decidedly full at the edges. Hams are usually very thick and plump and are full in the lower part toward the hock due to a thick fat covering. Bellies are short and thick and uniform in thickness with a thick belly pocket. Shoulders are thick and full. Carcasses are usually well-balanced and uniform in fleshing and finish. There are large quantities of interior fat in the pelvic area, a moderately thick and extensive layer of fat lining the inside surface of the ribs, and slightly abundant feathering. The lean is firm. Both exterior and interior fats are firm, white, and of excellent quality. Carcasses with back fat thickness indicative of nearly minimum finish for the U. S. No. 3 grade but with thick muscling in the major cuts, well-balanced fleshing and uniform finish, and moderately thick bellies shall be graded U. S. No. 2.

(d) Medium grade. Medium grade sow carcasses have a lower degree of finish than the minimum required to produce pork cuts of acceptable palatability. Yield of lean cuts from carcass weight is moderately high. Yield of fat cuts is moderately low. The ratio of total lean and fat to bone is moderately low. Carcasses with the minimum finish required for Medium grade are long and rather narrow in relation to weight. The back and loins are rather thin, lack fullness, and slope away from the center. Hams are usually slightly thin, lack plumpness, and taper toward the hock. Bellies are long and moderately thin and are somewhat uneven in thickness with a thin belly pocket. Shoulders are moderately thin and flat. Carcasses tend to be uneven and lack uniformity of fleshing and finish. There are slightly small quantities of interior fat in the pelvic area, a thin and incomplete layer of fat lining the inside surface of the ribs, and only a small quantity of feathering. The lean is moderately soft with little evidence of marbling. Both exterior and interior fats are moderately soft, white to creamy white, and of moderately low quality. Carcasses with back fat thickness qualifying them for the fatter one-half of the Medium grade that are firm and have slightly thick bellies and belly pockets, a slightly thin but moderately extensive rib lining, and a slightly small quantity of feathering shall be graded U. S. No. 1. Carcasses with back fat thickness qualifying them for the thinner one-half of the Medium grade but with little or no rib lining and feathering, thin bellies and very thin belly pockets, and soft lean and fat shall be graded Cull.

(e) Cull grade. Cull grade sow carcasses have a decidedly lower degree of finish than the minimum required to produce pork cuts of acceptable palatability. Yield of lean cuts from carcass weight is high. Yield of fat cuts is low. The ratio of total lean and fat to bone is low. Carcasses with the degree of finish typical of the Cull grade are long and narrow in relation to weight. The back and loins are thin and decidedly lacking in fullness with a definite slope toward the sides. Hams are usually thin and flat and taper toward the hock. Bellies are very long and thin and are uneven in thickness with a very thin belly pocket. Shoulders are thin and flat. Carcasses tend to be uneven and lack uniformity of fleshing and finish. There are only small quantities of interior fat in the pelvic area, little or no fat lining the inside surface of the ribs, and scant feathering. The lean is soft and watery with very little evidence of marbling. Both exterior and interior fats are soft, creamy white to white, and of low quality. Carcasses with back fat thickness indicative of nearly maximum finish for the Cull grade that are only moderately soft and have moderately thin bellies and belly pockets, a thin and incomplete rib lining, and a small quantity of feathering shall be graded Medium.

§ 53.154 Application of standards for grades of slaughter sows. (a) The standards for grades of slaughter sows are based on (1) differences in yields of lean cuts and of fat cuts and (2) differences in quality of cuts. These characteristics vary rather consistently from one grade to another. The U. S. No. 1 grade has about the minimum degree of finish necessary to produce pork carcasses with quality characteristics indicative of acceptable palatability in the cuts. The U. S. No. 2 grade is overfinished and the U. S. No. 3 grade is decidedly overfinished in relation to the minimum finish associated with acceptable palatability. Yields of lean cuts are lower and yields of fat cuts are higher, in proportion to the degree of overfinish, in these grades than in the U. S. No. 1 grade. Medium grade sows are underfinished and produce carcasses which are soft and have indications of insufficient quality for acceptably palatable cuts. Cull grade sows are decidedly underfinished and the pork is soft and watery with little or no marbling and low palatability.

(b) The grades for slaughter sows are closely related to the grades for sow carcasses, and the desired objective in grading sows is the accurate prediction of the carcass grade that will be produced. Degree of finish is an important factor in grading, and the expected average back fat thickness of carcasses produced by each grade of slaughter sows forms a part of the standards. The results of study of carcass measurement and cutting data show that carcasses equal in fat thickness are approximately equal in yields of cuts regardless of differences in weight. Therefore, the expected back fat thickness of carcasses from each grade of slaughter sows is the same at all weights. The following table outlines the carcass fat thickness guides for each grade of slaughter sows.

| U. S. No. 1 | 1.5 to 1.9 inches. |
| U. S. No. 2 | 1.9 to 2.3 inches. |
| U. S. No. 3 | 2.3 or more inches. |
| Medium | 1.1 to 1.5 inches. |
| Cull | Less than 1.1 inches. |

(c) The standards for grades also include descriptive specifications of the characteristics of slaughter sows with the minimum degree of finish for each grade. Application of the standards requires an accurate appraisal of these live animal characteristics indicative of carcass finish and grade. No attempt is made to describe in the standards the many combinations of characteristics which may qualify an animal for a particular grade, and sound judgment is required to appropriately analyze varying combinations.

(d) Slaughter sows that have produced several litters of pigs may show considerable roughness along the underline due to extensive development of mammary tissue. In addition, sows from which pigs were weaned only a short time prior to grading may show evidence that the mammary tissue is still active in milk production and not completely dry. Since smoothness and dryness of the underline have little effect on the basic grade determining factors, no provision is made in the standards for altering the grade of slaughter sows due to differences in these characteristics. It is recognized that the value determining factors to be considered in marketing sows include dryness and smoothness as well as such other factors as weight, degree of finish, quality, and fill. However, consideration of all such factors in determining grade would require a complicated system with a great number of grades in order to make each grade sufficiently restrictive to be practical and useful. Therefore, the grades outlined in these standards identify differences in slaughter sows with respect to yields of cuts and quality. They were designed as practical aids in evaluating slaughter sows when used in conjunction with other factors such as weight, fill, smoothness, and dryness.

§ 53.155 Specifications for official United States standards for grades of slaughter sows.—(a) U. S. No. 1 grade. U. S. No. 1 grade slaughter sows have an intermediate degree of finish near the minimum required to produce pork cuts of acceptable palatability. Sows with the minimum finish for U. S. No. 1 grade are moderately long and slightly wide in relation to weight. Width of body is rather uniform from top to bottom and from front to rear. The back, from side to side, is moderately full and thick with a well-rounded appearance and blends smoothly into the sides. The sides are moderately long and slightly thick; the flanks are slightly thick and full. Depth at the rear flank may be slightly less than depth at the fore flank. Hams are usually moderately thick and full with a slightly thick covering of fat. Jowls are usually moderately thick and full but appear trim. Sows in this grade produce U. S. No. 1 grade carcasses.

(b) U. S. No. 2 grade. U. S. No. 2 grade slaughter sows have a moderately high degree of finish that is somewhat greater than the minimum required to produce pork cuts of acceptable palatability. Sows with the minimum finish for the U. S. No. 2 grade are slightly short and moderately wide in relation to weight. Width of body is often greater over the top than at the underline and tends to be slightly greater through the shoulders than through the hams. The back, from side to side, is full and thick and appears slightly flat with a noticeable break into the sides. The sides are slightly short and moderately thick; the flanks are moderately thick and full. Depth at the rear flank is nearly equal to depth at the fore flank. Hams are usually thick and full with a moderately thick covering of fat, especially over the lower part. Jowls are usually full and thick, and the neck appears rather short. Sows in this grade produce U. S. No. 2 grade carcasses.

(c) U. S. No. 3 grade. U. S. No. 3 grade slaughter sows have a high degree of finish that is considerably greater than the minimum required to produce pork cuts of acceptable palatability. Sows with the minimum finish for U. S. No. 3 grade are short and wide in relation to weight. Width of body is often somewhat greater over the top than at the underline and tends to be greater through the shoulders than through the hams. The back, from side to side, is very full and thick and appears nearly flat with a pronounced break into the sides. The sides are short and thick; the flanks are thick and full. Depth at the rear flank is equal to depth at the fore flank. Hams are usually very thick and full with a thick covering of fat especially over the lower part. Jowls are usually very full and thick, and the neck appears short. Sows of this grade produce U. S. No. 3 grade carcasses.

(d) Medium grade. Medium grade slaughter sows have a low degree of finish which is somewhat less than the minimum required to produce pork cuts of acceptable palatability. Sows with the minimum finish for Medium grade are long and moderately narrow in relation to weight. Width of body is often less over the top than at the underline and tends to be slightly less through the shoulders than through the hams. The back, from side to side, is moderately thin and appears rather peaked at the center with a distinct slope toward the sides. The hips are moderately prominent. The sides are long and moderately thin; the flanks are thin. Depth at the rear flank is less than depth at the fore flank. Hams are usually moderately thin and flat and taper toward the shank. Jowls are usually slightly thin and flat, and the neck appears rather long. Sows in this grade produce Medium grade carcasses.

(e) Cull grade. Cull grade slaughter sows have a very low degree of finish which is considerably lower than that required to produce pork cuts of acceptable palatability. Sows with the finish typical of the Cull grade are long and narrow in relation to weight. Width of body is often somewhat less over the top than at the underline and tends to be less through the shoulders than through the hams. The back, from side to side, is thin and lacks fullness and is peaked at the center with a decided slope toward the sides. The hips are prominent. The sides are very long and thin; the flanks are very thin. Depth at the rear flank is considerably less than depth at the fore flank. Hams are usually thin and flat with a definite taper toward the shank. Jowls are usually very thin and flat, and the neck appears long. Sows in this grade produce Cull grade carcasses.

Any interested person who wishes to submit written data, views, or arguments concerning the proposed standards may do so by filing them with the Director of the Livestock Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., within 60 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 24th day of April 1956.

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by Redelegation of Authority dated April 21, 1954, Chapter 3.1, Part II, Section 2.2 the following described public lands are classified, pursuant to Section 7 of the Taylor Grazing Act of June 28, 1934 as amended, as suitable for disposal for public sale:

Federal Maritime Board and Maritime Administration

UNITED STATES LINES CO.

NOTICE OF TENTATIVE FINDINGS ON APPLICATION TO INCREASE SUBSIDIZED SAILINGS

Whereas the United States Lines Company now has on file with the Federal Maritime Board/Maritime Administration an application for increasing its subsidized sailings from a minimum of 22 and a maximum of 26 to a minimum of 30 and a maximum of 37 sailings with respect to its subsidized service described in its current Operating Differential Subsidy Agreement, Contract No. FMB-19, as follows:

Atlantic ports (Hampton Roads-Atlantic Coast Florida excluding Key West) and ports in United Kingdom, Eire and Continental Europe north of Portugal (including Scandinavian and Baltic ports, except as to cargo to and from Hampton Roads).

Whereas the Maritime Administrator has determined that the U. S. flag service requirements on Trade Route No. 11 as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER ON January 6 and March 11, 1955 should be increased to approximately 2 to 3 per month and that the ships that are suitable for operation in this service should include not only C-2 type freighters but also not to exceed two modernized Liberty vessels, such as the "SS Benjamin Chew" and "MS Thomas Nelson", as suitable for interim operation for a period not to exceed two years.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that the Federal Maritime Board on April 18, 1956, tentatively approved said increased sailings.

Parties having an interest in such application and findings and determinations may file with the Secretary, Federal Maritime Board, any objections thereto, on or before May 2, 1956.

Subsequent to the above date, the Federal Maritime Board will take such action with respect to the application and any objections thereto, as may be deemed appropriate.

POPE & TALBOT, INC. AND PACIFIC ARGENTINE BRAZIL LINE, INC.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON APPLICATIONS

Pope & Talbot, Inc., Docket No. M-65; Pacific Argentine Brazil Line, Inc., Docket No. S-62.

Notice is hereby given that a consolidated public hearing will be held on May 7, 1956, at 10:00 a. m., in Room 4519, New General Accounting Office Building, Fifth and G Streets NW., Washington, D. C., upon the application of Pope & Talbot, Inc., to bareboat charter three (3) Victory type dry cargo vessels for operation in the domestic trade between ports on the Pacific Coast and Atlantic Coast of the United States via Panama Canal for a period of one year, pursuant to section 5 (e) of the Merchant Ship Sales Act, 1946, as amended (Public Law 591, 81st Cong.) (50 U. S. C. App. 1738), and upon the application of Pacific Argentine Brazil Line, Inc., for such written permission as may be required by section 805 (a) of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended (46 U. S. C. 1223), for the aforementioned operation of vessels by Pope & Talbot, Inc., its parent corporation.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive evidence with respect to whether the service for which such vessels are proposed to be chartered is required in the public interest and is not adequately served, and with respect to the availability of privately owned American-flag vessels for charter on reasonable conditions and at reasonable rates for use in such service. Evidence will be received with respect to any restrictions or conditions that may be necessary or appropriate to protect the public interest in respect of such charter as may be granted and to protect privately owned vessels against competition from vessels chartered as a result of this proceeding.

Evidence will also be received as to whether additional written permission is required by said section 805 (a) and if so, whether the aforementioned operation of vessels will result in unfair competition to any person, firm, or corporation operating exclusively in the coastwise or intercoastal service or be prejudicial to the objects and policy of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936 (46 U. S. C. 1101 et seq.).

All persons having an interest in the applications will be given an opportunity to be heard if present.

A recommended decision will be issued and the time for filing exceptions thereto is hereby restricted to seven (7) days. No replies to exceptions will be received.

Dated: April 25, 1956.

[Docket No. 11682; FCC 56-337]

GENERAL-TIMES TELEVISION CORP. AND COLUMBIA BROADCASTING SYSTEM, INC.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re application of General-Times Television Corporation (Assignor) and Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc. (Assignee), Docket No. 11682, File No. BAPCT-159; for consent to the assignment of the construction permit for WGTH-TV, Hartford, Connecticut.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration (a) a "Protest and Petition for Reconsideration" filed on March 23, 1956, pursuant to sections 309 (c) and 405 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, by Elm City Broadcasting Corporation (Elm City), permittee of Station WNHC-TV, Channel 8, New Haven, Connecticut, and directed against the Commission's action of February 23, 1956, granting without hearing the above-entitled application for consent to the assignment of the construction permit for Station WGTH-TV,[1] Channel 18, Hartford, Connecticut, from General-Times Television Corporation (General-Times) to Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc. (CBS);[2] (b) an "Opposition of Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., to 'Protest and Petition for Reconsideration' and Request for Oral Argument" filed April 5, 1956;[3] and (c) "Reply of Elm City to Opposition and Request for Oral Argument of CBS" filed on April 10, 1956.

2. Hartford, Connecticut has allocated to it Channels 3 (requested by two competing applicants now in hearing status); 18 (WGTH-TV); and 4 (an educational channel). Hartford also receives Grade A television service from WNHC-TV, New Haven, WKNB-TV, New Britain, and WATR-TV, Waterbury; and parts of the Grade B contour area of WGTH-TV receive Grade B service from WWLP (TV), Springfield, Massachusetts, WHYN-TV, Springfield-Holyoke, Massachusetts, WICC-TV, Bridgeport, Connecticut, and WMGT (TV), Adams, Massachusetts.[4] WGTH-TV has had an affiliation agreement with CBS since October 1, 1955, on which date its affiliation agreement with American Broadcasting Company (ABC) was cancelled. There are four AM and two FM stations licensed in Hartford. New Haven, Connecticut, approximately 35 miles from Hartford, has allocated to it Channel 8 (WNHC-TV, the protestant herein) and Channel 59 (WELI-TV). WNHC-TV has had an affiliation agreement with ABC since October 1, 1955, and, in the past and currently, since November 23, 1955, a contract (not considered an "affiliation agreement") with CBS for certain CBS programs. There are three AM and one FM stations (including WNHC and WNHC-FM) licensed in New Haven. In addition to WGTH-TV and WNHC-TV, the following other television stations in the state of Connecticut have construction permits:

Bridgeport—WCTB-TV, Ch. 71 (noncommercial educational).
Bridgeport—WICC-TV, Ch. 43 (ABC affiliate).
New Britain—WKNB-TV, Ch. 30 (NBC affiliate).
New London—WNLC-TV, Ch. 26.
Norwich—WCTN-TV, Ch. 63 (noncommercial educational).
Stamford—WSTF-TV, Ch. 27.
Waterbury—WATR-TV, Ch. 53 (ABC affiliate).

CBS is presently the licensee and/or permittee of three VHF and one UHF television stations and has an application pending for a new television station on Channel 11 in St. Louis, Missouri. It is also the licensee of six AM and three FM stations.

3. Protestant claims standing as a "party in interest" under section 309 (c) and as a "person aggrieved" by the grant within the meaning of section 405 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, by virtue of its status as the permittee of Station WNHC-TV[5] in New Haven. In support of its claim to such standing, protestant alleges in substance, that beginning with the date of the filing of the assignment application (July 15, 1955), it has lost CBS programs to WGTH-TV, will continue to lose more and finally, practically all, if not all, of such programs, which will amount to a revenue loss to protestant of approximately $185,600.00 per year; that even if it would secure all of ABC programs available during the corresponding time periods to replace those of CBS, which it is claimed is highly improbable, the revenue from ABC would be "at the rate of roughly $34,000 per year" and only four hours of ABC programming are available during the (15½) hours of CBS programs "which will be lost," which fact will necessitate the production of 11 additional hours of local programs at an additional cost of approximately $127,000 annually, only a quarter of which could be recouped by sale to non-network sponsors; that cancellation of commercial spot announcements by advertisers who desire placement before or after nationally popular CBS programs has taken place and will so continue to the extent of a revenue loss therefrom of approximately $180,000 per year; that since many of the protestant's non-network program time periods are sold to national, regional and local advertisers "because WNHC carries popular CBS programs," some of these sponsors will cancel, as one has already done, which will cause further economic injury to protestant; that loss of CBS programs will result in the loss to protestant of a large share of its audience both during the time periods when these programs were broadcast and at other periods during the broadcast day—the CBS programs that have been removed having already caused such losses particularly as reflected by the great increase in the audience rating in New Haven of CBS' New York station, WCBS-TV; that CBS ownership of WGTH-TV will further cause protestant injury in that WNHC-TV competes with WGTH-TV for the revenues from "spot" advertisers and local sponsors desiring to reach the Hartford market less than 35 miles away, and that WGTH-TV will not only become the only CBS outlet for Connecticut, but as seller of time to national advertisers "will also be in a better position to secure more of the national spot business designed to cover the Hartford market"; that WCBS-TV is now and WGTH-TV will be represented by "CBS Spot Sales" giving CBS "the power to attempt a 'squeeze play' to exclude WNHC-TV from the spot business designed to cover the New Haven market" and "would empower CBS to offer the two stations at a joint rate lower than the sum of their individual card rates," thus causing further spot business and revenue loss to WNHC-TV; that WGTH-TV presently provides a Grade B signal to New Haven, and if "the instant application is granted, the power of WGTH-TV will be increased to a million watts" from 187,000 watts (according to a story appearing in Variety on July 13, 1955, Vol. 199, No. 6, p. 27) which would allow WGTH-TV "to provide a Grade A signal (predicted) to 94 percent of the area of the City of New Haven" (an engineering statement attached to the protest purportedly showing these figures), which fact will cause protestant to lose further advertising revenues; that "CBS acquisition can also result in the exclusion of protestant from competition for the first-run showing in Connecticut of many independently produced television films," for WCBS-TV has attempted (and succeeded "in two cases") with respect to film purchases from "at least two television film distributors," to secure terms which would prevent WNHC-TV from showing the same films in New Haven during the period of WCBS-TV's contracts with the distributors; that the ownership, of WGTH-TV "would empower CBS to purchase films for WCBS-TV and WGTH jointly and to demand terms which would exclude WNHC-TV from competition for the films until after they were shown both by WCBS-TV and WGTH-TV," thus causing further financial injury to WNHC-TV in that "second-run films are difficult to sell to either spot or local advertisers"; that ABC and local New Haven markets presently provide not more than 13 percent of WNHC-TV's gross revenues and if CBS acquires WGTH-TV and NBC acquires WKNB-TV,[6] protestant may even lose the ABC affiliation to the new Channel 3 station when it becomes operative, because of the fact that networks generally favor VHF to UHF stations "except where they owned UHF stations"; and finally, that the CBS acquisition of WGTH-TV will necessarily cause a deterioration of WNHC-TV's high program quality and a consequent loss in services to the public because of its financial inability to continue the several and costly local sustaining and other public service programs (named in the protest petition) without off-setting revenues which have been and will be lost.

4. In support of its protest and request for a stay, protestant alleges, in substance, that "the acquisition of WGTH-TV by CBS would fail to serve any of the purposes for permitting network ownership of broadcast stations as those purposes have been stated in the Commission's 1941 Chain Broadcasting Report arguing, from the passages quoted from the Chain Broadcasting Report, that it prohibited CBS from acquiring additional radio stations but permitted continued ownership of those held in the largest metropolitan areas or 'key' cities in order to satisfy the network's need for (a) studios in the major talent centers where network programs are originated, (b) a minimum audience for sustaining programs, and (c) station facilities in order to experiment with new types of programming—alleging with example and discussion that none of such needs 'would be served by CBS' acquisition of WGTH-TV'; that the acquisition fails to serve the reasons or purposes stated in the Commission's Report and Order of September 17, 1954,[7] for amending § 3.636 of the Commission's rules (by increasing from five to seven the total number of television stations which a single entity, including networks, could hold, provided no more than five were in the VHF band and provided an undue concentration of control did not result) since the 'reason behind the amendment was the serious plight of UHF broadcasting'; that the Commission contemplated that the experience and financial resources of multiple owners would, through purchases of UHF stations in 'large pre-freeze markets where high VHF-only set saturation obtains,' pave the way for other UHF stations by promoting UHF conversions," whereas the Hartford area "has already been largely converted to UHF without the assistance of CBS ownership"—the present UHF conversion ratio having been "estimated to be about 93 percent of the total sets"; that there are indications that the present owners of WGTH-TV, with their other stations, and large resources, may not have sold to CBS voluntarily because of an article in Variety which stated the agreement to sell was made only because the station had "no assurance of securing a continued supply of network programs" and that "a strong factor was the threat of Channel 18 [WGTH-TV] facing a major network lockout, for CBS, in lieu of a U purchase would have made an affiliation with [the successful applicant for Channel 3, Hartford]." It was then pointed out that the application itself stated that the CBS offer was accepted "because of the existing uncertainty of UHF television in Hartford (by an operator other than a network)"; that the application itself show that a network affiliation is the sine qua non of successful television station operation and CBS' acquisition of WGTH-TV removes the CBS affiliation permanently from the competition of other stations in the area.

5. Protestant further contends that the CBS acquisition is violative of the television station multiple ownership rule (§ 3.636 (a) (2)) in that such ownership "would result in a concentration of control of television broadcasting in a manner inconsistent with public interest • • •" As support for this contention, protestant alleges that CBS' presently owned stations afford at least

[1] The construction permit was granted October 21, 1953, and the station began operation on September 14, 1954. The application to assign the construction permit to CBS was filed on July 15, 1955, and amended on October 18, 1955.

[2] The Commission's grant of February 23, 1956, also included consent to the assignment to CBS of the permit for a studio transmitter link (BAPTS-30, KCE-21). The status of that permit is dependent upon the final disposition of the main construction permit for WGTH-TV to which the Protest and this document have been directed.

[3] In response to a request of counsel for CBS for an extension of time within which to file the Opposition, the time was extended from April 2 to April 5, 1956.

[4] The two major Hartford newspapers regularly publish the program logs of WNHC-TV., WWLP(TV), WKNB-TV, WATR-TV, and WHYN-TV in addition to WGTH-TV.

[5] The station commenced operation on Channel 6 in June of 1948; was granted its license on November 18, 1949; changed its channel, pursuant to the Sixth Report and Order, to Channel 8 on December 21, 1952 (BPCT-1468); and applied for a license to cover its construction permit on August 6, 1955 (BLCT-355).

[6] NBC's application for transfer of control to it of the New Britain Broadcasting Company, licensee of WKNB and permittee of WKNB-TV, Channel 30, is presently pending before the Commission, having been set down for an evidentiary hearing by the Commission's Memorandum Opinion and Order (FCC 56-305; 30296) released April 13, 1956.

Grade B service to 27 million people; that a grant of the St. Louis application of CBS would increase that figure by more than a million; that the CBS television network serves areas which account for at least 93 percent of the nation's population; that in 1954 the gross billings of CBS from television network sponsors was 45 percent of the total (with NBC billings being 40 percent of the total) and CBS directly or indirectly controlled 33 percent of the revenues earned by the entire television broadcast industry including not only the network but all stations (with NBC controlling 29 percent); that the "sources of network power" are found in the program dominance derived from (a) their nine hour per day "option time" provisions in affiliation agreements which operate in favor of the networks only and against the interest of non-network competitors who are denied the opportunity for securing outlets for their programs—the sponsors being interested in reaching the largest possible audience on a continual basis and in most markets the absence of VHF non-network stations makes choice time unavailable, (b) the "importance of network affiliations" to station success or even survival, (c) the ownership of stations which gives the networks an unfair leverage in dealing with their independently owned affiliates even to the point of forcing station sales to the network by owners who want to retain the network affiliations of their other stations. Protestant cites alleged examples of the actual exertion of this power by both NBC and CBS, and contends that the power derived by the network dominance results in serious restraints of trade and "gives the network an unfair competitive advantage against all other elements of the broadcast industry," enabling CBS and NBC to thwart the efforts of independent producers of programs to develop alternative sources of popular programs, to "discriminate in favor of larger advertisers by severely limiting the opportunity of local and small national advertisers to use television for their business purposes" and to curtail the role which national spot representatives can play in providing income to independent stations to help finance their broadcast operations. By way of a showing as to the existence and effectiveness of the "pressure which networks utilize to get affiliates to carry their programs," protestant proffers a "study of 12 typical affiliated stations" (each assumed to have 63 hours per week under network option) which purports to show that, in a particular week, each carried an excessive amount of network programs totaling from 64½ to 86¾ hours per week or from 2.4 to 37.7 percent increase of the 63 hours under option, thus each station doing much less than 50 percent of its own programing. From this, protestant concludes, that CBS and NBC "control the programs broadcast by their affiliates" and that the local or medium-sized regional or national advertiser is barred from all network hours which he does not need or cannot afford. Protestant argues that CBS and NBC seek to restrict competition further by being the "exclusive national sales representative for non-network business for many of the country's most important stations" whereby they are in a position of having an inordinate competitive advantage over the independent national spot representatives who cannot get the business of network affiliated stations which dare not give such spot representation to other than the CBS or NBC spot sales departments for fear of losing their network affiliations. Protestant urges that for all of the above asserted reasons, the case of Clarksburg Publishing Co. v. FCC, 225 F. 2d 511, 12 Pike & Fischer RR 2024 (D. C. Cir. 1955) requires that an evidentiary hearing be held on the issue involving § 3.636 (a) (2) of the Commission's rules.

6. Protestant further contends that because of the Grade B overlap between CBS' Station WCBS–TV in New York City and WGTH–TV in Hartford, a violation of the "duopoly rule" (§ 3.636 (a) (1)) will result. In support of this contention, protestant submitted an engineering affidavit purporting to show that the Grade B contours of said stations "overlap in an area including within its bounds 306,100 people, constituting 17 percent of WGTH–TV's present Grade B population and 2 percent of WCBS–TV's present Grade B population," which figures, it asserts, will be increased when CBS increases the wattage of WGTH–TV to 1,000,000. Protestant further asserts that CBS credits stations on Channels 2 to 6 with substantial public acceptance of signals of less than Grade B intensity—or within their 100 mv/m contours, and that if the instant application is granted "CBS would own two stations serving a continuous area along the eastern sea coast in which over 11 percent of the population of this country is concentrated." Protestant concludes that since the Court in the Clarksburg Publishing case deemed Grade B overlap significant and the important test on duopoly to be whether "receivers in the area of overlap would receive acceptable signals from both stations," a hearing is necessary, especially because any determination as to what constitutes sufficient overlap to warrant denying an application must depend on the facts of the case, developed at such hearing. Further, protestant alleges that CBS owns and operates the dominant radio network with its 1954 gross billings being 39 percent of the total of the nation; that each of its six radio stations had the largest audience of any station in their respective communities; and that in addition to its own station, the CBS network includes approximately 215 affiliated stations—all of which facts should be scrutinized by the Commission in an evidentiary hearing on the issue of whether concentration of control over the broadcast industry in the hands of CBS is consistent with the Commission's policy against "concentration of the media of mass communication" or the policy of "diversification." Another violation which it is asserted is brought about by the CBS acquisition is the so-called "Charlotte" provision of the Chain Broadcasting Rules (§ 3.658 (f)) which prohibits the issuance of a license to a network "in any locality where the existing television broadcast stations are so few or of such unequal desirability (in terms of coverage, power, frequency, or other related matters) that competition would be substantially restrained by such licensing." Protestant points out that only one other commercial television station is allocated to Hartford and that, since under the AM equivalent of § 3.658 (f) (§ 3.136) CBS was compelled to divest itself of WBT in Charlotte when there were two other stations in the market, acquisition by CBS of WGTH–TV cannot be justified. Protestant contends that "locality" means "some measurable boundary such as the corporate limits of the City of Hartford or the bounds of the Hartford metropolitan area" and not a general area including all the cities in Connecticut and Massachusetts whose stations supply television service to part of the service area of WGTH–TV, since such an interpretation would render the rule meaningless, at least in Zone I where it is difficult to find any important area which does not receive at least Grade B service from two or more stations.

7. Finally, protestant refers to "numerous charges" that "have been made over the years" that CBS has, in various affiliation actions, used its power in a manner "inconsistent with the public interest and the antitrust laws," and alleges (a) that the son of a CBS vice-president secured a management contract, a 50 percent profit, and a stock option from the owners of WKOW, Madison, Wisconsin, in return for a promise to secure a CBS affiliation; that the management contract was dropped after an FCC investigation, but the affiliation retained; (b) that the "switch" affiliation of CBS with stations belonging wholly or partially to its talent (Gene Autry and Lowell Thomas) is indicative of impropriety; and that 10 of the 14 AM and television stations owned by a multiple owner, Storer Broadcasting Company, are now affiliated with CBS to the loss and injury of former affiliates who were individual or smaller licensees, all of which, it is alleged, is further indicative of the necessity of examining "CBS fitness as a licensee." In conclusion, protestant requests (a) that section 309 (c) of the act as it read prior to January 20, 1956, be considered applicable to the instant protest; that the above-entitled application be designated for an evidentiary hearing on specified issues; that the burden of proof be placed on the applicants; and that the effective date of the Commission's grant be postponed. The issues specified by the protestant are as follows:

(1) To determine whether CBS ownership of WGTH–TV would serve the purposes for permitting network ownership of broadcast stations as those purposes have been stated by the Commission in its Chain Broadcasting Report or its Report and Order of September 17, 1954 (11 RR 1519).

(2) To determine whether CBS ownership of WGTH–TV would be consistent with the provisions of the Commission's multiple ownership rule (§ 3.636 (a) (2) of the Commission's rules ) and its policies promulgated thereunder in view of CBS' concentration of control in the television broadcast industry.

(3) To determine whether CBS ownership of WGTH–TV would be consistent with the provisions of the Commission's duopoly rule (§ 3.636 (a) (1) of the Commission's rules) and its policies promulgated thereunder in view of the overlap in coverage areas served by WCBS–TV and WGTH–TV and the effects of that overlap upon the public interest.

(4) To determine whether CBS ownership of WGTH–TV would be consistent with the Commission's policy against concentration of the media of mass communication in view of CBS' concentration of control in the radio and television broadcast industry.

(5) To determine whether CBS ownership of WGTH–TV would be consistent with the "Charlotte" provision of the Commission's Chain Broadcasting Rules (§ 3.658 (f) of the Commission's rules).

(6) To obtain full information with respect to CBS affiliation practices and, in particular, to determine whether any of the affiliation practices referred to in the protest are in violation of the federal antitrust laws or the public interest.

(7) To determine whether any film licensing contracts between CBS and film distributors contain terms which prevent or hinder television stations located in communities outside of New York City from broadcasting the films covered by the contracts during the same period as they are broadcast by WCBS–TV, and, if so, whether such contracts are inconsistent with the provisions of the Commission's territorial exclusivity rule (§ 3.658 (b) of the Commission's rules and regulations), with the anti-trust laws or the public interest.

(8) To determine whether or not, on the basis of the hearing record adduced with respect to Issues 1 through 7 above, a grant of the above-entitled application would serve the public interest, convenience and necessity.

8. The opposition of the applicant, CBS, is addressed primarily to the proposition, which is termed "controlling," that section 309 (c) of the act confers no right of protest upon Elm City. CBS contends that the case does not involve the grant of an "instrument of authorization" within the meaning of section 309 (c); that the language of the act itself, its legislative history and the factors which prompted Congress to treat the field of broadcasting as one of open and free competition all support this contention. The applicant then traces the legislative history of section 309 (c) and contends that the journey unmistakably supports the conclusion that "protests were only intended to be applicable to grants of new instruments of authorization which are made pursuant to applications for new or improved facilities," and not to applications for assignment or transfer of existing facilities. Applicant urges that the contrary language of the Court of Appeals in the case of Camden Radio, Inc. v. FCC, 220 F. 2d 191 (D. C. Cir. 1954) was evoked by a set of facts different and distinguishable from those present in the instant case. The opposition further contends that the allegations of the protestant "are so speculative and variegated as to defy categorical treatment, and that even if true and susceptible of categorical treatment they "could not warrant the result which Elm City seeks"; that reduced profits as a result of increased competition is a normal element of a free competitive system—competition being the very basis of our broadcast system; that the Supreme Court in the Sanders case explicitly recognized that Congress never intended either expressly or implicitly to "protect Station A as against Station B when both are conforming to the necessary rules of allocation and to the prescribed engineering standards"; that the Commission, in law and in fact, "is not constituted to function as a guardian of the financial conduct and well being of Elm City or of any other operator (including networks) in the television field" except in cases where new service will destroy one that is being rendered in a certain area, which, the applicant asserts, is not the case at hand; that protestant's real injury does not arise from the ownership of WGTH–TV by CBS but from the loss of CBS programs due to the change in the CBS affiliation which protestant does not claim is improper and even "concedes that: 'CBS network programs can be provided to the Hartford area as effectively by a WGTH–TV affiliated with CBS as by a WGTH–TV owned by CBS' "; that these portions of the protest which attempt to show that Elm City is a party in interest "consist largely of speculations and conclusions and are based on the assumption * * * that no other owner of WGTH–TV could compete as effectively with Elm City as could the proposed assignee"; and finally, that protestant's claims of financial injury "amount to a contention that changes in the ownership and program structure of a station 35 miles distant give it a right which others do not have (or at least have not asserted) to delay or prevent such changes"—a right not given by 309 (c).

9. Applicant asserts further that virtually the entire contents of the August 1955 petition of Elm City to designate the above-entitled application for hearing have been restated, with expansion, in the protest; that the expansion includes, for some 29 pages, nothing more than a restatement of a memorandum entitled "Television Network Regulation and the UHF Problem" submitted in 1955 to, but never adopted by, the Senate Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce; that "this is, of course, not an appropriate forum for debating the pros and cons of our present concept of free competition among the networks and between stations, nor is the time and place for an evaluation of such established rules as those providing for network option time and for multiple ownership of broadcast stations"; that the memorandum specifically advocates "extensive regulation of all networks"; and that nowhere in the protest does Elm City contend that CBS or any other network "has violated the law or the Commission's regulations" but rather argues with the efficacy of the rules themselves. It is urged that if it be assumed for purposes of argument that consent to the mere assignment of the construction permit of an existing station is the granting of an "instrument of authorization" which is subject to protest, then none of the issues requested by Elm City should be made the subject of an evidentiary hearing. Discussing each of the proposed issues, CBS contends that protestant has stated no facts "with particularity"; that it has relied on "speculative argument"; that it has brought in "totally irrelevant subjects"; that no grounds have been presented for setting aside the grant; that the request is facetious; and that there has been no showing of impropriety on the part of CBS. As to the "Petition for Reconsideration," applicant contends it is inapplicable "in non-hearing cases" such as this, and, in any event, is "not a matter of right but of privilege" and should here be denied. Applicant requests dismissal of the Protest and Petition for Reconsideration; or, if that relief is denied, employment of the procedures including the demurrer procedures called for by 309 (c) as amended; and grant of oral argument "on the foregoing requests."

10. Elm City's reply to applicant's opposition responds primarily to the argument concerning the protestability of assignments and transfers. It reiterates its reliance on the "as if" language of section 310 (b) of the act and on the Court's language in the Camden case and points out that since that case, the Commission has, in four cases* held that protests lie to the grant without hearing of applications for consent to the transfer or assignment of broadcast stations. Elm City further states that whether the case is governed by the 309 (c) of 1952 as it contends, or the 309 (c) of 1956 as CBS contends, the Commission's action is subject to protest; that a stay of the grant is required under either the old or the new 309 (c); and that it has no objection to an oral argument "provided it is a preliminary step to an evidentiary hearing."

11. We have given careful consideration to the argument of the applicant, CBS, that the grants of Commission consent to assignments and transfers of existing broadcasting facilities are not subject to protest under section 309 (c) of the act, and we are not persuaded that the holding of the Court of Appeals in the Camden case is confined to the narrow "new facilities" interpretation urged by the applicant or that the instant case presents any exceptional or distinguishable factors which would justify a conclusion that the grant complained of is free from application of that Court's ruling. We conclude, therefore, that the Commission's action of February 23, 1956 is protestable under the holding in the Camden case. In view of the fact that protestant has alleged that it is the permittee of an operating television station in New Haven, located approximately 35 miles from Hartford; that it competes with WGTH–TV for programming, audience and advertising revenues; that, as a result of the Commission's grant of the above-entitled application, it has lost and will continue to lose revenues; that because of said grant, it has sustained and will continue to sustain the cancellation of commercial spot announcements by advertisers; and that the acquisition of WGTH–TV by CBS can also result in the loss of first-run films and further revenues, we find that the protestant is a "party in interest" within the meaning of section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and is a "person aggrieved" within the meaning of Section 405 of the Act. Federal Communications Commission v. Sanders, 309 U. S. 407; Camden Radio, Inc. supra. We find further that the protestant has specified with particularity the facts relied upon so as to warrant designating the above-entitled application for hearing on issues which are substantially those specified by protestant.

12. Certain of the proposed issues have been revised or consolidated without affecting the protestant's opportunity to submit evidence on the basis of the allegations set forth in the protest. In issue "(1)", protestant seeks a determination as to whether a grant of the above-entitled application would serve the "purposes" of the Commission's Chain Broadcasting and Multiple Ownership Report. We have revised this issue so as to relate it to the Commission's Chain Broadcasting Rules since the purposes for their enactment can be considered in determining the applicability of said rules. For the same reason, we have deleted the reference to the "purposes" of the Commission's Multiple Ownership Report. Inasmuch as proposed issues "(2)" and "(3)" relate to subparagraphs of § 3.636 of the rules, they have been consolidated into one issue and "purposes" can be considered in determining their applicability to the facts adduced at the hearing. In consolidating said issues, we have deleted certain conclusionary appendages contained therein as framed by protestant. A similar deletion of conclusionary language has been made with respect to issue "(4)". Issue "(5)" has been eliminated since it deals with only one subsection of the Commission's Chain Broadcasting Rules and the entire section is specified in the first issue. Issue "(6)" has been revised to eliminate general introductory language and to confine the issue to the practices alleged in the protest. It should be pointed out, however, that in making the above findings, and by including the issues set forth below, we do not determine or imply that any or all of these issues, even if the facts with respect thereto are as alleged by the protestant, are such that they could result in a determination that the grant to CBS was improper, contrary to the public interest, or should be set aside. Accordingly, said issues are not being adopted by the Commission and the burden of proof thereon, both in proving the facts alleged and in demonstrating their materiality and relevancy will be on the protestant.

13. As indicated above, the protestant has requested that section 309 (c) of the act as it read prior to January 20, 1956, be considered applicable to the case before us. On the other hand, CBS urges that section 309 (c), as amended on the latter date, be considered applicable and that the Commission permit oral argument thereon and on its other requests. We do not believe it necessary, in view of our determination on the aspects of demurrer[*] and postponement of the effective date of the grant, to resolve the question whether the amended act is or is not applicable to the instant case. For if the original version of section 309 (c) is deemed applicable, it follows that the effective date of the grant would be postponed since the authorization has not been shown to be necessary to the maintenance of an existing service. And the same result obtains if the amended 309 (c) is found to be the pertinent standard: For no showing has been made, and we ourselves find no grounds for the affirmative finding required by the new provision that the public interest requires the grant to remain in effect. In view of these considerations and our findings, we are of the opinion that the requested oral argument by the parties would serve no useful purpose and might further delay a final determination of the issues herein.

14. In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, effective immediately, the effective date of the grant of the above-entitled application is postponed pending a final determination by the Commission in the hearing ordered below with respect to the protest herein; that the petition for reconsideration is granted to the extent provided for below and is denied in all other respects; and that the above-entitled application is designated for hearing at the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C., on the following issues:

(a) To determine whether a grant of the above-entitled application would be consistent with the provisions of § 3.658 of the Commission's rules and its policies promulgated thereunder.

(b) To determine whether a grant of the above-entitled application would be consistent with the provisions of § 3.636 of the Commission's rules and its policies promulgated thereunder.

(c) To determine whether CBS ownership of WGTH–TV would be consistent with the Commission's policy against concentration of the media of mass communication.

(d) To determine whether any of the affiliation practices referred to in the protest are in violation of the Federal anti-trust laws or the public interest.

(e) To determine whether any film licensing contracts between CBS and film distributors contain terms which prevent or hinder television stations located in communities outside of New York City from broadcasting the films covered by the contracts during the same period as they are broadcast by WCBS–TV, and, if so, whether such contracts are inconsistent with the provisions of the Commission's territorial exclusivity rule (§ 3.658 (b) of the Commission's rules and regulations), with the anti-trust laws or the public interest.

(f) To determine whether, on the basis of the hearing record adduced with respect to Issues (a) to (e), inclusive, a grant of the above-entitled application would serve the public interest, convenience and necessity.

The burden of proof as to each of the above issues shall be on the protestant.

15. It is further ordered, That the protestant and the Chief, Broadcast Bureau, are hereby made parties to the above-described proceedings, and that:

(a) The hearing on the above issues shall commence at 10:00 a. m. on May 28, 1956, before an Examiner of the Commission; and

(b) The parties to the proceedings herein shall have fifteen (15) days after the issuance of the Examiner's decision to file exceptions thereto and seven (7) days thereafter to file replies to any such exceptions; and

(c) The parties intending to participate in the hearing herein shall file their appearances not later than May 21, 1956.

Adopted: April 23, 1956.

Released: April 23, 1956.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 24NY–4209]

BRIDGEHAVEN, INC.

ORDER TEMPORARILY SUSPENDING EXEMPTION, STATEMENT OF REASONS THEREFOR, AND NOTICE OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

APRIL 23, 1956.

I. Bridgehaven, Inc., 50 Lefferts Avenue, Brooklyn, New York, having filed with this Commission on January 26, 1956, a notification on Form 1–A relating to a proposed offering of 500 shares of $100 par value non-voting Class A common stock at the price of $100 per share for the purpose of obtaining an exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, pursuant to the provisions of section 3 (b) thereof and Regulation A promulgated thereunder;

II. The Commission having reasonable grounds to believe that:

A. The terms and conditions of Regulation A have not been complied with in that:

(1) The issuer failed to disclose in Item 3 of Form 1–A information concerning the sale of unregistered securities within one year prior to the filing of the notification;

APRIL 23, 1956.

Notice is hereby given that Employees' Investment Company ("Employees' "), a corporation organized under the laws of the State of California, has filed an application pursuant to section 6 (d) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("act"), and Rule N–6D–1 thereunder, for an order of the Commission exempting it from the provisions of the act. Employees' has agreed that it will accept and be subject to any specified provisions of the act if the Commission deems it necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors that it should be so subject.

Employees' proposes to sell its shares without sales load primarily within a group of employees and agents of Farmers Insurance Group who formed Employees' for their own benefit. Section 6 (d) of the act provides in substance that the Commission by order upon application shall exempt a closed-end investment company from any or all provisions of the act, but subject to such terms and conditions as may be necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors, if the aggregate sums received from the sale of all its securities, outstanding and proposed to be offered, do not exceed $100,000 and if the sale of its securities is restricted to the residents of the state of its organization.

Section 6 (e) of the act provides that if, in connection with any provisions of section 7, the Commission deems it necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors that certain specified provisions of the act pertaining to registered investment companies shall be applicable in respect of such company, the provisions so specified shall apply to such company, and to other persons in their transactions and relations with such company, as though such company were a registered investment company.

The Division of Corporate Regulation has recommended that exemption be granted employees from the following provisions of the act and the respective rules and regulations promulgated under each of such provisions:

[945.301 Amdt. 6]

PART 945—TOMATOES GROWN IN FLORIDA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

Findings. (a) Pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 125 and Order No. 45 (7 CFR Part 945; 20 F. R. 7357), regulating the handling of tomatoes grown in Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 68 Stat. 906, 1047), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Florida Tomato Committee, established pursuant to said marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the amendment to the limitation of shipments, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(b) It is hereby found that it is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment later than April 30, 1956. The basic changes in the existing regulation which will be effected by this amendment are as follows: Maximum net weights for tomatoes packed in containers of dimensions customarily used in the handling of Florida tomatoes will be amended. The changes will relieve minimum weight restrictions on containers now specified in § 945.301, Amdt. 5 (21 F. R. 2408) and will bring an additional container under maximum net weight regulation. Tomatoes are now being marketed from the Fort Pierce, Immokalee, and West Coast producing sections, and such marketings will increase rapidly to a seasonal peak, with such increasing supplies having a depressing effect upon prices. Growers' prices also are adversely affected by over packing, i. e., increasing the net weight of tomatoes per container in excess of customary or normal net contents, especially during periods of declining and low prices. Orderly marketing will be promoted by establishing the net maximum weight for tomatoes packed in the containers specified in this regulation. The time intervening between the date (April 24, 1956) when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time (April 30, 1956) when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient to permit the taking of the aforementioned actions. Compliance with this amendment will not require special preparation on the part of handlers which cannot be completed by April 30, 1956, and reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for such preparation. Information regarding the committee's recommendations, which are herein adopted was made available to producers and handlers in the production area when such recommendations were made to this Department.

Order, as amended. The provisions of § 945.301 (b) (3), as amended (21 F. R. 2408—April 13, 1956), are hereby further amended for the period April 30 to May 31, 1956, both dates inclusive, as follows:

(3) No person shall handle for shipment outside the production area any tomatoes packed in the following containers unless the net weight of such tomatoes in each such container does not exceed the maximum net weight set forth for each such container:

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 953.746 Lemon Regulation 639—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 53, as amended (7 CFR Part 953; 20 F. R. 8451), regulating the handling of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of the quantity of such lemons which may be handled, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. Shipments of lemons, grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, are currently subject to regulation pursuant to said amended marketing agreement and order; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein was promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Lemon Administrative Committee on April 25, 1956, such meeting was held, after giving due notice thereof to consider recommendations for regulation, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such lemons; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period hereinafter specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time thereof.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., April 29, 1956, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., May 6, 1956, is hereby fixed as follows:

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

Subchapter A—Civil Air Regulations

LANDING GEAR POSITION INDICATOR SWITCHES AND SAFETY CRITERIA FOR ELECTRIC UTILIZATION SYSTEMS

The purpose in issuing the following amendments to Part 4b is (1) to include landing gear position indicator switches (§ 4b.334–2) in the means for indicating when a retractable landing gear is secured in the extended or retracted position and to specify an acceptable method of positioning such switches; (2) to establish criteria (§ 4b.606–1) by which all systems using electrical power can be evaluated. Amendments as follows are hereby adopted to become effective May 25, 1956:

1. A new § 4b.334–2 is added to read as follows:

§ 4b.334–2 Landing gear position indicator switches (CAA interpretations which apply to § 4b.334 (e)). The phrase "means shall be provided for indicating to the pilot" includes a landing gear position indicator as well as the switches necessary to actuate such indicator. The switches must be so located and coupled to the landing gear mechanical system as to preclude the possibility of an erroneous indication of "down and locked" if the landing gear is not in a fully extended position, or "up and locked" if the landing gear is not in the completely retracted position. Location of the switches so that they are operated by the actual landing gear locking latch or device is an acceptable method of compliance with the requirements of this section.

2. A new § 4b.606–1 is added to read as follows:

§ 4b.606–1 Safety criteria[1] for electric utilization system; (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.606 (a) and (b)). Electric utilization systems[2] should be analyzed, inspected or tested to assure conformance to the following safety criteria.

(a) Loss of system function. The system should not be rendered inoperative by any probable malfunction,[3] if operation of this system is necessary to maintain controlled flight or effect a safe landing for any authorized flight operation.

(b) Inadvertent operation of system. The system should not be inadvertently set into operation by any probable malfunction, if such inadvertent operation can result in the inability to maintain controlled flight or effect a safe landing for any authorized flight operation.

(c) Systems serving two or more engines. No probable malfunction in the system should adversely affect the performance of more than one propulsion engine, consistent with the provisions of § 4b.401 (b).

(d) System independence. No probable malfunction in one system should render another system inoperative, if both systems are necessary in showing compliance with this part.

(e) Misleading system indicators. No probable malfunction in the system should result in a safe indication of an unsafe condition of flight, if such misleading information can result in the inability to maintain controlled flight or effect a safe landing for any authorized flight operation.

(f) System overheat. No probable malfunction in the system should result in overheat of electric equipment, such that hazardous quantities of smoke are generated within the cabin, or such that a fire hazard is created, unless adequate means are provided to detect and correct the overheat condition during flight.

(g) Electric shock exposure. No probable malfunction in the system should expose crew or passengers to harmful electric shock, during any normal activity on the aircraft.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interpret or apply secs. 601, 603, 52 Stat. 1007, as amended, 1009, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 551, 553)

This supplement shall become effective May 25, 1956.

[SEAL] JAMES T. PYLE,
Acting Administrator of Civil Aeronautics.

[1] When applying these criteria to particular systems, it should be clear that the degree of hazard resulting from a type of malfunction may vary considerably with the type of aircraft in which the system is installed, or with the nature of the operation in which the aircraft is utilized. Examples of systems which should be considered under certain of the above criteria are as follows: (a) Basic flight instruments, minimum navigation equipment; (b) propeller reversing system, trim-tab system, dive brake system, landing gear actuation systems; (c) fuel control valve system, propeller control system; (d) landing gear indicating system, radio navigation system, instrument landing system, gyroscopic instrument systems. Additional safety criteria are contained in sections of this part applicable to particular systems and components of the airplane.

[2] An electric utilization system is a system of electric equipment, devices and connected wiring, which utilizes electric energy to perform a specific aircraft function. The system includes all electric components beyond the nearest bus or sub-bus from which electric energy is supplied. Examples of such systems are: propeller control system, electric flight instrument system, radio navigation equipment system, fuel valve control system, flap and landing gear actuating systems.

[3] A probable malfunction is any single electrical or mechanical malfunction or failure within a utilization system which is considered probable on the basis of past service experience with similar components in aircraft applications. This definition should be extended to multiple malfunctions when: (1) The first malfunction would not be detected during normal operation of the system, including periodic checks established at intervals which are consistent with the degree of hazard involved, or (2) the first malfunction would inevitably lead to other malfunctions.

This definition of "probable malfunction" applies wherever this term is used in this section.

SUBPART A—INTRODUCTION

§ 610.1 Basis and purpose. The basis of this part is sections 205 and 601 of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended and §§ 40.408, 41.114, 42.53 and 60.17 of this title. The purpose of this part is to define the areas designated by the Administrator as mountainous areas and prescribe the minimum en route IFR altitudes at which an aircraft shall be flown over such mountainous areas and along particular routes or route segments designated herein.

§ 610.2 Explanation of terms. As used in this part:

"DME" means distance measuring equipment.

"FM" means fan marker.

"IFR" means instrument flight rules as prescribed in Part 60.

"ILS" means instrument landing system.

"INT" means intersection.

"L" means compass locator.

"LF/MF" means low frequency/medium frequency.

"LFR" means low frequency radio range.

"LMM" means compass locator at middle marker site of ILS.

"LOM" means compass locator at outer marker site of ILS.

"MCA" means minimum crossing altitude. Minimum crossing altitudes "MCA" are the lowest altitudes at certain radio fixes at which an aircraft must cross when proceeding in the direction of a higher minimum en route altitude.

"Minimum En Route IFR Altitudes" MEA means the altitude applicable to a particular route or route segment from radio fix to radio fix as specified in this part. For routes or route segments along a civil airway, the altitudes shall apply to the entire width of the airway. For off-airway routes published in this part, these altitudes apply only to that airspace five miles on each side of a course between the radio fixes defining the particular route or route segment. These altitudes do not apply to, and are not compatible with the navigation and obstruction clearance requirements for any other airspace, controlled or noncontrolled. Minimum en route IFR altitudes in effect between radio fixes, both on the colored and VOR airways and direct routes (VHF and LF), assure acceptable navigation signal coverage and meet obstruction clearance requirements between the radio fixes defining the particular route or route segment.

"MM" means middle marker (component of ILS).

"MOCA" means minimum obstruction clearance altitude. Minimum obstruction clearance altitude in effect between radio fixes on VOR airways or VOR off-airway routes or route segments meet obstruction clearance requirements for the entire route segment between the radio fixes specified and assure acceptable navigation signal coverage only within 25 miles of the VOR station.

"MRA" means minimum reception altitude applicable to an intersection. Minimum reception altitude in effect at an intersection is the lowest altitude at which the intersection can be determined.

"OM" means outer marker (component of ILS).

"RBN" means radiobeacon "H" facility.

"VAR" means visual aural radio range.

"VHF" means very high frequency.

"VOR" means very high frequency omnirange.

"VOR–E" means VOR and distance measuring equipment.

"Z" means a very high frequency location marker.

SUBPART B—CRITERIA

§ 610.3 Establishment of minimum en route altitudes. The criteria set forth in this subpart are used by the Administrator in establishing minimum IFR en route altitudes.

(a) Navigation aids—(1) Adequacy of navigation aids on airways and off-airway routes. Minimum en route IFR altitudes will be established from radio fix to radio fix. Such altitudes will be premised on ground aids which are of such character and so oriented with respect to the route that course line over the route may be maintained within the confines of the route boundary by radio navigation.

(2) Exceptions. A minimum en route IFR altitude may be established for an airway or off-airway route segment at which altitude navigation signal coverage does not exist over the entire route segment: Provided, That it is found after considering the character of the terrain being traversed, weather phenomena peculiar to the area, the quality and quantity of the meteorological services, the navigation facilities available and other flight conditions that the safe conduct of flight permits or requires such altitudes. Altitudes will not be established premised on limited navigation signal coverage on "dog leg" airways and/or across intersections or along coincident or overlapping airways.

(3) Navigation aids used to "break" MEA. Radio ranges, radio beacons, ILS localizers, LOM(s), LMM(s), intersections,[1] VOR–DME fixes, and fan markers[2] will be utilized to "break" minimum en route IFR altitudes: Provided, A determination has been made that the navigation aid and/or intersections comprising the fix are adequate, reliable and compatible to the associated route structure.

(b) Minimum obstruction clearance—(1) General. The minimum en route IFR altitudes for routes over terrain not designated mountainous will provide for 1,000 feet obstruction clearance over the highest obstacle on the airway or off-airway route. The altitudes will be indicated to the nearest 100 feet.[3]

(2) Areas designated mountainous. Except as set forth in the exceptions, minimum en route IFR altitudes for airways or off-airway routes over terrain designated mountainous will provide for 2,000 feet obstruction clearance over the highest obstacle on the airway or off-airway route. The altitudes will be indicated to the nearest 100 feet.

(i) Exceptions. Altitudes may be established providing only 1,200 feet obstruction clearance in the designated mountainous areas of the eastern United States, and 1,600 feet obstruction clearance in the designated mountainous areas of the western United States and Alaska: Provided, That consideration will be given to the following items before altitudes providing less than 2,000 feet obstruction clearance in these areas are established:

(a) Areas characterized by precipitous terrain.

(b) Weather phenomena peculiar to a particular area.

(c) Phenomena conducive to marked pressure differentials.

(d) Owing to the action of the Bernoulli effect and of atmospheric eddies, vortices, waves, and other phenomena which occur in conjunction with the disturbed air flow attending the passage of strong winds over mountains, pressure deficiencies manifested as very steep horizontal pressure gradients develop over such regions. Since down drafts and low clouds are prevalent under these conditions, the hazards to air navigation are manifold.

(e) Type of navigational facilities and the distance between navigational fixes.

(f) Availability of weather reporting services throughout an area.

(g) Frequency and reliability of altimeter resetting points along routes within the area.

(g) Altitudes providing only 1,000 feet obstruction clearance over towers and/or other man-made obstructions may be established for airways and off-airway routes in designated mountainous areas where such obstructions are not actually located on precipitous terrain.

(3) New construction within five miles of the outer boundary of an airway or off-airway route[4]—(i) Within 25 miles of the navigational facility. In all areas, mountainous or non-mountainous where new construction such as towers, buildings, etc., are located in areas described as extending laterally for five miles measured at right angles to and from either side of the outer boundaries of an airway or off-airway route and extending longitudinally for a distance of twenty-five (25) miles measured along each airway or route from a radio navigational facility when such obstruction projects above an inclined surface having a slope of 50:1 extending upward and outward at right angles from the outer boundary of the airway or off-airway route at a level of 500 feet below the minimum en route IFR altitude, the minimum en route IFR altitude will be increased by application of the following formula:

(c) Add 300 feet to the mean sea level height of any new construction projecting above the slope line within 2–3 miles from the boundary of the airway or off-airway route.

(e) Add 100 feet to the mean sea level height of any new construction projecting above the slope line within 4–5 miles from the outer boundary of the airway or off-airway route.

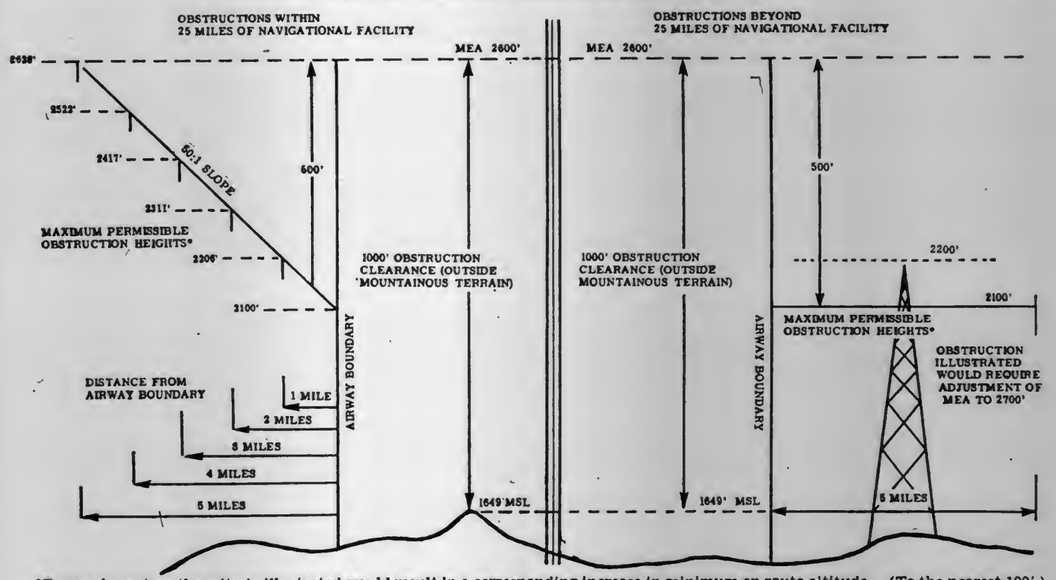
(ii) Beyond 25 miles of the navigational facility. In all areas, mountainous or non-mountainous where new construction such as towers, buildings, etc., are located in areas described as extending laterally for five (5) miles measured at right angles to and from either side of the outer boundaries of an airway or off-airway route and extending longitudinally beyond a distance of twenty-five (25) miles measured along each airway or off-airway route from a navigational facility when such construction projects above a horizontal plane at a level of 500 feet below the minimum en route IFR altitude of the airway or off-airway route, the minimum en route IFR altitude will be increased to provide obstruction clearance of at least 500 feet above such construction.

(4) Minimum crossing altitudes. In all cases where obstructions intervene to prevent a normal climb to a higher minimum en route IFR altitude immediately after passing the point beyond which the higher minimum altitude applies, a minimum crossing altitude will be established at that point beyond which the higher



[1] Intersecting angles of VOR radials or ILS courses will be at least 30° when such intersections are used to "break" MEA(s). Intersecting angles of LF/MF or ADF bearings will be at least 45° when such intersections are used to "break" MEA(s).

[2] Fan markers will be used only to "break" an MEA to a lower altitude for one direction of flight only over a route segment. Climb to a higher IFR altitude will not be premised on a fan marker.

[3] All minimum en route IFR altitudes will be indicated to the nearest 100 feet (i. e., 1,149 feet will be indicated as 1,100 feet; 1,150 feet will be indicated as 1,200 feet, etc.).

[4] See diagram 1.

GRAPHIC ILLUSTRATION OF CRITERIA FOR ESTABLISHING MINIMUM EN ROUTE ALTITUDES PROVIDING FOR THE NECESSARY OBSTRUCTION CLEARANCE WITHIN FIVE MILES OF THE BOUNDARY OF AN AIRWAY OR ROUTE

*Encroachment on the criteria illustrated would result in a corresponding increase in minimum en route altitude. (To the nearest 100'.)

minimum en route IFR altitude is applicable. The standard for determining what the minimum crossing altitude will be or when climb will be accomplished after passing a fix will be based on a climb of 500 feet in a distance of four (4) miles up to flight altitudes of 6,000 feet and a climb of 300 feet in a distance of five miles for all flight altitudes above 6,000 feet, except in those instances where the elevation of the navigational fix is 4,000 feet or above the 500-foot-four-mile criteria will apply up to flight altitudes of 8,000 feet and the 300-foot-five-mile criteria thereafter. The same vertical and horizontal obstruction clearance criteria as utilized to establish minimum en route IFR altitudes will be used.

Example:

From *Ontario, Calif., VOR; to Palm Springs INT., Calif.; MEA 13,000. *8,000—MCA Ontario, eastbound.

(5) Minimum reception altitudes—intersections. At certain intersections, VOR reception may not be adequate at the lowest minimum en route IFR altitude associated with the intersection. In such instances where the minimum reception altitude to determine the fix is higher than the lowest minimum en route IFR altitude associated therewith, a minimum reception altitude will be established and denoted by footnote for such intersection or listed as an additional intersection.

Example:

From Colts Neck, N. J., VOR; to *Woolf INT, N. J.; MEA 1,500. *2,000—MRA.

(6) Minimum obstruction clearance altitudes. At certain locations, VOR reception may not be adequate over an entire route segment under normal operation conditions to assure acceptable VOR reception at an altitude meeting obstruction clearance requirements. In such cases an altitude assuring acceptable VOR reception will be established as the minimum en route IFR altitude and where this altitude is higher than an altitude required for obstruction clearance it will be denoted by a footnote and a "minimum obstruction clearance altitude" will also be established for the route segment.

Example:

From Abilene, Tex., VOR, via N alter.; to Mineral Wells, Tex., VOR, via N alter.; MEA *3,500. *3,000—MOCA.

SUBPART C—OPERATING RULES

§ 610.6 Operating procedures over mountainous areas and along particular routes. Except where necessary for takeoff or landing, all IFR operations over the mountainous areas designated in Subpart D of this part and along the routes or portions thereof designated in Subpart E of this part shall be conducted at or above the altitudes prescribed therefor and in accordance with the following procedures: [5]

[5] Pilots operating under IFR outside of control areas and control zones must comply with not only the minimum en route altitudes prescribed herein, but also the cruising altitudes prescribed in § 60.44 of this title.

(a) Climb. Climb to a higher IFR altitude shall begin immediately after passing the point beyond which the higher minimum applies except when ground obstructions intervene, the point beyond which the higher minimum applies shall be crossed at or above the minimum crossing altitude set forth in this part.[6]

(b) Descent. Except when otherwise specified by Air Traffic Control, descent to a lower IFR altitude minimum may begin immediately after passing the point beyond which the lower minimum applies. When it is necessary to expedite traffic to a lower en route IFR altitude, Air Traffic Control may specify the use of altitudes down to the initial approach altitude prescribed for the area in lieu of the minimum IFR altitudes prescribed in this part.

(c) Minimum reception altitudes; intersections. When a minimum reception altitude is prescribed for an intersection and it is necessary to utilize in the operation of the flight such intersection, the flight shall arrive at and cross the intersection at or above the minimum reception altitude specified for the intersection.[7]

(d) Minimum obstruction clearance altitudes. When a "minimum obstruction clearance altitude" has been established for a route segment, flight may be conducted at this altitude within 25 miles of a VOR station based on a reasonable estimate of that distance.

(e) Minimum en route IFR altitudes over mountainous areas. All IFR operation along any route or portion thereof over the terrain described in Subpart D of this part shall be conducted at altitudes of at least 2,000 feet above the highest obstacle located within a horizontal distance of five miles from the center-line of the course intended to be flown: Provided, That this rule shall not apply to take-offs or landings, or to operations along routes or route segments designated in Subpart E of this part for which a different altitude has been prescribed.

TITLE 17—COMMODITY AND SECURITIES EXCHANGES

Chapter II—Securities and Exchange Commission

PART 240—GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS UNDER THE SECURITIES EXCHANGE ACT OF 1934

PART 249—FORMS, SECURITIES EXCHANGE ACT OF 1934

REPORTS ON STABILIZING ACTIVITIES

On January 16, 1956 the Securities and Exchange Commission announced that it had under consideration a proposal to amend § 240.17a-2 (Rule X-17A-2), requiring stabilizing reports in certain cases, and Form X-17A-1 (§ 249.717), the form of report required to be used under the rule. The Commission has considered all of the comments and suggestions received and has amended the rule and form as stated below.

Before it was amended Rule X-17A-2 required stabilizing reports when stabilizing purchases were effected to facilitate an offering of securities registered under the Securities Act of 1933. These reports had to show purchases, sales and transfers in the stabilized and offered securities during the period beginning on the 20th day prior to the first stabilizing purchase and ending on the date when stabilizing was terminated, or the date when the short position was covered, whichever was later. The amended rule requires reports when stabilizing purchases are made in connection with a Regulation A offering or any other offering in which the aggregate offering price is more than $300,000, as well as offerings registered under the Securities Act. The amended rule also expressly provides for the reporting of transactions in rights where stabilizing occurs in connection with a rights offering. However, persons subject to the rule, particularly persons who do not act as managers, should find it easier to comply with the amended rule. Among other things, syndicate members other than the manager are required to file only one report at the termination of stabilizing instead of being required to file daily reports. Further, under the amended rule the managers and other participants would usually have to report transactions covering a shorter period; the reporting period begins on the 9th day before the offering or on the business day before stabilizing is begun, whichever is earlier, instead of on the 20th day prior to the first stablizing purchase.

The amendment of Form X-17A-1 should simplify compliance with requirements because (1) the instructions are more clearly and concisely stated and are contained in the form itself rather than on a separate instruction sheet, (2) fewer transactions have to be "timed" and (3) more transactions can be "bunched" in the report.

Statutory basis. Section 240.17a-2 is hereby amended as stated below and Form X-17A-1 (§ 249.717) is hereby amended to read as set forth in copies marked "as revised effective July 1, 1956," pursuant to the provisions of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, particularly sections 3 (b), 10 (b), 17 (a) and 23 (a) thereof, the Commission deeming such action necessary and appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of investors, and necessary for the execution of the functions vested in the Commission under the act.

§ 240.17a-2 Reports on stabilizing activities—(a) Scope of section. This section shall apply to any person who effects any purchase of a security for the purpose of pegging, fixing or stabilizing (hereinafter called "stabilizing") the price of any security to facilitate an offering of any security (other than an "exempted security" as hereinafter defined) (1) with respect to which a registration statement has been, or is to be, filed pursuant to the Securities Act of 1933 as amended or (2) which is being, or is to be, offered pursuant to an exemption from registration under Regulation A adopted under the Securities Act of 1933 or (3) which is being, or is to be, otherwise offered, if the aggregate offering price of the securities being offered exceeds $300,000. This section shall also apply to any person who has a participation in an account for which such a stabilizing purchase is effected.

(b) Definitions. Unless the context clearly indicates otherwise, for the purposes of this section and the forms prescribed hereby, the following terms shall have the meanings indicated:

(1) The term "manager" shall mean the person stabilizing for his sole account or for the account of a syndicate or group in which he is a participant.

(2) The term "transfer" shall mean any change in the control of a position in a security unaccompanied by a change in ownership.

(3) The term "offered security" shall include any security of the same class and series.

(4) The term "exempted security" means an exempted security as defined in section 3 (a) (12) of the act, including securities issued, or guaranteed both as to principal and interest, by the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

(c) Notifications by managers. Any person subject to this section who effects one or more stabilizing purchases for his sole account or for the account of a syndicate or group shall:

TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

PART 141a—PENICILLIN AND PENICILLIN-CONTAINING DRUGS; TESTS AND METHODS OF ASSAY

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463; 21 U. S. C. 357) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (20 F. R. 1996), the regulations for tests and methods of assay and certification of penicillin and penicillin-containing drugs (21 CFR Parts 141a, 146a) are amended as set forth below:

1. Section 141a.86 is amended in the following respects:

a. The section headnote is changed to read as follows: "§ 141a.86 Procaine penicillin - streptomycin - polymyxin in oil; procaine penicillin-dihydrostreptomycin-polymyxin in oil; procaine penicillin-streptomycin-polymyxin ointment; procaine penicillin-dihydrostreptomycin-polymyxin ointment."

b. In paragraph (a) Potency, subparagraph (1) is amended by inserting after the words "per milliliter" the words "or per gram".

c. Paragraph (a) (2) is amended by inserting after the words "per milliliter" the words "or per gram".

d. Paragraph (a) (3) is amended by inserting after the word "milligrams" the words "per milliliter or".

e. Paragraph (a) (4) (i) is amended to read as follows:

(i) In lieu of the directions for the preparation of the sample described in § 141b.112 (b) (1) (vii) of this chapter, prepare the sample by one of the following techniques:

(a) Extraction. Place a convenient-sized representative quantity of the sample in a separatory funnel containing approximately 50 milliliters of peroxide-free ether. Shake the sample and ether until homogeneous. Add 25 milliliters of 1-percent potassium phosphate buffer (pH 6.0) and shake. Remove the buffer layer and repeat the extraction with 25-milliliter portions of buffer at least three times and any additional times that may be necessary to insure complete extraction of the antibiotic. Combine the extractives. If the concentration of polymyxin in the combined extractives is less than 200 units per milliliter, 10-percent phosphate buffer (pH 6.0), containing 2 grams of $K_2HPO_4$ and 8 grams of $KH_2PO_4$ in each 100 milliliters, must be used in the extractions in lieu of 1-percent phosphate buffer (pH 6.0). Inactivate the penicillin with sufficient penicillinase at 37° C. for 30 minutes. Make the proper estimated dilutions in 10-percent potassium phosphate buffer (pH 6.0) to give a concentration of 10 units per milliliter (estimated).

(b) Blending. Place a convenient-sized representative quantity of the sample in a blending jar containing 1.0 milliliter of a 10-percent aqueous solution of polysorbate 80 and sufficient 1-percent phosphate buffer (pH 6.0) to give a final volume of 200 milliliters. If the sample consists of substantially more than 1 gram, use sufficient buffer to give a final volume of 500 milliliters. If the concentration of polymyxin in the blend is less than 200 units per milliliter, 10-percent phosphate buffer (pH 6.0) should be used in lieu of 1-percent phosphate buffer (pH 6.0). Using a high-speed blender, blend the mixture for 2 minutes. Inactivate the penicillin with sufficient penicillinase at 37° C. for 30 minutes and make the proper estimated dilutions in 10-percent phosphate buffer (pH 6.0) to give a concentration of 10 units per milliliter (estimated).

f. Paragraph (a) (4) (ii) is amended by inserting in the last sentence after the words "per milliliter" the words "or per gram".

2. Part 141a is amended by adding the following new section:

§ 141a.89 Procaine penicillin-neomycin-polymyxin ointment—(a) Potency—(1) Penicillin content. Proceed as directed in § 141a.8 (a). Its content of penicillin is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of units per gram that it is represented to contain.

(2) Neomycin content. Proceed as directed in § 141e.411 (a) (2) of this chapter, except that sufficient penicillinase is added to the sample under test to inactivate the penicillin. Its content of neomycin is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of milligrams per gram that it is represented to contain.

(3) Polymyxin content. Proceed as directed in § 141a.86 (a) (4). Its content of polymyxin is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of units per gram that it is represented to contain.

(b) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141a.8 (b).

3. Section 146a.108 is amended in the following respects:

a. The section headnote and the introduction to the paragraph are changed to read as follows:

§ 146a.108 Procaine penicillin-streptomycin-polymyxin in oil; procaine penicillin -dihydrostreptomycin - polymyxin in oil; procaine penicillin-streptomycin-polymyxin ointment; procaine penicillin-dihydrostreptomycin-polymyxin ointment. Procaine penicillin-streptomycin-polymyxin in oil, procaine penicillin-didydrostreptomycin-polymyxin in oil, procaine penicillin-streptomycin-polymyxin ointment, and procaine penicillin - dihydrostreptomycin - polymyxin ointment conform to all requirements and are subject to all procedures prescribed by § 146a.54 for procaine penicillin-streptomycin ointment or procaine penicillin-dihydrostreptomycin ointment or by § 146a.57 for procaine penicillin and streptomycin in oil or procaine penicillin and dihydrostreptomycin in oil, except that:

b. Paragraph (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) In lieu of the labeling prescribed by § 146a.54 (b) or § 146a.57 (a) (3), each package shall bear on the outside wrapper or container and the immediate container the number of units of penicillin, the number of milligrams of streptomycin or dihydrostreptomycin, and the number of units of polymyxin B per milliliter or per gram or per prescribed dose; if it contains one or more of the active ingredients specified in § 146a.54 (a) (3) or § 146a.57 (a) (2), the name and quantity of each; the statement "For udder instillation of cattle only"; and the statement "Expiration date _____," the blank being filled in with the date that is 12 months after the month during which the batch was certified. Each package shall also bear on its label and labeling, if it contains one or more of the active ingredients specified in § 146a.54 (a) (3) or § 146a.57 (a) (2), after the name "procaine penicillin-streptomycin-polymyxin in oil," "procaine penicillin-dihydrostreptomycin-polymyxin in oil," "procaine penicillin-streptomycin-polymyxin ointment," or "procaine penicillin-dihydrostreptomycin-polymyxin ointment," wherever it appears, the words "with _____ (the blank being filled in with the common or usual name of each such ingredient)," in juxtaposition with such name.

c. Paragraph (c) is amended by changing the reference to "§ 146a.57 (a) (4)," to read "§ 146a.54 (c) or § 146a.57 (a) (4),".

4. Part 146a is amended by adding the following new section:

§ 146a.111 Procaine penicillin-neomycin-polymyxin ointment—(a) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Procaine penicillin-neomycin-polymyxin ointment is procaine penicillin, neomycin, and polymyxin in a suitable and harmless ointment base, with or without a suitable anesthetic and with or without cortisone or a suitable derivative of cortisone. Its moisture content is not more than 1.0 percent. It contains not less than 25,000 units of procaine penicillin, not less than 17.5 milligrams of neomycin, and not less than 5,000 units of polymyxin per gram. The procaine penicillin used conforms to the requirements of § 146a.44 (a), except § 146a.44 (a) (2) and (3). The neomycin used conforms to the requirements of § 146e.410 (a) (2) of this chapter. The polymyxin used conforms to the requirements of § 146b.107 (a) of this chapter. Each other substance used, if its name is recognized in the U. S. P. or N. F., conforms to the standards prescribed therefor by such official compendium.

(b) Packaging; labeling; request for certification, samples; fees. The drug conforms to all requirements and procedures prescribed for penicillin ointment by § 146a.26 (b), (c), (d), and (e), except that:

(1) In lieu of the labeling prescribed for penicillin ointment by § 146a.26 (c) (1) (ii), each package shall bear on the outside wrapper or container and the immediate container:

(a) The number of units of procaine penicillin, the number of milligrams of neomycin, and the number of units of polymyxin per gram or per single-dose container.

(b) If it contains an anesthetic or cortisone or a derivative of cortisone, the name and amount of each such ingredient.

(c) If it contains cortisone or a derivative of cortisone, after the name "procaine penicillin-neomycin-polymyxin ointment," wherever it appears, the words "with _____ (the blank being filled in with the common or usual name of each such other ingredient)," in juxtaposition with such name.

(2) In addition to complying with the requirements of § 146a.26 (d), a person who requests certification of a batch shall submit with his request a statement showing the batch marks and (unless they were previously submitted) the results and the dates of the latest tests and assays of the neomycin (for potency and toxicity) and polymyxin (for potency, toxicity, moisture, and pH) used in making the batch; the number of units of penicillin; the number of milligrams of neomycin, and the number of units of polymyxin per gram. He shall also submit in connection with his request a sample consisting of not less than 7 immediate containers of the batch and (unless they were previously submitted) samples consisting of 5 packages each of the neomycin and polymyxin used in making the batch, each package containing approximately equal portions of not less than 0.5 gram.

(3) The fee for the services rendered with respect to each immediate container in the samples of neomycin and polymyxin submitted in accordance with the requirements prescribed by this section shall be $4.00.

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with interested members of the affected industry and since it would be against public interest to delay providing for the amendments set forth above.

Effective date. This order shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, since both the public and the affected industry will benefit by the earliest effective date, and I so find.

HANDLING OF MILK IN CLEVELAND, TOLEDO, LIMA, COLUMBUS, DAYTON-SPRINGFIELD, CINCINNATI, TRI-STATE, STARK COUNTY, AKRON, OHIO; GREATER WHEELING, WEST VIRGINIA, CLARKSBURG, WEST VIRGINIA; and FORT WAYNE, INDIANA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENTS AND TO ORDERS AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a joint public hearing was held at Columbus, Ohio, on April 20, 1956, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on April 13, 1956 (21 F. R. 2442), upon proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreements and to the orders, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the following marketing areas:

Cleveland, Ohio.
Toledo, Ohio.
Lima, Ohio.
Columbus, Ohio.
Dayton-Springfield, Ohio.
Cincinnati, Ohio.
Tri-State.
Stark County, Ohio.
Akron, Ohio.
Greater Wheeling, W. Va.
Clarksburg, W. Va.
Fort Wayne, Ind.

The material issues of record related to:

1. Increases in the price for Class I milk for a limited period of time; and

2. The existence of an emergency requiring expedited procedures.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions are based on the evidence received at the hearing and the record thereof:

1. In order that disorderly marketing conditions may be avoided Class I price increases through July 1956 should be made as specified below.

In order to maintain orderly marketing conditions in important milksheds located in the center of the largest milk production region of the nation, action has been effected to nullify seasonal reductions in price which would otherwise have affected returns to producers. The Department acted on April 13 to issue suspension orders modifying the price provisions of the milk orders for the Chicago, Milwaukee, South Bend-La Porte, and Rockford-Freeport markets for the period April 16–July 31, 1956. The result of these suspension actions, official notice of which is taken, is to increase the Class I price to producers by 46 cents per hundredweight for the period April 16–June 30 and by 26 cents per hundredweight for the month of July. This action also affected prices in the Quad Cities and Dubuque markets. These price actions affecting the Chicago and certain other mid-west markets as referred to have changed the customary relationships of prices between the major markets in the heavy producing regions and those affected by this decision, causing differences in price which add to an already difficult marketing situation.

Price levels in the markets covered by this decision vary in accordance with local conditions and distances from the major producing areas and, under usual circumstances, local market supply and demand influences are primary factors in bringing about price changes. Any significant maladjustment in price alignment with the major milk producing areas at this time, however, would result in widespread disparities in returns for milk among producers generally, and in view of unsettled conditions, could cause uneconomic marketing responses and disturbances affecting producers and markets over widespread areas. As indicated by the record even short-run disparities in price at this time would magnify the price level problems of producers in such markets. For these reasons immediate action to re-establish previous price alignments is imperative to restore orderly marketing conditions. This necessitates increases of 46 cents per hundredweight through June and 26 cents per hundredweight through July of this year in each of such markets. It is concluded that such increases should be made.

The Class I prices of the Akron, Lima, and Stark County, Ohio, orders are automatically maintained in fixed alignment to the Class I price of the Cleveland order, hence no amendment action is necessary to carry out the conclusions of this decision with respect to such orders.

By suspension order effective April 17, 1956, action has been taken with respect to the Class I price in the Toledo, Ohio, market which makes amendment action for that market unnecessary.

2. The need for emergency action. The due and timely execution of the function of the Secretary under the Act imperatively and unavoidably requires omission of a recommended decision by the Deputy Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service and exceptions thereto. As indicated elsewhere in this decision the purpose of the proposed amendments is to preserve through July 1956 alignment of prices in the respective marketing areas with the price of the Chicago marketing area, and thus to avoid disorderly marketing conditions. Immediate action must be taken if such amendments are to be effective in meeting the present emergency situation. The delay necessarily involved in the preparation, filing, and publication of the recommended decision and exceptions thereto would defeat the purpose of the amendments. Request was made on the record for omission of the recommended decision and opportunity for exceptions.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreements and the order amending the orders, as amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices for milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing areas, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreements and the order amending the orders, as amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed order amending the orders, as amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in marketing agreements upon which hearings have been held.

Determination of representative period. The month of February 1956 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of the order amending the orders, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in certain marketing areas in the manner set forth in the attached order is approved or favored by producers who during such period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in each of the marketing areas specified in the said order.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. Briefs were filed on behalf of interested parties. The briefs contained proposed findings, conclusions, and arguments with respect to the provisions of the proposed amendments. Every point covered in the briefs was carefully considered along with the evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. To the extent that the findings and conclusions proposed in the briefs are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions is denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions in this recommended decision.

Marketing agreements and order amending the orders, as amended. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled, respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the _____ Area" and "Order Amending the Orders, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in Certain Marketing Areas," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective as to any marketing area specified therein unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met with respect to such marketing areas.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision except the form of marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of the marketing agreements will be identical with those contained in the respective orders, as amended, and as proposed to be hereby further amended.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 25th day of April 1956.

C. 1003) that the Secretary of Agriculture, pursuant to the wheat acreage allotment provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended (7 U. S. C. 1334), is considering revising the provision for determining base acreages for new wheat farms, as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER for March 28, 1956 (21 F. R. 1895), by changing paragraph (c) of § 728.718 Determination of base acreage for new farms to read as follows:

(c) In determining the base acreage for each new farm, the county committee shall take into consideration the tillable acres, crop-rotation practices, type of soil, topography, and the farming system to be followed by the operator, including the equipment and other facilities available for the production of wheat under such system: Provided, That the base acreage so established shall not exceed the wheat acreage for the farm for 1957 under the planned crop-rotation system. Without prior approval of the State committee the base acreage recommended by the county committee shall not exceed 100 percent of the acreage indicated by cropland where the operator of the farm has been planting wheat in regular rotation; 80 percent of the acreage indicated by cropland where the operator has had past history of wheat on other farms; 65 percent of the acreage indicated by cropland where the operator has had no opportunity to establish wheat history for himself; and 25 percent of the acreage indicated by cropland where the applicant could have established wheat history in the past three years, but has not done so, and in all other cases.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with the proposal above should file the same with the Director, Grain Division, Commodity Stabilization Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., within ten days after the date of the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

SUBPART—1955-56 MARKETING YEAR

§ 730.607 Basis and purpose. (a) The county acreage allotments for 1955 crop rice contained herein have been determined under section 353 (c) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended. The purpose of this section is to announce the apportionment among counties of the States of Arkansas, Illinois, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma, and South Carolina, the respective State acreage allotments of rice for 1955 as established by the proclamation dated January 18, 1955 (20 F. R. 511) and to add thereto the acreage made available to the county from the State reserve for adjustments in small allotments, the acreage made available to the county from the national reserve provided for by section 353 (a) of the act, and the increases provided for under Public Law 29, 84th Congress. Since farm acreage allotments for 1955 crop rice in the States of Arizona, California, Florida, Tennessee, and Texas were established pursuant to the act primarily on the basis of past production of rice by the producer on the farm in lieu of past production of rice on the farm, the 1955 State acreage allotments of rice for those States were apportioned directly to farms, and county rice acreage

The determinations made by the Secretary in § 730.608 were made on the basis of the latest available statistics of the Federal Government as required by section 301 (c) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended.

Chapter VIII—Commodity Stabilization Service (Sugar), Department of Agriculture

Subchapter B—Sugar Requirements and Quotas

[Sugar Reg. 811, Amdt. 1]

PART 811—CONTINENTAL SUGAR REQUIREMENTS AND AREA QUOTAS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Basis and purpose. The purpose of Sugar Regulation 811 is to determine, pursuant to section 201 of the Sugar Act of 1948, as amended (hereinafter called the "act"), the amount of sugar needed to meet the requirements of consumers in the continental United States for the calendar year 1956 and to establish, pursuant to section 202 of the act, sugar quotas for the supplying areas in terms of short tons of sugar, raw value, equal to the quantity determined by the Secretary of Agriculture to be needed in 1956.

The act requires that the Secretary shall revise the determination of sugar requirements at such times during the calendar year as may be necessary. It now appears that an increase in the estimate of requirements for the calendar year 1956 is necessary. The purpose of this amendment is to make such determination conform to the requirements indicated on the basis of the factors specified in section 201 of the act and give effect to the revised determination.

After providing for quotas in specific amounts for domestic sugar producing areas and the Republic of the Philippines, section 202 of the act provides that the difference between the sum of such quotas and total requirements shall be prorated to foreign countries other than the Republic of the Philippines on the basis of stated percentages. Thus, the statute states specifically how quotas are to be revised when there is a change in sugar requirements. Furthermore, in order to make available the additional sugar authorized by this amendment to meet current demand at stable prices and thereby protect the interests of consumers, it is essential that this amendment be made effective immediately. Therefore, it is hereby determined and found that compliance with the notice, procedure and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001), is impracticable, unnecessary and contrary to the public interest. The amendments made herein shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture by the Sugar Act of 1948, as amended (61 Stat. 922, 65 Stat. 318, 7 U. S. C. 1100), and the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237) §§ 811.80, 811.82, 811.84 (b) and 811.85 (b) (1) of Sugar Regulation 811 (20 F. R. 9848) are amended to read as hereinafter set forth.

1. Section 811.80 is amended to read:

§ 811.80 Sugar requirements, 1956. The amount of sugar needed to meet the requirements of consumers in the continental United States for the calendar year 1956 is hereby determined to be 8,450,000 short tons, raw value.

2. Section 811.82 is amended to read:

§ 811.82 Basic quotas for other areas. There are hereby established, pursuant to subsections (b) and (c) of section 202 of the act, for foreign countries for the calendar year 1956 the following quotas:

| Area: | Quotas in terms of short tons, raw value |
|---|---|
| Republic of the Philippines | 980,000 |
| Cuba | 2,904,960 |
| Other foreign countries | 121,040 |

3. Paragraph (b) of § 811.84 is amended to read as follows:

§ 811.84 Proration of quota for foreign countries other than Cuba and the Republic of the Philippines. * * *

(b) Basic prorations. The 1956 quota for foreign countries other than Cuba and the Republic of the Philippines is hereby prorated pursuant to subsection (c) of section 202 of the act, among such countries as follows:

| Country: | Proration in short tons, raw value |
|---|---|
| Dominican Republic | 30,058 |
| El Salvador | 4,504 |
| Haiti | 2,909 |
| Mexico | 12,463 |
| Nicaragua | 8,518 |
| Peru | 56,536 |
| Unspecified countries | 6,052 |
| Total | 121,040 |

4. Paragraph (b) (1) of § 811.85 is amended to read as follows:

§ 811.85 Direct-consumption portion of quotas or prorations. * * *

(b) Other areas. (1) Pursuant to subsections (d), (e) and (h) of section 207 of the act, the quotas established in § 811.82 for the following listed areas may be filled by direct-consumption sugar not in excess of the following amount for each such area:

| Area: | Direct-consumption sugar short tons, raw value |
|---|---|
| Republic of the Philippines | 59,920 |
| Cuba | 375,000 |

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

Sugar requirements. The total of the sugar quotas for 1956 was initially set at 8,350,000 short tons, raw value, to maintain fair prices and orderly marketing of sugar. The total of the sugar quotas is now increased to 8,450,000 short tons, raw value.

The period of heavy cane harvesting in the Caribbean will soon start drawing to a close and the period of heavy summer sugar consumption is approaching. From the standpoint of fundamental merchandising forces, therefore, the market should be nearing a strong seasonal position.

Sugar distribution for the year to date should have been conducive to price stability. Through April 14 distribution amounted to 2,202,000 tons or 70,000 tons in excess of that for the corresponding period of last year. After allowance is made for the constructive deliveries of nearly 70,000 tons at the beginning of 1955, distribution for the year to date is substantially equal to that for the corresponding period of last year. Invisible inventories (those held by wholesalers, retailers and industrial users) are estimated to have been nearly 50,000 tons smaller on January 1 than they were a year earlier.

There is evidence that in recent weeks the raw sugar market has been dominated by speculative forces. Prices have risen during the period when they frequently reach their seasonal low point and the relationship between spot, nearby and distant futures prices is not in accordance with a normal price pattern. Although the New York spot sugar market is quoted at $6.05 per 100 pounds, it is reported that only nominal quantities are available at that level and sales have been reported at prices as high as $6.10 per 100 pounds. Last year spot raw sugar was quoted at $5.75 per 100 pounds at the low point in April, and the highest quotation in the year was $6.08 per 100 pounds. The rise in the price of raw sugar has caused the New York price of refined sugar to rise to $8.75 per 100 pounds, or only 10 cents per 100 pounds below the peak for the post-war period. Although producers who have had sugar to sell have been benefited by recent price rises, such speculative forces, unless curbed, can as readily operate to depress prices.

Although it would be desirable for technical reasons not to adjust sugar quotas until the proposed sugar legislation has been enacted, it appears necessary to make this adjustment at this time in order to preserve a stable and healthy sugar market which will provide a supply at prices which are not excessive to consumers and which will maintain and protect the welfare of the domestic sugar industry.

Quotas. To give effect to the increase in sugar requirements the quotas for Cuba and Foreign Countries other than Cuba and the Republic of the Philippines have been increased by the amendments made herein to §§ 811.82, 811.84 (b) and 811.75 (b) (1).

ORDER AMENDING ORDERS, AS AMENDED REGULATING HANDLING

Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the orders and of the previously issued amendments thereto regulating the handling of milk in the following marketing areas:

Louisville, Ky.
St. Louis, Mo.
Greater Kansas City.
Topeka, Kans.
Oklahoma City, Okla.
Tulsa-Muskogee, Okla.
Neosho Valley.
Wichita, Kans.
Paducah, Ky.
Southwest Kansas.
Ozarks.

And all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act") (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900) a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreements and to the orders, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the specified marketing areas. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearings and the records thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said orders, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said orders, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing areas, and the minimum prices specified in the orders, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said orders, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and are applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in the marketing agreements upon which hearings have been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary, in the public interest, to make the present amendment to the said orders effective as set forth below. Delay in the effective date of this amendment would tend to disrupt the orderly marketing of milk in the marketing areas heretofore designated, and would defeat the purpose of the amendment. The provisions of this order, amending the orders, are known to handlers, the public hearing having been held April 20, 1956, and the decision having been heretofore issued. Reasonable time, under the circumstances, has been afforded persons affected to prepare for its effective date. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for not delaying the effective date of this order for 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (section 4 (c); Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers in each of the aforesaid marketing areas (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping milk covered by this order) of more than 50 percent of the milk which is marketed within such marketing areas, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreements regulating the handling of milk in the respective marketing areas, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign such proposed marketing agreements tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order amending the orders, as amended, is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the aforesaid marketing areas; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who, during the determined representative period (February 1956), were engaged in the production of milk for sale in each of the aforesaid marketing areas.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, That on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the aforesaid marketing areas shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid orders, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and the aforesaid orders, as amended, are hereby further amended as follows:

1. Amend each of the orders specified in this paragraph by incorporating therein, in the manner indicated, the following provisions:

"The price for Class I milk otherwise computed pursuant to this section shall be increased 46 cents from May 1st, 1956, through June 1956 and 26 cents for the month of July 1956."

Part 919—Milk in Southwest Kansas Marketing Area, as § 919.51 (a) (1).
Part 977—Milk in Paducah, Ky., Marketing Area, as § 977.51 (a) (1).

In Part 928, Milk in Neosho Valley Marketing Area, amend § 928.51 (a) by adding immediately preceding the first proviso contained therein the following: "and plus an additional 46 cents during the delivery periods of May and June 1956 and plus an additional 26 cents during the delivery periods of July 1956 during which months the proviso immediately following shall not be effective."

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

(1) The said orders, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said orders, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the aforesaid marketing areas, and the minimum prices specified in the orders, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

Pursuant to the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), hereinafter referred to as the "act", and of the order, as amended (7 CFR Part 931), regulating the handling of milk in the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City, Iowa, marketing area, hereinafter referred to as the "order", it is hereby found and determined that:

(a) The following provisions of § 931.50 (a) will not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act for the period ending June 30, 1956:

"* * * the following premiums during the delivery periods indicated:

|---|---|
| December through April | $0.85 |
| May, June | .65 |

(b) Thirty days notice of the effective date hereof is found to be impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest in that:

(1) A large majority of the producers of the milk produced for this market have requested that these provisions be suspended;

(2) Evidence on marketing conditions received at a public hearing held April 25, 1956, at Minneapolis, Minnesota, indicates the need for the proposed suspension;

(3) It is found necessary to issue and make effective this suspension order to reflect current marketing conditons and to facilitate, promote, and maintain orderly marketing conditions in this marketing area; and

(4) This suspension order does not require of persons affected substantial or extensive preparation prior to its effective date.

Therefore, good cause exists for making this order effective immediately for the period ending June 30, 1956.

It is therefore ordered, That the following provisions of § 931.50 (a) of the order be and hereby are suspended from the effective date as provided below, through June 30, 1956:

PART 1002—MILK IN GREATER WHEELING, WEST VIRGINIA, MARKETING AREA

ORDER AMENDING ORDER, REGULATING HANDLING

§ 1002.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and all previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Wheeling, West Virginia, on March 2, 1956, upon proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, regulating the handling of milk in the Greater Wheeling, West Virginia, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is hereby found that:

(1) The said order, and the order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, and the order as hereby amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk produced for sale in said marketing areas as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for such milk and the minimum prices specified in the order, and the order as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, and the order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective class of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making effective not later than May 1, 1956, this order amending the order, except for the change in § 1002.13. This action is necessary in the public interest to reflect current marketing conditions. Accordingly, any delay in the effective date of this order beyond the aforesaid date, will seriously impair orderly marketing of milk in the Greater Wheeling, West Virginia, marketing area. The provisions of the said amendatory order are well known to handlers, the public hearing having been held on March 2, 1956, a recommended decision having been issued on April 12, 1956, and a final decision having been issued on April 25, 1956. Reasonable time under the circumstances has been afforded persons affected to prepare for its effective date. Therefore, it would be impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this amendatory order 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (see section 4 (c) Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.).

(c) Determination. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping the milk covered by this order amending the order, which is marketed within the Greater Wheeling, West Virginia, marketing area) of more than 50 percent of the milk which is marketed within the said marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said proposed marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order amending the order is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the act of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who during the determined representative period (February 1956), were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Greater Wheeling, West Virginia, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order and the order as hereby amended, and the aforesaid order is hereby amended as follows:

1. Delete § 1002.13 and substitute the following:

§ 1002.13 Producer-handler. "Producer-handler" means a person who operates both a dairy farm(s) and a milk processing or bottling plant at which each of the following conditions is met during the month:

(a) Milk is received from the dairy farm(s) of such person but from no other dairy farm;

(b) Fluid milk products are disposed of on routes or through a plant store to retail or wholesale outlets in the marketing area; and

(c) The butterfat or skim milk disposed of in fluid milk products does not exceed the butterfat or skim milk, respectively, received in the form of milk from the dairy farm(s) of such person and in the form of fluid milk products from pool plants of other handlers.

2. In § 1002.51 (a) delete the table of prices and substitute:

| Month: | Amount |
|---|---|
| February, March, April, May, June, and July | $1.50 |
| All others | 1.95 |

3. In § 1002.51 (b) delete the period at the end of the sentence and add the following: "Provided, further, That the Class II milk price for the months of May and June, 1956 shall be the basic formula price less 20 cents."

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 26th day of April 1956, to be effective with respect to § 1002.13 on August 1, 1956, and with respect to other provisions, on May 1, 1956.

Assistant Secretary.

PART 1009—MILK IN CLARKSBURG, WEST VIRGINIA, MARKETING AREA

ORDER AMENDING ORDER, REGULATING HANDLING

§ 1009.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and all previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Wheeling, West Virginia, on March 2, 1956, upon proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Clarksburg, West Virginia, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is hereby found that:

(1) The said order, and the order, as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, and the order, as hereby amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk produced for sale in said marketing areas as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for such milk and the minimum prices specified in the order, and the order, as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, and the order, as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making effective not later than May 1, 1956, this order amending the order, except for the change in § 1009.13. This action is necessary in the public interest to reflect current marketing conditions. Accordingly, any delay in the effective date of this order beyond the aforesaid date, will seriously impair orderly marketing of milk in the Clarksburg, West Virginia, marketing area. The provisions of the said amendatory order are well known to handlers, the public hearing having been held on March 2, 1956, a recommended decision having been issued on April 12, 1956, and a final decision having been issued on April 25, 1956. Reasonable time under the circumstances has been afforded persons affected to prepare for its effective date. Therefore, it would be impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this amendatory order 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (see section 4 (c) Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.).

(c) Determination. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping the milk covered by this order amending the order, which is marketed within the Clarksburg, West Virginia, marketing area) of more than 50 percent of the milk which is marketed within the said marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said proposed marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order amending the order, is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the act of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who during the determined representative period (February 1956), were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Clarksburg, West Virginia, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, and the order as hereby amended, and the aforesaid order is hereby amended as follows:

1. Delete § 1009.13 and substitute the following:

§ 1009.13 Producer-handler. "Producer-handler" means a person who operates both a dairy farm(s) and a milk processing or bottling plant at which each of the following conditions is met during the month:

(a) Milk is received from the dairy farm(s) of such person but from no other dairy farm;

(b) Fluid milk products are disposed of on routes or through a plant store to retail or wholesale outlets in the marketing area; and

(c) The butterfat or skim milk disposed of in fluid milk products does not exceed the butterfat or skim milk, respectively, received in the form of milk from the dairy farm(s) of such person and in the form of fluid milk products from pool plants of other handlers.

TITLE 12—BANKS AND BANKING

Subchapter A—Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

[Reg. T]

GENERAL ACCOUNTS

1. Effective May 1, 1956, Part 220 is hereby amended (a) by striking out the words "three full business days" in paragraph (b) of § 220.3 and substituting therefor the words "four full business days"; (b) by striking out the words "three-day period" wherever they appear in paragraphs (e) and (f) of § 220.3 and substituting therefor the words "four-day period"; and (c) by striking out the words "or 'three-day riding' " in the footnote to paragraph (e) of § 220.3.

2. a. This technical amendment is issued pursuant to the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, particularly section 7 thereof. Its purpose is to change the maximum period allowed for a "creditor" to obtain margin in a margin account from three full business days to four. It is designed to simplify mechanical operating problems of "creditors" in the light of current mail schedules and their machine bookkeeping methods. However, Part 220 continues to require that the "creditor" in all cases obtain the necessary deposit of margin "as promptly as possible"; and the new four-day period, like the previous three-day period, merely states an outside limit which is to be used by the "creditor" only to the extent that it is not possible for him to obtain the margin in less time.

b. The notice and public procedure described in sections 4 (a) and 4 (b) of the Administrative Procedure Act, and the 30-day prior publication described in section 4 (c) of such act, are not followed in connection with this amendment for the reasons and good cause found as stated in § 262.2 (e) of this chapter, and especially because in connection with this permissive amendment such procedures are unnecessary as they would not aid the persons affected and would serve no other useful purpose.

(Sec. 11, 38 Stat. 262; 12 U. S. C. 248. Interpret or apply secs. 3, 7, 8, 17, 23, 48 Stat. 882, 886, 888, 897, 901, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 78c, 78g, 78h, 78q, 78w)

72.17 Construction near permanent livestock water developments.

Authority: §§ 72.1 to 72.17 issued under sec. 6, 48 Stat. 986; 25 U. S. C. 466.

§ 72.1 Authority. It is within the authority of the Secretary of the Interior to protect Indian tribal lands against waste. Subject to regulations of this part, the right exists for Indian tribes to authorize the granting of permits upon their tribal lands and to prescribe by appropriate tribal action the conditions under which their lands may be used.

§ 72.2 General regulations. Part 71 of this subchapter authorizes the Commissioner of Indian Affairs to regulate the grazing of livestock on Indian lands under conditions set forth therein. In accordance with this authority and that of the Navajo Tribal Council, the Central Grazing Committee and the District Grazing Committees, the grazing of livestock on the Navajo Reservation shall be governed by the regulations in this part.

§ 72.3 Objectives. It is the purpose of the regulations in this part to aid the Navajo Indians in achievement of the following objectives:

(a) The preservation of the forage, the land, and the water resources on the Navajo Reservation, and the building up of those resources where they have deteriorated.

(b) The protection of the interests of the Navajo Indians from the encroachment of unduly aggressive and anti-social individuals who may or may not be members of the Navajo Tribe.

(c) The adjustment of livestock numbers to the carrying capacity of the range in such a manner that the livestock economy of the Navajo Tribe will be preserved.

(d) To secure increasing responsibility and participation of the Navajo people, including tribal participation in all basic policy decisions, in the sound management of one of the Tribe's greatest assets, its grazing lands, and to foster a better relationship and a clearer understanding between the Navajo people and the Federal Government in carrying out the grazing regulations.

(e) The improvement of livestock through proper breeding practices and the maintenance of a sound culling policy. Buck and bull pastures may be established and maintained either on or off the reservation through District Grazing Committee and Central Grazing Committee action.

§ 72.4 Regulations; scope; exceptions. The grazing regulations in this part are hereby made effective as of the date of approval hereof, for the Navajo Reservation, the area described in Executive Order of December 16, 1882, except Land Management District No. 6, all lands within the boundaries of the Navajo Reservation held in trust by the United States for the Navajo Tribe and all the trust lands hereafter added to the Navajo Reservation. The regulations in this part do not apply in individually owned allotted lands within the reservation nor to Tribal purchases, allotted or privately owned Navajo Indian lands outside the exterior boundaries of the Navajo Reservation.

§ 72.5 Land management districts. The Commissioner of Indian Affairs has established and will retain the present land management districts within the Navajo Indian Reservation, based on the social and economic requirements of the Navajo Indians and the necessity of rehabilitating the grazing lands. District boundary changes may be made when deemed necessary and advisable by the District Grazing Committees, Central Grazing Committee and Tribal Council, with approval by the Superintendent, Area Director, and the Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

§ 72.6 Carrying capacities. (a) The Commissioner of Indian Affairs on June 26, 1943, promulgated the authorized carrying capacity for each land management district of the Navajo Reservation.

(b) Recommended adjustments in carrying capacities shall be referred by the Superintendent to District Grazing Committee, Central Grazing Committee, and the Navajo Tribal Council for review and recommendations prior to presentation to the Area Director and the Commissioner of Indian Affairs for approval.

(c) Upon the request of the District Grazing Committee, Central Grazing Committee and Navajo Tribal Council to the Superintendent; recommendations for future adjustments to the established carrying capacities shall be made by Range Technicians based on the best information available through annual utilization studies and range condition studies analyzed along with numbers of livestock and precipitation data. The recommendations of the Range Technicians shall be submitted to the Superintendent, the Area Director and the Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

(d) Carrying capacities shall be stated in terms of sheep units yearlong, in the ratio of horses, mules, and burros 1 to 5; cattle 1 to 4; goats 1 to 1. The latter figure in each case denotes sheep units. Sheep, goats, cattle, horses, mules, and burros one year of age or older shall be counted against the carrying capacity.

§ 72.7 Records. The District Grazing Committee, the Superintendent, and his authorized representatives shall keep accurate records of all grazing permits and ownership of all livestock. Master files shall be maintained by the Superintendent or his authorized representatives.

(a) The District Grazing Committee shall be responsible for and assist in organizing the sheep and goat dipping and horse and cattle branding program and obtaining the annual livestock count.

(b) In order to obtain true records of ownership the permittee shall personally appear at the dipping vat or tallying point designated by the Grazing Committee with his or her sheep and goats and at branding and tallying points for cattle and horses. Should the permittee be unable to appear personally he or she shall designate a representative to act for and in his or her behalf. The sheep and goats will be dipped and the cattle and horses will be branded and recorded in the name of the permittee.

(c) The Superintendent shall prepare and keep current a register containing the names of all permittees using the range, the number of each class of stock by age classes grazed annually and the periods during which grazing shall be permitted in each part thereof. An annual stock census will be taken to insure that the carrying capacity is not exceeded. All classes of livestock twelve months of age or over will be counted against range use and permitted number, except that yearling colts will not be counted against permitted numbers on all permits with less than six horses. (Cross Reference § 72.9.)

§ 72.8 Grazing rights. (a) The Superintendent shall determine grazing rights of bona fide livestock owners based on recommendations of District Grazing Committees. Grazing rights shall be recognized for those permittees having ownership records as established in accordance with § 72.7 or who have acquired grazing rights by marriage, inheritance, purchase or division of permits. Whenever the permitted number of sheep units within a district is less than the carrying capacity, new permits to the carrying capacity limit may be granted as provided in § 72.9.

(b) All enrolled members of the Navajo Tribe over 18 years of age are eligible to acquire and hold grazing permits. Minors under 18 years of age can get possession of grazing permits only through inheritance or gift, and in each case Trustees must be appointed by the Tribal Courts to manage the permits and livestock of such minors until they become 18 years of age and can hold grazing permits in their own right.

(c) No person can hold a grazing permit in more than one district on the Navajo Reservation.

(d) Determination of rights to grazing permits involved in cases of divorce, separation, threatened family disruption, and permits of deceased permittees shall be the responsibility of the Navajo Court of Indian Offenses under existing laws, rules, and regulations.

§ 72.9 Grazing permits. (a) All livestock grazed on the Navajo Reservation must be covered by an authorized grazing permit issued by the Superintendent based upon the recommendations of the District Grazing Committee. All such grazing permits will be automatically renewed annually until terminated. District Grazing Committees shall act on all grazing permit changes resulting from negotiability within their respective Districts. The number of livestock that may be grazed under each permit shall be the number originally permitted plus or minus any changes as indicated by Transfer Agreements and Court Judgment Orders.

(b) Any permittee who has five or more horses on his current permit will be required to apply any acquired sheep units in classes of stock other than horses. If the purchaser wishes more than his present number of horses, he must have his needs evaluated by the District Grazing Committee. Yearling colts will be counted against permitted number on all permits with six or more horses. Yearling colts will not be counted against permitted number on all permits with less than six horses. In hardship cases the District Grazing Committee may reissue horses removed from grazing permits through negotiability to permit holders who are without sufficient horses on their present permits to meet minimum needs.

(c) No permittee shall be authorized to graze more than ten head of horses or to accumulate a total of over 350 sheep units.

(d) Upon recommendation of the District Grazing Committee and with the approval of the Superintendent, grazing permits may be transferred from one permittee to another in accordance with instructions provided by the Advisory Committee of the Navajo Tribal Council, or may be inherited; provided that the permitted holdings of any individual permittee shall not exceed 350 sheep units or the equivalent thereof. Should inheritance or other acquisition of permits increase the holdings of any permittee to more than 350 sheep units, said permittee shall dispose of all livestock in excess of 350 sheep units not later than November 15 following date of inheritance or other acquisition, and that portion of his or her permit in excess of 350 sheep units within one year from date of inheritance.

(e) By request of a permittee to sublet all or a part of his or her regular grazing permit to a member of his family or to any person who would receive such permit by inheritance, such subletting of permits may be authorized by the District Grazing Committee and the Superintendent or his authorized representative.

§ 72.10 Special grazing permits. The problem of special grazing permits shall be settled by the Bureau of Indian Affairs working in cooperation with the Tribal Council, or any Committee designated by it, with a view to terminating these permits at a suitable date and with the least hardship to the Indians concerned.

§ 72.11 Tenure of grazing permits. (a) All active regular grazing permits shall be for one year and shall be automatically renewed annually until terminated. Any Navajo eligible to hold a grazing permit as defined in § 72.8 may become a livestock operator by obtaining an active grazing permit through negotiability or inheritance or both.

(b) In many Districts, and portions of all districts, unused grazing permits or portions of grazing permits are beneficial in aiding range recovery. Each District Grazing Committee will handle each matter of unused grazing permit or portions of grazing permits on individual merits. Where ample forage is available operators will be encouraged to fill their permits with livestock or dispose of their unused permits through negotiability. In those areas where forage is in need of rehabilitation permittees will not be encouraged to stock to their permitted numbers until the range has sufficiently recovered to justify the grazing of additional livestock.

§ 72.12 Grazing fees. Grazing fees shall not be charged at this time.[1]

§ 72.13 Trespass. The owner of any livestock grazing in trespass in Navajo Tribal ranges shall be subject to action by the Navajo Court of Indian Offenses as provided in Part 161 of this chapter; however, upon recommendations of the District Grazing Committee, first offenses may be referred to the Central Grazing Committee and the Superintendent or his authorized representative for proper settlement out of court. The following acts are considered as trespass:

(a) Any person who sells an entire permit must dispose of all his livestock or be in trespass. Any person selling a portion of his permit must not run more stock than covered by his remaining permit, or be subject to immediate trespass.

(b) All persons running livestock in excess of their permitted number must within one year of the date of adoption of this part, either obtain permits to cover their total livestock numbers or reduce to their permitted number or be in trespass. Additional time may be granted in unusual individual cases as determined and approved by the District Grazing Committee, Central Grazing

[1] Grazing Committees were organized in May 1953. These committees have not had ample time to fully acquaint themselves or the stockmen in their respective districts with all of the various items of range administration and range management. Also the drought of several years has not broken. The Navajo Tribe therefore requests that the matter of establishing regulations regarding the adoption of grazing fees be deferred until such a time as a full understanding of the advantages of fees can be had by the majority of the stockmen in all Districts. The assessment of grazing fees will not aid materially in obtaining proper range use. At this time it is more important that other sections of these grazing regulations be adopted and enforced. Resolution of Navajo Tribal Council No. CJ-22-54 of June 9, 1954.

Committee, and the Superintendent or his authorized representative.

(c) Failure to comply with the provisions in § 72.9, shall be considered as trespass.

(d) Any person who willfully allows his livestock to drift from one district to another shall be subject to trespass action. The grazing of livestock in customary use areas extending over District Boundary lines, when such customary use areas are defined and agreed upon by the District Grazing Committees involved, shall not be considered as willful trespass.

(e) The owner of any livestock who violates the customary or established use units of other permittees shall be subject to trespass action.

§ 72.14 Movement of livestock. Annually prior to the normal lamb buying season, the Central Grazing Committee after consultation with District Grazing Committees shall issue regulations covering the buying period and the procedures and methods to be used in moving livestock to market. All movements of livestock other than trucking from buying areas to loading or shipping points must be authorized by Trailing Permits issued by the District Grazing Committees on the approved forms. Failure to comply with this section and with annual lamb buying regulations will be considered as trespass.

§ 72.15 Control of livestock disease and introduction of livestock. (a) The District Grazing Committees with the approval of the Superintendent shall require livestock to be dipped, vaccinated, inspected and be restricted in movement when necessary to prevent the introduction and spread of contagious or infectious disease in the economic interest of the Navajo stock owners. Upon the recommendation of the District Grazing Committee livestock shall be dipped annually when such dipping is necessary to prevent the spread of contagious diseases. These annual dippings shall be completed on or before September 1st each year. Livestock, however, may be dipped at other times when necessary. The Superintendent or his authorized representative and the District Grazing Committee may also require the rounding up of cattle, horses, mules, etc., in each District for the purpose of inspection for disease, vaccinating, branding and other related operations.

(b) No livestock shall be brought onto the Reservation without a permit issued by the Superintendent or his authorized representative following inspection, in order to safeguard Indian livestock from infections and contagious disease and to insure the introduction of good quality sires and breeding stock.

(c) Any unusual disease conditions beyond the control measures provided herein shall be immediately reported by the District Grazing Committee to the Chairman of the Navajo Tribal Council and the Superintendent who shall attempt to obtain specialists and provide emergency funds to control and suppress the disease.

§ 72.16 Fences. Favorable recommendation from the District Grazing Committee and a written authorization from the Superintendent or his authorized representative must be secured before any fences may be constructed in non-agricultural areas. The District Grazing Committee shall recommend to the Superintendent the removal of unauthorized existing fences, or fences enclosing Demonstration Areas no longer used as such, if it is determined that such fences interfere with proper range management or an equitable distribution of range privileges. All enclosures fenced for the purpose of protecting agricultural land shall be kept to a size commensurate with the needs for protection of agricultural land and must be enclosed by legal four strand barbed wire fence or the equivalent.

§ 72.17 Construction near permanent livestock water developments. (a) The District Grazing Committee shall regulate the construction of all dwellings, corrals and other structures within one-half mile of Government or Navajo Tribal developed permanent livestock waters such as springs, wells, and charcos or deep reservoirs.

(b) A written authorization from the Central District Grazing Committee must be secured before any dwellings, corrals, or other structures may be constructed within one-half mile of Government or Navajo Tribal developed springs, wells and charcos or deep reservoirs.

(c) No sewage disposal system shall be authorized to be built which will drain into springs or stream channels in such a manner that it would cause contamination of waters being used for livestock or human consumption.

CLARENCE A. DAVIS,
Acting Secretary of the Interior.

S. C. 570, 571, 572, 2, 689.

§ 121.01 Requirements for special validation endorsement. (a) Except as otherwise provided in this section no person shall be employed on a merchant vessel of the United States of 100 gross tons or over unless he is in possession of a Merchant Mariner's document bearing a special validation endorsement for emergency service.

(b) The vessels described in paragraph (a) of this section include those at anchor or made fast to a dock, but not those laid up or dismantled or out of commission.

(c) By "employed" and "employment" is meant the engagement of any person to fill any licensed or certificated berth on board ship whether or not under articles and includes those engaged for standby, relief, or other capacities.

(d) The following terms and conditions shall apply with respect to the employment of any person as a replacement or addition in the crew of any vessel described in paragraph (a) of this section at foreign ports when persons in possession of documents bearing a special validation endorsement for emergency service are not available as established to the satisfaction of the United States consular representative of the area:

(1) A person in possession of a United States seaman's document not bearing a special validation endorsement for emergency service may be employed only after approval of the Commandant is obtained by the United States consular representative for the area or by the master of the vessel.

(2) A person who is a United States citizen and who is not in possession of a United States seaman's document may be employed if no person specified in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph is available as established to the satisfaction of the United States consular representative for the area, and then only after approval of the Commandant is obtained by the United States consular representative for the area or by the master of the vessel.

(3) A person who is not a citizen of the United States and who is not in possession of a United States seaman's document may be employed only if no person as specified in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph is available as established to the satisfaction of the United States consular representative for the area and then only after the following terms and conditions are met:

(i) No such person shall be employed unless he presents evidence of temporary clearance from the United States consular representative for the area;

(ii) In no case shall the number of such persons employed on any one vessel exceed ten (10) percent of the total complement of the vessel, unless it is established to the satisfaction of the United States consular representative for the area that it is necessary to exceed this percentage to avoid delay to the sailing of the vessel or that the employment of persons with special qualifications as additional crew members is necessary in the vessel's operations; and

(iii) No such person shall be employed to fill the berth of a licensed officer or registered staff officer, except that if no radio officer is available as established to the satisfaction of the United States consular representative for the area, a person may be employed as radio operator in accordance with the provisions of Article 24, section 2, of the International Telecommunications Convention (Atlantic City, 1947), which reads as follows:

2. (1) In the case of complete unavailability of the operator in the course of a sea passage, a flight or a journey, the master or the person responsible for the station may authorize, solely as a temporary measure, an operator holding a certificate issued by the government of another country member of the Union [Footnote: The term "Union" means those countries which are parties to the International Telecommunications Convention] to perform the radio communication service.

(2) When it is necessary to employ as a temporary operator a person without a certificate or an operator not holding an adequate certificate, his performance as such must be limited solely to signals of distress, urgency and safety, messages relating thereto, messages relating directly to the safety of life, urgent messages relating to movement of the ship and essential messages relating to the navigation and safe movement of the aircraft. Persons employed in these cases are bound by the provisions of 508 regarding the secrecy of correspondence.

(3) In all cases, such temporary operators must be replaced as soon as possible by operators holding the certificate prescribed in Sec. 1 of this article.

§ 121.03 Standards. Information concerning an applicant for special validation endorsement for emergency service, or a holder of such endorsement, which may preclude a determination that his character and habits of life are such as to warrant the belief that his presence on board vessels of the United States would not be inimical to the security of the United States, shall relate to the following:

(a) Advocacy of the overthrow or alteration of the Government of the United States by unconstitutional means.

(b) Commission of, or attempts or preparations to commit, an act of espionage, sabotage, sedition or treason, or conspiring with, or aiding or abetting another to commit such an act.

(d) Deliberate unauthorized disclosure of classified defense information.

(e) Membership in, or affiliation or sympathetic association with, any foreign or domestic organization, association, movement, group, or combination of persons designated by the Attorney General pursuant to Executive Order 10450, as amended.

§ 121.05 Applications. (a) Any person legally holding a current valid license or certificate, or an applicant for such a document, may make application at any Coast Guard Marine Inspection Office for a special validation endorsement for emergency service.

(b) Application for special validation endorsement shall be made under oath upon a form prescribed by the Commandant.

(c) Each Marine Inspection Office shall forward promptly to the Commandant each application for a special validation endorsement received by it.

(d) If an application received by the Commandant does not contain replies sufficiently complete in his judgment for a determination whether the character and habits of life of the applicant are such as to warrant the belief that his presence on board vessels of the United States would not be inimical to the security of the United States, the Commandant, in an effort to avoid additional proceedings through credible explanation or to confine further inquiry to matters tending to prove or disprove unfavorable information, shall notify the applicant to submit under oath in writing or orally such further information as may be required for such determination.

(e) Upon receipt of a complete application and such further information as the Commandant may have required in those cases where the application, as first submitted, was not deemed sufficient, a committee composed of a representative of the Legal Division, of the Merchant Vessel Personnel Division, and of the Intelligence Division, Coast Guard Headquarters shall prepare an analysis of the information available to the Commandant and make recomendations for action by the Commandant.

§ 121.07 Approval of applicant by Commandant. (a) If the Commandant is satisfied that the character and habits of life of the applicant are such as to warrant the belief that his presence on board vessels of the United States would not be inimical to the security of the United States, he will direct that a special validation endorsement be entered on the applicant's Merchant Mariner's Document.

(b) If the Commandant is not satisfied that the character and habits of life of the applicant are such as to warrant the belief that his presence on board vessels of the United States would not be inimical to the security of the United States, he will notify the applicant in writing as provided for in § 121.11.

§ 121.09 Holders of special validation endorsement. (a) Whenever the Commandant is not satisfied that the character and habits of life of a holder of a document bearing a special validation endorsement are such as to warrant the belief that his presence on board vessels of the United States would not be inimical to the security of the United States, he will request from the holder, under the procedures provided for in § 121.05, replies under oath to such questions as he deems necessary to reach a determination on this issue.

(b) If the holder does not submit complete replies within 30 days after receipt of the request, the Commandant shall revoke and require the surrender of his special validation endorsement.

(c) Upon receipt of complete replies and such other information as the Commandant may have required, within the time allowed, the procedure prescribed in § 121.05 (e) shall be followed.

(d) If the Commandant is satisfied that the character and habits of life of the holder are such as to warrant the belief that his presence on board vessels of the United States would not be inimical to the security of the United States, he shall notify the holder accordingly.

(e) If the Commandant is not satisfied that the character and habits of life of the holder are such as to warrant the belief that his presence on board vessels of the United States would not be inimical to the security of the United States, he shall notify the holder in writing as provided for in § 121.11.

§ 121.11 Notice by Commandant. (a) The notice provided for in §§ 121.07 and 121.09 shall contain a statement of the reasons why the Comandant is not satisfied that the character and habits of life of the applicant or holder are such as to warrant the belief that his presence on board vessels of the United States would not be inimical to the security of the United States. Such notice shall be as specific and detailed as the interests of national security shall permit and shall include pertinent information such as names, dates, and places in such detail as to permit reasonable answer.

(b) The applicant or holder shall have 20 days from the date of receipt of the notice of reasons to file written answer thereto. Such answer may include statements or affidavits by third parties or such other documents or evidence as the applicant or holder deems pertinent to the matters in question.

(c) Upon receipt of such answer the procedure prescribed in § 121.05 (e) shall be followed.

(d) If the Commandant is satisfied that the character and habits of life of the applicant or holder are such as to warrant the belief that his presence on board vessels of the United States would not be inimical to the security of the United States, he shall, in the case of an applicant, direct that a special validation endorsement be entered on his Merchant Mariner's Document or, in the case of a holder, notify him accordingly.

(e) If the Commandant is not satisfied that the applicant's or holder's character and habits of life are such as to warrant the belief that his presence on board vessels of the United States would not be inimical to the security of the United States, the Commandant shall refer the matter to a Hearing Board for hearing and recommendation in accordance with the provisions of this part.

§ 121.13 Hearing Boards. The Commandant may establish a Hearing Board in each Coast Guard District. The Commandant shall designate for each Hearing Board a Chairman, who shall be, so far as practicable, an officer of the Coast Guard. The Commandant shall designate, so far as practicable, a second member from a panel of persons representing labor named by the Secretary of Labor, and a third member from a panel of persons representing management named by the Secretary of Labor.

§ 121.15 Notice by Hearing Board. Whenever the Commandant refers a matter to a Hearing Board, the Chairman shall:

(a) Fix the time and place of the hearing;

(b) Inform the applicant or holder of the names of the members of the Hearing Board, their occupations, and the businesses or organizations with which they are affiliated, of his privilege of challenge, and of the time and place of the hearing.

(c) Inform the applicant or holder of his privilege to appear before the Hearing Board in person or by counsel or representative of his choice, and to present testimonial and documentary evidence in his behalf, and to cross-examine any witnesses appearing before the Board; and

(d) Inform the applicant or holder that if within 10 days after receipt of the notice he does not request an opportunity to appear before the Hearing Board, either in person or by counsel or representative, the Hearing Board will proceed without further notice to him.

§ 121.17 Challenges. Within five days after receipt of the notice described in § 121.15 the applicant or holder may request disqualification of any member of the Hearing Board on the grounds of personal bias or other cause. The request shall be accompanied by an affidavit setting forth in detail the facts alleged to constitute grounds for disqualification. The affidavit may be supplemented by an oral presentation if desired. If after due consideration the Chairman believes a challenged member is qualified notwithstanding the challenge, he shall notify the person who made the challenge and arrange to proceed with the hearing. If the person who made the challenge takes exception to the ruling of the Chairman, the exception and data relating to the claim of disqualification shall be made a matter of record. If the Chairman finds that there is reasonable ground for disqualification he shall furnish the person who made the challenge with the name of an alternate in lieu of the challenged member and arrange to proceed with the hearing. In the event the Chairman is challenged, he shall forthwith notify the Commandant, furnishing the grounds for the claim of disqualification, and the Commandant shall act upon the challenge in accordance with the foregoing procedure. In addition to the right of challenge for cause, a person who has requested a hearing shall have two peremptory challenges, one challenge for the management member and one challenge for the labor member of the Hearing Board. Should the management member be so challenged, the person who made the challenge may elect to have the management member replaced by another management member or by a member not representing either management or labor; if the member peremptorily challenged represents labor, the person who made the challenge may elect to have the labor member replaced by another labor member or by a member not representing either management or labor.

§ 121.19 Hearing procedure. (a) Hearing shall be conducted in an orderly manner and in a serious, business-like atmosphere of dignity and decorum and shall be expedited as much as possible.

(b) The hearing shall be in open or closed session at the option of the applicant or holder.

(c) Testimony before the Hearing Board shall be given under oath or affirmation.

(d) The Chairman of the Hearing Board shall inform the applicant or holder of his right to:

(1) Participate in the hearing;

(2) Be represented by counsel of his choice;

(3) Present witnesses and offer other evidence in his own behalf and in refutation of the reasons set forth in the Notice of the Commandant; and

(4) Cross-examine any witnesses offered in support of such reasons.

(e) Hearings shall be opened by the reading of the Notice of the Commandant and the answer thereto. Any statement and affidavits filed by the applicant or holder may be incorporated in the record by reference.

(f) The Hearing Board may, in its discretion, invite any person to appear at the hearing and testify. However, the Board shall not be bound by the testimony of such witness by reason of having called him and shall have full right to cross-examine the witness. Every effort should be made to produce material witnesses to testify in support of the reasons set forth in the Notice of the Commandant, in order that such witnesses may be confronted and cross-examined by the applicant or holder.

(g) The applicant or holder may introduce such evidence as may be relevant and pertinent. Rules of evidence shall not be binding on the Hearing Board, but reasonable restrictions may be imposed as to the relevancy, competency and materiality of matters considered. If the applicant or holder is, or may be, handicapped by the non-disclosure to him of confidential sources, or by the failure of witnesses to appear, the Hearing Board shall take the fact into consideration.

(h) The applicant or holder or his counsel or representative shall have the right to control the sequence of witnesses called by him.

(i) The Hearing Board shall give due consideration to documentary evidence developed by investigation, including membership cards, petitions bearing the applicant's or holder's signature, books, treatises or articles written by the applicant or holder and testimony by the applicant or holder before duly constituted authority.

(j) Complete verbatim stenographic transcription shall be made of the hearing by qualified reporters and the transcript shall constitute a permanent part of the record. Upon request, the applicant or holder or his counsel or representative shall be furnished, without cost, a copy of the transcript of the hearing.

(k) The Board shall reach its conclusion and base its determination on information presented at the hearing, together with such other information as may have been developed through investigations and inquiries or made available by the applicant or holder.

(l) If the applicant or holder fails, without good cause shown to the satisfaction of the chairman, to appear personally or to be represented before the Hearing Board, the Board shall proceed with consideration of the matter.

(m) The recommendation of the Hearing Board shall be in writing and shall be signed by all members of the Board. The Board shall forward to the Commandant, with its recommendation, a memorandum of reasons in support thereof. Should any member be in disagreement with the majority a dissent should be noted setting forth the reasons therefor. The recommendation of the Board, together with the complete record of the case, shall be sent to the Commandant as expeditiously as possible.

§ 121.21 Action by Commandant. (a) If, upon receipt of the Board's recommendation, the Commandant is satisfied that the character and habits of life of the applicant or holder are such as to warrant the belief that his presence on board vessels of the United States would not be inimical to the security of the United States, he shall, in the case of an applicant, direct that a special validation endorsement be entered on his Merchant Mariner's Document, or, in the case of a holder, notify him accordingly.

(b) If, upon receipt of the Board's recommendation, the Commandant is not satisfied that the character and habits of life of the applicant or holder are such as to warrant the belief that his presence on board vessels of the United States would not be inimical to the security of the United States, the Commandant shall:

(1) In the case of an applicant for special validation endorsement, notify him of the Commandant's refusal to enter such endorsement;

(2) In the case of an applicant for a Merchant Mariner's Document, notify him of the Commandant's refusal to issue such document; or

(3) In the case of a holder, revoke and require the surrender of his special validation endorsement.

(c) Such applicant or holder shall be notified of his right, and shall have 20 days from the receipt of such notice within which, to appeal under this part.

§ 121.23 Appeals. (a) The Commandant shall establish at Coast Guard Headquarters, Washington, D. C., an Appeal Board to hear appeals provided for in this part. The Commandant shall designate for the Appeal Board a Chairman, who shall be, so far as practicable, an officer of the Coast Guard. The Commandant shall designate, so far as practicable, a member from a panel of persons representing management nominated by the Secretary of Labor, and a member from a panel of persons representing labor nominated by the Secretary of Labor. The Commandant shall insure that persons designated as Appeal Board members have suitable security clearance. The Chairman of the Appeal Board shall make all arrangements incident to the business of the Appeal Board.

(b) If an applicant or holder appeals to the Appeal Board within 20 days after receipt of notice of his right to appeal under this part, his appeal shall be handled under the same procedure as that specified in § 121.15 and the privilege of challenge may be exercised through the same procedure as that specified in § 121.17.

(c) Appeal Board proceedings shall be conducted in the same manner as that specified in § 121.19.

§ 121.25 Action by Commandant after appeal. (a) If, upon receipt of the Appeal Board's recommendation, the Commandant is satisfied that the character and habits of life of the applicant or holder are such as to warrant the belief that his presence on board vessels of the United States would not be inimical to the security of the United States, he shall, in the case of an applicant, direct that a special validation endorsement be entered on his Merchant Mariner's Document, or, in the case of a holder, notify him accordingly.

(b) If, upon receipt of the Appeal Board's recommendation, the Commandant is not satisfied that the character and habits of life of the applicant or holder are such as to warrant the belief that his presence on board vessels of the United States would not be inimical to the security of the United States, the Commandant shall notify the applicant or holder that his appeal is denied.

§ 121.27 Outstanding endorsements and applications. (a) All special validation endorsements for emergency service entered upon Merchant Mariner's Documents will be accepted as valid until cancelled, revoked, or suspended by proper authority.

(b) A person who has filed an application for a Merchant Mariner's Document bearing a special validation endorsement for emergency service and who has not received such an endorsement prior to May 1, 1956, shall submit a new application in accordance with the requirements of this part.

§ 121.29 Applications previously denied. A person who has been denied a Merchant Mariner's Document bearing a special validation endorsement for emergency service, before May 1, 1956, may file a new application for such an endorsement in accordance with the requirements of this part.

It is hereby found that compliance with the notice of proposed rule making, public rule making procedures thereon, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act is contrary to the public interest since this revision of 33 CFR Part 121 is to implement more effectively Executive Order 10173, as as amended, and in the public interest should be placed in operation as soon as possible. This amendatory regulation shall become effective May 1, 1956.

Dated: April 25, 1956.

DETERMINATION OF SOURCES OF INCOME

§ 1.861 Statutory provisions; income from sources within the United States.

SEC. 861. Income from sources within the United States—(a) Gross income from sources within United States. The following items of gross income shall be treated as income from sources within the United States:

(1) Interest. Interest from the United States, any Territory, any political subdivision of a Territory, or the District of Columbia, and interest on bonds, notes, or other interest-bearing obligations of residents, corporate or otherwise, not including—

(A) Interest on deposits with persons carrying on the banking business paid to persons not engaged in business within the United States,

(B) Interest received from a resident alien individual, a resident foreign corporation, or a domestic corporation, when it is shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary or his delegate that less than 20 percent of the gross income of such resident payor or domestic corporation has been derived from sources within the United States, as determined under the provisions of this part, for the 3-year period ending with the close of the taxable year of such payor preceding the payment of such interest, or for such part of such period as may be applicable, and

(C) Income derived by a foreign central bank of issue from bankers' acceptances.

(2) Dividends. The amount received as dividends—

(A) From a domestic corporation other than a corporation entitled to the benefits of section 931, and other than a corporation less than 20 percent of whose gross income is shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary or his delegate to have been derived from sources within the United States, as determined under the provisions of this part, for the 3-year period ending with the close of the taxable year of such corporation preceding the declaration of such dividends (or for such part of such period as the corporation has been in existence), or

(B) From a foreign corporation unless less than 50 percent of the gross income of such foreign corporation for the 3-year period ending with the close of its taxable year preceding the declaration of such dividends (or for such part of such period as the corporation has been in existence) was derived from sources within the United States as determined under the provisions of this part; but only in an amount which bears the same ratio to such dividends as the gross income of the corporation for such period derived from sources within the United States bears to its gross income from all sources; but dividends from a foreign corporation shall, for purposes of subpart A of part III (relating to foreign tax credit), be treated as income from sources without the United States to the extent exceeding the amount of the deduction allowable under section 245 in respect of such dividends.

(3) Personal services. Compensation for labor or personal services performed in the United States; except that compensation for labor or services performed in the United States shall not be deemed to be income from sources within the United States if—

(A) The labor or services are performed by a nonresident alien individual temporarily present in the United States for a period or periods not exceeding a total of 90 days during the taxable year,

(B) Such compensation does not exceed $3,000 in the aggregate, and

(C) The compensation is for labor or services performed as an employee of or under a contract with—

(i) A nonresident alien, foreign partnership, or foreign corporation, not engaged in trade or business within the United States, or

(ii) A domestic corporation, if such labor or services are performed for an office or place of business maintained in a foreign country or in a possession of the United States by such corporation.

(4) Rentals and royalties. Rentals or royalties from property located in the United States or from any interest in such property, including rentals or royalties for the use of or for the privilege of using in the United States patents, copyrights, secret processes and formulas, good will, trademarks, trade brands, franchises, and other like property.

(5) Sale of real property. Gains, profits, and income from the sale of real property located in the United States.

(6) Sale of personal property. Gains, profits, and income derived from the purchase of personal property without the United States (other than within a possession of the United States) and its sale within the United States.

(b) Taxable income from sources within United States. From the items of gross income specified in subsection (a) as being income from sources within the United States there shall be deducted the expenses, losses, and other deductions properly apportioned or allocated thereto and a ratable part of any expenses, losses, or other deductions which cannot definitely be allocated to some item or class of gross income. The remainder, if any, shall be included in full as taxable income from sources within the United States.

§ 1.861-1 Income from sources within the United States—(a) Categories of income. Sections 861 to 864, inclusive, and the regulations thereunder determine the sources of income for purposes of the income tax. These sections explicitly allocate certain important sources of income to the United States or to areas outside the United States, as the case may be; and, with respect to the remaining income (particularly that derived partly from sources within and partly from sources without the United States), authorize the Secretary or his delegate to determine the income derived from sources within the United States, either by rules of separate allocation or by processes or formulas of general apportionment. The statute provides for the following three categories of income:

(1) Within the United States. The gross income from sources within the United States, consisting of the items of gross income specified in section 861 (a) plus the items of gross income allocated or apportioned to such sources in accordance with section 863 (a). See §§ 1.861-2 to 1.861-7, inclusive, and § 1.863-1. The taxable income from sources within the United States, in the case of such income, shall be determined by deducting therefrom, in accordance with sections 861 (b) and 863 (a), the expenses, losses, and other deductions properly apportioned or allocated thereto and a ratable part of any other expenses, losses, or deductions which cannot definitely be allocated to some item or class of gross income. See §§ 1.861-8 and 1.863-1.

(2) Without the United States. The gross income from sources without the United States, consisting of the items of gross income specified in section 862 (a) plus the items of gross income allocated or apportioned to such sources in accordance with section 863 (a). See §§ 1.862-1 and 1.863-1. The taxable income from sources without the United States, in the case of such income, shall be determined by deducting therefrom, in accordance with sections 862 (b) and 863 (a), the expenses, losses, and other deductions properly apportioned or allocated thereto and a ratable part of any other expenses, losses, or deductions which cannot definitely be allocated to some item or class of gross income. See §§ 1.862-1 and 1.863-1.

(3) Partly within and partly without the United States. The gross income derived from sources partly within and partly without the United States, consisting of the items specified in section 863 (b) (1), (2), and (3). The taxable income allocated or apportioned to sources within the United States, in the case of such income, shall be determined in accordance with section 863 (a) or (b). See §§ 1.863-2 to 1.863-5, inclusive.

(b) Taxable income from sources within the United States. The taxable income from sources within the United States shall consist of the taxable income described in paragraph (a) (1) of this section plus the taxable income allocated or apportioned to such sources, as indicated in paragraph (a) (3) of this section.

(c) Computation of income. If a taxpayer has gross income from sources within or without the United States, together with gross income derived partly from sources within and partly from sources without the United States, the amounts thereof, together with the expenses and investment applicable thereto, shall be segregated; and the taxable income from sources within the United States shall be separately computed therefrom.

§ 1.861-2 Interest—(a) General. There shall be included in the gross income from sources within the United States all interest received or accrued, as the case may be, from the United States, any Territory, any political subdivision of a Territory, or the District of Columbia, and interest on bonds, notes, or other interest-bearing obligations of residents of the United States, whether corporate or otherwise, except—

(1) Deposits. Interest paid on deposits with persons, including individuals, partnerships, or corporations, carrying on the banking business, to persons not engaged in business within the United States;

(2) Payer deriving income abroad. Interest received from a resident alien individual, a resident foreign corporation, or a domestic corporation, when it is shown to the satisfaction of the district director that less than 20 percent of the gross income of such resident payer or domestic corporation has been derived from sources within the United States, as determined under the provisions of sections 861 to 864, inclusive, for the 3-year period ending with the close of the taxable year of the payer which precedes the payment of such interest, or for such part of that period as may be applicable; and

(3) Bankers' acceptances. Income derived by a foreign central bank of issue from bankers' acceptances. A foreign central bank of issue means a bank which is by law or government sanction the principal authority, other than the government itself, issuing instruments intended to circulate as currency. Such banks are generally the custodians of the banking reserves of their countries.

(b) Interest on refunds. Interest received from the United States on a refund of Federal income taxes constitutes income from sources within the United States.

(c) Statement with return. Any taxpayer who excludes from gross income items of the type specified in paragraph (a) (1), (2), or (3) of this section shall file with his return a statement setting forth the amount of such income and such information as may be necessary to show that the income is of the type specified therein.

§ 1.861-3 Dividends—(a) General. Gross income from sources within the United States includes dividends, as defined by section 316, from—

(1) Domestic corporation. A domestic corporation other than one entitled to the benefits of section 931, and other than a corporation less than 20 percent of the gross income of which is shown to the satisfaction of the district director to have been derived from sources within the United States, as determined under the provisions of sections 861 to 864, inclusive, for the 3-year period ending with the close of the taxable year of such corporation preceding the declaration of such dividends, or for such part of such period as the corporation has been in existence; or

(2) Foreign corporation. A foreign corporation unless less than 50 percent of its gross income for the 3-year period ending with the close of its taxable year preceding the declaration of such dividends, or for such part of such period as it has been in existence, was derived from sources within the United States, as determined under the provisions of sections 861 to 864, inclusive; but only in an amount which bears the same ratio to such dividends as the gross income of the corporation for such period derived from sources within the United States bears to its gross income from all sources. However, for purposes of sections 901 to 905, inclusive, relating to the foreign tax credit, dividends from a foreign corporation shall be treated as income from sources without the United States to the extent exceeding the amount of the deduction allowable under section 245 in respect of such dividends.

(b) Presumption as to source. Dividends will be treated as income from sources within the United States (except for purposes of sections 901 to 905, inclusive) unless the taxpayer submits sufficient data to establish to the satisfaction of the district director that, in accordance with paragraph (a) (1) or (2) of this section, they are not income from sources within the United States.

§ 1.861-4 Compensation for labor or personal services—(a) General. Gross income from sources within the United States includes compensation for labor or personal services performed in the United States regardless of the residence of the payer, of the place in which the contract for service was made, or of the place of payment; except that such compensation shall be deemed not to be income from sources within the United States, if—

(1) The labor or services are performed by a nonresident alien individual temporarily present in the United States for a period or periods not exceeding a total of 90 days during the taxable year;

(2) The compensation does not exceed $3,000 in the aggregate; and

(3) The compensation is for labor or services performed as an employee of, or under a contract with—

(i) A nonresident alien, foreign partnership, or foreign corporation, not engaged in trade or business within the United States, or

(ii) A domestic corporation, if the labor or services are performed for an office or place of business maintained in a foreign country or in a posssession of the United States by that corporation.

(b) Amount includible in gross income. If a specific amount is paid for labor or personal services performed in the United States, that amount (if income from sources within the United States) shall be included in the gross income. If no accurate allocation or segregation of compensation for labor or personal services performed in the United States can be made, or when such labor or service is performed partly within and partly without the United States, the amount to be included in the gross income shall be determined by an apportionment on the time basis; that is, there shall be included in the gross income an amount which bears the same relation to the total compensation as the number of days of performance of the labor or services within the United States bears to the total number of days of performance of labor or services for which the payment is made.

(c) Coastwise travel. Except as to income excluded by paragraph (a) of this section, wages received for services rendered inside the territorial limits of the United States and wages of an alien seaman earned on a coastwise vessel are to be regarded as from sources within the United States.

§ 1.861–5 Rentals and royalties. Gross income from sources within the United States includes rentals or royalties from property located in the United States or from any interest in such property, including rentals or royalties for the use of, or for the privilege of using in the United States, patents, copyrights, secret processes and formulas, good will, trade-marks, trade brands, franchises, and other like property. The income arising from the rental of property, whether tangible or intangible, located within the United States, or from the use of property, whether tangible or intangible, within the United States, is from sources within the United States.

§ 1.861–6 Sale of real property. Gross income from sources within the United States includes gain, computed under the provisions of section 1001, derived from the sale or other disposition of real property located in the United States. For the treatment of capital gains and losses, see sections 1201 to 1241, inclusive, and the regulations thereunder.

§ 1.861–7 Sale of personal property—(a) General. Gains, profits, and income derived from the purchase and sale of personal property shall be treated as derived entirely from the country in which the property is sold. Thus, gross income from sources within the United States includes gains, profits, and income derived from the purchase of personal property without the United States and its sale within the United States.

(b) Purchase within a possession. Notwithstanding paragraph (a) of this section, income derived from the purchase of personal property within a possession of the United States and its sale within the United States shall be treated as derived partly from sources within and partly from sources without the United States. See section 863 (b) (3) and § 1.863–2.

(c) Country in which sold. For the purposes of sections 861 to 864, inclusive, sale of personal property shall be deemed to have occurred at the time when, and the place where, the rights, title, and interests of the seller in the property are transferred to the buyer. Generally, the time and place of the transfer depend upon the intention of the parties. For the purpose of ascertaining this intention, consideration shall be given to all of the circumstances of the sale, including the terms of the contract, the usages of the trade, and the conduct of the parties. Ordinarily, the sale shall be deemed to have been consummated at the place where the substance of the sale occurred. Where bare legal title is retained by the seller, the sale shall be deemed to have occurred at the time and place of passage to the buyer of beneficial ownership.

(d) Production and sale. For provisions respecting the source of income derived from the sale of personal property produced by the taxpayer, see section 863 (b) (2) and §§ 1.863–1 (b) and 1.863–2.

(e) Section 306 stock. For determining the source of gain on the disposition of section 306 stock, see section 306 (f) and the regulations thereunder.

§ 1.861–8 Computation of taxable income from sources within the United States—(a) General. From the items of gross income specified in §§ 1.861–2 to 1.861–7, inclusive, as being income from sources within the United States there shall be deducted the expenses, losses, and other deductions properly apportioned or allocated thereto and a ratable part of any other expenses, losses, or deductions which cannot definitely be allocated to some item or class of gross income. The remainder, if any, shall be included in full as taxable income from sources within the United States. The ratable part is based upon the ratio of gross income from sources within the United States to the total gross income.

Example. A taxpayer engaged in trade or business receives for the taxable year gross income from all sources in the amount of $180,000, one-fifth of which ($36,000) is from sources within the United States, computed as follows:

|---|---|
| Interest on bonds of a domestic corporation | $9,000 |
| Dividends on stock of a domestic corporation | 4,000 |
| Royalty for the use within the United States of patents | 12,000 |
| Gain from sale of real property located within the United States | 11,000 |
| Total | 36,000 |

The remainder of the gross income is from sources without the United States, as determined under § 1.862–1. The expenses of the taxpayer for the year amount to $78,000. Of these expenses the amount of $8,000 is properly allocated to income from sources within the United States, and the amount of $40,000 is properly allocated to income from sources without the United States. The remainder of the expenses ($30,000) cannot be definitely allocated to any item or class of gross income. A ratable part thereof, based upon the relation of gross income from sources within the United States to the total gross income, shall be deducted in computing taxable income from sources within the United States. Thus, there are deducted from the $36,000 of gross income from sources within the United States expenses amounting to $14,000, representing $8,000 properly apportioned to the income from sources within the United States and $6,000 of the expenses (one-fifth thereof) which cannot definitely be allocated to any item or class of gross income. The remainder ($22,000) is the taxable income from sources within the United States.

(b) Personal exemptions. The deductions for the personal exemptions allowed by section 151 or 642 (b) shall not be taken into account for purposes of paragraph (a) of this section but shall be allowed as deductions from the taxable income computed thereunder, if and to the extent that such deductions are allowable for purposes of computing the taxable income of the taxpayer. See sections 641 (b), 873 (d), 904 (b), and 931 (e), and the regulations thereunder.

(c) Special deductions. The special deductions allowed in the case of a corporation by section 241 (relating to the deductions for partially tax-exempt interest, dividends received, etc.), section 922 (relating to Western Hemisphere trade corporations), and section 941 (relating to China Trade Act corporations) shall be taken into account for purposes of paragraph (a) of this section.

(d) Exempt income. No deduction shall be allowed under this section for the amount of any item or part thereof allocable to a class or classes of exempt income. See section 265 and the regulations thereunder.

§ 1.862 Statutory provisions; income from sources without the United States.

SEC. 862. Income from sources without the United States—(a) Gross income from sources without United States. The following items of gross income shall be treated as income from sources without the United States:

(1) Interest other than that derived from sources within the United States as provided in section 861 (a) (1);

(2) Dividends other than those derived from sources within the United States as provided in section 861 (a) (2);

(3) Compensation for labor or personal services performed without the United States;

(4) Rentals or royalties from property located without the United States or from any interest in such property, including rentals or royalties for the use of or for the privilege of using without the United States patents, copyrights, secret processes and formulas, good will, trade-marks, trade brands, franchises, and other like properties;

(5) Gains, profits, and income from the sale of real property located without the United States; and

(6) Gains, profits, and income derived from the purchase of personal property within the United States and its sale without the United States.

(b) Taxable income from sources without United States. From the items of gross income specified in subsection (a) there shall be deducted the expenses, losses, and other deductions properly apportioned or allocated thereto, and a ratable part of any expenses, losses, or other deductions which cannot definitely be allocated to some item or class of gross income. The remainder, if any, shall be treated in full as taxable income from sources without the United States.

§ 1.862–1 Income specifically from sources without the United States—(a) Gross income. The following items of gross income shall be treated as income from sources without the United States:

(1) Interest other than that specified in section 861 (a) (1) as being derived from sources within the United States;

(2) Dividends other than those derived from sources within the United States as provided in section 861 (a) (2);

(3) Compensation for labor or personal services performed without the United States (for the treatment of compensation for labor or personal services performed partly within the United States and partly without the United States, see paragraph (b) of § 1.861–4);

(4) Rentals or royalties from property located without the United States or from any interest in such property, including rentals or royalties for the use of, or for the privilege of using, without the United States, patents, copyrights, secret processes and formulas, good will, trade-marks, trade brands, franchises, and other like property;

(5) Gains, profits, and income from the sale of real property located without the United States; and

(6) Gains, profits, and income derived from the purchase of personal property within the United States and its sale without the United States. Income derived from the purchase of personal property within the United States United States shall be treated as derived entirely from within that possession of the United States. For determining the time and place of sale of personal property for purposes of this subparagraph, see paragraph (c) of § 1.861–7.

(b) Taxable income. The taxable income from sources without the United States, in the case of the items of gross income specified in paragraph (a) of this section, shall be determined on the same basis as that used in § 1.861–8 for determining the taxable income from sources within the United States.

§ 1.863 Statutory provisions; items not specified in section 861 or 862.

SEC. 863. Items not specified in section 861 or 862—(a) Allocation under regulations. Items of gross income, expenses, losses, and deductions, other than those specified in sections 861 (a) and 862 (a), shall be allocated or apportioned to sources within or without the United States, under regulations prescribed by the Secretary or his delegate. Where items of gross income are separately allocated to sources within the United States, there shall be deducted (for the purpose of computing the taxable income therefrom) the expenses, losses, and other deductions properly apportioned or allocated thereto and a ratable part of other expenses, losses, or other deductions which cannot definitely be allocated to some item or class of gross income. The remainder, if any, shall be included in full as taxable income from sources within the United States.

(b) Income partly from within and partly from without the United States. In the case of gross income derived from sources partly within and partly without the United States, the taxable income may first be computed by deducting the expenses, losses, or other deductions apportioned or allocated thereto and a ratable part of any expenses, losses, or other deductions which cannot definitely be allocated to some item or class of gross income; and the portion of such taxable income attributable to sources within the United States may be determined by processes or formulas of general apportionment prescribed by the Secretary or his delegate. Gains, profits, and income—

(1) From transportation or other services rendered partly within and partly without the United States,

(2) From the sale of personal property produced (in whole or in part) by the taxpayer within and sold without the United States, or produced (in whole or in part) by the taxpayer without and sold within the United States, or

(3) Derived from the purchase of personal property within a possession of the United States and its sale within the United States, shall be treated as derived partly from sources within and partly from sources without the United States.

§ 1.863–1 Allocation of gross income under section 863 (a)—(a) General. Items of gross income other than those specified in section 861 (a) (§§ 1.861–2 to 1.861–7, inclusive) and section 862 (a) (§ 1.862–1) shall be allocated or apportioned to sources within or without the United States, as provided in section 863 (a); however, see § 1.863–2 for alternative method of determining the taxable income from sources within the United States in the case of the items specified in paragraph (b) of § 1.863–2.

(b) Natural resources. The income derived from the ownership or operation of any farm, mine, oil or gas well, other natural deposit, or timber, located within the United States, and from the sale by the producer of the Products thereof within or without the United States, shall ordinarily be included in gross income from sources within the United States. If, however, it is shown to the satisfaction of the district director that, due to the peculiar conditions of production and sale in a specific case or for other reasons, all of the gross income derived therefrom should not be allocated to sources within the United States, an apportionment thereof to sources within the United States and to sources without the United States shall be made as provided by section 863 (b) and § 1.863–2.

(c) Taxable income. The taxable income from sources within or without the United States, in the case of the items of gross income allocated under section 863 (a), shall be determined on the same basis as that used in § 1.861–8 for determining the taxable income from sources within the United States. See also paragraph (b) of § 1.862–1.

§ 1.863–2 Income derived partly from sources within and partly from sources without the United States—(a) General. Section 863 (b) provides an alternative method for determining the taxable income from sources within the United States in the case of gross income derived from sources partly within and partly without the United States. Under this method the entire taxable income in the case of such income is first determined by deducting the expenses, losses, or other deductions properly apportioned or allocated thereto and a ratable part of any other expenses, losses, or deductions which cannot definitely be allocated to some item or class of gross income. Then, pursuant to processes or formulas of general apportionment prescribed by the Secretary or his delegate, a portion of such entire taxable income is determined as being attributable to sources within the United States. Thus, the income treated as derived partly from sources within and partly from sources without the United States may be allocated to sources within or without the United States pursuant to § 1.863–1 or apportioned to such sources in accordance with the method described in this section.

(b) Applicable items. The income to which this section applies (and which is treated as derived partly from sources within and partly from sources without the United States) shall consist of gains, profits, and income—

(1) From transportation or other services rendered partly within and partly without the United States;

(2) From the sale of personal property produced (in whole or in part) by the taxpayer within and sold without the United States, or produced (in whole or in part) by the taxpayer without and sold within the United States; or

(3) Derived from the purchase of personal property within a possession of the United States and its sale within the United States.

(c) Cross reference. For allocation or apportionment under § 1.863–1 or this section in the case of the principal items to which this section applies, see §§ 1.863–3, 1.863–4, and 1.863–5.

§ 1.863–3 Income from the sale of personal property derived partly from within and partly from without the United States—(a) General—(1) Classes of income. Income from the sale of property to which paragraph (b) (2) and (3) of § 1.863–2 applies is divided into two classes for purposes of this section, namely, income which is treated as derived partly from sources within the United States and partly from sources within a foreign country, and income which is treated as derived partly from sources within the United States and partly from sources within a possession of the United States.

(2) Definition. For purposes of this section, the word "produced" includes created, fabricated, manufactured, extracted, processed, cured, or aged. For determining the time and place of sale of personal property for purposes of this section, see paragraph (c) of § 1.861–7.

(b) Income partly from sources within a foreign country—(1) General. This paragraph relates to gains, profits, and income derived from the sale of personal property produced (in whole or in part) by the taxpayer within the United States and sold within a foreign country, or produced (in whole or in part) by the taxpayer within a foreign country and sold within the United States. Pursuant to section 863 (b) such items shall be treated as derived partly from sources within the United States and partly from sources within a foreign country.

(2) Allocation or apportionment. The taxable income from sources within the United States, in the case of the items to which this paragraph applies, shall be determined according to the examples set forth in this subparagraph. For such purposes, the deductions for the personal exemptions shall not be taken into account, but the special deductions described in paragraph (c) of § 1.861–8 shall be taken into account.

Example (1). Where the manufacturer or producer regularly sells part of his output to wholly independent distributors or other selling concerns in such a way as to establish fairly an independent factory or production price—or shows to the satisfaction of the district director that such an independent factory or production price has been otherwise established—unaffected by considerations of tax liability, and the selling or distributing branch or department of the business is located in a different country from that in which the factory is located or the production carried on, the taxable income attributable to sources within the United States shall be computed by an accounting which treats the products as sold by the factory or productive department of the business to the distributing or selling department at the independent factory price so established. In all such cases the basis of the accounting shall be fully explained in a statement attached to the return for the taxable year.

Example (2). (i) Where an independent factory or production price has not been established as provided under example (1), the taxable income shall first be computed by deducting from the gross income derived from the sale of personal property produced (in whole or in part) by the taxpayer within the United States and sold within a foreign country or produced (in whole or in part) by the taxpayer within a foreign country and sold within the United States, the expenses, losses, or other deductions properly apportioned or allocated thereto and a ratable part of any expenses, losses, or other deductions which cannot definitely be allocated to some item or class of gross income.

(ii) Of the amount of taxable income so determined, one-half shall be apportioned in accordance with the value of the taxpayer's property within the United States and within the foreign country, the portion attributable to sources within the United States being determined by multiplying such one-half by a fraction the numerator of which consists of the value of the taxpayer's property within the United States, and the denominator of which consists of the value of the taxpayer's property both within the United States and within the foreign country. The remaining one-half of such taxable income shall be apportioned in accordance with the gross sales of the taxpayer within the United States and within the foreign country, the portion attributable to sources within the United States being determined by multiplying such one-half by a fraction the numerator of which consists of the taxpayer's gross sales for the taxable year or period within the United States, and the denominator of which consists of the taxpayer's gross sales for the taxable year or period both within the United States and within the foreign country.

(iii) The term "gross sales of the taxpayer within the United States" means the gross sales made during the taxable year which were principally secured, negotiated, or effected by employees, agents, offices, or branches of the taxpayer's business resident or located in the United States. The term "gross sales", as used in this example, refers only to the sales of personal property produced (in whole or in part) by the taxpayer within the United States and sold within a foreign country or produced (in whole or in part) by the taxpayer within a foreign country and sold within the United States.

(iv) The term "property", as used in this example, includes only the property held or used to produce income which is derived from such sales. Such property should be taken at its actual value, which in the case of property valued or appraised for purposes of inventory, depreciation, depletion, or other purposes of taxation shall be the highest amount at which so valued or appraised, and which in other cases shall be deemed to be its book value in the absence of affirmative evidence showing such value to be greater or less than the actual value. The average value during the taxable year or period shall be employed. The average value of property as above prescribed at the beginning and end of the taxable year or period ordinarily may be used, unless by reason of material changes during the taxable year or period such average does not fairly represent the average for such year or period, in which event the average shall be determined upon a monthly or daily basis.

(v) Bills and accounts receivable shall (unless satisfactory reason for a different treatment is shown) be assigned or allocated to the United States when the debtor resides in the United States, unless the taxpayer has no office, branch, or agent in the United States.

Example (3). Application for permission to base the return upon the taxpayer's books of account will be considered by the district director in the case of any taxpayer who, in good faith and unaffected by considerations of tax liability, regularly employs in his books of account a detailed allocation of receipts and expenditures which reflects more clearly than the processes or formulas herein prescribed the taxable income derived from sources within the United States.

(c) Income partly from sources within a possession of the United States—(1) General. This paragraph relates to gains, profits, and income which, pursuant to section 863 (b), are treated as derived partly from sources within the United States and partly from sources within a possession of the United States. The items so treated are described in subparagraphs (3) and (4) of this paragraph.

(2) Allocation or apportionment. The taxable income from sources within the United States, in the case of the items to which this paragraph applies, shall be determined according to the examples set forth in subparagraph (3) and (4) of this paragraph. For such purposes, the deductions for the personal exemptions shall not be taken into account, but the special deductions described in paragraph (c) of § 1.861–8 shall be taken into account.

(3) Personal property produced and sold. This subparagraph relates to gross income derived from the sale of personal property produced (in whole or in part) by the taxpayer within the United States and sold within a possession of the United States, or produced (in whole or in part) by the taxpayer within a possession of the United States and sold within the United States.

Example (1). Same as example (1) under paragraph (b) (2) of this section.

Example (2). (i) Where an independent factory or production price has not been established as provided under example (1), the taxable income shall first be computed by deducting from the gross income derived from the sale of personal property produced (in whole or in part) by the taxpayer within the United States and sold within a possession of the United States, or produced (in whole or in part) by the taxpayer within a possession of the United States and sold within the United States, the expenses, losses, or other deductions properly apportioned or allocated thereto and a ratable part of any expenses, losses, or other deductions which cannot definitely be allocated to some item or class of gross income.

(ii) The amount of taxable income so determined, one-half shall be apportioned in accordance with the value of the taxpayer's property within the United States and within the possession of the United States, the portion attributable to sources within the United States being determined by multiplying such one-half by a fraction the numerator of which consists of the value of the taxpayer's property within the United States, and the denominator of which consists of the value of the taxpayer's property both within the United States and within the possession of the United States. The remaining one-half of such taxable income shall be apportioned in accordance with the total business of the taxpayer within the United States and within the possession of the United States, the portion attributable to sources within the United States being determined by multiplying such one-half by a fraction the numerator of which consists of the amount of the taxpayer's business for the taxable year or period within the United States, and the denominator of which consists of the amount of the taxpayer's business for the taxable year or period both within the United States and within the possession of the United States.

(iii) The "business of the taxpayer", as used in this example, shall be measured by the amounts which the taxpayer paid out during the taxable year or period for wages, salaries, and other compensation of employees and for the purchase of goods, materials, and supplies consumed in the regular course of business, plus the amounts received during the taxable year or period from gross sales, such expenses, purchases, and gross sales being limited to those attributable to the production (in whole or in part) of personal property within the United States and its sale within a possession of the United States or to the production (in whole or in part) of personal property within a possession of the United States and its sale within the United States. The term "property", as used in this example, includes only the property held or used to produce income which is derived from such sales.

Example (3). Same as example (3) under paragraph (b) (2) of this section.

(4) Personal property purchased and sold. This subparagraph relates to gross income derived from the purchase of personal property within a possession of the United States and its sale within the United States.

Example (1). (i) The taxable income shall first be computed by deducting from such gross income the expenses, losses, or other deductions properly apportioned or allocated thereto and a ratable part of any expenses, losses, or other deductions which cannot definitely be allocated to some item or class of gross income.

(ii) The amount of taxable income so determined shall be apportioned in accordance with the total business of the taxpayer within the United States and within the possession of the United States, the portion attributable to sources within the United States being that percentage of such taxable income which the amount of the taxpayer's business for the taxable year or period within the United States bears to the amount of the taxpayer's business for the taxable year or period both within the United States and within the possession of the United States.

(iii) The "business of the taxpayer", as that term is used in this example, shall be measured by the amounts which the taxpayer paid out during the taxable year or period for wages, salaries, and other compensation of employees and for the purchase of goods, materials, and supplies sold or consumed in the regular course of business, plus the amount received during the taxable year or period from gross sales, such expenses, purchases, and gross sales being limited to those attributable to the purchase of personal property within a possession of the United States and its sale within the United States.

Example (2). Same as example (3) under paragraph (b) (2) of this section.

§ 1.863–4 Transportation service—(a) General. A taxpayer carrying on the business of transportation service between points in the United States and points outside the United States derives income partly from sources within and partly from sources without the United States.

(b) Gross income. The gross income from sources within the United States derived from such services shall be determined by taking such a portion of the total gross revenues therefrom as (1) the sum of the costs or expenses of such transportation business carried on by the taxpayer within the United States and a reasonable return upon the property used in its transportation business while within the United States bear to (2) the sum of the total costs or expenses of such transportation business carried on by the taxpayer and a reasonable return upon the total property used in such transportation business. Revenues from operations incidental to transportation services, such as the sale of money orders, shall be apportioned on the same basis as direct revenues from transportation services.

(c) Allocation of costs or expenses. In allocating the total costs or expenses incurred in such transportation business, costs or expenses incurred in connection with that part of the services which was wholly rendered in the United States shall be assigned to the cost of transportation business within the United States. For example, expenses of loading and unloading in the United States, rentals, office expenses, salaries, and wages wholly incurred for services rendered to the taxpayer in the United States belong to this class. Costs and expenses incurred in connection with services rendered partly within and partly without the United States may be prorated on a reasonable basis between such services. For example, ship wages, charter money, insurance, and supplies chargeable to voyage expenses shall ordinarily be prorated for each voyage on the basis of the proportion which the number of days the ship was within the territorial limits of the United States bears to the total number of days on the voyage; and fuel consumed on each voyage may be prorated on the basis of the proportion which the number of miles sailed within the territorial limits of the United States bears to the total number of miles sailed on the voyage. For other expenses entering into the cost of services, only such expenses as are allowable deductions under the internal revenue laws shall be taken into account.

(d) Items not included as costs or expenses—(1) Taxes and interest. Income, war profits, and excess profits taxes shall not be regarded as costs or expenses for the purpose of determining the proportion of gross income from sources within the United States; and, for such purpose, interest and other expenses for the use of borrowed capital shall not be taken into the cost of services rendered, for the reason that the return upon the property used measures the extent to which such borrowed capital is the source of the income. See paragraph (f) (2) of this section.

(2) Other business activity and general expenses. If a taxpayer subject to this section is also engaged in a business other than that of providing transportation service between points in the United States and points outside the United States, the costs and expenses, including taxes, properly apportioned or allocated to such other business shall be excluded both from the deductions and from the apportionment process prescribed in paragraph (c) of this section; but, for the purpose of determining taxable income, a ratable part of any general expenses, losses, or deductions, which cannot definitely be allocated to some item or class of gross income, may be deducted from the gross income from sources within the United States after the amount of such gross income has been determined. Such ratable part shall ordinarily be based upon the ratio of gross income from sources within the United States to the total gross income. See paragraph (f) (3) of this section.

(3) Personal exemptions and special deductions. The deductions for the personal exemptions, and the special deductions described in paragraph (c) of § 1.861–8, shall not be taken into account for purposes of paragraph (c) of this section.

(e) Property used while within the United States—(1) General. The value of the property used shall be determined upon the basis of cost less depreciation. Eight percent may ordinarily be taken as a reasonable rate of return to apply to such property. The property taken shall be the average property employed in the transportation service between points in the United States and points outside the United States during the taxable year.

(2) Average property. For ships, the average shall be determined upon a daily basis for each ship, and the amount to be apportioned for each ship as assets employed within the United States shall be computed upon the proportion which the number of days the ship was within the territorial limits of the United States bears to the total number of days the ship was in service during the taxable period. For other assets employed in the transportation business, the average of the assets at the beginning and end of the taxable period ordinarily may be taken, but if the average so obtained does not, by reason of material changes during the taxable year, fairly represent the average for such year either for the assets employed in the transportation business in the United States or in total, the average must be determined upon a monthly or daily basis.

(3) Current assets. Current assets shall be decreased by current liabilities and allocated to services between the United States and foreign countries and to other services. The part allocated to services between the United States and foreign countries shall be based on the proportion which the gross receipts from such services bear to the gross receipts from all services. The amount so allocated to services between the United States and foreign countries shall be further allocated to services rendered within the United States and to services rendered without the United States. The portion allocable to services rendered within the United States shall be based on the proportion which the expenses incurred within the territorial limits of the United States bear to the total expenses incurred in services between the United States and foreign countries.

(f) Taxable income—(1) General. In computing taxable income from sources within the United States there shall be allowed as deductions from the gross income from such sources, determined in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section, (i) the expenses of the transportation business carried on within the United States (as determined under paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section) and (ii) the expenses and deductions determined in accordance with this paragraph.

(2) Interest and taxes. Interest and income, war profits, and excess profits taxes shall be excluded from the apportionment process, as indicated in paragraph (d) of this section; but for the purpose of computing taxable income there may be deducted from the gross income from sources within the United States, after the amount of such gross income has been determined, a ratable part of all interest deductible under section 163 and of all income, war profits, and excess profits taxes deductible under section 164, paid or accrued in respect of the business of transportation service between points in the United States and points outside the United States. The ratable part shall ordinarily be based upon the ratio of gross income from sources within the United States to the total gross income, from such transportation service.

(3) General expenses. General expenses, losses, or deductions shall be deducted under this paragraph to the extent indicated in paragraph (d) (2) of this section.

(4) Personal exemptions. The deductions for the personal exemptions shall be allowed under this paragraph to the same extent as provided by paragraph (b) of § 1.861–8.

(5) Special deductions. The special deductions allowed in the case of a corporation by sections 241, 922, and 941 shall be allowed under this paragraph to the same extent as provided by paragraph (c) of § 1.861–8.

(g) Allocation based on books of account. Application for permission to base the return upon the taxpayer's books of account will be considered by the district director in the case of any taxpayer subject to this section, who, in good faith and unaffected by considerations of tax liability, regularly employs in his books of account a detailed allocation of receipts and expenditures which more clearly reflects the income derived from sources within the United States than does the process prescribed by paragraphs (b) to (f), inclusive, of this section.

§ 1.863–5 Telegraph and cable services—(a) General. A taxpayer carrying on the business of transmission of telegraph or cable messages between points in the United States and points outside the United States derives income partly from sources within and partly from sources without the United States.

(b) Gross income. The gross income from sources within the United States derived from messages originating in the United States and amounts collected abroad on collect messages originating in the United States and then deducting from such sum amounts paid or accrued for transmission of messages beyond the taxpayer's own circuit. Amounts received by the taxpayer in the United States with respect to collect messages originating without the United States shall be excluded from such gross income.

(c) Taxable income. In computing taxable income from sources within the United States, the following items shall be allowed as deductions from the gross income determined in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section:

(1) All expenses incurred in the United States (not including any general overhead expenses) incident to the carrying on of the business in the United States;

(2) All direct expenses incurred abroad in the transmission of messages originating in the United States (not including any general overhead expenses or maintenance, repairs, and depreciation of cables and not including any amount already deducted in computing gross income);

(3) Depreciation of property (other than cables) located in the United States and used in the trade or business therein; and,

(4) A proportionate part of the general overhead expenses (not including any items incurred abroad corresponding to those enumerated in subparagraphs (1), (2), and (3) of this paragraph) and of maintenance, repairs, and depreciation of cables of the entire cable system of the enterprise, based on the ratio which the number of words originating in the United States bears to the total words transmitted by the enterprise.

(5) The deductions for the personal exemptions, and the special deductions allowed by sections 241, 922, and 941, but only to the extent provided by paragraphs (b) and (c) of § 1.861–8.

§ 1.863–6 Income from sources within a foreign country or possession of the United States. The principles applied in §§ 1.861–1 to 1.863–5, inclusive, for determining the gross and the taxable income from sources within and without the United States shall be applied, for purposes of the income tax, in determining the gross and the taxable income from sources within and without a foreign country, or within and without a possession of the United States.

§ 1.864 Statutory provisions; definitions.

SEC. 864. Definitions. For purposes of this part, the word "sale" includes "exchange"; the word "sold" includes "exchanged"; and the word "produced" includes "created", "fabricated", "manufactured", "extracted", "processed", "cured", or "aged".

NONRESIDENT ALIENS AND FOREIGN CORPORATIONS

NONRESIDENT ALIEN INDIVIDUALS

§ 1.871 Statutory provisions; tax on nonresident alien individuals.

SEC. 871. Tax on nonresident alien individuals—(a) No United States business and gross income of not more than $15,400—(1) Imposition of tax. Except as otherwise provided in subsection (b) there is hereby imposed for each taxable year, in lieu of the tax imposed by section 1, on the amount received, by every nonresident alien individual not engaged in trade or business within the United States, from sources within the United States, as interest (except interest on deposits with persons carrying on the banking business), dividends, rents, salaries, wages, premiums, annuities, compensations, remunerations, emoluments, or other fixed or determinable annual or periodical gains, profits, and income (including amounts described in section 402 (a) (2), section 631 (b) and (c), and section 1235, which are considered to be gains from the sale or exchange of capital assets) a tax of 30 percent of such amount.

(2) Capital gains of aliens temporarily present in the United States. In the case of a nonresident alien individual not engaged in trade or business in the United States, there is hereby imposed for each taxable year, in addition to the tax imposed by paragraph (1)—

(A) If he is present in the United States for a period or periods aggregating less than 90 days during such taxable year—a tax of 30 percent of the amount by which his gains, derived from sources within the United States, from sales or exchanges of capital assets effected during his presence in the United States exceed his losses, allocable to sources wthin the United States, from such sales or exchanges effected during such presence; or

(B) If he is present in the United States for a period or periods aggregating 90 days or more during such taxable year—a tax of 30 percent of the amount by which his gains, derived from sources within the United States, from sales or exchanges of capital assets effected at any time during such year exceed his losses, allocable to sources within the United States, from such sales or exchanges effected at any time during such year.

For purposes of this paragraph, gains and losses shall be taken into account only if, and to the extent that, they would be recognized and taken into account if such individual were engaged in trade or business in the United States, except that such gains and losses shall be computed without regard to section 1202 (relating to deduction for capital gains) and such losses shall be determined without the benefits of the capital loss carryover provided in section 1212.

(b) No United States business and gross income of more than $15,400. A nonresident alien individual not engaged in trade or business within the United States shall be taxable without regard to subsection (a) if during the taxable year the sum of the aggregate amount received from the sources specified in subsection (a) (1), plus the amount by which gains from sales or exchanges of capital assets exceed losses from such sales or exchanges (determined in accordance with subsection (a) (2)) is more than $15,400, except that—

(1) The gross income shall include only income from the sources specified in subsection (a) (1) plus any gain (to the extent provided in subchapter P; sec. 1201 and following, relating to capital gains and losses) from a sale or exchange of a capital asset if such gain would be taken into account were the tax being determined under subsection (a) (2);

(2) The deductions (other than the deduction for charitable contributions and gifts provided in section 873 (c)) shall be allowed only if and to the extent that they are properly allocable to the gross income from the sources specified in subsection (a), except that any loss from the sale or exchange of a capital asset shall be allowed (to the extent provided in subchapter P without the benefit of the capital loss carryover provided in section 1212) if such loss would be taken into account were the tax being determined under subsection (a) (2);

(3) The taxes imposed by this subtitle (under section 1, or under section 1201 (b)) shall, in no case, be less than 30 percent of the sum of—

(A) The aggregate amount received from the sources specified in subsection (a) (1), plus

(B) The amount, determined under subsection (a) (2), by which gains from sales or exchanges of capital assets exceed losses from such sales or exchanges.

(c) United States business. A nonresident alien individual engaged in trade or business within the United States shall be taxable without regard to subsection (a). For purposes of part I, this section, sections 881 and 882, and chapter 3, the term "engaged in trade or business within the United States" includes the performance of personal services within the United States at any time within the taxable year, but does not include the performance of personal services—

(1) For a nonresident alien individual, foreign partnership, or foreign corporation, not engaged in trade or business within the United States, or

(2) For an office or place of business maintained by a domestic corporation in a foreign country or in a possession of the United States, by a nonresident alien individual temporarily present in the United States for a period or periods not exceeding a total of 90 days during the taxable year and whose compensation for such services does not exceed in the aggregate $3,000. Such term does not include the effecting, through a resident broker, commission agent, or custodian, of transactions in the United States in stocks or securities, or in commodities (if of a kind customarily dealt in on an organized commodity exchange, if the transaction is of the kind customarily consummated at such place, and if the alien, partnership, or corporation has no office or place of business in the United States at any time during the taxable year through which or by the direction of which such transactions in commodities are effected).

(d) Doubling of tax. For doubling of tax on citizens of certain foreign countries, see section 891.

§ 1.871–1 Taxation of aliens. For purposes of the income tax, alien individuals are divided generally into two classes, namely, resident aliens and nonresident aliens. Resident aliens are, in general, taxable the same as citizens of the United States; that is, a resident alien is taxable on income derived from all sources, including sources without the United States. Nonresident aliens are taxable only on income from sources within the United States. For classification of nonresident aliens, see § 1.871–7. For determination of the sources of income, see §§ 1.861–1 to 1.863–6, inclusive.

§ 1.871–2 Determining residence of alien individuals—(a) General. The term "nonresident alien individual" means an individual whose residence is not within the United States, and who is not a citizen of the United States. The term includes a nonresident alien fiduciary. For such purpose the term "fiduciary" shall have the meaning assigned to it by section 7701 (a) (6). For presumption as to an alien's nonresidence, see paragraph (b) of § 1.871–4.

(b) Residence defined. An alien actually present in the United States who is not a mere transient or sojourner is a resident of the United States for purposes of the income tax. Whether he is a transient is determined by his intentions with regard to the length and nature of his stay. A mere floating intention, indefinite as to time, to return to another country is not sufficient to constitute him a transient. If he lives in the United States and has no definite intention as to his stay, he is a resident. One who comes to the United States for a definite purpose which in its nature may be promptly accomplished is a transient; but, if his purpose is of such a nature that an extended stay may be necessary for its accomplishment, and to that end the alien makes his home temporarily in the United States, he becomes a resident, though it may be his intention at all times to return to his domicile abroad when the purpose for which he came has been consummated or abandoned. An alien whose stay in the United States is limited to a definite period by the immigration laws is not a resident of the United States within the meaning of this section, in the absence of exceptional circumstances.

§ 1.871–3 Residence of alien seamen. In order to determine whether an alien seaman is a resident of the United States for purposes of the income tax, it is necessary to decide whether the presumption of nonresidence (as prescribed by paragraph (b) of § 1.871–4) is overcome by facts showing that he has established a residence in the United States. Residence may be established on a vessel regularly engaged in coastwise trade, but the mere fact that a sailor makes his home on a vessel which is flying the United States flag and is engaged in foreign trade is not sufficient to establish residence in the United States, even though the vessel, while carrying on foreign trade, touches at American ports. An alien seaman may acquire an actual residence in the United States within the rules laid down in § 1.871–4, although the nature of his calling requires him to be absent for a long period from the place where his residence is established. An alien seaman may acquire such a residence at a sailors' boarding house or hotel, but such a claim should be carefully scrutinized in order to make sure that such residence is bona fide. The filing of Form 1078 or taking out first citizenship papers is proof of residence in the United States from the time the form is filed or the papers taken out, unless rebutted by other evidence showing an intention to be a transient.

§ 1.871–4 Proof of residence of aliens—(a) Rules of evidence. The following rules of evidence shall govern in determining whether or not an alien within the United States has acquired residence therein for purposes of the income tax.

(b) Nonresidence presumed. An alien, by reason of his alienage, is presumed to be a nonresident alien.

(c) Presumption rebutted—(1) Departing alien. In the case of an alien who presents himself for determination of tax liability before departure from the United States, the presumption as to the alien's nonresidence may be overcome by proof—

(i) That the alien, at least six months before the date he so presents himself, has filed a declaration of his intention to become a citizen of the United States under the naturalization laws; or

(ii) That the alien, at least six months before the date he so presents himself, has filed Form 1078 or its equivalent; or

(iii) Of acts and statements of the alien showing a definite intention to acquire residence in the United States or showing that his stay in the United States has been of such an extended nature as to constitute him a resident.

(2) Other aliens. In the case of other aliens, the presumption as to the alien's nonresidence may be overcome by proof—

(i) That the alien has filed a declaration of his intention to become a citizen of the United States under the naturalization laws; or

(ii) That the alien has filed Form 1078 or its equivalent; or

(iii) Of acts and statements of the alien showing a definite intention to acquire residence in the United States or showing that his stay in the United States has been of such an extended nature as to constitute him a resident.

(d) Certificate. If, in the application of subparagraphs (1) (iii) or (2) (iii) of paragraph (c) of this section, the internal revenue officer who examines the alien is in doubt as to the facts, such officer may, to assist him in determining the facts, require a certificate or certificates setting forth the facts relied upon by the alien seeking to overcome the presumption. Each such certificate, which shall contain, or be verified by, a written declaration that it is made under the penalties of perjury, shall be executed by some credible person or persons, other than the alien and members of his family, who have known the alien at least six months before the date of execution of the certificate or certificates.

§ 1.871–5 Loss of residence by an alien. An alien who has acquired residence in the United States retains his status as a resident until he abandons the same and actually departs from the United States. An intention to change his residence does not change his status as a resident alien to that of a nonresident alien. Thus, an alien who has acquired a residence in the United States is taxable as a resident for the remainder of his stay in the United States.

§ 1.871–6 Duty of employer to determine status of alien employee—(a) Proof of status required. If wages are paid to aliens without withholding the tax under chapter 3, except as permitted in paragraph (d) of § 1.1441–3, the employer must be prepared to prove the status of the alien as provided in §§ 1.871–1 to 1.871–5, inclusive.

(b) Certificate of residence. An employer may rely upon the evidence of residence afforded by the fact that an alien has filed Form 1078, or an equivalent certificate of the alien establishing residence.

(c) Other evidence. An employer need not secure Form 1078 from the alien if he is satisfied that the alien is a resident alien. An employer who seeks to account for failure to withhold in the past, if he did not at that time secure Form 1078 or its equivalent, is permitted to prove the former status of the alien by any competent evidence.

(d) Employee's statement. The written statement of the alien employee may ordinarily be relied upon by the employer as proof that the alien is a resident of the United States.

§ 1.871–7 Tax on nonresident alien individuals—(a) Classes of nonresident aliens. For the purposes of chapter 1 nonresident alien individuals are divided into four classes:

(1) Class 1. Nonresident alien individuals not engaged in trade or business within the United States at any time during the taxable year and receiving in such year an aggregate of not more than $15,400 gross income from sources within the United States consisting of—

(i) Fixed or determinable annual or periodical income, and

(ii) Amounts constituting, or considered to be, gains from the sale or exchange of capital assets, as described in paragraph (b) of this section;

(2) Class 2. Nonresident alien individuals not engaged in trade or business within the United States at any time during the taxable year and receiving in such year an aggregate of more than $15,400 gross income described under class 1;

(3) Class 3. Nonresident alien individuals who at any time during the taxable year are engaged in trade or business within the United States; and

(4) Class 4. Nonresident alien individuals who are bona fide residents of Puerto Rico during the entire taxable year.

Individuals within classes 1 to 3, inclusive, are subject to tax pursuant to the provisions of subpart A of part II of subchapter N (sections 871 to 877, inclusive, and the regulations thereunder). The provisions of that subpart do not apply to individuals within class 4, but such individuals are subject to the tax imposed by section 1. See § 1.876–1. If the gross income of a nonresident alien individual includes income on which the tax is limited by tax convention, see paragraph (e) of this section.

(b) No United States business; gross income of not more than $15,400—(1) Imposition of tax. Except as otherwise provided by paragraph (e) of this section, a nonresident alien individual within class 1 is not subject to the tax imposed by section 1 but, pursuant to the provisions of section 871 (a), is liable to a flat tax of 30 percent upon the aggregate of the amounts determined under subparagraphs (2), (3), and (4) of this paragraph and received during the taxable year from sources within the United States. For this purpose the source of the income shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of sections 861 to 864, inclusive. For the purposes of section 871 (a) (1) "amount received" means "gross income."

(2) Fixed or determinable annual or periodical income—(i) Items subject to tax. The tax of 30 percent applies to the gross amount received as fixed or determinable annual or periodical gains, profits, and income. Specific items of fixed or determinable annual or periodical income are enumerated in section 871 (a)

(1) as interest (except interest on deposits with persons carrying on the banking business), dividends, rents, salaries, wages, premiums, annuities, compensations, remunerations, and emoluments, but other fixed or determinable annual or periodical gains, profits, and income are also subject to the tax as for instance, royalties. As to the determination of fixed or determinable annual or periodical income, see paragraph (a) of § 1.1441–2. For special rules treating gain on the disposition of section 306 stock as fixed or determinable annual or periodical income, see section 306 (f) and the regulations thereunder.

(ii) Losses. In computing the income subject to tax under this subparagraph no deduction shall be allowed for any loss sustained during the taxable year.

(3) Amounts considered to be capital gains—(i) Items subject to tax. The tax of 30 percent also applies, pursuant to the provisions of section 871 (a) (1), to amounts received during the taxable year from sources within the United States which are described in section 402 (a) (2), section 631 (b) and (c), and section 1235 and are considered to be gains from the sale or exchange of capital assets. Thus, the tax applies to gain recognized on certain distributions by a qualified employees' trust where the total distributions, with respect to any employee, are payable to the distributee within one taxable year; to gain recognized under specified circumstances on the disposal of timber and coal and considered in accordance with section 1231 to be gain from the sale or exchange of a capital asset; and to gain recognized on certain transfers of patent rights by an individual.

(ii) Ninety-day rule not applicable. The provisions of section 871 (a) (2) do not apply to the gains described in this subparagraph; as a consequence, the taxpayer receiving these gains during a taxable year is subject to the tax of 30 percent thereon without regard to the 90-day rule of that section and even though he has not been present in the United States at any time during the taxable year.

(iii) Recognized gain fully taxable. The tax of 30 percent imposed upon the gains described in this subparagraph shall apply (a) to the full amount of gain recognized upon the transaction, (b) without regard to the alternative tax imposed by section 1201 upon the excess of the net long-term capital gain over the net short-term capital loss, and (c) without regard to the deduction allowed by section 1202 in respect of capital gains.

(iv) Losses. In computing the gain subject to tax under this subparagraph no deduction shall be allowed for any loss sustained during the taxable year, even though the loss is taken into account under section 1231 in determining whether the gain is considered to be gain from the sale or exchange of a capital asset.

(4) Capital gains and losses—(i) Items subject to tax. The tax of 30 percent also applies, pursuant to the provisions of section 871 (a) (2), to the excess of capital gains derived from sources within the United States over capital losses allocable to such sources, determined under the provisions of sections 861 to 864, inclusive, and in accordance with the provisions of this subparagraph.

(ii) Present less than 90 days. If he has been present in the United States for a period or periods aggregating less than 90 days during the taxable year, a nonresident alien individual not engaged in trade or business within the United States at any time during the taxable year is liable to a tax of 30 percent upon the amount by which his gains, derived from sources within the United States, from sales or exchanges of capital assets effected during his presence in the United States exceeds his losses, allocable to sources within the United States, from such sales or exchanges effected during such presence. Gains and losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets effected during the taxable year at times other than during such presence in the United States are not to be taken into account for this purpose.

(iii) Present 90 days or more. If he has been present in the United States for a period or periods aggregating 90 days or more during the taxable year, a nonresident alien individual not engaged in trade or business within the United States at any time during the taxable year is liable to a tax of 30 percent upon the amount by which his gains, derived from sources within the United States, from sales or exchanges of capital assets effected at any time during that year exceed his losses, allocable to sources within the United States, from sales or exchanges effected at any time during that year. Gains and losses from sales or exchanges effected at any time during the taxable year are to be taken into account for this purpose even though the alien individual is not present in the United States at the time the sales or exchanges are effected.

(iv) Separate periods to be aggregated. In computing the total period of presence in the United States for a taxable year, all separate periods of presence in the United States during the taxable year are to be aggregated.

(v) Other provisions applicable. For the purpose of the computation of the excess of capital gains over capital losses subject to tax under this subparagraph, gains and losses shall, subject to the 90-day rule of section 871 (a) (2), be taken into account only if, and to the extent that, they would be recognized and taken into account if the nonresident alien individual were engaged in trade or business within the United States, except that the gains and losses shall be computed without regard to the provisions of section 1202, relating to the deduction for capital gains, and the losses shall be determined without the benefits of the capital loss carryover provided in section 1212. For example, any amount (other than the gains specified in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph) which under the provisions of subtitle A is considered to be gain or loss from the sale or exchange of a capital asset shall be taken into account but only in accordance with this subdivision and subject to the provisions of section 873 (b). Thus, an amount described in section 631 (b) or (c) which is considered to be loss from the sale or exchange of a capital asset would be taken into account in such manner. Also, for example, no deduction shall be allowed, pursuant to the provisions of section 267, for losses from sales or exchanges of property between related taxpayers.

(vi) Alternative tax. The tax shall be computed under this subparagraph without regard to the alternative tax imposed by section 1201 upon the excess of the net long-term capital gain over the net short-term capital loss.

(vii) Allowance of losses. In computing the tax under this subparagraph losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets shall be allowed only to the extent of gains from sales or exchanges of capital assets.

(viii) Gains not included. The provisions of this subparagraph do not apply to amounts described in section 402 (a) (2), section 631 (b) and (c), and section 1235, which are considered to be gains from the sale or exchange of capital assets.

(5) Deductions allowable. For the allowance of deductions in computing the tax under this paragraph, see paragraph (b) (1) of § 1.873–1.

(6) Credits against tax. The credits allowed by section 31 (relating to tax withheld on wages), section 32 (relating to tax withheld at source on nonresident aliens), section 35 (relating to partially tax-exempt interest), and section 6402 (relating to credit for overpayments of tax) shall be allowed against the tax computed in accordance with this paragraph.

(c) No United States business; gross income of more than $15,400—(1) Imposition of tax. Except as otherwise provided by paragraph (e) of this section and subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, a nonresident alien individual within class 2 is, in accordance with the provisions of section 871 (b), subject to tax under section 1 or, in the alternative, under section 1201 (b) upon the income computed in accordance with this paragraph and received during the taxable year from sources within the United States. In computing the alternative tax under section 1201 (b) for this purpose, all amounts constituting, or considered to be, gains and losses from the sale or exchange of capital assets, whether described in paragraph (b) (3) or (4) of this section, shall be taken into account to the extent prescribed by subparagraphs (2) and (3) of this paragraph.

(2) Gross income. For the purpose of this paragraph, the gross income shall include only those items of gains, profits, and income which would be taken into account if the tax were being determined in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section, that is, the gross amount of fixed or determinable annual or periodical income determined in accordance with paragraph (b) (2) of this section, the full amount of any gain taxable in accordance with paragraph (b) (3) of this section, and all other gains (computed without regard to any losses) which are to be taken into account in determining the tax under paragraph (b) (4) of this section. For such purpose, all such gains derived from the sale or exchange of capital assets, whether taken into account under paragraph (b) (3) or (4) of this section, shall be included to the same extent as provided by subchapter P, relating to capital gains and losses.

(3) Deductions. In computing, for purposes of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, the income subject to tax under section 1 or section 1201 (b), there shall be allowed as deductions—

(i) Capital losses. Any loss, allocable to sources within the United States, from the sale or exchange of a capital asset which would be taken into account if the tax were being determined in accordance with paragraph (b) (4) of this section, except that such loss shall be allowed only to the extent provided by subchapter P, relating to capital gains and losses, but without the benefit of the capital loss carryover provided by section 1212;

(ii) Charitable contributions. The deduction for charitable contributions and gifts to the extent allowed by section 170, whether or not connected with income from sources within the United States, but (in accordance with section 873 (c)) only as to contributions or gifts made to domestic corporations, or to community chests, funds, or foundations, created in the United States; and

(iii) Other deductions. Any other deduction (including the deduction allowed by section 1202 in respect of capital gains) allowed by section 873, but only if, and to the extent that, they are properly allocable to the gross income specified in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph. See also § 1.873–1.

(4) Minimum tax. Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, and except as otherwise provided by paragraph (e) of this section, the tax of a nonresident alien individual within class 2 shall in no case be less than 30 percent of the aggregate of the amounts determined under paragraph (b) (2), (3), and (4) of this section and received during the taxable year from sources within the United States.

(5) Credits against tax. The credits allowed by section 31 (relating to tax withheld on wages), section 32 (relating to tax withheld at source on nonresident aliens), section 34 (relating to dividends received by individuals), section 35 (relating to partially tax-exempt interest), and section 6402 (relating to credit for overpayments of tax) shall be allowed against the tax computed in accordance with this paragraph, even though such tax is computed in accordance with subparagraph (4) of this paragraph.

(d) United States business—(1) Imposition of tax. Except as otherwise provided by paragraph (e) of this section, a nonresident alien individual within class 3 is, in accordance with the provisions of section 871 (c), subject to tax under section 1 or, in the alternative, under section 1201 (b) upon his taxable income.

(2) Taxable income. For purposes of this paragraph, taxable income includes only the taxable income from sources within the United States, determined in accordance with the provisions of sections 63 (a), 861 to 864, inclusive, 872, and 873, and the regulations thereunder.

(3) Credits against tax. The credits allowed by section 31 (relating to tax withheld on wages), section 32 (relating to tax withheld at source on nonresident aliens), section 34 (relating to dividends received by individuals), section 35 (relating to partially tax-exempt interest), and section 6402 (relating to credit for overpayments of tax) shall be allowed against the tax computed in accordance with this paragraph.

(4) Inapplicable provisions. The provisions of paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section have no application in determining the tax of a nonresident alien individual engaged in trade or business within the United States.

(e) Treaty income—(1) Definitions. For purposes of this paragraph, the term "treaty income" shall be construed to mean the gross income of a nonresident alien individual the tax on which is limited by tax convention. Thus, for example, the term would include dividends derived by such an individual from sources within the United States which, in accordance with a tax convention, are subject to United States tax at a rate not to exceed 15 percent. The term "nontreaty income" shall be construed to mean the gross income of a nonresident alien individual other than treaty income. Neither term shall be construed to include income which is exempt from United States tax. For this purpose, the gross income shall be determined in accordance with §§ 1.872–1 and 1.872–2.

(2) Application of $15,400 limitation. Treaty income shall be taken into account in determining whether a nonresident alien individual not engaged in trade or business within the United States at any time during the taxable year is within class 1 or class 2 for purposes of paragraph (a) of this section; however, the tax upon such income shall be separately computed to the extent required by subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(3) Computation of tax. If the gross income of a nonresident alien individual within class 1, 2, or 3 consists of both treaty and nontreaty income, the tax liability for the taxable year shall be the sum of the amounts determined in accordance with subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph. In no case, however, may the tax liability so determined exceed the tax liability with respect to the taxpayer's entire gross income, determined in accordance with paragraph (b), (c), or (d) of this section as though the tax convention had not come into effect. This subparagraph shall not be construed to deny the credits provided by sections 31, 32, and 6402.

(i) Compute a partial tax upon only the nontreaty income in accordance with section 871 (a), (b), or (c), whichever applies, as determined under paragraph (b), (c), or (d) of this section, and as though the tax convention had not come into effect. To the extent allowed by such paragraph, the credits allowed by sections 34 and 35 shall then be allowed against the tax so computed but only with respect to items included in the nontreaty income. For this purpose, the nontreaty income alone shall be used as a basis for determining whether the partial tax shall be computed in accordance with section 871 (a) or (b).

(ii) Compute a tax upon the gross amount of each separate item of treaty income at the reduced rate applicable to that item under the tax convention. This tax shall be determined without the allowance of any deduction, credit, or exclusion in respect of any item included in the treaty income.

(4) Illustration. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). (i) A nonresident alien individual who is a resident of a foreign country with which the United States has entered into a tax convention receives during the taxable year 1955 from sources within the United States total gross income of $125,000, consisting of the following items:

|---|---|
| Oil royalties the tax on which is limited by the convention to a rate not to exceed 15 percent | $100,000 |
| Interest the tax on which is limited by the convention to a rate not to exceed 5 percent | 5,000 |
| Dividends the tax on which is not limited by the convention | 10,000 |
| Rents the tax on which is not limited by the convention | 10,000 |
| Total gross income | 125,000 |

The dividends are assumed to be paid by a domestic corporation not disqualified by section 34 (c) or 116 (b). There are no allowable deductions, other than the deductions allowed by sections 613 and 873 (d). The taxpayer has not engaged in trade or business within the United States or had a permanent establishment therein at any time during the taxable year. Although entitled to do so under the convention, the taxpayer does not elect to be taxed for the taxable year as though he did have a permanent establishment within the United States.

(ii) The tax liability for the taxable year is $21,792, computed as follows:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Nontreaty gross income | | $20,000 |
| Less: Deduction for personal exemption | | 600 |
| Nontreaty taxable income | | 19,400 |
| Tax computed under section 1 on nontreaty taxable income | | 6,942 |
| Minimum tax prescribed by section 871 (b) (3) upon nontreaty gross income ($20,000×30 percent) | | 6,000 |
| Tax for the taxable year upon nontreaty taxable income, as above | | 6,942 |
| Less: Credit under section 34 in respect of the nontreaty dividends received, that is, the smallest of the following: | | |
| 4 percent of the dividends included in nontreaty gross income ($10,000×4 percent) | $400 | |
| The tax for the taxable year upon nontreaty taxable income, as above | 6,942 | |
| 4 percent of the nontreaty taxable income for the taxable year ($19,400×4 percent) | 776 | |
| | 400 | |
| Partial tax computed in accordance with subparagraph (3) (i) | | 6,542 |
| Plus: Tax on oil royalties ($100,000×15 percent) | | 15,000 |
| Tax on interest ($5,000×5 percent) | | 250 |
| Total | | 21,792 |

Example (2). (i) A nonresident alien individual who is a resident of a foreign country with which the United States has

The dividends are assumed to be paid by a domestic corporation not disqualified by section 34 (c) or 116 (b). The taxpayer was engaged in trade or business within the United States during the taxable year. Interest expense in the amount of $2,100 connected with the dividend income was paid by the taxpayer during the taxable year.

(ii) The tax liability for the taxable year is $208, computed as follows:

| Balance | | 208 |

Example (3). (i) A nonresident alien individual who is a resident of a foreign country with which the United States has entered into a tax convention receives during the taxable year 1955 from sources within the United States total gross income of $22,000, consisting of the following items:

| Oil royalties the tax on which is limited by the convention to a rate not to exceed 15 percent | 2,000 |
| Total gross income | 22,000 |

The taxpayer was engaged in trade or business within the United States during the taxable year but did not have a permanent establishment therein. Although entitled to do so under the convention, the taxpayer does not elect to be taxed for the taxable year as though he did have a permanent establishment within the United States. There are no allowable deductions, other than the deductions allowed by sections 613 and 873 (d).

(ii) The tax liability for the taxable year is $7,242, computed as follows:

| Plus: Tax on oil royalties ($2,000×15 percent) | 300 |
| Total | 7,242 |

(5) Exceptions. This paragraph shall not apply to a nonresident alien individual who is a bona fide resident of Puerto Rico during the entire taxable year or to a nonresident alien individual who, in accordance with a tax convention, is entitled, and does elect, to be subject to tax on a net basis as though he were engaged in trade or business within the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein. See §§ 1.873–1 (b) (3) and 1.876–1.

§ 1.871–8 Definition of engaging in trade or business within the United States—(a) Personal services. As used in sections 861 to 864, inclusive, 871, 881, 882, and 1441 to 1465, inclusive, the term "engaged in trade or business within the United States" includes the performance of personal services within the United States at any time within the taxable year, but does not include the performance of personal services, (1) for a nonresident alien individual, foreign partnership, or foreign corporation, not engaged in trade or business within the United States, or (2) for an office or place of business maintained by a domestic corporation in a foreign country or in a possession of the United States, by a nonresident alien individual temporarily present in the United States for a period or periods not exceeding a total of 90 days during the taxable year and whose compensation for such services does not exceed in the aggregate $3,000. See section 7701 (a) (5) for the meaning of "foreign" when applied to a corporation or partnership. As to the source of the compensation for personal services, see § 1.861–4.

(b) Exchange transactions. The term "engaged in trade or business within the United States" when used in such sections does not include the effecting of transactions in the United States in stocks or securities through a resident broker, commission agent, or custodian. Nor does it include the effecting of transactions in the United States in commodities (including hedging transactions) through such a person if (1) the goods are of a kind customarily dealth in on an organized commodity exchange, such as a grain futures or a cotton futures market, (2) the transaction is of the kind customarily consummated at such place, and (3) the alien, partnership, or corporation, by whom the transactions are effected, has no office or place of business in the United States at any time during the taxable year through which, or by the direction of which, such transactions in commodities are effected. For this purpose the term "commodities" does not not include merchandise in the ordinary channels of commerce. See paragraph (a) (3) of § 1.872–1.

(c) Trusts. Neither the beneficiary nor the grantor of a trust, whether revocable or irrevocable, is deemed to be engaged in trade or business within the United States merely because the trustee is engaged in trade or business within the United States.

§ 1.872 Statutory provisions; gross income.

SEC. 872. Gross income—(a) General rule. In the case of a nonresident alien individual gross income includes only the gross income from sources within the United States.

(b) Exclusions. The following items shall not be included in gross income of a nonresident alien individual, and shall be exempt from taxation under this subtitle:

(1) Ships under foreign flag. Earnings derived from the operation of a ship or ships documented under the laws of a foreign country which grants an equivalent exemption to citizens of the United States and to corporations organized in the United States.

(2) Aircraft of foreign registry. Earnings derived from the operation of aircraft registered under the laws of a foreign country which grants an equivalent exemption to citizens of the United States and to corporations organized in the United States.

§ 1.872–1 Gross income of nonresident alien individuals—(a) General—(1) United States sources. The gross income of a nonresident alien individual includes only the gross income from sources within the United States. Except as may otherwise be provided by tax convention, the sources of the income for that purpose shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of sections 861 to 864, inclusive, and the regulations thereunder.

(2) Change of status. Income received by a resident alien from sources without the United States is taxable although he may become a nonresident alien subsequent to its receipt and before the close of the taxable year. Conversely, income received by a nonresident alien from sources without the United States is not taxable although he may become a resident alien subsequent to its receipt and before the close of the taxable year.

(3) Exchange transactions. Even though a nonresident alien individual may not be engaged in trade or business within the United States through the effecting of certain transactions in stocks, securities, or commodities, as described in paragraph (b) of § 1.871–8, nevertheless he shall be required to include in gross income the gains and profits from those transactions to the extent prescribed by § 1.871–7.

(4) Sales or exchanges of property. Amounts constituting, or considered to be, gains from the sale or exchange of capital assets, and profits derived from the sale within the United States of personal property, or from the sale of real property located therein, shall also be included in the gross income of a nonresident alien individual to the extent prescribed by § 1.871–7.

(5) Exclusions. For exclusions from gross income see § 1.872–2.

(b) No United States business. To determine the gross income of a nonresident alien individual who is not engaged in trade or business within the United States at any time during the taxable year, see paragraphs (b) and (c) of § 1.871–7. If that alien is also a bona fide resident of Puerto Rico during the entire taxable year, see § 1.876–1.

(c) United States business. To determine the gross income of a nonresident alien individual who at any time within the taxable year is engaged in trade or business within the United States, see paragraph (d) of § 1.871–7. If that alien is also a bona fide resident of Puerto Rico during the entire taxable year, see § 1.876–1.

§ 1.872–2 Exclusions from gross income of nonresident alien individuals—(a) Earnings of foreign ships or aircraft—(1) Basic rule. So much of the income from sources within the United States of a nonresident alien individual as consists of earnings derived from the operation of a ship or ships documented, or of aircraft registered, under the laws of a foreign country which grants an equivalent exemption to citizens of the United States, nonresident in that foreign country and to corporations organized in the United States shall not be included in gross income.

(2) Equivalent exemption—(i) Ships. A foreign country which either imposes no income tax, or, in imposing that tax, exempts from taxation so much of the income of a citizen of the United States nonresident in that foreign country and of a corporation organized in the United States as consists of earnings derived from the operation of a ship or ships documented under the laws of the United States is considered as granting an equivalent exemption for purposes of the exclusion from gross income of the earnings of a foreign ship or ships.

(ii) Aircraft. A foreign country which either imposes no income tax, or, in imposing that tax, exempts from taxation so much of the income of a citizen of the United States nonresident in that foreign country and of a corporation organized in the United States as consists of earnings derived from the operation of aircraft registered under the laws of the United States is considered as granting an equivalent exemption for purposes of the exclusion from gross income of the earnings of foreign aircraft.

(b) Tax conventions. Income of any kind which is exempt from United States tax under the provisions of a tax convention or treaty to which the United States is a party shall not be included in the gross income of a nonresident alien individual. Income on which the tax is limited by tax convention shall, however, be included in the gross income of such an individual if the income is from sources within the United States and is not otherwise excluded from gross income. See §§ 1.871–7 (e) and 1.894–1.

(c) Other exclusions. Income which is from sources without the United States, as determined under the provisions of sections 861 to 864, inclusive, or under the provisions of an applicable tax convention, shall not be included in the gross income of a nonresident alien individual. To determine specific exclusions in the case of other items which are from sources within the United States, see the applicable sections of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.

SEC. 873. Deductions—(a) General rule. In the case of a nonresident alien individual the deductions shall be allowed only if and to the extent that they are connected with income from sources within the United States; and the proper apportionment and allocation of the deductions with respect to sources of income within and without the United States shall be determined as provided in part I, under regulations prescribed by the Secretary or his delegate.

(b) Losses. (1) The deduction, for losses not connected with the trade or business if incurred in transactions entered into for profit, allowed by section 165 (c) (2) (relating to losses) shall be allowed whether or not connected with income from sources within the United States, but only if the profit, if such transaction had resulted in a profit, would be taxable under this subtitle.

(2) The deduction for losses of property not connected with the trade or business if arising from certain casualties or theft, allowed by section 165 (c) (3), shall be allowed whether or not connected with income from sources within the United States, but only if the loss is of property within the United States.

(c) Charitable contributions. The deduction for charitable contributions and gifts provided by section 170 shall be allowed whether or not connected with income from sources within the United States, but only as to contributions or gifts made to domestic corporations, or to community chests, funds, or foundations, created in the United States.

(d) Personal exemption. In the case of a nonresident alien individual who is not a resident of a contiguous country, only one exemption under section 151 shall be allowed as a deduction.

(e) Standard deduction. For disallowance of standard deduction, see section 142 (b) (1).

§ 1.873–1 Deductions allowed nonresident alien individuals—(a) General provisions—(1) Allocation of deductions. In computing the taxable income of a nonresident alien individual the deductions otherwise allowable shall be allowed only if, and to the extent that, they are connected with income from sources within the United States. No deduction shall be allowed in respect of any item, or portion thereof, which is not connected with income from such sources. For this purpose, the proper apportionment and allocation of the deductions with respect to sources of income within and without the United States shall be determined as provided in sections 861 to 864, inclusive, except as may otherwise be provided by tax convention. Thus, from the items of gross income specifically from sources within the United States and from the items allocated thereto under the provisions of section 863 (a), there shall be deducted (i) the expenses, losses, and other deductions which are connected with those items of income and are properly apportioned or allocated thereto, and (ii) (a ratable part of any other expenses, losses, or deductions which are connected with those items of income but cannot definitely be allocated to some item or class of gross income. The ratable part shall be based upon the ratio of gross income from sources within the United States to the total gross income. See §§ 1.861–8 and 1.863–1. In the case of income partly from within and partly from without the United States the expenses, losses, and other deductions connected with income from sources within the United States shall also be deducted in the manner prescribed by §§ 1.863–2 through 1.863–5 in order to ascertain under section 863 the portion of the taxable income attributable to sources within the United States.

(2) Personal exemptions. The deductions for the personal exemptions allowed by section 151 or 642 (b) shall not be taken into account for purposes of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph but shall be allowed to the extent provided by paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section.

(3) Adjusted gross income. The adjusted gross income of a nonresident alien individual shall be the gross income from sources within the United States, determined in accordance with § 1.871–7, minus the deductions prescribed by section 62 to the extent such deductions are allowed under this section in computing taxable income.

(4) Standard deduction. The standard deduction shall not be allowed in computing the taxable income of a nonresident alien individual. See section 142 (b) (1).

(5) Exempt income. No deduction shall be allowed under this section for the amount of any item or part thereof allocable to a class or classes of exempt income, including income exempt by tax convention. See section 265 and the regulations thereunder.

(b) No United States business—(1) Income of not more than $15,400—(i) Deduction for losses only. A nonresident alien individual within class 1 shall not be allowed any deductions other than the deduction for losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets determined in the manner prescribed by paragraph (b) (4) (vii) of § 1.871–7. Thus, an individual within this class shall not be allowed any deductions for the personal exemptions otherwise allowed by section 151 or 642 (b).

(ii) Source of losses. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 873 (b) (1), losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets shall be allowed under this subparagraph only if allocable to sources within the United States. See paragraph (b) (4) (i) of § 1.871–7.

(2) Aggregate more than $15,400—(i) Deductions allowed. In computing the income subject to tax under section 1 or section 1201 (b), a nonresident alien individual within class 2 shall be allowed deductions to the extent prescribed by paragraph (c) (3) of § 1.871–7, but subject to the limitations of this section. For this purpose, the deduction for the personal exemptions shall be allowed in accordance with subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph.

(ii) Deductions disallowed. In computing the minimum tax prescribed by section 871 (b) (3), that individual shall not be allowed any deductions other than the deduction for losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets determined in the manner precribed by paragraph (b) (4) (vii) of § 1.871–7. For this purpose, the deductions for the personal exemptions shall not be allowed. See paragraph (c) (4) of § 1.871.7.

(iii) Personal exemptions. When the deductions for personal exemptions are allowed under this subparagraph, only one exemption under section 151 shall be allowed in the case of an individual who is not a resident of Canada or Mexico. A resident of either of those countries shall be allowed all the exemptions granted by section 151 to the extent prescribed therein. An estate or trust, whether or not a resident of Canada or Mexico, shall determine its deduction for the personal exemption in accordance with section 642 (b).

(iv) Source of losses. Nothwithstanding the provisions of section 873 (b) (1), losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets shall be allowed under this subparagraph only if allocable to sources within the United States. See paragraph (c) (3) (i) of § 1.871–7.

(3) Election to be taxed on a net basis. Notwithstanding the other provisions of this paragraph, a nonresident alien individual within class 1 or 2 shall be allowed the deductions allowed by paragraph (c) of this section, if pursuant to a tax convention he is entitled, and does elect, to be subject to United States tax on a net basis as though he were engaged in trade or business within the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein.

(c) United States business—(1) Deductions in general. For purposes of computing the income subject to tax, a nonresident alien individual within class 3 shall be allowed deductions to the extent prescribed by paragraph (d) of § 1.871–7, but subject to the limitations of this section. For this purpose, the deductions for the personal exemptions shall be allowed in accordance with subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(2) Special deductions. Notwithstanding the rule of source prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section, an individual within class 3 shall be allowed the following deductions whether or not they are connected with income from sources within the United States:

(i) Losses on transactions for profit. Any loss sustained during the taxable year and not compensated for by insurance or otherwise, if incurred in any transaction entered into for profit, though not connected with a trade or business, shall be allowed to the extent allowed by section 165 (c) (2), but only if and to the extent that the profit, if the transaction had resulted in a profit, would be taxable to such individual. Losses allowed under this subdivision shall be deducted in full, as provided in §§ 1.861–8 and 1.863–1, when the profit from the transaction, if it had resulted in a profit, would, under the provisions of section 861 (a) or 863 (a), have been taxable in full as income from sources within the United States; but shall be deducted under the provisions of § 1.863–3 when the profit from the transaction, if it had resulted in profit, would have been taxable only in part.

(ii) Casualty losses. Any loss of property not connected with a trade or business, sustained during the taxable year and not compensated for by insurance or otherwise, if the loss arises from fire, storm, shipwreck, or other casualty, or from theft, shall be allowed to the extent allowed by section 165 (c) (3), but only if the loss is of property within the United States. Losses allowed under this subdivision shall be deducted in full, as provided in §§ 1.861–8 and 1.863–1, from the items of gross income specified under sections 861 (a) and 863 (a) as being derived in full from sources within the United States; but, if greater than the sum of those items, the unabsorbed loss shall be deducted from the income apportioned under the provisions of § 1.863–3 to sources within the United States.

(iii) Charitable contributions. The deduction for charitable contributions and gifts, to the extent allowed by section 170, shall be allowed under this subparagraph, but only as to contributions or gifts made to domestic corporations, or to community chests, funds, or foundations, created in the United States.

(3) Personal exemptions. Only one exemption under section 151 shall be allowed in the case of an individual who is not a resident of Canada or Mexico. A resident of either of those countries shall be allowed all the exemptions granted by section 151 to the extent prescribed therein. An estate or trust, whether or not a resident of Canada or Mexico, shall determine its deduction for the personal exemption in accordance with section 642 (b).

SEC. 874. Allowance of deductions and credits—(a) Return prerequisite to allowance. A nonresident alien individual shall receive the benefit of the deductions and credits allowed to him in this subtitle only by filing or causing to be filed a true and accurate return of his total income received from all sources in the United States, in the manner prescribed in subtitle F (sec. 6001 and following, relating to procedure and administration), including therein all the information which the Secretary or his delegate may deem necessary for the calculation of such deductions and credits. This subsection shall not be construed to deny the credits provided by sections 31 and 32 for tax withheld at the source.

(b) Tax withheld at source. The benefit of the deduction for exemptions under section 151 may, in the discretion of the Secretary or his delegate, and under regulations prescribed by the Secretary or his delegate, be received by a nonresident alien individual entitled thereto, by filing a claim therefor with the withholding agent.

(c) Foreign tax credit not allowed. A nonresident alien individual shall not be allowed the credits against the tax for taxes of foreign countries and possessions of the United States allowed by section 901.

§ 1.874–1 Allowance of deductions and credits to nonresident alien individuals—(a) Return required. A nonresident alien individual shall receive the benefit of the deductions and credits (other than the credits provided by sections 31 and 32) allowed to him with respect to the income tax, only if he files or causes to be filed with the district director, in accordance with § 1.6012–7 or § 1.6012–8, a true and accurate return of his total income received from all sources within the United States.

(b) Tax on gross income. If a return is not so filed, the tax shall be collected on the basis of gross income, determined in accordance with § 1.871–7 but without regard to any deductions otherwise allowable, and the only credits allowable against the tax so computed shall be those allowed by sections 31 and 32. This paragraph shall apply even though the tax determined in accordance with § 1.871–7 has been fully satisfied at the source. See also § 1.872–1.

(c) Return by district director. If a nonresident alien individual has various sources of income within the United States, so that from any one source, or from all sources combined, the amount of income shall call for the assessment of a tax greater than that withheld at the source in the case of that individual, and a return of income has not been filed by him or on his behalf, the district director shall (1) cause a return of income to be made, (2) include therein the income described in § 1.871–7 of that individual from all sources concerning which he has information, and (3) assess the tax and collect it from one or more of those sources of income within the United States, without allowance for deductions or credits (other than the credits provided by sections 31 and 32).

(d) Alien resident of Puerto Rico. This section shall not apply to a nonresident alien individual who is a bona fide resident of Puerto Rico during the entire taxable year. See § 1.876–1.

§ 1.875 Statutory provisions; partnerships.

SEC. 875. Partnerships. For purposes of this subtitle, a nonresident alien individual shall be considered as being engaged in a trade or business within the United States if the partnership of which he is a member is so engaged.

§ 1.875–1 Partnerships. Whether a nonresident alien individual who is a member of a partnership is taxable in accordance with subsection (a), (b), or (c) of section 871 may depend on the status of the partnership. A nonresident alien individual who is a member of a partnership which is not engaged in trade or business within the United States is subject to the provisions of section 871 (a) or (b), as the case may be, depending on whether or not he receives during the taxable year an aggregate of more than $15,400 gross income described in section 871 (a), if he is not otherwise engaged in trade or business within the United States. A nonresident alien individual who is a member of a partnership which at any time within the taxable year is engaged in trade or business within the United States is considered as being engaged in trade or business within the United States and is therefore taxable under section 871 (c). For definition of what the term "partnership" includes, see section 7701 (a) (2). The test of whether a partnership is engaged in trade or business within the United States is the same as in the case of a nonresident alien individual. See § 1.871–8.

§ 1.876 Statutory provisions; alien residents of Puerto Rico.

SEC. 876. Alien residents of Puerto Rico—(a) No application to certain alien residents of Puerto Rico. This subpart shall not apply to an alien individual who is a bona fide resident of Puerto Rico during the entire taxable year, and such alien shall be subject to the tax imposed by section 1.

(b) Cross reference. For exclusion from gross income of income derived from sources within Puerto Rico, see section 933.

§ 1.876–1 Alien residents of Puerto Rico—(a) General. A nonresident alien individual who is a bona fide resident of Puerto Rico during the entire taxable year is, in accordance with the provisions of section 876, subject to tax under section 1 or, in the alternative, under section 1201 (b) in generally the same manner as in the case of an alien resident of the United States. See §§ 1.1–1 (b) and 1.871–1. The tax is imposed upon the taxable income of such a resident of Puerto Rico, determined in accordance with section 63, (a), from sources both within and without the United States, except that under the provisions of section 933 income derived from sources within Puerto Rico (other than amounts received for services performed as an employee of the United States or any agency thereof) is excluded from gross income. For determining the form of return to be used by such an individual, see section 6011 and the regulations thereunder.

(b) Exceptions. Though subject to the tax imposed by section 1, a nonresident alien individual who is a bona fide resident of Puerto Rico during his entire taxable year shall nevertheless be treated as a nonresident alien for the purpose of many provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 relating to nonresident alien individuals. Thus, for example, such a resident of Puerto Rico is not allowed to compute his tax in accordance with the optional tax table (section 4 (d) (1)); is not allowed the standard deduction (section 142 (b) (1)); is not allowed a deduction for a "dependent" who is a resident of Puerto Rico unless the dependent is a citizen of the United States (section 152 (b) (3)); is subject to withholding of tax at source under chapter 3 (sections 1441 (d) and 1451 (e)); is generally not subject to the collection of income tax at source on wages (section 3401 (a) (6)); is not allowed to make a joint return or a joint declaration of estimated tax (sections 6013 (a) (1) and 6015 (b)); must pay his estimated tax on or before April 15 (sections 6015 (a), 6073 (a), and 6153 (a) (1)); and must pay his income tax on or before June 15 (sections 6072 (c) and 6151 (a)).

(c) Credits against tax. The credits allowed by section 31 (relating to tax withheld on wages), section 32 (relating to tax withheld at source on nonresident aliens), section 33 (relating to taxes of foreign countries), section 34 (relating to dividends received by individuals), section 35 (relating to partially tax-exempt interest), and section 6402 (relating to credit for overpayments of tax) shall be allowed against the tax computed in accordance with this section. No credit shall be allowed under section 37 in respect of retirement income.

§ 1.877 Statutory provisions; certain foreign exempt organizations.

SEC. 877. Foreign educational, charitable, and certain other exempt organizations. For special provisions relating to unrelated business income of foreign educational, charitable, and other exempt trusts, see section 512 (a).

FOREIGN CORPORATIONS

§ 1.881 Statutory provisions; tax on foreign corporations not engaged in business in the United States.

SEC. 881. Tax on foreign corporations not engaged in business in United States—(a) Imposition of tax. In the case of every foreign corporation not engaged in trade or business within the United States, there is hereby imposed for each taxable year, in lieu of the taxes imposed by section 11, a tax of 30 percent of the amount received from sources within the United States as interest (except interest on deposits with persons carrying on the banking business), dividends, rents, salaries, wages, premiums, annuities, compensations, remunerations, emoluments, or other fixed or determinable annual or periodical gains, profits, and income (including amounts described in section 631 (b) and (c) which are considerd to be gains from the sale or exchange of capital assets).

(b) Doubling of tax. For doubling of tax on corporations of certain foreign countries, see section 891.

§ 1.881–1 Taxation of foreign corporations—(a) Classes of foreign corporations. For purposes of the income tax, foreign corporations are divided into two classes, namely, nonresident foreign corporations and resident foreign corporations. A nonresident foreign corporation is a foreign corporation which is not engaged in trade or business within the United States at any time during the taxable year. A resident foreign corporation is a foreign corporation which, at some time during the taxable year, is engaged in trade or business within the United States. See also section 7701 and the regulations thereunder.

(b) Manner of taxing. A foreign corporation, whether resident or nonresident, is taxable only on income derived from sources within the United States, to the extent indicated in § 1.881–2 or § 1.882–1.

(c) Meaning of terms. For the meaning of the term "engaged in trade or business within the United States", as used in this section, see § 1.871–8. For the definition of the term "foreign corporation", see section 7701 (a) (3) and (5), and the regulations thereunder.

(d) Corporations included as foreign. The following corporations shall be included as foreign corporations for purposes of this section:

(1) A foreign life insurance company not carrying on an insurance business within the United States, as described in section 807 (b);

(2) A foreign mutual insurance company (other than a life or marine insurance company or a fire insurance company subject to the tax imposed by section 831) not carrying on an insurance business within the United States, as described in section 821 (d); and

(3) A foreign insurance company (other than a life or mutual insurance company), a foreign mutual marine insurance company, and a foreign mutual fire insurance company, not carrying on an insurance business within the United States, as described in section 831 (b).

(e) Other provisions applicable to foreign corporations—(1) Insurance companies. For the taxation of foreign insurance companies carrying on an insurance business within the United States, see sections 807 (a), 822 (e), and 832 (d), and the regulations thereunder.

(2) Accumulated earnings tax. For the imposition of the accumulated earnings tax upon the accumulated taxable income of a foreign corporation, whether resident or nonresident, formed or availed of for tax avoidance purposes, see section 532 and the regulations thereunder.

(3) Personal holding company tax. For the imposition of the personal holding company tax upon the undistributed personal holding company income of a foreign corporation, whether resident or nonresident, see sections 541 and 545, and the regulations thereunder.

(4) Foreign personal holding companies. For the mandatory inclusion in the gross income of the United States shareholders of the undistributed foreign personal holding company income of a foreign personal holding company, see section 551 and the regulations thereunder.

§ 1.881–2 Tax on nonresident foreign corporations—(a) Imposition of tax. Except as otherwise provided by paragraph (f) of this section, a nonresident foreign corporation is not subject to the tax imposed by section 11 or 1201 (a) but, pursuant to the provisions of section 881 (a), is liable to a flat tax of 30 percent upon the aggregate of the amounts determined under paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section and received during the taxable year from sources within the United States. For this purpose the source of the income shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of § 1.882–2. For the purposes of section 881 (a), "amount received" means "gross income".

(b) Fixed or determinable annual or periodical income. The tax of 30 percent applies to the gross amount received as fixed or determinable annual or periodical gains, profits, and income. Specific items of fixed or determinable annual or periodical income are enumerated in section 881 (a) as interest (except interest on deposits with persons carrying on the banking business), dividends, rents, salaries, wages, premiums, annuities, compensations, remunerations, and emoluments, but other fixed or determinable annual or periodical gains, profits, and income are also subject to the tax as, for instance, royalties. As to the determination of fixed or determinable annual or periodical income, see paragraph (a) of § 1.1441–2. For special rules treating gain on the disposition of section 306 stock as fixed or determinable annual or periodical income, see section 306 (f) and the regulations thereunder.

(c) Amounts considered to be capital gains. The tax of 30 percent also applies, pursuant to the provisions of section 881 (a), to amounts received during the taxable year from sources within the United States which are described in section 631 (b) and (c) and are considered to be gains from the sale or exchange of capital assets. Thus, the tax applies to gain recognized under specified circumstances on the disposal of timber and coal and considered in accordance with section 1231 to be gain from the sale or exchange of a capital asset.

(d) Losses and other deductions. In computing the income subject to tax under this section no deduction shall be allowed for any loss sustained during the taxable year, even though the loss is taken into account under section 1231 in determining whether the gain is considered to be gain from the sale or exchange of a capital asset. For the general disallowance of deductions in computing the tax under this section, see paragraph (a) (1) of § 1.882–3.

(e) Credits against tax. The credits allowed by section 32 (relating to tax withheld at source on foreign corporations) and section 6402 (relating to credit for overpayments of tax) shall be allowed against the tax computed in accordance with this section.

(f) Treaty income. If the gross income of a nonresident foreign corporation consists of both treaty and nontreaty income, the tax liability for the taxable year shall be determined in a manner consistent with that prescribed by paragraph (e) of § 1.871–7 in the case of a nonresident alien individual.

(6) Consolidated returns. Except in the case of certain corporations organized under the laws of Canada or Mexico and maintained solely for the purpose of complying with the laws of such country as to title and operation of property, a foreign corporation is not an includible corporation for purposes of the privilege of making a consolidated return by an affiliated group of corporations. See § 1.1502–2 (b) (1) and (3).

(7) Treaty income. If the gross income of a resident foreign corporation consists of both treaty and nontreaty income, the tax liability for the taxable year shall be determined in a manner consistent with that prescribed by paragraph (e) of § 1.871–7 in the case of a nonresident alien individual.

(b) Normal tax. A resident foreign corporation is liable to the normal tax imposed by section 11 (b). See that section and the regulations thereunder.

(b) Nonresident foreign corporations. The gross income of a nonresident foreign corporation consists only of the items of income specified in section 881 (a) and described in § 1.881–2.

(c) Resident foreign corporations—(1) Gross income not limited to specified items. The gross income of a resident foreign corporation is not limited to the items of income specified in section 881 (a) but includes every item of gross income which, in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section, is treated as gross income from sources within the United States. See also paragraph (a) (2) of § 1.882–1.

(2) Income from sale of property. The gross income of a resident foreign corporation shall, subject to the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section, include gains derived from the sale or exchange of capital assets, gains from hedging transactions, and profits derived from the sale within the United States of personal property or from the sale of real property located therein.

(3) Exchange transactions. Even though a foreign corporation may not be engaged in trade or business within the United States through the effecting of certain transactions in stocks, securities, or commodities, as described in paragraph (b) of § 1.871–8, nevertheless, it shall, subject to the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section, be required to include in gross income the gains and profits from those transactions if at any time during the taxable year it has otherwise engaged in trade or business within the United States.

(d) Exclusions. For exclusions from gross income see § 1.883–1.

§ 1.882–3 Deductions allowed foreign corporations—(a) Nonresident foreign corporations—(1) General. For purposes of computing the tax imposed by section 881 (a) and described in § 1.881–2, a nonresident foreign corporation shall not be allowed any deductions, since the tax is imposed upon the gross amount received from sources within the United States.

(2) Election to be taxed on a net basis. Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, a nonresident foreign corporation shall be allowed the deductions allowed by paragraph (b) of this section, if pursuant to a tax convention it is entitled, and does elect, to be subject to United States tax on a net basis as though it were engaged in trade or business within the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein.

(b) Resident foreign corporations—(1) General. For purposes of computing the income subject to tax, a resident foreign corporation shall be allowed deductions to the extent prescribed by paragraph (a) (2) of § 1.882–1, but subject to the limitations of this paragraph.

(2) Allocation of deductions. In computing the taxable income of a resident foreign corporation the deductions otherwise allowable shall be allowed only if, and to the extent that, they are connected with income from sources within the United States. For this purpose, the proper apportionment and allocation of the deductions with respect to sources of income within and without the United States shall be determined in the same manner as provided in paragraph (a) (1) of § 1.873–1 with respect to nonresident alien individuals.

(3) Special deductions. The special deductions allowed by section 241 (relating to the deductions for partially tax-exempt interest, dividends received, etc.) in the case of a corporation shall be taken into account for purposes of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph. Thus, these deductions shall be allowed only in respect of amounts included in gross income pursuant to § 1.882–2.

(4) Exempt income. No deduction shall be allowed under this paragraph for the amount of any item or part thereof allocable to a class or classes of exempt income, including income exempt by tax convention. See section 265 and the regulations thereunder.

(5) Charitable contributions. Notwithstanding the rule of source prescribed in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, a resident foreign corporation shall be allowed the deduction for charitable contributions and gifts, to the extent allowed by section 170, whether or not the deduction is connected with income from sources within the United States.

§ 1.882–4 Allowance of deductions to foreign corporations—(a) Nonresident foreign corporations. As indicated in § 1.882–3, a nonresident foreign corporation is not allowed any deductions, whether or not a return of income is filed. The deductions allowed such a corporation electing under a tax convention to be subject to tax on a net basis shall be obtained by filing a return of income in the manner prescribed in the regulations under the tax convention. See paragraph (a) (2) of § 1.882–3.

(b) Resident foreign corporations—(1) Return necessary. A resident foreign corporation shall receive the benefit of the deductions allowed to it with respect to the income tax, only if it files or causes to be filed with the district director, in accordance with § 1.6012–9, a true and accurate return of its total income received from all sources within the United States.

(2) Tax on gross income. If a return is not so filed, the tax shall be collected on the basis of gross income, determined in accordance with § 1.882–1 but without regard to any deductions otherwise allowable.

(3) Return by district director. If a resident foreign corporation has various sources of income within the United States and a return of income has not been filed by it or on its behalf, the district director shall (i) cause a return of income to be made, (ii) include therein the income described in § 1.882–1 of that corporation from all sources concerning which he has information, and (iii) assess the tax and collect it from one or more of those sources of income within the United States, without allowance for any deductions.

SEC. 883. Exclusions from gross income. The following items shall not be included in gross income of a foreign corporation, and shall be exempt from taxation under this subtitle:

(1) Ships under foreign flag. Earnings derived from the operation of a ship or ships documented under the laws of a foreign country which grants an equivalent exemption to citizens of the United States and to corporations organized in the United States.

(2) Aircraft of foreign registry. Earnings derived from the operation of aircraft registered under the laws of a foreign country which grants an equivalent exemption to citizens of the United States and to corporations organized in the United States.

§ 1.883–1 Exclusions from gross income of foreign corporations—(a) Earnings of foreign ships or aircraft—(1) Basic rule. So much of the income from sources within the United States of a foreign corporation as consists of earnings derived from the operation of a ship or ships documented, or of aircraft registered, under the laws of a foreign country which grants an equivalent exemption to citizens of the United States nonresident in that foreign country and to corporations organized in the United States shall not be included in gross income.

(2) Equivalent exemption—(i) Ships. A foreign country which either imposes no income tax, or, in imposing that tax, exempts from taxation so much of the income of a citizen of the United States nonresident in that foreign country and of a corporation organized in the United States as consists of earnings derived from the operation of a ship or ships documented under the laws of the United States is considered as granting an equivalent exemption for purposes of the exclusion from gross income of the earnings of a foreign ship or ships.

(ii) Aircraft. A foreign country which either imposes no income tax, or, in imposing that tax, exempts from taxation so much of the income of a citizen of the United States nonresident in that foreign country and of a corporation organized in the United States as consists of earnings derived from the operation of aircraft registered under the laws of the United States is considered as granting an equivalent exemption for purposes of the exclusion from gross income of the earnings of foreign aircraft.

(b) Tax conventions. Income of any kind which is exempt from United States tax under the provisions of a tax convention or treaty to which the United States is a party shall not be included in the gross income of a foreign corporation. Income on which the tax is limited by tax convention shall, however, be included in the gross income of such a corporation if the income is from sources within the United States and is not otherwise excluded from gross income. See §§ 1.881–2 (f), 1.882–1 (a) (7), and 1.894–1.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 1.891 Statutory provisions; doubling of rates of tax on citizens and corporations of certain foreign countries.

SEC. 891. Doubling of rates of tax on citizens and corporations of certain foreign countries. Whenever the President finds that, under the laws of any foreign country, citizens or corporations of the United States are being subjected to discriminatory or extraterritorial taxes, the President shall so proclaim and the rates of tax imposed by sections 1, 3, 11, 802, 821, 831, 852, 871, and 881 shall, for the taxable year during which such proclamation is made and for each taxable year thereafter, be doubled in the case of each citizen and corporation of such foreign country; but the tax at such doubled rate shall be considered as imposed by such sections as the case may be. In no case shall this section operate to increase the taxes imposed by such sections (computed without regard to this section) to an amount in excess of 80 percent of the taxable income of the taxpayer (computed without regard to the deductions allowable under section 151 and under part VIII of subchapter B). Whenever the President finds that the laws of any foreign country with respect to which the President has made a proclamation under the preceding provisions of this section have been modified so that discriminatory and extraterritorial taxes applicable to citizens and corporations of the United States have been removed, he shall so proclaim, and the provisions of this section providing for doubled rates of tax shall not apply to any citizen or corporation of such foreign country with respect to any taxable year beginning after such proclamation is made.

SEC. 892. Income of foreign governments and of international organizations. The income of foreign governments or international organizations received from investments in the United States in stocks, bonds, or other domestic securities, owned by such foreign governments or by international organizations, or from interest on deposits in banks in the United States of moneys belonging to such foreign governments or international organizations, or from any other source within the United States, shall not be included in gross income and shall be exempt from taxation under this subtitle.

§ 1.892–1 Income of foreign governments and international organizations—(a) Foreign governments. The exemption of the income of foreign governments applies also to their political subdivisions. Any income collected by foreign governments from investments in the United States in stocks, bonds, or other domestic securities which are not actually owned by, but are loaned to, such foreign governments is subject to tax.

(b) International organizations—(1) Exempt from tax. Subject to the provisions of section 1 of the International Organizations Immunities Act (the provisions of which section are set forth in paragraph (b) (3) of § 1.893–1), the income of an international organization (as defined in section 7701 (a) (18)) received from investments in the United States in stocks, bonds, or other domestic securities, owned by such international organization, or from interest on deposits in banks in the United States of moneys belonging to such international organization, or from any other source within the United States, is exempt from Federal income tax.

(2) Income received prior to Presidential designation. An organization designated by the President through appropriate Executive order as entitled to enjoy the privileges, exemptions, and immunities provided in the International Organizations Immunities Act may enjoy the benefits of the exemption with respect to income of the prescribed character received by such organization prior to the date of the issuance of such Executive order, if (i) the Executive order does not provide otherwise and (ii) the organization is a public international organization in which the United States participates, pursuant to a treaty or under the authority of an act of Congress authorizing such participation or making an appropriation for such participation, at the time such income is received.

SEC. 893. Compensation of employees of foreign governments or international organizations—(a) Rule for exclusion. Wages, fees, or salary of any employee of a foreign government or of an international organization (including a consular or other officer, or a nondiplomatic representative), received as compensation for official services to such government or international organization shall not be included in gross income and shall be exempt from taxation under this subtitle if—

(1) Such employee is not a citizen of the United States, or is a citizen of the Republic of the Philippines (whether or not a citizen of the United States); and

(2) In the case of an employee of a foreign government, the services are of a character similar to those performed by employees of the Government of the United States in foreign countries; and

(3) In the case of an employee of a foreign government, the foreign government grants an equivalent exemption to employees of the Government of the United States performing similar services in such foreign country.

(b) Certificate by Secretary of State. The Secretary of State shall certify to the Secretary of the Treasury the names of the foreign countries which grant an equivalent exemption to the employees of the Government of the United States performing services in such foreign countries, and the character of the services performed by employees of the Government of the United States in foreign countries.

§ 1.893–1 Compensation of employees of foreign governments or international organizations—(a) Employees of foreign governments—(1) Exempt from tax. Except to the extent that the exemption is limited by the execution and filing of the waiver provided for in section 247 (b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, all employees of a foreign government (including consular or other officers, or nondiplomatic representatives) who are not citizens of the United States, or are citizens of the Republic of the Philippines (whether or not citizens of the United States), are exempt from Federal income tax with respect to wages, fees, or salaries received by them as compensation for official services rendered to such foreign government, provided (i) the services are of a character similar to those performed by employees of the Government of the United States in that foreign country and (ii) the foreign government whose employees are claiming exemption grants an equivalent exemption to employees of the Government of the United States performing similar services in that foreign country.

(2) Certificate by Secretary of State. Section 893 (b) provides that the Secretary of State shall certify to the Secretary of the Treasury the names of the foreign countries which grant an equivalent exemption to the employees of the Government of the United States performing services in such foreign countries, and the character of the services performed by employees of the Government of the United States in foreign countries.

(3) Items not exempt. The income received by employees of foreign governments from sources other than their salaries, fees, or wages, referred to in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, is subject to Federal income tax.

(4) Immigration and Nationality Act. Section 247 (b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act provides as follows:

(b) The adjustment of status required by subsection (a) [of section 247 of the Immigration and Nationality Act] shall not be applicable in the case of any alien who requests that he be permitted to retain his status as an immigrant and who, in such form as the Attorney General may require, executes and files with the Attorney General a written waiver of all rights, privileges, exemptions, and immunities under any law or any executive order which would otherwise accrue to him because of the acquisition of an occupational status entitling him to a nonimmigrant status under paragraph (15) (A), (15) (E), or (15) (G) of section 101 (a).

(5) Effect of waiver. An employee of a foreign government who executes and files with the Attorney General the waiver provided for in section 247 (b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act thereby waives the exemption conferred by section 893 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954. As a consequence, that exemption does not apply to income received by that alien after the date of filing of the waiver.

(6) Citizens of the United States. The compensation of citizens of the United States (other than those who are also citizens of the Republic of the Philippines) who are officers or employees of a foreign government is not exempt from income tax pursuant to this paragraph. But see section 911 and the regulations thereunder.

(b) Employees of international organizations—(1) Exempt from tax. Except to the extent that the exemption is limited by the execution and filing of the waiver provided for in section 247 (b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act and subject to the provisions of sections 1, 8, and 9 of the International Organizations Immunities Act, wages, fees, or salary of any officer or employee of an international organization (as defined in section 7701 (a) (18)) received as compensation for official services to that international organization is exempt from Federal income tax, if that officer or employee (i) is not a citizen of the United States or (ii) is a citizen of the Republic of the Philippines (whether or not a citizen of the United States).

(2) Income earned prior to executive action. An individual of the prescribed class who receives wages, fees, or salary as compensation for official services to an organization designated by the President through appropriate Executive order as entitled to enjoy the privileges, exemptions, and immunities provided in the International Organizations Immunities Act and who has been duly notified to, and accepted by, the Secretary of State as an officer or employee of that organization, or who has been designated by the Secretary of State, prior to formal notification and acceptance, as a prospective officer or employee of that organization, may enjoy the benefits of the exemption with respect to compensation of the prescribed character earned by that individual, either prior to the date of the issuance of the Executive order, or prior to the date of the acceptance or designation by the Secretary of State, for official services to that organization, if (i) the Executive order does not provide otherwise, (ii) the organization is a public international organization in which the United States participates, pursuant to a treaty or under the authority of an Act of Congress authorizing such participation or making an appropriation for such participation, at the time the compensation is earned, and (iii) the individual is an officer or employee of that organization at that time.

(3) International Organizations Immunities Act. Sections 1, 8, and 9 of the International Organizations Immunities Act provide in part as follows:

SECTION 1. For the purposes of this title [International Organizations Immunities Act], the term "international organization" means a public international organization in which the United States participates pursuant to any treaty or under the authority of any Act of Congress authorizing such participation or making an appropriation for such participation, and which shall have been designated by the President through appropriate Executive order as being entitled to enjoy the privileges, exemptions, and immunities herein provided. The President shall be authorized, in the light of the functions performed by any such international organization, by appropriate Executive order to withhold or withdraw from any such organization or its officers or employees any of the privileges, exemptions, and immunities provided for in this title (including the amendments made by this title) or to condition or limit the enjoyment by any such organization or its officers or employees of any such privilege, exemption, or immunity. The President shall be authorized, if in his judgment such action should be justified by reason of the abuse by an international organization or its officers and employees of the privileges, exemptions, and immunities herein provided or for any other reason, at any time to revoke the designation of any international organization under this section, whereupon the international organization in question shall cease to be classed as an international organization for the purposes of this title.

SEC. 8. (a) No person shall be entitled to the benefits of this title [International Organizations Immunities Act] unless he (1) shall have been duly notified to and accepted by the Secretary of State as a • • • officer, or employee; or (2) shall have been designated by the Secretary of State, prior to formal notification and acceptance, as a prospective • • • officer, or employee; • • •.

(b) Should the Secretary of State determine that the continued presence in the United States of any person entitled to the benefits of this title is not desirable, he shall so inform the • • • international organization concerned • • •, and after such person shall have had a reasonable length of time, to be determined by the Secretary of State, depart from the United States, he shall cease to be entitled to such benefits.

(c) No person shall, by reason of the provisions of this title, be considered as receiving diplomatic status or as receiving any of the privileges incident thereto other than such as are specifically set forth herein.

SEC. 9. The privileges, exemptions, and immunities of international organizations and of their officers and employees • • • provided for in this title [International Organizations Immunities Act], shall be granted notwithstanding the fact that the similar privileges, exemptions, and immunities granted to a foreign government, its officers, or employees, may be conditioned upon the existence of reciprocity by that foreign government: Provided, That nothing contained in this title shall be construed as precluding the Secretary of State from withdrawing the privileges, exemptions, and immunities herein provided from persons who are nationals of any foreign country on the ground that such country is failing to accord corresponding privileges, exemptions, and immunities to citizens of the United States.

(4) Effect of waiver. An officer or employee of an international organization who executes and files with the Attorney General the waiver provided for in section 247 (b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act thereby waives the exemption conferred by section 893 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954. As a consequence, that exemption does not apply to income received by that individual after the date of filing of the waiver.

(5) Citizens of the United States. The compensation of citizens of the United States (other than those who are also citizens of the Republic of the Philippines) who are officers or employees of an international organization is not exempt from income tax pursuant to this paragraph. But see section 911 and the regulations thereunder.

(c) Tax conventions, consular conventions, and international agreements—(1) Exemption dependent upon internal revenue laws. A tax convention or consular convention between the United States and a foreign country, which provides that the United States may include in the tax base of its residents all income taxable under the internal revenue laws, and which makes no specific exception for the income of the employees of that foreign government, does not provide any exemption (with respect to residents of the United States) beyond that which is provided by the internal revenue laws. Accordingly, the effect of the execution and filing of a waiver under section 247 (b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act by an employee of a foreign government which is a party to such a convention is to subject the employee to tax to the same extent as provided in paragraph (a) (5) of this section with respect to the waiver of exemption under section 893.

(2) Exemption not dependent upon internal revenue laws. If a tax convention, consular convention, or international agreement provides that compensation paid by the foreign government or international organization to its employees is exempt from Federal income tax, and the application of this exemption is not dependent upon the provisions of the internal revenue laws, the exemption so conferred is not affected by the execution and filing of a waiver under section 247 (b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act. For examples of exemptions which are not affected by the Immigration and Nationality Act, see article X of the income tax convention between the United States and the United Kingdom (60 Stat. 1383); article IX, section 9 (b), of the Articles of Agreement of the International Monetary Fund (60 Stat. 1414); and article VII, section 9 (b), of the Articles of Agreement of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development (60 Stat. 1458).

SEC. 894. Income exempt under treaty. Income of any kind, to the extent required by any treaty obligation of the United States, shall not be included in gross income and shall be exempt from taxation under this subtitle.

§ 1.894–1 Income exempt under treaty. Income of any kind, to the extent required by any treaty obligation of the United States, shall not be included in gross income and shall be exempt from income tax. Income upon which the United States tax is limited by treaty shall, however, be included in gross income. A tax convention shall be considered as a treaty for this purpose. Thus, if pursuant to the provisions of a tax convention to which the United States is a party a nonresident alien individual were to receive during the taxable year from sources within the United States $1,000 in interest which is exempt from United States tax under the convention and $2,000 in dividends on which the rate of United States tax is limited by the convention so as not to exceed 15 percent, only the $2,000 in dividends would be included in gross income. See §§ 1.871–7 (e), 1.881–2 (f), and 1.882–1 (a) (7).

RETURNS AND RECORDS; TAX RETURNS OR STATEMENTS

INCOME TAX RETURNS

§ 1.6012 Statutory provisions; persons required to make returns of income.

SEC. 6012. Persons required to make returns of income—(a) General rule. Returns with respect to income taxes under subtitle A shall be made by the following:

(1) Every individual having for the taxable year a gross income of $600 or more (except that any individual who has attained the age of 65 before the close of his taxable year shall be required to make a return only if he has for the taxable year a gross income of $1,200 or more);

(2) Every corporation subject to taxation under subtitle A;

(3) Every estate the gross income of which for the taxable year is $600 or more;

(4) Every trust having for the taxable year any taxable income, or having gross income of $600 or over, regardless of the amount of taxable income; and

(5) Every estate or trust of which any beneficiary is a nonresident alien;

except that subject to such conditions, limitations, and exceptions and under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary or his delegate, nonresident alien individuals subject to the tax imposed by section 871 and foreign corporations subject to the tax imposed by section 881 may be exempted from the requirement of making returns under this section.

(b) Returns made by fiduciaries and receivers—(1) Returns of decedents. If an individual is deceased, the return of such individual required under subsection (a) shall be made by his executor, administrator, or other person charged with the property of such decedent.

(2) Persons under a disability. If an individual is unable to make a return required under subsection (a) or section 6015 (a), the return of such individual shall be made by a duly authorized agent, his committee, guardian, fiduciary or other person charged with the care of the person or property of such individual. The preceding sentence shall not apply in the case of a receiver appointed by authority of law in possession of only a part of the property of an individual.

§ 1.6012–7 Returns by nonresident aliens—(a) No United States business—(1) Income of not more than $15,400—(i) Return not required. If the tax liability of a nonresident alien individual within class 1, referred to in paragraph (a) of § 1.871–7, is fully satisfied at the source, a return of income is not required.

(ii) Return required. A nonresident alien individual within class 1 shall make or have made a return on Form 1040NB with respect to that portion of his income described in paragraph (b) of § 1.871–7 upon which the tax has not been fully satisfied at the source, including such income upon which the tax is limited by tax convention. A return shall be made in such instance even though the individual's gross income from sources within the United States for the taxable year is less than $600.

(iii) Items upon which tax not fully satisfied. Some of the items of income from sources within the United States upon which the tax liability will not have been fully satisfied at the source are—

(a) Interest upon so-called tax-free covenant bonds upon which, in accordance with § 1.1451.1, a tax of only 2 percent is required to be withheld at the source;

(b) Capital gains described in paragraph (b) (4) of § 1.871–7, which are not subject to withholding under § 1.1441–1;

(c) Accrued interest received in connection with the sale of bonds between interest dates, which, in accordance with paragraph (b) of § 1.1441–4, is not subject to withholding; and

(d) Dividends from foreign corporations which are not subject to withholding under paragraph (b) of § 1.1441–3 but do constitute income from sources within the United States under paragraph (a) (2) of § 1.861–3.

(iv) Inclusion of entire income. Notwithstanding the other provisions of this subparagraph, a nonresident alien individual within class 1 shall include on Form 1040NB his entire income described in paragraph (b) of § 1.871–7, whether or not the tax has been fully satisfied at the source upon a portion thereof, if a claim for the refund of an overpayment of tax is made on that form in accordance with § 301.6402–3. See paragraph (d) of this section.

(2) Aggregate more than $15,400. Even though the tax has been fully satisfied at the source, every nonresident alien individual within class 2, referred to in paragraph (a) of § 1.871–7, shall make or have made a return on Form 1040NB–a of all his income described in paragraph (c) of that section, including such income upon which the tax is limited by tax convention. However, if the gross income of a nonresident alien individual within class 2 consists of treaty income only, as defined in paragraph (e) of § 1.871–7, or if the nontreaty income does not exceed $15,400 in the aggregate, the return shall be made on Form 1040NB in the manner and to the extent otherwise required by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph. See paragraph (e) (2) of § 1.871–7.

(b) United States business. Every nonresident alien individual within class 3, referred to in paragraph (a) of § 1.871–7, shall make or have made a return on Form 1040B of all his income described in paragraph (d) of that section, including such income upon which the tax is limited by tax convention, even though his gross income from sources within the United States for the taxable year is less than $600. No exception is made to this requirement in the case of such an individual who is a resident of Canada or Mexico.

(c) Treaty income. If the gross income of a nonresident alien individual to which this section applies includes income on which the tax is limited by tax convention, see paragraph (e) of § 1.871–7.

(d) Claims for refund—(1) Form to use. In the case of any overpayment of income tax by a nonresident alien individual to which this section applies, claim for refund may be made in accordance with § 301.6402–3 on Form 1040NB, Form 1040NB–a, or Form 1040B, whichever is applicable.

(2) Tax withheld at source. If an overpayment has resulted from the withholding of tax at source under chapter 3, statements shall be attached to the return so used as a claim for refund showing accurately (i) the amounts of tax withheld, with the names and post-office addresses of withholding agents and, if applicable, (ii) facts sufficient to show that, at the time when the income was derived, the taxpayer was entitled to the benefit of a reduced rate of, or exemption from, tax with respect to that income under the provisions of a tax convention to which the United States is a party. For an illustration of the statements to be furnished when claiming the benefit of a reduced rate or exemption under a tax convention, see § 7.710 of Treasury Decision 6030, approved July 10, 1953 (26 CFR (1939) 7.710); § 501.11 of Treasury Decision 6108, approved October 13, 1954 (§ 501.11 of this chapter); and § 502.10 of Treasury Decision 6109, approved October 13, 1954 (§ 502.10 of this chapter). For the refund to the withholding agent of an overpayment of the tax imposed by chapter 3, see section 1464.

(e) Verification of returns. A return on Form 1040NB, Form 1040NB–a, or Form 1040B shall contain or be verified by a written declaration that it is made under the penalties of perjury, such declaration to be submitted both by the taxpayer (or agent) and any other person who has prepared the return in his behalf.

(f) Unrelated business taxable income. For returns with respect to the tax imposed by section 511 upon unrelated business taxable income described in section 512, see paragraph (b) of § 1.511–3.

§ 1.6012–8 Return by agent, fiduciary, or other person for nonresident alien individual—(a) Representative or agent. The responsible representative or agent within the United States of a nonresident alien individual shall make in behalf of his nonresident alien principal a return of, and shall pay the tax on, all income from sources within the United States coming within his control as representative or agent. The agency appointment will determine how completely the agent is substituted for the principal for tax purposes. Any person who collects interest or dividends on deposited securities of a nonresident alien individual, executes ownership certificates in connection therewith, or sells such securities under special instructions shall not be deemed merely by reason of such acts to be the responsible representative or agent of the nonresident alien individual.

(b) Fiduciary or other person. Except as otherwise provided by paragraph (a) of this section, a resident or domestic fiduciary or other person charged with the care of the person or property of a nonresident alien individual shall make a return for that individual and pay the tax. Thus, for example, a resident trustee is required to make a return and pay the tax in behalf of each nonresident alien beneficiary of the trust. However, if the nonresident alien individual has appointed a person in the United States to act as his agent for the purpose of making a return of income, the fiduciary or other person charged with the care of the person or property of that individual shall not be required to make a return and pay the tax in accordance with this paragraph. In such instance, if the fiduciary is required to file Form 1041 for an estate or trust of which that individual is a beneficiary, the fiduciary shall attach a copy of the agency appointment to his return on Form 1041.

(c) Income to be returned. A return of income shall be required under this section only if the nonresident alien individual is otherwise required to make a return in accordance with § 1.6012–7. The provisions of that section shall apply in determining the form of return to be used, the income to be returned, and the manner of computing the tax.

(d) Allowance of deductions and credits. The nonresident alien individual shall receive the benefit of the deductions and credits allowed to him with respect to the income tax only if, pursuant to section 874, the return so filed in accordance with this section constitutes a true and accurate return of the taxpayer's total income received from all sources within the United States and required to be returned in accordance with § 1.6012–7. However, this paragraph shall not be construed to deny the credits provided by sections 31 and 32 for tax withheld at the source.

(e) Alien resident of Puerto Rico. This section shall not apply to the return of a nonresident alien individual who is a bona fide resident of Puerto Rico during the entire taxable year. See § 1.876–1.

(f) Definition of fiduciary. The term "fiduciary", as used in this section, shall have the meaning assigned to it by section 7701 (a) (6) and the regulations thereunder.

§ 1.6012–9 Returns by foreign corporations—(a) Nonresident foreign corporations—(1) Return not required. If the tax liability of a nonresident foreign corporation is fully satisfied at the source, a return of income is not required.

(2) Return required. A nonresident foreign corporation shall make or have made a return on Form 1120NB with respect to that portion of its income described in § 1.881–2 upon which the tax has not been fully satisfied at the source, including such income upon which the tax is limited by tax convention.

(3) Items upon which tax not fully satisfied. Some of the items of income from sources within the United States upon which the tax liability will not have been fully satisfied at the source are—

(i) Interest upon so-called tax-free covenant bonds upon which, in accordance with § 1.1451–1, a tax of only 2 percent is required to be withheld at the source;

(ii) Accrued interest received in connection with the sale of bonds between interest dates, which, in accordance with paragraph (b) of § 1.1441–4, is not subject to withholding; and

(iii) Dividends from foreign corporations which are not subject to withholding under paragraph (b) of § 1.1441–3 but do constitute income from sources within the United States under paragraph (a) (2) of § 1.861–3.

(4) Inclusion of entire income. Notwithstanding the other provisions of this paragraph, a nonresident foreign corporation shall include on Form 1120NB its entire income described in § 1.881–2, whether or not the tax has been fully satisfied at the source upon a portion thereof, if that form is being used to support a claim for refund made in accordance with § 301.6402–2. See paragraph (e) of this section.

(b) Resident foreign corporations. Every resident foreign corporation shall make or have made a return on Form 1120 of all its income described in § 1.882–1, including such income upon which the tax is limited by tax convention.

(c) Treaty income. If the gross income of a foreign corporation includes income upon which the tax is limited by tax convention, see paragraph (f) of § 1.881–2 in the case of a nonresident foreign corporation or paragraph (a) (7) of § 1.882–1 in the case of a resident foreign corporation.

(b) Returns by agent. If at the time the return is filed a foreign corporation has no office or place of business within the United States but has an agent in the United States, the return required by this section shall be made by the agent.

(e) Claims for refund—(1) Form to use. In the case of any overpayment of income tax by a foreign corporation to which this section applies, claim for refund shall be made on Form 843 in accordance with the provisions of § 301.6402–2 of this chapter.

(2) Tax withheld at source. If an overpayment has resulted from the withholding of tax at source under chapter 3, statements shall be attached to the claim for refund showing the same information as is required by paragraph (d) (2) of § 1.6012–7 in the case of a claim for refund by a nonresident alien individual.

(f) Verification of returns. A return on Form 1120NB shall contain or be verified by a written declaration that it is made under the penalties of perjury, such declaration to be submitted both by the taxpayer (or agent) and any other person who has prepared the return in its behalf.

(g) Unrelated business taxable income. For returns with respect to the tax imposed by section 511 upon unrelated business taxable income described in section 512, see paragraph (b) of § 1.511–3.

All regulations inconsistent herewith are modified accordingly.

MILK IN LOUISVILLE, KY., ST. LOUIS, MO., GREATER KANSAS CITY, TOPEKA, KANS., OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., TULSA-MUSKOGEE, OKLA., NEOSHO VALLEY, WICHITA, KANS., PADUCAH, KY., SOUTHWEST KANSAS, AND OZARKS

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENTS AND TO ORDERS AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a joint public hearing was held at St. Louis, Missouri, on April 23, 1956, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on April 16, 1956 (21 F. R. 2570), upon proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreements and to the orders, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the following marketing areas:

Louisville, Ky.
St. Louis, Mo.
Greater Kansas City.
Topeka, Kans.
Oklahoma City, Okla.
Tulsa-Muskogee, Okla.
Neosho Valley.
Wichita, Kans.
Paducah, Ky.
Southwest Kansas.
Ozarks.

The material issues of record related to:

1. Increases in the price for Class I milk for a limited period of time; and

2. The existence of an emergency requiring expedited procedures.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions are based on the evidence received at the hearing and the record thereof:

1. In order that disorderly marketing conditions may be avoided Class I price increases through July 1956 should be made as specified below.

In order to maintain orderly marketing conditions in important milksheds located in the center of the largest milk production region of the nation, action has been effected to nullify seasonal reductions in price which would otherwise have affected returns to producers. The Department acted on April 13 to issue suspension orders modifying the price provisions of the milk orders for the Chicago, Milwaukee, South Bend-LaPorte, and Rockford-Freeport markets for the period April 16–July 31, 1956. The result of these suspension actions, official notice of which is taken, is to increase the Class I price to producers by 46 cents per hundredweight for the period April 16–June 30 and by 26 cents per hundredweight for the month of July. This action also affected prices in the Quad Cities and Dubuque markets. These price actions affecting the Chicago and certain other mid-west markets as referred to have charged the customary relationships of prices between the major markets in the heavy producing regions and those affected by this decision, causing differences in price which add to an already difficult marketing situation.

Price levels in the markets covered by this decision vary in accordance with local conditions and distances from the major producing areas and, under usual circumstances, local market supply and demand influences are primary factors in bringing about price changes. Any significant maladjustment in price alignment with the major milk producing areas at this time, however, would result in widespread disparities in returns for milk among producers generally, and in view of unsettled conditions, could cause uneconomic marketing responses and disturbances, affecting producers and markets over widespread areas. As indicated by the record even short-run disparities in price at this time would magnify the price level problems of producers in such markets. For these reasons immediate action to reestablish previous price alignments is imperative to restore orderly marketing conditions. This necessitates increases of 46 cents per hundredweight through June and 26 cents per hundredweight through July of this year in each of such markets. It is concluded that such increases should be made.

The Class I prices of the Ozarks and Topeka, Kansas, orders are automatically maintained in fixed alignment to the Class I prices of the St. Louis, Missouri, and Greater Kansas City orders, respectively, hence no amendment action is necessary to carry out the conclusions of this decision with respect to such orders. While the Neosho Valley order is maintained in approximate alignment with the Ozarks and Tulsa-Muskogee orders by floor-ceiling provisions amendment of this order, designed to avoid any duplication of effect, is provided so that the effect on the Neosho Valley Class I price will be identical with that in other orders.

2. The need for emergency action. The due and timely execution of the function of the Secretary under the act imperatively and unavoidably requires omission of a recommended decision by the Deputy Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service and exceptions thereto. As indicated elsewhere in this decision the purpose of the proposed amendments is to preserve through July 1956 alignment of prices in the respective marketing areas with the price of the Chicago marketing area, and thus to avoid disorderly marketing conditions. Immediate action must be taken if such amendments are to be effective in meeting the present emergency situation. The delay necessarily involved in the preparation, filing, and publication of the recommended decision and exceptions thereto would defeat the purpose of the amendment. Request was made on the record for omission of the recommended decision and opportunity for exceptions.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreements and the order amending the orders, as amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices for milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing areas, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreements and the order amending the orders, as amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed order amending the orders, as amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in marketing agreements upon which hearings have been held.

Determination of representative period. The month of February 1956 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of the order amending the orders, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in certain marketing areas in the manner set forth in the attached order is approved or favored by producers who during such period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in each of the marketing areas specified in the said order.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. Briefs were filed on behalf of interested parties. The briefs contained proposed findings, conclusions, and arguments with respect to the provisions of the proposed amendments. Every point covered in the briefs was carefully considered along with the evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. To the extent that the findings and conclusions proposed in the briefs are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions is denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions in this recommended decision.

Marketing agreements and order amending the orders, as amended. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled, respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the _____ Area" and "Order Amending the Orders, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in Certain Marketing Areas," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective as to any marketing area specified therein unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met with respect to such marketing areas.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision except the form of marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of the marketing agreements will be identical with those contained in the respective orders, as amended, and as proposed to be hereby further amended.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 26th day of April 1956.

[SEAL] EARL L. BUTZ,
Assistant Secretary.

Order[1] Amending the Orders, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in Certain Marketing Areas

§ ____.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the orders and of the previously issued amendments thereto regulating the handling of milk in the following marketing areas:

Louisville, Ky.
St. Louis, Mo.
Greater Kansas City.
Oklahoma City, Okla.
Tulsa-Muskogee, Okla.
Neosho Valley.
Wichita, Kans.
Southwest Kans.
Paducah, Ky.

And all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act") (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900) a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreements and to the orders, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the specified marketing areas. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearings and the records thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said orders, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said orders, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing areas, and the minimum prices specified in the orders, as amended and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest;

(3) The said orders, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and are applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in the marketing agreements upon which hearings have been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the aforesaid marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid orders, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and the aforesaid orders, as amended, are hereby further amended as follows:

1. Amend each of the orders specified in this paragraph by incorporating therein, in the manner indicated, the following provision:

"The price for Class I milk otherwise computed pursuant to this section shall be increased 46 cents from the effective date hereof through June 1956 and 26 cents for the month of July 1956."

Part 913, Milk in the Greater Kansas City Marketing Area as § 913.51 (a) (4).

Part 905, Milk in the Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, Marketing Area as § 905.51 (a) (4).

Part 906, Milk in the Tulsa-Muskogee, Oklahoma, Marketing Area as § 906.51 (a) (4).

Part 968, Milk in the Wichita, Kansas, Marketing Area as § 968.51 (a) (1).

Part 919, Milk in the Southwest Kansas Marketing Area as § 919.51 (a) (1).

Part 977, Milk in the Paducah, Kentucky, Marketing Area as § 977.51 (a) (1).

2. In Part 928, Milk in the Neosho Valley Marketing Area, amend § 928.51 (a) by adding immediately preceding the first proviso contained therein the following: "and plus an additional 46 cents during the delivery periods of May and June 1956 and plus an additional 26 cents during the delivery period of July 1956 during which months the proviso immediately following shall not be effective."

[F. R. Doc. 56-3386; Filed, Apr. 27, 1956; 12:55 p. m.]

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENTS AND TO ORDERS AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), public hearings were held at Austin, Texas, and at Nashville, Tennessee, on April 24, 1956, pursuant to notices thereof which were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 20, 1956, and April 21, 1956 (21 F. R. 2570), and (21 F. R. 2593), upon proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreements and to the orders, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the following marketing areas:

At Austin, Tex.:

San Antonio, Tex.
Austin-Waco, Tex.
Central West Tex.
Corpus Christi, Tex.

At Nashville, Tenn.:
Nashville, Tenn.

Fort Smith, Ark.

The material issues of record relate to:

(1) Increases in the price for Class I milk for a limited period of time; and

2. The existence of an emergency requiring expedited procedures.

1. In order that disorderly marketing conditions may be avoided Class I price increases through July 1956 should be made as specified below.

In order to maintain orderly marketing conditions in important milksheds located in the center of the largest milk production region of the nation, action has been effected to nullify seasonal reductions in price which would otherwise have affected returns to producers. The Department acted on April 13 to issue suspension orders modifying the price provisions of the milk orders for the Chicago, Milwaukee, South Bend-La-Porte, and Rockford-Freeport markets for the period April 16–July 31, 1956. The result of these suspension actions, official notice of which is taken, is to increase the Class I price to producers by 46 cents per hundredweight for the period April 16–June 30 and by 26 cents per hundredweight for the month of July. This action also affected prices in the Quad Cities and Dubuque markets. These price actions affecting the Chicago and certain other mid-West markets as referred to have changed the customary relationships of prices between the major markets in the heavy producing regions and those affected by this decision, causing differences in price which add to an already difficult marketing situation.

Price levels in the markets covered by this decision vary in accordance with local conditions and distances from the major producing areas. Under usual circumstances, local market supply and demand influences are primary factors in bringing about price changes. Any significant maladjustment in price alignment with the major milk producing areas at this time, however, would result in widespread disparities in returns for milk among producers generally, and in view of unsettled conditions, could cause uneconomic marketing responses and disturbances affecting producers and markets over widespread areas. As indicated by the record even short-run disparities in price at this time would magnify the price level problems of producers in such markets. For these reasons immediate action to re-establish previous price alignments is imperative to restore orderly marketing conditions. This necessitates increases of 46 cents per hundredweight through June and 26 cents per hundredweight through July of this year in each of such markets. It is concluded that such increases should be made.

The Class I prices of the Austin-Waco, Texas, San Antonio, Texas, and Central West Texas orders are automatically maintained in fixed alignment to the Class I price of the North Texas order. The Class I price of the Central Arkansas order is likewise tied directly to the Class I price of the Memphis order. Hence, no amendment action is necessary to carry out the conclusions of this decision with respect to these orders.

2. The need for emergency action. The due and timely execution of the function of the Secretary under the Act imperatively and unavoidably requires omission of a recommended decision by the Deputy Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service and exceptions thereto. As indicated elsewhere in this decision the purpose of the proposed amendments is to preserve through July 1956 alignment of prices in the respective marketing areas with the price of the Chicago marketing area, and thus to avoid disorderly marketing conditions. Immediate action must be taken if such amendments are to be effective in meeting the present emergency situation. The delay necessarily involved in the preparation, filing, and publication of the recommended decision and exceptions thereto would defeat the purpose of the amendment. Request was made on the record for omission of the recommended decision and opportunity for exceptions.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreements and the order amending the orders, as amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;
